THE second travelling hospital unit built by the Canadian Pacific Railway to specifications of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, this auxiliary hospital car was turned over by George Stephen, vice-president of traffic, on March 31 at the Windsor Station in Montreal to Col. G. A. Winfield, of Ottawa, deputy director general of medical services(A).

Converted from a compartment-observation sleeper, the "Mount Stephen", the new hospital on wheels was remodelled at Angus Shops in Montreal under the direction of H. R. Naylor, works manager, to specifications drawn by H. B. Bowen, chief of motive power and rolling stock.

This picture gives an excellent view of the 14 extremely comfortable double-deck steel beds which will accommodate 28 casualties. In addition the car has toilet and wash rooms, a receiving vestibule with doors wide enough to receive stretchers, a completely equipped dispensary, gas and electric stove and ample locker space for medical supplies.

WHEN instructors and students in the Commonwealth Air Training Plan take to the air they have absolute confidence in their machines. They know that every proven scientific method and device has been used to assure perfection of every individual part.

In assuring this perfection one of the most interesting procedures is the testing of steel parts. Each part is given an Electro-Magnaflux test. Any flaws so small that the human eye cannot detect them are instantly spotted by this method.

The steel parts are first highly magnetized by an electric current. Then over each part is poured a flux consisting of minute steel particles in a fluid base.

Where the metal is perfect the flux flows off, but where there is the slightest crack or invisible break in the metal, the iron particles cling tenaciously, indicating to the operator the flaw in the metal. Such parts are "grounded".

At 300 miles or more per hour every part must be perfect, and through the Magnaflux test, Electricity assures that it is perfect.

THOMAS JEFFERSON—

Statesman, Philosopher, Humanitarian and Farmer

Thomas Jefferson was a statesman, architect, scholar, inventor, scientist, diplomat, musician, author, mathematician, lawyer and philosopher. Like many other great men in the world's history he was also devoted to farming.

Thomas Jefferson was twice President of the United States, and was the principle author of the great Declaration of Independence. His own contribution to that immortal document was founded on his lifelong and fervent belief that the humblest man had the right to "Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness."

Those who today reread Jefferson's speeches and writings will be astonished to find how modern is his advice to his fellow countrymen, and his philosophy of life, given over one hundred and fifty years ago, and how well his thoughts apply to the present world situation. It will be seen, too, how similar his thoughts and beliefs are to many of those expressed by present day leaders of the United States, of Britain and indeed of all Democracies.

A Few Samples of Jefferson's Priceless Admonitions—

"Education and free discussion are the antidotes of bigotry and ignorance."

"We must keep attention fixed on the main object of all science:--the freedom and happiness of man."

"A wise and frugal government which shall restrain men from injuring one another, which will leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from the mouth of labour the bread it has earned. This is the sum of good government."

"Never buy what you do not want because it is cheap; it will be dear to you."

"Honesty is the first chapter in the book of wisdom."

"Were we directed from Washington when to sow and when to reap, we should soon want bread."

Jefferson Was a Believer in Free Trade:—

"We must endeavor to share as large a portion as we can of our wealth and power . . Instead of embarrassing commerce under piles of regulating laws, duties and prohibitions, could it be relieved of all those shackles in all parts of the world, could every country be employed in producing that which Nature has best fitted it to produce, could each be free to exchange with others mutual surpluses for mutual wants, the greatest mass possible would then be produced of those things which contribute to human life and human happiness; the numbers of mankind would be increased, and their condition bettered."

The Policy He Recommended for the United States was:—

"Manufactures sufficient for our own consumption, of what we raise the raw material—(and no more). Commerce sufficient to carry the surplus of agriculture, beyond our own consumption, to a market for exchanging it for articles we cannot raise.

Our interest will be to throw open the doors of commerce, and to knock off all its shackles, giving perfect freedom to all persons for the vent of whatever they may choose to bring into our ports, and asking the same in theirs."

Jefferson Believed in Private Free Enterprise—

"Private enterprise manages much better than the Government all the concerns to which it is equal. Agriculture, manufactures, commerce and navigation, the four pillars of our prosperity, are the most thriving when left free to individual enterprise."

"With her (Great Britain) we should most sedulously cherish a cordial friendship; and nothing would tend more to knit our affections than to be fighting once more side by side in the same cause. . . . . From that moment (the feared aggression of the French) we must marry ourselves to the British fleet and nation. . . . These two nations (the United States and England) holding cordially together have nothing to fear from the united world. They will be models for regenerating the condition of man, the sources from which representative government is to flow over the whole earth."

It is evident from these Jeffersonian thoughts, and many others in the same vein which could be quoted, that Jefferson today belongs not only to the United States, but to all peoples and countries which believe in democracy and the freedom of man; for Jefferson above all loved his fellow man.

REQUISITES For A HONEY CROP

(Experimental Farms News)

Four things are essential for the production of a honey crop:

1. An abundance of nectar secreting flora;
2. Suitable weather for the secretion and ingathering of the nectar;
3. Strong colonies of bees of the right age;
4. Efficient management of the colonies.

The beekeeper has some control over the first essential in that he may select a location in which there is a plentiful supply of major nectar secreting plants within a radius of two miles of the apiary. In some cases he may even improve a poor location by scattering seeds of such plants as sweet clover, or other clovers on vacant ground, says C. B. Gooderham, Dominion Apiarist, Central Experimental Farm Ottawa. The second factor is entirely beyond the beekeeper's control, but it is this element of chance for a lucky break from Dame nature that makes beekeeping so interesting. Items three and four are altogether under the control of the beekeeper. While it is true that many colonies will come through the winter in a weakened condition that is no reason why they should continue as such through the summer. Unite all weak colonies to those of medium strength and replace all weak or failing queens as soon as weather permits. Encourage maximum brood production by keeping the bees well supplied with food and room for expansion, also provide some protection against the inclement weather of early spring.

Having provided each colony with the means of building up to full strength in time for the main honey flow, the beekeeper must then keep the bees united and contented while the flow is on, therefore his system of spring and summer management must include an efficient swarm control measure. Weak queens or colonies, half starved or swarming bees reduce profits, avoid them and take a gamble that nature will be generous this coming summer by having every unit in the apiary up to the full producing strength and keeping them in this condition while there is nectar to be gathered.

The engagement is announced of Miss Leona Ell of Calgary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ell of Donegal, Sask., to Pte. R. James Bruce, of Calgary, second son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Bruce, Tofield.

The I.O.D.E. has no paid representatives, all costs of management are borne by the members themselves through their annual fees.

Yes, "we have a big job to do yet" and very interesting—but it isn't all fun, we have a big job to do yet—a lot of fighting ahead of us. I'll be glad when it's over and Dad and I can do some of the things we have talked of doing—like building the new barn, so—

WHEN they come home—these boys who are fighting now—make them want to stay home. Make them happy and contented on the farm. They will have new ideas they want to try out. They may want to go in for new breeding stock; new crops; work out a drainage or irrigation project; do a big job of fertilizing. You are wearing out implements and equipment which cannot be replaced now. You may want to erect new buildings, or to add to present buildings. You may wish to modernize your farm with water or electricity. You may want a new motor car—new conveniences and comforts for your home. These things cost money. Save money now and invest your savings in Victory Bonds. They will provide cash for things you will need when the war ends.

• • • •

You can buy Victory Bonds for cash in a lump sum, or you can arrange to pay for them in convenient instalments over a period of six months.

Your Victory Bond salesman will be glad to tell you full particulars.

WHAT IS A VICTORY BOND?

A VICTORY BOND is the promise of the Dominion of Canada to repay in cash the full face value of the Bond at the time stipulated, with half-yearly interest at the rate of 3% per annum until maturity.

A Victory Bond is the safest investment in Canada. The entire resources of the Dominion stand behind it. Canada has been issuing bonds for 75 years, and has never failed to pay every dollar of principal and interest.

A Victory Bond is an asset more readily converted into cash than any other security.

DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL WAR SERVICES

FEEDING CARE OF BROODER CHICKS

(Experimental Farms Note)

The brooding period, that is, the first six to eight weeks of the chicks' life is the most critical and requires constant attention to details of feeding and general management. Even though the ideal conditions of sanitation and temperature prevail improper feeding may still bring about disaster during this period, says H. S. Gutteridge, Poultry Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Under most conditions it will be most satisfactory to feed a prepared starter mash, but in war time where some essential ingredients are difficult to obtain and substitution is necessary the commercial mixed mash is a more sure source of a balanced diet than a home-mixed mash where nutrients of unknown quality and vitamin content must often be used. In addition the actual quantity of feed consumed while the chicks are small is so little that it does not pay to attempt to save money by the use of inferior mashes during this period.

A high quality starter mash should be before the birds at all times and sufficient hoppers used that the chicks do not have to compete for feeding space. It is important also that a liberal supply of fresh water in fountains of a type which the birds cannot contaminate be available. These fountains and the mash hoppers should be set on raised frames covered with one half inch hardware cloth so that any water or feed which is spilled goes through the wire and cannot be picked up off the floor after being contaminated with droppings. At six to eight weeks of age, depending on how well the chicks have developed, a small quantity of scratch grain is fed increasing the amount slightly each day. Again, as a measure of sanitation, this grain should be sprinkled on top of the mash in the hoppers

3. That if formaldehyde is used at all, it should be limited to the treatment of special lots of smutty [illegible] oats.

Now for question 2. Local authorities in Alberta advise treatment of [illegible] cereal seeds.

In Manitoba, farmers are advised [illegible] flax and barley seed, using 1½ ounces of mercury dust per bushel for flax and ½ ounce for [illegible]. Of course smutty wheat and oats must be treated; but, in the absence of smut, we lack official advice.

In Saskatchewan we are told that if seed is not known to be free from smut it should be treated." The same authority, Dr. R. C. Russell continues: "Occasionally, however, when the seed coats are badly cracked or a high percentage of the seeds carry a fungous parasite, which causes common root-rot, treatment with a mercurial dust may be beneficial." MAIN DRIVING WHEELS
OF CANADA'S WAR EFFORT

HURRYING wheels, thundering wheels. Wheels that have made it possible for Canada to grow in strength.

Today those wheels—the driving wheels of Canada's railways—are setting the pace for the war effort. They haul raw materials to humming war industries and rush away the finished tools of battle. They move food and fuel for the home front and the fighting front. They speed civilians on essential business, hasten troops to camps, embarkation points and on leave.

It's Canada's big war job. A job that only railway wheels can do. A job in which an army of 150,000 railway workers, men and women, is in the fight for Canada ... shop crews and train crews, yard workers, section hands, telegraphers, signal men and office workers, a multitude of men and women in a multitude of [illegible]. They are making the giant wheels turn faster and faster.

From coast to coast in Canada, we—your railways—are rolling in the service of freedom, and our lines to and in the United States have linked the war efforts of two great sister nations.

M.D. Beaver Two Day Session

A busy two day session including two night sessions was the April fare of the Council of the M.D. of Beaver. Estimates and budget for 1943 as well as much other business kept the council well occupied throughout the meeting.

The minutes of the previous regular and special meetings were read and adopted on motion of Councillor Giebelhaus.

Correspondence was read from: Dept. of Mun. Affairs regarding responsibility of new district of Beaver in regard to old age pensions and mothers' allowance with reference to recipients living in the municipal districts taken in by M.D. of Beaver.

Letter from Patriquin and Johnston re division of assets and liabilities of the municipal districts of which a portion had been taken over by M.D. of Beaver. They also included a summary of assets and liabilities for the combined district.

Regarding the division of assets and liabilities as between the M.D. of Beaver and the districts of which M.D. of Beaver had taken a portion of territory, the Administrator, Mr. Richie who was present stated that an adjustment could be made on an assessment basis. If M. D. of Beaver had taken one third of any districts territory then Beaver would be entitled to one-third of the assets and assume one-third of the liabilities of that particular district.

A delegation of ratepayers interviewed council. They desired to discuss a road scheme which would link the two highways running east and west. They stated that inasmuch as Ryley was the centre of the M.D. this would be a good place for the road to be built. They complained that while there were highways running east and west, the north and south market roads were neglected. They suggested the M.

Victory Loan Campaign Starts Mon.

Canada's fourth Victory Loan Drive will get underway on Monday, April 26th. The amount of money required from citizens is much greater than in any of the previous loans, and loans large and small from all the citizens of Canada will be required if the objective of over one billion dollars is to be reached.

The slogan "Back the Attack" is already well known throughout Canada and general publicity has made the people of Canada receptive to a salesman's call.

In this district the organization is pretty much the same as in previous loans with G. B. Bruce as chairman, A. J. H. McCauley as Unit Organizer with local and district salesmen.

As the amount to be raised throughout the dominion is greatly in excess of the last loans the amount to be raised in this district has also been increased. The quota here in the last loan was $40,000; we have not heard the exact amount of the quota here in this loan but it was suggested at the preliminary organization meeting that it be increased 70 per cent. This would bring it around $68,000.00.

Mice Cause Damage To Grain Sheaves

Spring threshing is not rare in Alberta, but it has some very unusual aspects [illegible] that seem [illegible] apart for many years to come. The three principal factors may [illegible]. The large amount of grain unthreshed [illegible] the territory and at [illegible] acres [illegible] the province [illegible] the Department of agriculture [illegible]. The [illegible] shortage [illegible]. The army of meadow mice which infest the fields and [illegible] with other animals which have been [illegible] a cosy [illegible] in the stooks are now being [illegible] disturbed. In the case of the mice they are proving a great nuisance, the Canadian is informed, as they frequently get into the separator along with the grain.

Opinion seems to vary as to whether there is sufficient evidence to show that the presence of mice and other animals, particularly in the oats, will make the grain unpalatable for stock. Two or three reports indicate this is happening.

Information secured from a local elevator agent is to the effect that some oats have been delivered and are badly mouse damaged and "might be feed". Samples have been sent to the provincial inspection department. The wheat has not been so badly damaged as the mice prefer oats and of course there is not nearly so much of it or of barley. Of the three crops by far the largest is oats. Barley has been placed at 20 per cent of the total and oats at 50 per cent.

Any estimate of the damage that has taken place as a result of the depredations of the Meadow mice (Microtus Microtus) can only be largely speculative at the moment, and it will probably be some time before an accurate summary will be possible.

Several fields of grain were carefully examined last Saturday afternoon by a Camrose citizen who has had farming interests for many years. A large field of oats of approximately 100 acres, south of the [illegible] that it had been well stooked [illegible] and to all appearances had withstood the wintry elements successfully. Sheaves were dry and fit for threshing with only the odd sheaf [illegible] the ground but upon [illegible] the stook it was soon evident that outward appearances had been [illegible]. As the sheaves were handled, one by one, a veritable army of field mice of all ages and sizes scurried for new cover. Eight of these were killed by stepping on them in as many seconds. Bands of three of the eight bundles had been cut by the mice and the contents [illegible] away, much of the straw having been severed and used for nest building. Some of the numerous nests had been built well up in the sheaves while others lay on the bare ground. Under the stook an inch or more of oat hulls littered the ground, undeniable evidence of the amount of grain consumed by the occupants during the long severe winter. Most of this grain had been taken from the inside the sheaves and little destruction was evident in exterior examination.

A sample of these oats was shelled and showed little damage from the winter's exposure. For feed purposes it was considered it should be nearly equal to that threshed and stored last fall. It was estimated loss in bushels in the field referred to would be well over 25 per cent.

Of several fields visited there appeared to be little variation in the condition of the stooks. Handling of such crops cannot be other than difficult and wasteful, it was stated.

Naturally the question is being asked — from whence come these vast numbers of mice? Why and how came they at a period when 50 per cent of the largest grain crop ever grown here had to remain in the fields all winter? The answer is not easy. Some facts may be laid bare, however, and may lead to a solution.

Field mice were not unduly plentiful in the winter of 1941-42, and it was not until late last autumn that a noticeable increase occurred.

It is recalled by many the last peak of abundance of mice was in the fall and winter of 1931-32. While most of the grain had been threshed that fall, large fields of greenfeed remained out all winter. By November and December, 1931, mice became very numerous and when the migration of short-eared owls moved south it was noted great numbers remained and fed in the fields on the easily caught rodents. The owls were so tame they often followed the bundle teams when the greenfeed was being handled and even lighted on the tops of the racks, watching until the stooks were moved and the mice revealed to view. That winter it was estimated tens of thousands of these little owls remained and were credited with checking a condition that might easily have become a serious plague. Since then mice have caused only nominal losses.

But eleven years have brought another cycle of this pest. Mice have many natural enemies, some of which are dependent on them at certain times for their very existence. Hawks, owls, crows, coyotes, foxes, weasels and many other creatures are ever on the watch for this prey. Mice have benefitted by the coming to the west of the white man.

HEALTH NOTE

The Alberta Department of Health issued a warning last Friday concerning the consumption of water. Owing to heavy spring run-off and flood conditions throughout the province, there is a grave danger of contamination in wells. The Department urges all who have reason to suspect their water supply to send samples for analysis to the Provincial Laboratories, Edmonton. Inspection and analysis is free, so inquirers pay only the express costs.

If the good weather continues, it is expected that threshing will be resumed at the end of this week or the early part of next week.

A number of friends gathered at the G. Bailey home on Sunday afternoon to surprise Lylia on her birthday. The afternoon was enjoyed by everyone.

Last Monday evening, April 12th, Mr. Kerns, the District Agriculturist, held a meeting in the McKenzie school to speak on gardening and gardeners' problems. Dr. Cutsumgavich, the Medical Officer of Health and Miss Isabel Robinson were also present to discuss the topic. Miss Robinson spoke particularly on nutrition.

It is hoped that another meeting will be held in the near future to discuss other problems of interest to the farmer.

Mrs. Eaglesham and Jean and Mrs. Roberge spent the week-end in Edmonton. Mrs. Orgille returned with them to visit at the Eaglesham home.

United Church News

Quite a good congregation was present at the re-opening of the church. Nothing but complimentary remarks were heard about the changes that have been wrought on the interior. It is bright and worshipful. The angular seating is an improvement also. On behalf of the Session and Board of Stewards and the congregation Mr. Allan tendered the Ladies' Aid thanks for their splendid achievement.

The three dozen hymn books were donated by the Sunday School, C.G.I.T. groups and the Ladies' Aid. Thanks were tendered for these also.

At the evening service the Junior Choir excelled itself in the rendition of two beautiful and appropriate anthems.

The annual thankoffering service of the W.M.S. held in the church on Tuesday afternoon was well attended. Under the guidance of Mrs. L. Carlisle the program was carefully carried through. The Misses Betty Webb and Betty Stinson sang a duet. The thankoffering was also generous.

MUNICIPAL BANKING—

THE COUNCIL of Municipal District of Beaver had quite a strenuous session on Friday and Saturday of last week. Reeve Ovens made a special effort to keep the councillors to the subject and kept business rolling along about as fast as it could be without slighting any portion of it. Even so it took two days including two night sessions before the final motion to adjourn was passed.

There were a very large number of different items of business to be attended to, among which was the question into which bank should the municipal money go. The Royal Bank at Holden desired to have the account, the Treasury Branch at Ryley were asking for it and the Bank of Montreal at Tofield held open a vault door with the word welcome on it.

In the end it was decided that the Treasury House at Ryley be used for social service, hail and wild lands taxes and forage crop, road grant and seed grain business and that the Bank of Montreal, Tofield, be given the remainder of the Municipal District's business. This arrangement met with the approval of the majority of the council, Councillors Giebelhaus and Logan, while being agreeable to the Treasury House part of the arrangement, desired the rest of the banking business to go to the Royal Bank at Holden.

Within the boundaries of the Municipal District of Beaver there are four urban centres, Holden, Ryley, Tofield and Viking. Viking by reason of it being on the extreme edge of the municipality has put forth very few claims for recognition, but there has been a lively tussle as between the other three towns, first as regards the location of the Central M.D. office and second as to where the banking business should be transacted. Holden and Ryley jumped into the limelight more than Tofield but Tofield had its claim filed just the same.

In a newly formed municipal body, composed mainly of men from other councils and districts it is only to be expected that some loyalties from the old organizations would be carried over into the new, but nothing more detrimental to the success of the new municipal body could occur than to have the council split up into Tofield, Holden and Ryley factions. It has not happened, but there are danger signs.

As regards the Municipal District's banking business, we do not like to see Holden left out in the cold any more than we would have liked to have seen Tofield left out in the cold. What we would like to see if it could possibly be arranged is the banking business apportioned more upon divisional lines than upon a division of government business and non government business. The centres concerned are pretty evenly spaced as regards divisions. We do not know whether an arrangement of this kind would add greatly to the work of the office staff, they have plenty to do, but it would preserve the prestige of separate members and add to the dignity of the Council as a whole.

Technically there are advantages and disadvantages regardless of whether the municipal account is taken either east or west of centre, but these advantages or disadvantages would be greatly outweighed by increased harmony and team work could all three towns be given a portion of the business.

MUNICIPAL MILL RATE—

It is upon assessment and mill rate that tax totals are arrived at, and when ratepayers receive their tax notice this summer, they can rest assured that the councillors at least racked their brains to keep the mill rate as low as possible. At time of writing we are not familiar with other mill rates except municipal and this was discussed from all angles before the final decision of twelve mills was made. As regards Cornhill ratepayers it is a drop of one mill, but as regards Beaver Lake it is a raise of three mills, and for Iron Creek a drop of three mills. The assessment of M.D. of Beaver is well over seven million dollars and on an estimated collection of forty per cent of the tax levy the twelve mills was struck. Several councillors looked rather longingly at eleven mills, but according to budget and estimates, eleven mills did not provide enough money.

HOW MUCH Did You Save LAST YEAR?

One of these days a man will call on you to talk to you about saving money. The caller will be one of your neighbors, or a man from your nearest town who is likely well known to you.

He is asking you to save money when he asks you to buy a Victory Bond. He is not asking you to give money to anybody or anything.

You save money when you buy a Victory Bond . . . and you lend your money to Canada to help win the war. The money you save is yours. You will get it back later on, and have it to do anything you wish with it. And Canada will pay you 3% interest on your savings every year until the loan is paid back to you.

TAKE A FEW MINUTES TO FIGURE OUT HOW YOU ARE GETTING ALONG

This is something that every man should do now and then.

You will see how you are getting along by comparing savings with earnings. It's what you save that counts.

Perhaps you will say you saved all you could. Did you? Remember you are asking yourself questions. You are not getting figures to show anyone but yourself. Can you figure out how you can save more?

A sure way to save money is to save it in small sums—as you get it. Victory Bonds—which can be paid for in small instalments covering a six-months' period—provide a convenient method of carrying out a savings programme. Your Victory Bond salesman will tell you all particulars.

WHAT IS A VICTORY BOND?

A VICTORY BOND is the promise of the Dominion of Canada to repay in cash the full face value of the Bond at the time stipulated, with half-yearly interest at the rate of 3% per annum until maturity.

A Victory Bond is the safest investment in Canada. The entire resources of the Dominion stand behind it. Canada has been issuing bonds for 75 years, and has never failed to pay every dollar of principal and interest.

A Victory Bond is an asset more readily converted into cash than any other security.

D[illegible] and then ask the government to gravel it. Councillors reported they w[illegible] tor just then to go into the matter as 1943 budget and estimates were still an unknown quantity.

On the motion of Councillor Moen meeting adjourned for lunch.

Resuming after lunch, Mr. Gray interviewed council regarding the purchase of cement culverts. He said his firm was now getting plenty of government business but desired to retain their municipal connections so that there would have something to fall back on after the war. Different councillors purchased some culverts for their respective divisions.

Mr. Gray was followed by a representative of the Ingot Iron and Steel Co. He said that after selling metal culverts for years they had been forced by war conditions to sell wooden ones. He had a sample with him and most councillors seemed to be familiar with the design. Some of these culverts were sold to councillors for their respective divisions.

Mr. Curtis, professional road builder interviewed council regarding the building of roads for the M.D. He had constructed roads for the M.D. of Beaver Lake and desired to know whether the new district would need his services. Council replied they were unable to promise very much at then as they did not know what the government would do regarding road grant, but Council felt that there would be work for Mr. Curtis to do.

Further discussion regarding the division of assets and liabilities as between other districts and Beaver brought forth the following motion by Councillor Moen: "That we approve of the method adopted in the division of assets and liabilities as between M.D. of Beaver and those municipal districts of which a part had become a portion of M.D. of Beaver." Carried.

On the motion of Councillor Giebelhaus it was decided to try and arrange a meeting between M.D. of Beaver and M.D. of Norma the following afternoon (Saturday.) Carried.

It was later learned that the Norma councillors were unable to make the trip.

Moved by Councillor M[illegible] that we ask the government for a road grant of $2[illegible].

This [illegible] proposition, that is the government gives a dollar and the M.D. a dollar. The government says where the work on roads shall be done.

Notification that Carl Lindbeck's old age pension had [illegible] was received.

A report was read regarding increased pension for Mrs. Magnusson. On the motion of Councillor Moen Mrs. Magnusson was recommended for full pension.

This brought the weed inspector question to the fore and after considerable discussion it was decided on the motion of Councillor Swabey to have one weed inspector for each division. The inspectors will be allowed 20 days at $7.00 a day including mileage.

Dr. Cutsangavich M.H.O. for the Holden Health Unit and Mr. Mc[illegible] Secretary of the Health Unit Board interviewed Council. The Health Unit had been approached as to giving health service to those portions of the M.D. of Beaver which were not included in the Holden Health Unit. Mr. McLean thought that a committee of councillors should be appointed to attend a Health Unit Board meeting to be held soon. The total cost of the present Health Unit is $11000.00 or an assessment of 8½ mills, half of which is paid by the government.

Dr. Cutsangavich gave an excellent outline of the work they were doing. It was a preventative service. They had immunized pupils in all but 25 schools in the unit against scarlet fever, small pox and diphtheria. Diphtheria and small pox immunization lasts from five to seven years and is roughly 100 per cent effective. Scarlet fever is but 80 per cent. They will immunize adults if they wish.

On the motion of Councillor Logan the Reeve and Deputy Reeve were appointed delegates to the Health Unit Board meeting to be held soon.

Letter from Camrose hospital re Norman Stenerud advising liability.

From University Hospital re Herman Lechelt who was in semi-private ward there. The hospital authorities pointed out that a patient to merit a reduction in the day rate as per arrangement with the municipal district must occupy a public ward. The Lechelts could not see the logic of this, neither could anyone else, but this was according to contract.

On motion of Councillor Swabey it was decided to discontinue the relief paid Mrs. Coates.

Letter from Workman's Compensation Board re working employees.

GLYCERINE FOR ADOLPH BENITO & TOJO

Save ALL WASTE fats & bones

Canada needs and must have every spoonful of fat drippings, every piece of scrap fat and every bone from every kitchen in Canada.

Fats make glycerine and glycerine makes high explosives. Bones produce fat. Also glue for war industry.

Don't throw away a single drop of used fat—bacon grease, meat drippings, frying fat—every kind you use. They are urgently needed to win this war.

Strain all drippings through an ordinary strainer into a clean wide-mouthed can. Save your scrap fat (cooked or uncooked) and all types of bones—cooked, uncooked or dry.

When you have collected a pound or more of fat drippings, take it to your meat dealer who will pay you the established price for the drippings and the scrap fat. Or you can [illegible] them through any Municipal or [illegible] Committee collection system [illegible] in your community.

Be a munition maker right in your own kitchen. For instance, there is enough explosive power hidden in ten pounds of fat to hurl 40 anti-aircraft shells. So every day, this easy way, keep working for Victory for the duration of the war.

Trees for Prairie Farms

During the severe snow storm experienced over a wide area of the prairie provinces in March this year, the value of established shelterbelts in reducing wind velocity and controlling snow accumulation around farm buildings, in fields, and along roads was well illustrated.

Farmers! Now is a good time to make plans to eliminate some of the inconvenience experienced then, and to put shelterbelts to work to your advantage. See to it that snow accumulates where it will benefit your alfalfa or hay field, your garden area and your fruit plantation, and not pile up in the yard and on the road.

Additional benefits are obtained through reduced evaporation, improved appearance, increased bird life, reduced soil drifting and much better gardens, and a supply of fence posts and fuel.

Broadleaf trees for planting on bona fide farm property are available from The Forest Nursery Station, Indian Head, Saskatchewan, in almost unlimited number, FREE of CHARGE, express charges COLLECT. Millions of these go out to thousands of planters each spring. Are YOU taking advantage of this service?

For evergreen trees there is a charge of $1.00 per 100, and to any one planter in any one year a minimum of 50 trees and a maximum of 300 trees will be supplied; planters [illegible] charges.

Before these trees will be supplied planters must prepare land for them by a careful summerfallow for one year. Keep this regulation in mind this summer but your enquiry for trees for 1944 planting should be mailed to The Forest Nursery Station, Indian Head, Saskatchewan, NOW.—Contributed by John Walker, superintendent, The Forest Nursery Station, Indian Head, Saskatchewan.

2nd Day M.D. Meeting

A continuation of Friday's council meeting commenced on Saturday morning at 10:00 a.m. with all councillors present.

It was brought to the attention of council that when a road ban for trucks is in effect upon highways it it is also in effect upon side roads. Violation of the law in this respect will in future lead to prosecution.

The municipal mill rate then came under consideration. Statements prepared by the clerical staff showed the assessment to be over $7,000,000 and previous collections to be 41 per cent of the total levied. The discussion of the mill rate was lengthy and there was a desire on the part of councillors to keep it as low as possible and at the same time have sufficient money to do the road work demanded of them. It was mentioned the greater portion of municipal taxes go into public improvements and these would suffer if the mill rate was set too low.

Moved by Reeve Ovens that the municipal mill rate be set at 12 mills and that a bylaw covering this be given three readings.

Rates of pay for roadwork then came up for attention. The rate for one man was set at 45c. per hr. and 10 cents per hour per horse.

Figures for dragging and maintaining were discussed and set but it was understood that owing to a wide variety of conditions and equipment councillors concerned would be given a little leeway as to the amount paid.

Adjournment for lunch.

Continuing after lunch Councillor Moen moved that road foreman be paid 50c. per hour. Carried.

Men operating road machinery will be paid as follows:

No. 12 unit, caterpillar tractor man, 60c. per hour; grader man, $1.00 per hour; third man 50c. per hour, with an allowance of 70c per day for his car; patrol unit No. 20, 60c. per hour; patrol unit No. 211, 75c. per hour. A motion by Councillor Giebelhaus covered the above.

The purchase of victory bonds was discussed and on motion by Councillor Anderson it was agreed to buy Victory Bonds to the value of $5000.

Of this, $2000 will be bought at Ryley, $2000 at Tofield and $1000 at Viking. A bylaw covering this was passed

On the motion of Councillor Swabey it was decided that as each member of council received a copy of the minutes of one meeting prior to the meeting following, that the customary reading of the minutes be dispensed with.

On the motion of Councillor Giebelhaus it was decided to close the sub offices at the end of the month and that the retiring secretaries get a months pay as a bonus.

Mr. Oliver, superintendent of Treasury branches interviewed Council regarding municipal banking. He stressed the value of their agency connections. In towns where

A profession of faith

We have faith in Canada
We have faith in her past — faith that the courage of the pioneers and the spirit which achieved Confederation and linked a continent with the shining steel of railways have laid strong foundations for national greatness and unity.

We have faith in her present — in the part she is playing to save the world from tyranny ... in her young men and women who serve on land and sea and in the air ... in her workers who labour for more than wages ... in every man and woman and child striving for Victory.

We have faith in her future — believing that she is destined to exert an ever-increasing influence in world affairs, and in the shaping of tomorrow, when many will turn to her with new hope.

We have faith in more than the statistics of Canada's bank clearings and her car-loadings, the vastness of her untapped resources, or even the glorious war record of a people numbering less than twelve millions.

Our faith is a faith in a land we love, whose soul speaks to us from every free acre of Canadian soil ... in the splendour of the Rockies at sunset, the blue mystery of a Laurentian dawn, the quiet of an Ontario woodlot, the far call of prairie horizons, the sound of surf on the Atlantic shore and the wash of the Pacific tides. It speaks to us from churchyards where Canadian dead lie beneath the tribute of English blossoms ... from the poppied fields of France and Flanders ... from the winged and seafaring and mechanized epics of a new war.

Our faith is a faith in her people ... people, noted and obscure, with whom we daily rub shoulders ... and by whose united effort, sacrifice and creative vigour the greater Canada of tomorrow will be built.

there is no treasury branch there is an agency which will accept deposits, give an interim receipt and forward the money to the nearest Treasury Branch. Ratepayers may pay their taxes at these agency branches if they desire. There would be no exchange on cheques. Ryley is the centre of the M.D. and he thought that the banking business should be done here. He saw no advantage in taking the account to outlying towns. The Treasury Branch was established at Ryley about three years ago without too much support from the outlying people. The branch could not be kept open without support. Loans were available at five per cent interest. Before the Treasury branches commenced business, interest rates were higher. They have helped to lower interest rates in Alberta. The Treasury branches have taken over the accounts of quite a number of the newly enlarged municipal districts.

Councillor Logan asked if the Treasury Branches would be open five or ten years from now. By way of reply Mr. Oliver asked if the chartered banks would be in business five or ten years from now. And by way of explanation said that it was not unlikely that at the end of the war the Bank of Canada would take complete control of banking in Canada.

The reeve thanked Mr. Oliver for his information and said that the question of banking would be taken up later.

On motion of Councillor Swabey a number of pay sheets were ordered paid.

On motion of Councillor Logan the Reeve was empowered to make advances to Mr. Morley Anderson as he sees fit and as regards the progress of the work in remodelling the office.

Moved by Councillor Logan that the reeve and secretary be instructed to transfer all titles, deeds and papers from the former municipal districts which had been included in the Municipal District of Beaver to this district. Carried.

It was decided that it was quite satisfactory for church services to be held in the municipal office at Tofield.

On the motion of Councillor Logan, Councillor Swabey was given authority to look into the affairs of Mr. Mike Hands who is at present in hospital.

Application for position as stenographer from Miss Yurkoski was read.

A previous application by Miss Pyle was mentioned and on motion by Councillor Swabey Miss Pyle was offered the position of stenographer at $75.00 per month.

The question of banking then came up for attention. The discussion was quite long and resulted in the following resolution by Reeve Ovens. That we use the Treasury Branch at Ryley for [illegible] service, hail, wild lands taxes and forage crop, road grant and seed grain business. The motion carried.

Councillor Logan moved that the balance of the banking business be done with the Royal Bank at Holden. This motion brought about considerable discussion centreing around whether it was best to do the balance of the banking business at Holden or Tofield. Councillors Anderson and Swabey favored Tofield. Councillors Giebelhaus and Logan favored Holden with the other three members mostly non-commital. Reeve Ovens put the motion to the meeting two or three times, but all members were not ready for the question. It was pointed out that the district would lose $100 a year by placing the account at Tofield due to exchange on school requisition cheques.

Councillor Swabey moved council adjourn for the usual mid afternoon lunch period.

Reassembling in about 15 minutes Mr. Stambaugh interviewed council regarding the purchase of Victory Bonds. He was informed council had arranged to buy $5000 worth of bonds. Mr. Stambaugh did not think this enough and proceeded to stress the purchase of some more.

Councillor Giebelhaus moved that we consider the additional purchase of Victory Bonds to the value of $3000. Carried.

Councillor Logan moved that we purchase additional Victory Bonds to the value of $3000.00. Carried.

Councillor Giebelhaus recommended that these bonds be bought through the Holden committee.

The reeve then put Councillor Logan's motion: "that we do the balance of our banking business at Holden," to the meeting. The motion was lost.

Councillor Anderson then moved: "that we do the balance of our banking business at Tofield." This motion carried.

Councillor Logan requested that his vote be recorded. The vote was: for, the motion, Reeve Ovens, Councillors Anderson, Lucas, Moen, Swabey; against the motion, Councillors Giebelhaus and Logan.

Some accounts were presented, and with the exception of two small bills tabled, were on motion of Councillor Giebelhaus, ordered paid.

Moved by Councillor Logan that Reeve and Deputy Reeve have power to appoint an assessor. Carried.

On the motion of Councillor Swabey the pay for councillors was set at $5.00 per day and 10c. per mile for meetings and $4.00 a day and 10c. a mile for road supervision.

Moved by Councillor Logan that the Reeve be authorized to pay the wages of the men operating the grader and patrol units providing the pay sheets have been signed by the councillor [illegible]

On the recommendation of Councillor Lucas it was decided to pay Mrs. P. Kozak $20.00 per month for the keep of Phillip Rohan who is unable to care for himself.

The allotment of money as between divisions for public works came under discussion. There was a division of opinion as to whether it should be apportioned by assessed valuation or by equal amounts for all seven divisions. Reeve Ovens and Councillor Logan thought the allotment based on assessment was best. Councillors Anderson and Swabey thought that equal amounts between divisions was the best.

Moved by Councillor Giebelhaus that divisional allotment for road work be based on assessment. Also all under and over payments of merged districts in 1942 be adjusted. Carried.

On motion of Councillor Lucas, Reeve Ovens and Deputy Reeve Anderson will be a committee to arrange for the closing of the sub offices.

Council adjourned for supper.

Reassembling after supper arrangements were made to meet a delegation from M.D's concerned with the assets and liabilities adjustment. On motion of Councillor Logan, Saturday April 23rd in the afternoon was agreed as the time for the meeting.

Moved by Councillor Moen that the regular meeting day of M.D. of Beaver be the second Friday of each month unless otherwise arranged. Carried.

Mr. Joe Swizinski appeared before council and announced he wished to buy Fr. N.W. 6-52-20 w4, 80 acres. This is in the Cooking Lake area. He offered $180.00 for the 80 acres, $60.00 down, $60.00 in five months and $60 in 10 months. It was agreed to sell Mr. Swizinski this land at that figure subject to the approval of the Minister of Municipal Affairs. First and second reading of bylaw covering this was given.

On motion of Councillor Anderson Mr. Burgar was sold an old typewriter formerly in use in the M.D. office for the sum of $10.00.

LINDBROOK

LINDBROOK V.V.R.

Parades are held every Wednesday at Lindbrook school at 8:00 p.m. sharp.

The Lindbrook platoon of the V.V.R. was organized one year ago this week by six veterans of world war I.

Mr. J. Bracegirdle was appointed to the command of this platoon, Mr. Chas. Morden was appointed to the rank of sergeant instructor as second in command and Mr. P. Holland, Mr. F. Evans, Mr. W. Lancaster and Mr. Willard McHaffey were appointed corporals as section leaders. These six men then began to build up the platoon and by the end of August the platoon had grown to a membership of 63. Since that time we have lost two of our N.C.O's, Mr. P. Holland went to Edmonton on vital war work and Mr. W. Lancaster joined the Veterans' Guard and went active. Four of our other ranks have gone on active service, six have left the district and one member died. Thus we lost 13 members and now have an enrolment of 50.

During last summer and fall we held one parade during the week and held firing practice on Sundays. We held one church parade at Ministik Hall, one picnic at Hastings Lake, and attended the memorial service in Tofield on November 11th, which all in all was a very successful season's activities. We ended our summer and fall season by holding a smoker at Lindbrook school.

We would like to recruit at least enough new members to replace 13 men we have lost from our ranks and male British subjects over 16 years of age can enrol, and we will be pleased to enroll new members at any regular parade or at Lindbrook store.

Spending the Easter week-end at home with their relatives are, Messrs. Ronnie and Ralph Richardson, Mr. P. Holland and Miss Pansy Bracegirdle.

Pte. Ralph Kortsman returned to duty last Thursday after being home on leave.

ROYAL CANADIAN AIR FORCE "NEWS NOTES"

Ladies! Your heart will swell with pride as you step out any Sunday morning in Air Force Blue! Not only will you look your best in this trim, tailored uniform, but you'll hold your head high because you're an honored member of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

As an airwoman, you'll tackle the kind of work for which you are best equipped---the work you like best. Perhaps you'll be chosen to take a vocational course to fit you for special work. Women who take these courses will be qualified to fill better positions when the war is over.

In the R.C.A.F. you'll meet the cream of Canada's manhood and womanhood. They'll come from the city and the farm; from office and University; from cottage and mansion. They go where duty calls to any part of Canada, Newfoundland or overseas.

ARMY NOTE

Ottawa, April 22nd.---Discharged or retired soldiers of the Canadian Active Army are urgently requested to communicate with the Awards Section of the Department of National Defence, Ottawa, giving their present address so that the war service (discharged) Badge may be mailed to them.

Several thousands of men who left the Service before February 1942, when the war service badge was first issued, cannot be located. Relatives and friends of such former soldiers are asked to communicate information of this award to them.

The lapel badge in the form of a shield, surmounted by a crown, contain three red maple leaves on a silver background, with the words "General Service." On the reverse side is inscribed a serial number to aid in identification if lost.

To Help Him NOW . . . and When He Comes Home

YOUR SON (or your neighbor's son) is in battle dress perhaps . . . on a ship at sea, or flying a bomber. You are proud of him, but you pray for the time when he will be back home. You will do anything you can, you say, . . . everything you can . . . to bring him home safe, and bring him home soon.

When you buy Victory Bonds you help your boy to do the big job he is doing now. You help to make sure that he has everything he needs; better equipment than the enemy has. And you are saving money to have a better home for your boy to return to.

HAVE MONEY FOR HIM WHEN HE COMES HOME

He will want to work with new farm implements . . . new equipment . . . to replace things that may be worn out. He will have new ideas to improve the farm. He may want to experiment with new crops, new stock, new farming methods. He's young and ambitious as you want him to be.

He will need money to do things he plans to do. Victory Bonds . . . money saved now and loaned to Canada to help win the war . . . will be yours and his to use when the war is over.

WHAT IS A VICTORY BOND?

A VICTORY BOND is the promise of the Dominion of Canada to repay in cash the full face value of the Bond at the time stipulated, with half-yearly interest at the rate of 3% per annum until maturity. A Victory Bond is the safest investment in Canada. The entire resources of the Dominion stand behind it. Canada has been issuing bonds for 75 years, and has never failed to pay every dollar of principal and interest. A Victory Bond is an asset more readily converted into cash than any other security.

WILL PAY 2c. LB. FOR SUNFLOWER SEED; 6c. FOR RAPE SEED

The Dominion Department of Agriculture on the advice of the oils and fats administrator of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board urges the production of sunflower seed and rape seed be stimulated in Canada. Excellent edible oil, of which all that can be produced is needed, is obtainable from the sunflower seed, and in addition the by-product cake provides a stock feed of particularly high protein content. Rape seed oil is used as a marine engine lubricant for which there is no satisfactory substitute. It is also valuable as a edible oil and the by-product likewise provides a high protein feed.

For the purpose of encouraging the production of both sunflower seed and rape seed, the government is arranging through the Canadian Wheat Board to pay 5 cents per pound for sunflower seed and 6 cents per pound for rape seed, in reasonably clean condition, moisture content not exceeding limits to be determined and announced by the board, delivered f.o.b. shipping points named by the board and in accordance with such instructions as are issued by the board. The Canadian Wheat Board will be empowered to establish discounts for sunflower seed and rape seed which falls to meet the standards of quality mentioned.

Local Victory Loan Total Climbing

Climbing up, but still quite a way to go to meet the quota set in the local Victory Loan Total.

Wednesday afternoon the total stood at $37,050.00 with 100 applications. There really has not been the number of applications desired so although the total amount subscribed is almost 65 per cent of the quota two fairly large purchases swelled the total considerably.

With just a little more than a week to go there should be quite an increase in the number of applications which now stands at less than half the number of applications in a previous Victory Loan drive [illegible]

NATIONALLY

Tuesday's total of $67,390,850 was more than 20 millions higher than on the corresponding day in the third loan.

This building was erected about 1912 and occupied by R.W.P. for quite a few years. Mr. Pincott bought, sold and traded in a number of things, was a notary, and many and diverse were the kinds of business transacted within the four walls of the cement block building. Of late years it has been crumbling and soon will be just a memory.

The U.F.W.A. will meet with Mrs. A. Haukedal on Thursday, May 13th. Be ready for roll call with an original spring poem. Do not forget your wool or cotton quilt blocks 20x30 inches, and your used clothing for the Salvation Army.

Bee Industry Increases Tremendously

To Bee or Not to Bee—and will we be honey sweet next fall, is right now an open question. But if all the bees Mr. Chandler of the Co-op is spreading around the country have a good season to work in there should be honey for all of us. It has got to the stage where bees and bee equipment demand is ahead of the supply, but the Co-Op has already distributed considerable of this and are obtaining further supplies of both bees and equipment as soon as possible.

At a recent bee meeting held in [illegible] there were between 20 and 30 present from this area.

Bee keeping has certainly come into prominence here during the past few years. A few years ago one could name off hand those people who kept bees in this district, but today a list of them would look like a voters list. To those few who have been in the industry for many years, this would be a source of gratification.

We cannot attempt to really list the first bee keepers in this area but two or three come to mind. Mrs. Gray, now Mrs. Stephens, was among the first bee keeping enthusiasts here. She saw value in bee keeping when a bee hive was a rare thing in these parts. Ab Sinclair, former C.N.R. agent here took up the hobby and for a number of years had his bee hives in town, later putting them out in the country. Fred McHeffey then went into the bee industry and no doubt many others.

With the lack of sweetening due to sugar rationing many people are turning their attention to bees, hoping the honey will provide the sweetening desired. And next fall if the honey crop is a good one, won't we all be stuck-up, a little proud, yet full of sweetness

The War Workers' Club will endeavor to meet on its regular day this month (May 27) and we will try to let everyone know definitely where and when before that date. The rush of threshing in addition to the usual heavy spring spell of work tends to force war work out of our minds and off our timetables—but this work is urgent, more so this year than spring cleaning. If anyone feels she has time to do a little knitting before the meeting there is some yarn on hand at Mrs. J. B. Warner's.

Bombing In Britian

Another in a series of articles written by W. R. Legge and C. V. Charters, who represented the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association in a recent tour overseas.

By Walter R. Legge

All Canadians are intensely interested in the bomb damage in Britain. We found on our return to Canada, that everywhere we went we were certain to be asked about it.

It has been said that there is not a village in England that has not had a bomb dropped on it, but I know of several places that up to the time that we were there had not seen a bomb. After landing and boarding a train for London, we were surprised to see no sign of bomb damage until after we had been travelling for several hours. There are few signs of bomb damage to be seen in any of the smaller places, except near east and south coasts. Even in London there are large areas that appear to have been untouched. We began to realize how small a start the Germans had made toward the destruction of Britain.

Where a building has been totally destroyed, it is difficult for anyone who has not seen that building to visualize the amount of the destruction. For instance, when we were being shown around Bristol, one day, our guide halted in the centre of a large area that had been demolished. Pointing to a part of it, he said, "That is where one of our largest departmental stores used to stand." We could see a heap of rubble, but never having seen the store it was impossible really to appreciate the extent of the destruction.

In other places where the walls are still standing, it is much easier to understand the damage. We drove through parts of London, and later walked through part of Bristol, on brilliant moonlight nights, and the moonlight, shining through roofless and windowless buildings, made a terrible picture, never to be forgotten.

We visited blitzed areas in London, Bristol, Bath and Portsmouth, but there are many other places that have badly battered areas, Hull, Dover, Coventry, Plymouth, etc.

In some cases areas of several blocks have been completely flattened, while in others, one house in the middle of a block may have been demolished as if cut out by a huge knife.

We were told that there is a well defined pathway between London and the coast, leading toward Germany, along which the fields were ploughed up by bombs which had been dropped by raiders who, unable to penetrate the London defences, had turned back and dumped their bombs at random.

In April 1942, Hitler carried out what is known as the "Baedecker" raids, so called because they were aimed soley at destroying famous places, on Exeter, Bath, Norwich, York and Canterbury. Civilian casualties at Bath, Exeter, Norwich and York were 938 persons killed and 908 injured. Many of the killed were never identified. The pathetic description of one at Bath read, "Age, about two years, hair, fair, eyes, blue grey, division between top row of teeth, no other distinguishing features."

Bristol, we found, had been rather badly battered, principally in the winter of 1940-41 during which 2,250 houses were destroyed including 22 elementary schools and 29 churches.

Our home in Bristol was the Royal Hotel, which was carrying on although the back part including the dining room and many of the rooms, had been bombed off. The rooms occupied by some of our party did not have any glass in the windows.

In four of the larger cities which we visited, we saw areas many blocks in extent that have been completely flattened. Since returning home I have heard that up until December 31st, 1942, the number of Britons killed in air raids was 47,[illegible] and the number injured was 56,410.

We heard many expressions of appreciation for the assistance sent to the stricken people by various funds in Canada.

One of the aims of the enemy was to destroy the morale of the people. It was interesting to study the actual effect. We found that the stories we had heard of the way in which the people had taken the punishment dished out to them were absolutely true. Their spirit is simply wonderful.

One of our guides in Bristol, who had been a prosperous merchant, showed us a mass of rubble in the midst of the bombed area, and quietly remarked, 'That is all that is left of my life savings." No complaints. Just a grim determination to carry on.

LUMBER

ORDER NOW FOR SPRING DELIVERY

It is becoming increasingly difficult to get lumber. Farmers desiring lumber for spring should order now to ensure delivery.

HENRY McGINITIE

TREATING SEED GRAIN

Farmers I suggest should be very careful this year in the treatment of certain seed grain, particularly flax and oats. From all that one can find out wheat and barley seem to be germinating well this year, and to have strong vitality. It might, therefore, be quite proper, if desired, to treat wheat and barley this year with formaldehyde, but if this is done the farmer must be absolutely certain that the solution is no stronger than recommended by the manufacturer as stated in the directions on the package, for a very little extra strength in the solution will certainly lower germination.

Flax and oats, however, I suggest should be treated this year only with mercurial dust—Ceresan or Leytosan—(because some of these crops were touched with early fall frost which weakened vitality.) These mercurial dusts do not harm germination, on the contrary they actually improve germination. Again, however, the proper amount for the various grains, as marked by the manufacturer on the package should be used.

I have seen wheat and oats improved 15 per cent in germination by the use of mercurial dust. Mercurial dusts have the advantage that the grain can be treated and stored a week or so before seeding without any harm to the seed.

TOFIELD NOW IN NEW AGRICULTURAL DISTRICT

The Tofield district, is now, so we are informed, included in a newly created Agricultural District extending from Cooking Lake to Jarrow and territory north and south adjacent to this line.

Mr. W. A. Moisey, appointed District Agriculturist, will make his headquarters in Holden and may be reached at his temporary office in the Holden School Division Bldg. Mr. Moisey is anxious to make contacts with the farmers in his territory and invites those seeking advice on agricultural problems to get in touch with him.

There will be a meeting of the Junior Grain Club in Tofield this week, probably Saturday evening. This meeting will be held jointly by Mr. Moisey and Mr. J. Kerns, who until recently was in charge of this territory as part of the Camrose Agricultural District. Those wishing to interview Mr. Moisey and Mr. Kerns may do so at this time.

THE FOURTH VICTORY LOAN

Today some of the Tofield boys are fighting on the land, in the air, and on the sea. There is not one in Tofield who hasn't a husband, or a relative in the fighting forces. These boys have given up home comfort and family to fight for our liberty and freedom.

These boys have given their all and are even prepared to give their lives that we may retain the liberty and freedom that we are enjoying today. These boys are depending on you to back them up. Let it never be said that Tofield let her boys down, Tofield is greater than that, Tofield is bigger than that. The spirit of Tofield will always rise to the occasion.

Let Tofield show that spirit
By buying bonds to the limit.
Buy a Victory Bond
To help our boys across the pond.
To buy ships, tanks, and shell
To put down Hitler and his Nazi hell
You are not giving but lending
And helping the boys you are sending.
They are looking to you
To see them through.
Let us never falter till victory is won.

FARMERS MAY STILL KILL CATTLE FOR OWN CONSUMPTION

In connection with slaughtering regulations it has been stated:

"It is not intended to prohibit farmers from slaughtering livestock for their own consumption or to sell to other farmers for their own use. "Beef rings" may still function provided their membership is restricted to farmers obtaining meats for their own use.

These boys the work will see well done,
We are going to win this war, not counting the cost.
Nothing but victory, or else all is lost.
Nothing but victory, cost what it may
And may God hasten the day."

PEOPLE OF TOFIELD & DISTRICT

... about this matter of VICTORY BONDS

WE'RE NOT DOING OUR SHARE

THE sale of Victory Bonds in this community since the opening of the Fourth Victory Loan has not been encouraging.

We are not buying the new Victory Bonds in anything like the way we should be buying them.

A quota was set up for this community—and from present indications we will not meet that quota.

The quota is a modest one, too—an amount that should be easy to meet—a quota that can be met without inconvenience to any if each one does what he should do.

As a matter of fact, there should be no quotas in connection with the sale of Victory Bonds. The war is a matter of life and death. We haven't won the war yet. If we give the matter proper thought each one of us will buy Victory Bonds with all our available cash—and as much more—on the instalment plan—as we can pay for in the next six months. And we will scrimp to save to do this.

STRIKES—

TO THE daily worker in industrialized industry there are bound to be in time, grievances arise, some of them very real, some of them imaginary. The worker merely complaining about them rarely does much good and the only real weapon that the worker has is the strike weapon. That strikes are uneconomic, grudge producing and are often accompanied by violence including murder, is well known. But to the daily worker in any large factory, foundry, or coal mine, the strike, as poor a weapon as it is, is the only weapon he has to use.

While the above is true enough, as a matter of fact strikes rarely start with workers but are engineered and in the final decision, ordered by the trade union of any particular industry. Trade unions are a mixed blessing. Undoubtedly as a whole they have been responsible for improving the workers conditions of toil, rates of pay, etc. But unions themselves must live off of the workers and there are plenty of soft jobs held by union officials with the workers supplying the pay.

During the past few days, over the air and through the press, there has been carried the story of industrial strikes. The hard and soft coal miners of the United States have at the behest of President Roosevelt returned to work, and this morning (Tuesday) there comes a report that several thousand airplane construction workers in Canada have voted to return to work after a strike lay off of several days duration.

Whatever opinions one may hold as regards strikes and trade unions in general and as applied to peace time, should be side tracked for the duration. If strikes of workers in vital industries ever have a useful purpose this usefulness ends when a nation commences to fight for its very existence against a foreign foe. In other words while loyalty to one's union is praiseworthy, complete loyalty to one's country is more important. It is the responsibility of each worker to produce as much as he or she can to help support the fighting forces, and, this is important, it is the responsibility of the government to see that these workers are not over worked or underpaid.

Both government and workers could with profit bear in mind the economic condition of the average farmer. If farmers refused to sow or reap because conditions were not to their liking (and they never are) it would be a poor look-out for all of us. Something like a dried up slough with alkali dust on top of it.

I'LL TAKE VANILLA—

(Christian Science Monitor)

FIRST HE walks, then he talks, and the first two words he puts together are ice cream. That is, if he's an American youngster. From then on its his favorite dessert. And now he thinks of it—mountains of it—when he's fighting in Africa, or building airfields in the jungles.

The story is told of a Marine in Guadalcanal who discovered an ice cream freezer. There was high excitement in the camp. Someone rushed for ice which he found in an ice-house abandoned by the Japanese. Everyone fought for a chance to turn the freezer. There was a gallon and a half to be divided between 85 Marines. It wasn't much. It wasn't frozen very stiff, "but it was the best thing we ate on the island," vowed one Marine.

American fliers in Britain have discovered an ingenious way to make their favorite dessert. They mix the ice cream in a large tin can and anchor it in the gunner's compartment of a Flying Fortress. Soaring high over enemy territory, it is well shaken and frozen to perfection. Upon return to base, a successful raid is celebrated in true American style.

Ice cream on the home front is a bit on the scarce side now, with heavy whipping cream off the menu for the duration. But war don't last forever. Someday again there'll be plenty of strawberry-chocolate-and-vanilla, or what have you, in all those wonderful varieties that stagger imagination and memory and tease the palate. Not that it's important at all. It's just pleasant to think about.

Believe It Or Not!

A certain flying instructor in Kansas City has to put up wth a good deal of kidding these days as the result of a parachute jump.

Recently he and one of his students were up in a training ship. The student, well advanced in his flying, was doing good work and the instructor, in the rear cockpit dropped off to sleep.

Upon completion of the flying period, the student returned to the field, landed without disturbing the instructor, rolled the ship into the hangar, and walked off, leaving the instructor sleeping.

Some time later, he awoke and was startled to find no student in the front cockpit. The silence told him the motor wasn't running. In his sleepy state, he thought the motor had quit and the student had bailed out. So he rolled hastily over the side of the plane, pulled the rip cord on his chute, landed on the concrete floor of the hangar and broke his collar bone.—Wall Street Journal.

CANADIAN FARMERS ON HONOUR SYSTEM

Canadian farmers were put on the "honor system" when butter rationing went into effect, and a similar system will be used for meat rationing on farms according to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

There is no accurate way of checking how much meat farmers slaughter and cure at home for their own, or their neighbor's consumption. Local ration Boards rely on the farmer's honesty in registering extra coupons and the names of members of his local "Beef Ring."

Details of the meat rationing plan as it affects farmers have not yet been released, but it is known that it is not proposed to put burdensome restrictions on the slaughter of livestock by farmers for their own use.

The government is appealing most earnestly, however, to all farmers who slaughter their own meat to live well within the spirit of the ration. That is, they are asked to cut down consumption of meat by 15 to 20 per cent this year, as all are rationed consumers elsewhere, officials said.

In order to control the supply of meat entering the channels of trade, there will be restrictions on the right of farmers and of other persons to slaughter for sale, but much of the success of the plan depends upon the farmer himself, and the voluntary co-operation he gives in marketing his livestock through regular channels of trade.

IT PAYS TO BE HONEST

It pays to be honest. At least that is the opinion of an Edmonton Rural salesman of Victory Bonds after his experiences with an 84 year old bachelor in the Winterburn district. The salesman called hesitatingly, hoping at best for a $50 bond. After a brief conversation, the elderly bachelor pulled out a wallet stating that the $500 contained therein could be used for a bond. The salesman counted the "wad" and found $850. The old-timer insisted there was only $500. After several recounts the old bachelor found the salesman to be right and remarked in broken English, flavored heavily with a German accent, "You're right, you good man, I make it $1,000." He paid for it with eighty-five $10 bills, one $50, and the balance in various denominations.

War Savings Certificates Are a Splendid Investment.

INFLATION INJURIOUS TO CANADIAN FARMERS

The experience of Canadian farmers during and subsequent to the Great War of 1914-18 demonstrated that inflation is exceeding harmful to the farming industry, consequently all farmers should be interested in the present fight to prevent inflation being maintained in Canada and the United States.

During an inflationary period farm prices always go up earlier and faster than other prices. Farm costs, meanwhile, lag behind. That was true last time. It was early in 1920 before some farm costs caught up with or passed prices. Thus other classes in the community notably labor, suffer most in the early stages of inflation. In the ultimate, however, farmers are the worst sufferers.

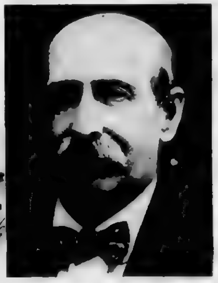
When the first deflationary bump came in 1920, farm prices led the process down just as they had led it up and again they went faster and father, but this time farm costs never did drop as far as farm prices. This downward spiral of farm prices was not only weeks and months ahead, it was years ahead of the decline of farm costs. In fact, some farm costs such as farm taxes, farm mortgage debts and interest payments kept on increasing for several years after the 1921 break. Not until the depression of 1929 did some of the costs really begin to drop.

During the twenties, farm taxes got as high as 2½ times the pre-war rate, city wages 2½ times and farm machinery charges two-thirds above pre-war figures. When these costs did finally level off, they stayed significantly above the pre-war level.

The long depression really got in its worst licks on land values and the prices of farm products, in fact thousands of farmers between 1921 and 1923 saw the accumulated savings of a lifetime disappear.

No farmer who remembers the bitter experience of the last post-war period wants to see this kind of inflation again. He knows that prices pushed up by speculative influences or other distortions cannot be sustained. No farmer wants another 1921 nor 1922. One way to prevent major economic depressions is to prevent the inflation which precedes them.

SWEET CAPORAL
THE PUREST FORM IN WHICH TOBACCO CAN BE SMOKED



DR. SEAGER WHEELER
Rosthern, Sask. "The World's Champion Wheat Grower"

World's Champion Wheat Grower

Born in England, the "Wheat Wizard of Saskatchewan" spent his early years as a clerk in the Old Country. In 1885 he emigrated to Canada, and homesteaded north of Saskatoon where he learned the elements of farming. In 1900 he was attracted to the Rosthern district where he purchased, for less than one thousand dollars, the 160 acre farm on which the celebrated experiments which made his name a household word in Western Canada were carried out.

One of his initial achievements was producing 40 bushels of wheat to the acre on three inches of rainfall.

In 1911 he scored one of his greatest successes when, with a bushel of Marquis wheat, he won the "world's championship" at the New York land show, and was awarded the prize of $1,000 offered by Sir Thomas Shaughnessy. In 1914 and 1915 he won similar honors, and earned for himself the appellation "The World's Champion Wheat Grower".

For his services to Canadian agriculture, Seager Wheeler was honoured in 1919 by a doctor of laws degree conferred by Queen's University.

Recommends VICTORY BONDS

Dr. Wheeler says:

"If Canadians were asked to give money to help to win the war we would not be asked to make a big sacrifice. Some are giving their lives. We are asked to lend money. I am sure that farmers throughout Canada will be glad to lend money to their country, for like all other Canadians, they know we must do all we can to help.

"There is a practical reason for buying Victory Bonds, too. The money we lend to Canada now, to help to win the war, will be ours to use as we please after the war has been won. Ready cash will be handy to have when we will want to replace farm equipment that is wearing out now. A farmer can always find a use for savings, and there is no better way to save than by investing all we can in Victory Bonds."

Cover More Ground Per Gallon On "99" Gas---"Polymerized" To Fight Knock and Engine Wear

New Refining Process Gives New High Rating To Famous "99" Brand

IN the Autumn of 1942, a new and better gasoline came into being in Turner Valley, when the completed "Polymerization Unit" of Gas and Oil Products Limited started turning out a fluid with an octane rating just under 90.

Blended with regular refinery-run gasoline this "Polymerized" fluid produced a motor fuel with an amazingly high anti-knock rating that required the addition of less tetra-ethyl lead. Farmers on the land this Spring are learning what motorists discovered last Fall—that "99" gasolines go farther and cut down "knock" and engine wear.

There's a "99" dealer in your community. Whether you run a high compression tractor or not, you'll find he has a "99" gas to help you "cover more ground with every gallon". Consult the "99" dealer or bulk plant agent in your district—he'll be glad to show you how you can get more out of your truck or tractor this Spring and Summer.

WHEAT STEM SAWFLY

Just one year ago, we emphasized the sawfly threat. We directed the attention of farmers to an excellent description of control methods, Special Pamphlet No. 30, and placed a copy in all line country elevators.

Let us remember two facts. Firstly, the sawfly is still a threat and, secondly, it can be controlled. The results of research and experiment [illegible] are year by year, leading to more effective control methods.

Last year, Dr. H. M. King and [illegible], through the cooperation of farmers, conducted a series of [illegible] trap demonstrations. The [illegible] were full of meaning to all [illegible] in sawfly [illegible]. We have [illegible] the report [illegible]. They [illegible] trap [illegible].

In the [illegible] than [illegible] of the [illegible] stripped wheat was severely infested to more than 31 rods from the margin, on the average of the [illegible].

It is estimated that [illegible] at least ten times as many heads of wheat were lost in the [illegible] fields than in the [illegible] trapped one.

Write to Dominion Entomological Laboratory at Lethbridge, Saskatoon or Brandon for Special Pamphlet No. 30 and other information, and ask your local [illegible] elevator [illegible] for a copy of "The Wheat Stem Sawfly."

LAST WINTER'S COAL SHORTAGES SUGGEST "BUY EARLY" PLANS

Canadian householders who wish to be assured of a supply of coal for next winter will be wise to order it soon, and those who use wood for heating should note the "handwriting on the wall" and do everything possible to see that the wood is cut now for next winter's needs.

The Government's Solid Fuel Credit Plan gives citizens a chance to put their coal in early and not wait until fall when supplies will not be so readily available, and transportation more difficult.

Although problems of storage and supply are different in various provinces, securing adequate fuel for winter should not be left until the last minute. Last winter many shortages existed because householders failed to take delivery of their coal during the summer months.

Vancouver, Canada's third largest city, had a desperate coal shortage during December, January and February. The zero weather caught the province unprepared, and in consequence churches, schools and many other public buildings were forced to close. Some people were even forced to leave their homes because they had no fuel left to heat them.

On the other side of the Dominion, Halifax in the same month experienced a blizzard which stopped coal and other deliveries.

In Toronto, people who had failed to take the "Buy Early" advice of last year were in a bad way during the winter. Business men and war workers had to depend on supplies they could carry home themselves.

Large Crowd at Festival Concert

The Tofield and district school festival concert was held at Tofield on Wednesday evening of this week. The attendance exceeded all expectations there being standing room only for quite a large number present.

The festival itself is slightly different from former years, certain groups of schools having their own, thus eliminating large numbers of children being transported to and from neighboring centres, as formerly.

The program Wednesday at Tofield included numbers by pupils from surrounding schools and was in every sense of the word remarkable for the display of musical and artistic talent presented.

The program included vocal and instrumental numbers, rhythm band, duets, trios, display of physical training, including club swinging, also a play.

The audience was fully appreciative and applauded generously, bringing back some numbers for an encore despite the long program.

The success of the concert was due in a large measure to the painstaking work of the teaching staffs of the different schools and they are to be congratulated on the result of their efforts. A. P. Bigland was chairman.

The concert was augmented by excellent selections from the newly formed Tofield band under the leadership of Mr. H. Chandler.

A more detailed report will appear next week.

COMMUNICATION

The other day a small group was down to the cemetery and what a shock it was to our finer sensibilities to see the whole of the cemetery ground burnt over. So much damage done to ornamental shrubs and trees. Whoever let that fire go should be severely reprimanded and be made to make the damage good, for it was in every sense of the word a sacrilegious act, for a Christian burial ground is holy ground.

Now what can be done to prevent such a dastardly thing happening again. I would respectfully suggest (if there be a cemetery committee of the Town Council or a Cemetery Association for the upkeep of the cemetery that such bodies should get busy in the interests of the town and country side.

Why not rent a strip of land, say one rod and a half wide, close in and surrounding the cemetery grounds and have that strip summerfallowed so that it would be black for Fall and Spring. I would also suggest that the expense involved might be defrayed equally by urban and rural municipalities or else levy a special tax against all plot holders.

But let something be done to keep and preserve in order and decency God's acre.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,
Yours Respectfully,
J. W. COOKSON

FISH TO HALIFAX, BEANS TO BOSTON

Montreal, May 10.—Sending fish to Halifax and beans to Boston is ordinarily just about as inept a business as shipping coal to Newcastle, but the war has upset more than one familiar routine. British Columbia salmon goes on the Ocean Limited to Halifax, and the other day a United States marine in Montreal sought the aid of the Canadian National Express in getting several cans of beans to Boston. "Believe it, or not," he said, "they're hard up for beans in Boston."

PATRIOTIC FARMERS

(Searle Grain Company)

A trip throughout the prairie farms this seeding time shows certain unusual things—the absence of many young men of military age on farms, the shortage of almost any kind of hired help—male or female—and the number of old men and women, many of whom have come out of retirement and who are struggling along to do farm work much of which is obviously beyond their physical powers.

It is all however a splendid tribute to the patriotism of our prairie people.

The work of food production is hard, the hours are long, prices are low or at best only moderate, but prairie farmers do not strike. What a contrast to some of those young men who work in industry, munition plants and mines and who we hear now and again use these times of national stress to strike for higher wages and on the average, industrial workers of Canada are, I calculate, [illegible] per cent better off than they were at this time in the last war, and farmers are decidedly less well off.

The patriotism of our prairie farmers and their families certainly shines with a bright light.

BANK OF MONTREAL ISSUES CROP STATEMENT

In the first crop statement of the year issued by the Bank of Montreal and which covers all of Canada, the following concerning Alberta appears: ALBERTA:

"The season is backward, but wheat seeding is becoming fairly general with the best progress in southern Alberta and the Peace River District. Moisture conditions are excellent. A considerable reduction in wheat acreage as compared with 1942 is anticipated, with a relative increase in coarse grains. Good progress has been made in threshing the balance of last year's crop. Winter damage has been heavy. Sugar beet seeding is well advanced."

COMMUNICATION

March 31st., 1943

I have often wondered how a radio broadcast was conducted and as some of your readers probably have wondered also, will attempt to describe one that I attended.

Some of your readers probably heard Mark Kenny and orchestra from Uplands on March 1st and as I had an opportunity of attending and hearing it first hand, will recount my reactions.

The company and their props arrived here before noon although they did not go on the air until the evening. At once they set up the stage and radio control panel and a wire testing line and connections with the CBC in Ottawa the station from which they were to broadcast. Shortly after dinner they began to practice for the show to rehearse the program, the rehearsal being as regular as the broadcast so those of us who were not busy got in on a lot of music.

The stage setting is the same as any other orchestra. I was, as you may well guess, more interested in the radio equipment than in the show itself. You may have wondered how the mikes were arranged to give the desired sound effects. I had thought that there might be one for each instrument or every group of instruments. But there were only four, three from the floor and one in the centre stage from the ceiling. The guitar player had one or two amplifying guitars connected directly to the control panel. And that was all.

A boy might ask why one could hear us yell so well one minute and so suddenly die away so well timed. The explanation is simple as the master of ceremonies instructed us before the show started that when he waved his hands to yell and clap for all we were worth (no whistles) to make it sound like there were more of us there than there were and to let our applause die as he lowered his hands slowly.

They began their program for us about half an hour before they went on the air but for the last few minutes before they went on the air you could see them getting set for the real work. The last few seconds of our private show became tense and then the signal "on the air". The master of ceremonies gave the name of the sponsors and their product and its qualities and away we went again and those of you who heard it know the rest.

During the program proper members of the company moved around from time to time to use different instruments or to bring a certain instrument nearer to the microphone for effect. It was not unusual in a number, for one of the members to play a few bars on the piano and then having finished an effect, take it over while the first put on another effect. I found it very interesting this placing of effects.

The show had to be carefully timed even to the time allowed for applause. The last few minutes the master of ceremonies kept his eye very closely on the time touching his nose to ask the operator of the control panel if we were "on the nose" and receiving a nose reply made a final dramatic announcement of the product and sponsor, and were off the air.

The show was over except for the presentation of mementoes of Uplands given to Mark Kennedy and three of the soloists by our Commanding Officer.

AVIATION GASOLINE NOW MADE IN TURNER VALLEY

As a direct result of installing the only "Polymerization" unit in Canada at their refinery in Turner Valley last Autumn, Gas and Oil Products Limited, independent Alberta producers, refiners and marketers, are now making aviation gasoline for use by the Royal Canadian Air Force at training centres throughout Western Canada, Company officials announced this week.

The first aviation gasoline of Dominion Government standards was run off a few days ago on completion of a desulphurization unit which has been under construction since the "Polymerization" process was installed, and supplies are building up rapidly at company storage points ready for delivery to R.C.A.F. stations, it was stated.

Octane, or anti-knock standards set by the government for aviation gasoline call for ratings of 87 and 90, both of which the Turner Valley refinery is able to supply through utilization of the new polymerization plant.

The catalytic polymerization process was first put to practical use in the United States a few years ago, and the first plant in the Dominion was completed at Turner Valley in August, 1942.

Offal that used to be thrown away was worth a neat little sum to the fishermen in and about Prince Rupert, B.C. Even in these days, when war's outlays have made people accustomed to vastly bigger figures, $37,004 is a neat little sum to average folk, and that's what the fishermen in the Rupert area obtained in 1942 for viscera from their landings of halibut, black cod, and ling cod.

Once upon a time, and not very long ago at that, the viscera from such fish were worthless. Fishermen can thank scientists for the transformation which has made the worthless worth money. The scientists found out about the valuable properties of fish oils, and there's oil to be extracted from parts of the halibut, ling cod, black cod and some other fish. That's the answer, though the United Nations' increased wartime need for fish oils has explained the sharp price rises of the past three or four years.

Of course, fish livers, as distinguished from the mixed viscera, were worth a good deal more than $37,000 to the Prince Rupert fishermen—seven times as much, and a bit more, or $250,000. The liver landings came from halibut, black cod, ling cod, red cod, a few from grey cod, from skates, grey fish or dog fish, soupfin sharks and mud sharks. More than two thirds of the total poundage, or 850,000 pounds out of 1,206,400, were dog fish livers but the most valuable per pound, about $3.60 on the average, were from soupfin sharks.

THE VILLAGE SCHOOL TO-DAY in ENGLAND

(Pearl Binder)

OUR VILLAGE is a small one. Everyone knows everyone else and of course knows everyone else's business and a surprising number of us seem to be related to one another. We get on with each other very well.

It is true that our village dressmaker and our village plumber are not on speaking terms. Nor have they been for over twenty years. No one knows what the original quarrel was about. It is unlikely that even the participants themselves can remember. But the feud has become a habit and we English like to take our habits seriously.

The war has brought many changes to the agreeably easy tempo of our village life. Our young men are all on active service. Our old men are all Home Guards. Strange female postmen deliver our mail in repeatedly used envelopes.

A sports field has been turned into a vegetable plot (on the schoolmaster's plea), and sturdy cabbages rise over its once velvet lawns. The railings round our front gardens are gone to make munitions, and our young women have gone with them to make them into munitions.

Only one landmark in our village seems unchanged—only one face—the village schoolhouse and the village schoolmaster, a kind thoughtful man with a gentle thoughtful voice. Joan Rogers (Mrs. Rogers' youngest child who is twelve and in the top class) says he is "ever so nice." No teacher could wish for a higher compliment.

He is as much liked by the parents as he is respected by the children he teaches. And the curious thing is that he isn't a native of our village either. Far from it. He was for years a teacher in one of our big industrial cities.

Technically speaking, his present job is less important. But he chose it himself because he loves the country. He would like to see every child brought up within reach of good green fields and wholesome fresh air. It used to depress him terribly living in a grimy city. His pupils would go for miles beyond the smoky town to gather bluebells for the classroom, and rush to school next day with hot faded bunches.

The schoolmaster would like to see green belts round every city, great stretches of open country kept free from buildings. He wants village children to have all the educational advantages of city children and city children to have all the rural advantages of village children. Certainly he sees to it that the children in our village are taught on most up-to-date lines.

Every schoolmaster dreams of wonderful pupils. Our schoolmaster has good ordinary material to teach, for his pupils are the children of farm hands from the neighboring farms and also the children of railroad workers.

He has had one wonderful pupil, a markedly gifted lad, son of a locomotive driver, whose scholastic achievements rapidly lifted him by way of scholarships into secondary school and finally to Oxford University where he was well on the way to becoming a lecturer at the outbreak of war. Now he is a pilot in the R.A.F.

Joan Rogers is getting toward the scholarship age, always a delicate moment in working-class families. Joan being the youngest will be better able to take advantage of any grant or free place she may win. But her mother is a widow so that higher education for Joan is still a bit of a luxury.

The schoolmaster knows better than anyone what sacrifices parents will make to give their children a better chance in life than they themselves had. And he has great hopes in the new educational scheme now being drafted, for he knows better than most that as a nation we can't afford not to make use of all the potential brains in this and future generations if we are to reap the fruits of our coming allied victory.

Here is Joan Rogers running back to school after her dinner, with her school satchel flapping on her back. She is dressed as English schoolgirls dress, in a sober gymnasium tunic of dark blue under which she wears a bright woolen jersey that her mother has knitted. She wears long woolen stockings, low shoes, a beret and a tweed top coat.

At the entrance to the playground a Co-operative Stores' van is standing (horse-drawn to save gasoline). Two boys are unloading a crate of bottles of fresh milk for the children. All children get milk daily at school, irrespective of their parents' income. They pay a cent a day for it, but if necessary it is given free.

Far from bomb-damaged towns, our village children fortunately have no direct experience of bombing, though they can identify most aircraft and they follow the war campaigns with the schoolmaster on the big wall map. And of course they help to salvage metal and rubber and paper.

When the war is over, our schoolmaster wants to see lots of international traveling. He would like to take his school visiting all over Europe and beyond. And he would like his pupils to help entertain foreign children here. Then instead of his old schoolhouse he dreams of a fine modern building, centrally heated, with glass walls to let in the sun and air. He would like an art room and a good science laboratory, cinematograph and talkie apparatus, and a large recreation ground with special plots for children to learn gardening.

All of these and more he wants, and he is trying to train his pupils to grow into the sort of adults who will see that every village school has just these things as a natural right.

FIVE MILLION SPENT IN AL[illegible]

Montreal, May10.—Within the Alberta area, Canadian National Railways' purchases last year amounted to more than $5,000,000, says D. McK. Ford, vice president in charge of purchases and stores. Four million went for coal and the other million for lumber, ties and general materials.

Farmers and the Victory Loan

War loan canvassers will be hard at work again on October 18. The minimum objective for Canada's third victory loan is 750 million dollars. The finance minister, whose difficult task is to find the money to pay the country's war bills, states that the loan must be well oversubscribed.

Many plans are being laid to insure success of the loan. One of these is of particular interest to farmers. It is the "victory ticket [illegible]". The victory ticket is simply an order authorizing the buyers of any farm product, which has a ready cash market, to withhold a part of the proceeds from produce delivered immediately or in the future to pay for a war bond or regular war savings certi[illegible] purchases. When remitted to provincial headquarters of the National War Finance Committee, securities equivalent in value to the proceeds received will be sent to the farmer.

Elevator companies, packing companies, produce dealers, livestock commission firms, creamery operators, local merchants, etc., will all be made thoroughly familiar with the plan and will be supplied with the necessary forms.

Thousands of farmers have been doing a superb job in producing those food commodities urgently needed for war. These same farmers want to do more. They are anxious to support the victory loans. It has, however, been impossible for many to buy war bonds or savings certificates for the reason that, at the time of the campaign, they just have not had the ready cash. This new plan will be welcomed by farmers. They will see in it an opportunity to assist just that much more in winning the war.—

1943 MOISTURE PROSPECTS

(Searle Grain Company)

Prairie crops are now being seeded, and the yield per acre next fall will depend mainly upon the total amount of moisture available in the soil to the plant.

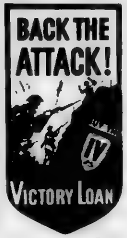
Crops that are now being seeded on stubble land will have available to them the precipitation which occurred last fall during the months of August, September and October, and in addition the rains which will fall during this growing season from April 1st until about August 1st. Crops that are now being seeded on summerfallowed land will have all the moisture available on stubble land, and in addition, such moisture as was stored up during the summerfallow period of 1942, that preserved during the fall of 1941. (Snow which falls between Nov. 1st and April 1st, while helpful in filling up sloughs and making water available for human needs and for livestock, has not been found, as a rule, to be of much value as far as producing crops is concerned.)

The season starts with reserves of moisture in both stubble and summerfallowed fields that are somewhat better than normal, so that a good moisture foundation is laid.

The rains which have occurred so far, however, during this growing season, from April 1st to May 3rd inclusive, are far below the average being in fact only 22 per cent of the long time average or normal for Alberta, 20 per cent for Saskatchewan, and 34 per cent for Manitoba, or 25 per cent only for the three provinces combined.

When however the rainfall for the month of April, scant as it has been, is added to the generous moisture reserves, then the total moisture condition at this date can still be said to be approximately normal.

The yield per acre to be harvested this coming fall will therefore be governed mainly by the rains which occur in May, June and July. If these rains are better than normal then the yield per acre will probably be better than normal. If these rains are less than normal, then the yield will probably also be less than normal.



Human Suffering is Greater Than Ever—Help the Red Cross

THE STORY BEHIND MEAT RATIONING

Food is a weapon of war, and we must share our supplies with those who are fighting to keep the war from our shores. After all special wartime demands are taken care of, only one half of the meat produced in Canada will be available for ordinary domestic consumption at home.

Meat supplies for our Armed Forces must be maintained at all costs.

Canned meat is required in large quantities by the Red Cross to send to our boys who are prisoners of war.

Great Britain has to depend more and more on Canada for supplies to maintain even its present low ration rate of 28 cents worth of meat per person, per week.

Places like Newfoundland and the West Indies, which previously secured their meat from other sources—must now depend to a great extent on Canada.

Since the war started the consumption of meat by civilians has increased in Canada. Great defence projects such as the Alcan Highway and the Shipshaw Power Development have created new and large demands for meat in areas where practically no demand existed before.

The many extra ships of the United Nations now calling at Canadian ports, must be furnished with meat.

RATIONING IS INTELLIGENT FORESIGHT · INTELLIGENT PLANNING

Coupon rationing is the only way of ensuring equal sharing of the meat available for civilian consumption in Canada. Those with lots of money will not get more than their share—and those with less money will be assured of getting their fair share.

Rationing will help prevent local meat shortages such as occurred last year from becoming widespread and continuous throughout the whole Dominion. The incentive for panic-buying which empties butcher shops early in the day, will be eliminated.

THE MEAT RATION WILL BE AMPLE FOR HEALTH AND NUTRITION

Fortunately, our meat production in Canada has increased. So, although only half our production will be available for civilian use, it will mean a reduction of only about 15% to 20% in the average household consumption.

The proposed ration of 2 lbs. (carcass weight) per person, per week, has been approved by the country's leading food and nutrition authorities, as ample for the health and nutrition standards of everyone—regardless of age or occupation.

DATES AND OTHER DETAILS REGARDING MEAT RATIONING—SOON TO BECOME EFFECTIVE IN CANADA—WILL BE ANNOUNCED LATER

"HIT HARD AND DODGE"

One of the British Navy's more recent and deadliest craft, the Motor Torpedo Boat, is a warship in miniature with all the added advantage of lightning speed and manoeuvrability. The M.T.B. is a master of "hit hard and dodge" tactics. She can get into position, release her deadly torpedo, and be out of range in less than no time. She is a very small target and her shallow draft gives her immunity from mine and torpedo.

New Method of Washing Cream Separator in Two Minutes

Mr. D. H. McCallum, Dairy Commissioner, advises [illegible] a new effective and very much faster method of washing the cream separator has been developed and introduced by Prof. A. W. Rudnick, Extension Dairyman, Iowa State College. The two minute method of washing a cream separator has been made possible by the use of wetting agents, a new and different kind of washing product which looks like soap, acts like soap, has many advantages not possessed by soap, but is not soap.

The method is easy and practical which should have a special appeal in these days of labour shortage. Furthermore, it is very effective and does a good job by reducing the required time to two minutes or less and in this way it eliminates the one thing many cream producers dislike about the separator, namely the washing operation.

1. After all milk has left the supply can, shut off power or stop turning the separator crank.

2. Rinse the supply can with a cup of warm water and shut off the faucet.

3. Add directly over the float one pint of warm water or skimmilk, or enough to clear the cream from the machine.

4. Place about one tablespoon of a wetting agent in the supply tank. Then pour in a pail of warm water. Be sure it is a full pail, about 120 F. See that the wetting agent is dissolved and let this go through the separator while the bowl is running down. While the solution is running from the machine, brush the supply tank inside out with a soft brush; also the inside and outside of the cream and skimmilk spouts, as well as the frame of the separator.

5. Pour the water which has come through the machine into a dishpan.

6. Dismantle the separator. The supply tank, spouts, float and inlet will seldom need further cleaning. Place these parts in the supply tank. There may be some foam on these parts when they are removed but further inspection will disclose that this foam is from the cleaning solution and is not milk or cream.

7. On opening the bowl, the discs will be perfectly clean as a rule. There may be a slight smear on an occasional disc. In that case set the discs in the water and run the brush down through the hole, pumping the water between them. The flow caused by the brush will clean the discs. Shake the discs apart for inspection and place them in the supply can.

8. The slime on the rest of the bowl parts will be soft and easily washed off with a brush. It requires no scouring and a soft brush will do the work nicely.

9. After all the parts are in the supply can pour a kettle of boiling water over them, drain and allow to dry.

Some of the wetting agents are: Draft, manufactured by Procter and Gamble; Sweel, made by the Sweel Products Company. These products are available at local grocery stores in the United States but as yet they do not appear on the shelves of Alberta grocery stores.

Creameries may be able to supply the following wetting agents: Neo-Suds from J. B. Ford & Co., and D-Luxe, from Diversity Corporation (Canada) Ltd.

Tofield First Baptist Church Organizes

On Monday evening, May 10th, a large group assembled for the purpose of organizing into what is now known as "The First Baptist Church of Tofield."

Rev. Palmer O. Peterson, pastor for the Baptist work [illegible] these districts, was moderator. It was an impressive service throughout, with testimonials of experiences through faith in Christ which was related by the various members. The membership is made up from the town of Tofield, surrounding districts and Ryley.

The church group was supported by the presence of various visiting pastors within this province, as well as one M.L.A. One visitor had recently come from the city of Minneapolis. There were also representatives from the church at Kingman.

Plans have been formulated by the Baptist church to erect a suitable building, this summer, upon the lot on main street which was purchased last fall.

FIRES AT SEA MAY BE CAUSED BY CARELESSNESS

Fire at sea! This is the fear of all those "who go down to the sea in ships." If parcels containing inflammable substances are sent overseas this may be the tragic result.

Heat is generated in parts of ships' holds when the hatches are closed. Merchant ships are now armed, and when fire breaks out, the ammunition on board may cause a serious explosion.

Postal authorities report one case of a parcel, containing a large cardboard box of matches, wrapped up in a single sheet of light paper, addressed to a soldier at a camp somewhere in Canada. If this parcel had been designated for overseas, it might have burst into flame when the ship was at sea. As it was, the parcel, in the process of being handled by a member of the Canadian Postal Corps, flared into a blaze. Fortunately, the fire was smothered before injury to the soldier or damage to other mail took place.

Postal authorities point out that it is contrary to law to send matches, lighter fluid, or any inflamable substance through the mails. By doing this, Canada's war effort may be impaired, and the lives of postal and railway employees, as well as the lives of those on ships, are endangered.

EVERYONE GETS FULL ALLOWANCE OF MEAT

The proposed weekly meat ration of approximately two pounds per person, applies to every class in Canada and covers every age group from the cradle to the grave. The advisory committee on nutrition, which was consulted before the rationing plan was finalized, was unanimously of the opinion that "differential rationing" of meat, on the basis of occupation, was unnecessary from the viewpoint of nutrition.

Two pounds of meat, plus customary amounts of milk, eggs, cheese, fish and poultry gives more protein from animal sources to satisfy nutritional requirements than is required for a person of any occupation and no extra rations of meat are necessary to keep Canadians healthy, according to the committee's reports.

Consumption of meat must be cut, but there are many "off-the-ration" meats which may be used to extend meat menus in homes across the Dominion.

Fish and poultry are not rationed, nor are the "fancy" meats such as liver, kidney and any cuts with more than half bone content.

Whether they dig ditches, build tanks, or sit at a desk all day, the proposed meat ration of approximately two pounds a week is more than enough to keep Canadians healthy in the opinion of the country's leading nutrition experts.

ARMY NOTES

The army needs railway men. A new call has gone out from National Defence Headquarters for men to enter into mobilization of the Canadian Railway Troops. Urgently needed are trainmen and yardmen, locomotive drivers and firemen, conductors and car repairers.

The big basic training centre at Maple Creek, Saskatchewan, is getting a beauty treatment. Troops stationed there are transforming the Sahara-like terrain into a picture-postcard place of greenery. Grass seed came from the government experimental farm at Swift Current and the men themselves are doing the landscaping.

Twenty-five new members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps graduated recently at Edmonton as general duty clerks under the trade training plan of the Canadian Army. The classes give training in typing, shorthand and military procedure, fitting the girls for clerical duties with army units. Of the 25 girls who graduated, eleven were from Alberta, four from British Columbia, seven from Saskatchewan and three from Manitoba.

Variety Test Plots

It has been our experience that when visiting experimental farms, farmers and others are always interested in variety test plots, and in new or unusual crops they have never seen before. With this in mind we sent seeds of wheat, oats, barley, corn, soy beans, grasses, alfalfa, etc. to country grain buyers willing to sow and weed the plots. Last year these plots were very popular. Several grain buyers reported that every farmer in the district visited the plots, and some farmers paid regular weekly visits.

This year we have 311 plots in the prairie provinces. About half of them include annual crops only, such as: wheat, oats, barley, soy beans, corn, etc. The remaining plots have, in addition, perennial grasses and clovers. All include a variety of "hybrid" corn for comparison with standard varieties.

A complete list of plots, giving the location (town), and elevators in charge, has been sent to all grain buyers of line elevator companies associated with the Agricultural Department of The North-West Line Elevators Association.

In order to find out where the nearest plot is, therefore, enquire at the local line elevator. Schools, Junior Clubs and other groups are cordially invited to make up parties and visit these plots. Insofar as the quantity of [illegible] permits, grain buyers will be glad to supply small bundles (when fully ripe) for display in schools and elsewhere.

AMISK CREEK

Our deepest sympathy is extended to the Anderson families in their recent sad bereavement in the loss of a dear father, uncle and grandfather.

Last Sunday evening a farewell party was held for M.E. Arthur Patterson who has been home on leave for the last two weeks. Arthur was presented with a purse of silver from friends and neighbors present on the occasion. Glen Olson made the presentation with a few suitable remarks. Arthur thanked them all very nicely for the gift and for coming. A very tasty lunch was served, and when departing everybody was wishing Arthur good luck and a safe return.

Many from here attended the program held in Ryley on the evening of May 17th. Miss Guttormson a missionary to South Africa gave a very interesting talk about the torpedoing of the ship Zam-Zam of which she was a passenger. She was taken prisoner and interned in Germany for fourteen months.

Threshing will be completed this week if this nice weather keeps.

Bardo Oldtimer Passes On

PEDER BERSVEND ANDERSON, one of the best known figures in Alberta among the province's Norwegian people, died Thursday last. Was a founder of the district and of the Lutheran church at Bardo and a moving spirit in the establishment of Camrose Lutheran College. His funeral on Sunday was attended by a large concourse numbering at least 600 persons. Father of deceased was the first missionary minister of the Norwegian Lutheran church between Winnipeg and Rockies.

One of the four original settlers in the Bardo district, so named in honor of Bardo, Norway, and situated almost one south of Tofield, an miles, Peder Bersvend (P.B.) Anderson entered into his eternal rest Thursday last at the ripe old age of 82 years. His is a record of Christian service which has been an inspiration to all who knew him. Mr. Anderson never made a parade of his religious convictions but his life was ever motivated by the desire to hold high the torch of simple and [illegible] faith in action.

His funeral was held on Sunday afternoon at Bardo church, with which his name must always be associated for he was one of its chief pillars and instrumental in its establishment in 1894. The congregation numbered at least six hundred persons who assembled to express their respect and admiration of one who had been a charter member of the oldest Lutheran congregation in western Canada. He was one of the most prominent figures in Alberta among the Norwegian community.

Mr. Anderson's "history" revealed that he was born at Bardo, Norway, June 18, 1861, and his parents were Maren and Bersvend Anderson. When 18 years old he went with his parents to the United States, and residence was taken up in Crookston county, Minnesota, in the Red River Valley. He attended Red Wing Seminary and taught public school in Minnesota.

In November, 1887, his marriage to Marit Strand took place. His wife predeceased him in September, 1934. He came to Canada in 1894 accompanied by his family and his aged father, Rev. B. Anderson, who became the first missionary pastor of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America between Winnipeg and the Rockies.

Peder Bersvend Anderson was one of the four original settlers of the Bardo community. Together with Nels Jevning, Martin Finseth and John Lorbakme, he walked out from Wetaskiwin to choose his homestead in the locality which as already stated was given its name in honor of Mr. Anderson's home district in the old land.

Later many more Norwegian settlers flocked into the settlement from the United States and also direct from Norway. It can be truly said that one of the most law-abiding and industrious communities in the west had in Mr. Anderson a guiding and moving spirit.

He took a leading part in the organization of the Bardo church Sunday School as its superintendent, and was leader of the choir for a quarter-century, doing much to foster a love of good music in the community. It was in his home that the first Norwegian Lutheran service of worship was observed. His interests were wider than church life in its strict sense for he was much interested and always actively concerned with community welfare and in public affairs. He became the first secretary-treasurer of the Bardo School district and also served as a Justice of the Peace.

Mr. Anderson was layman representative of Canada district of the General Church Council of the N.L.C.A., with headquarters in Minneapolis, for many years.

Camrose Lutheran College owes much to the deceased for he was one of the founders and one of its most active supporters. He served as secretary of the college association for some time. The school is unique among Canadian educational institutions and is the only one of its kind supported in the Dominion by the Lutheran Church at large. It has ever maintained the high standards Mr. Anderson envisioned for it; in recent years this school had as its principal, P.O. Chester Ronning, now in the service of King and Country, and the present principal is Mr. Georg Mol.

Ten years ago Mr. Anderson became a cripple. He had retired from farming in 1922, but continued to reside on his farm until his death. Resident with him has been his aged sister, Mrs. Finseth, now 88 years old, and Mrs. Ida Westby, who has cared for them.

A lover of flowers he gave much time after retiring from active farming to the culture of shrubs, fruit trees and flowers which beautify the grounds on which the pretty Anderson bungalow stands. The Bardo church he loved so well stands on ground near his home, "just around the bend in the creek."

He leaves three sons—Ben and Olaf of Bardo, and Palmer of Minneapolis, one of the church's missionaries to China, and three daughters—Mrs. Geo. Hendrickson and Mrs. R. Eide of Bardo, and Mrs. M. A. Johnson of LaGlace, Alberta. There are 19 grandchildren and two great grand children. The two sisters who survive are Mrs. Barbro Finseth of Bardo, and Mrs. Kristine Nash of Concord, Mass.

The ritual service was followed and suitable hymns were sung. Miss Alice Broughton sang "Jeg ved mig en sovn", and led the choir in the singing of "Tenk naar engang". Camrose Lutheran College Men's Quartet sang at the service and at the graveside.

There was a short service at the residence before the body was removed to the church, and this was conducted by Rev. Vinge.

Rev. Palmer Anderson arrived in time to say farewell to his father. The members of the family circle sang to Mr. Anderson in Norwegian: "Now I am tired and want to go to rest".

Rev. A. M. Vinge based his sermon on a text from John 14: 1-6: "Jesus, the Way to God". His theme was developed through the thoughts—the Way, The Walk, the Home and The Summons. In his address he wove references to the man whom he said had "entered into the church triumphant" as abundantly exemplified in his life of devotion to the principles laid down by the Master. The minister made reference to the last occasion on which Mr. Anderson had partaken of communion, in his home Easter Sunday. His presence at communion services had always been an inspiration to the minister, as well as a benediction.

Speaking on the subject: "The Peace of God"—Phil. 4:7, Rev. Palmer Anderson said only a Christian such as his father by his life had shown himself to be could feel that peace "which passeth all understanding." Peace is God's gift to the penitent, and as the Apostle Paul states "this peace shall guard our hearts and our thoughts in Christ Jesus." To the speaker this suggested the picture of a Chinese walled city garrisoned and safe though a multitude of enemies are trying to storm the walls. The peace of God is the Christian's [illegible].

BARDO

Missionary Palmer Anderson arrived from Minneapolis, Min., on Thursday morning in time to spend a few hours at the bedside of his father, who passed away that evening.

Miss Olga Guttormson one of the passengers aboard the Egyptian steamer Zam-Zam spoke at the church Tuesday night to a large audience. Miss Guttormson who is a missionary was on her way to a mission field in Africa when the steamer was torpedoed in the night by a German submarine. She was rescued and taken to Germany where she spent over a year in an internment camp before being sent back to America. Her many varied experiences made a heart rending speech. She spoke of the Red Cross as a society giving much needed aid to prisoners and refugees.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lewis of Gresham, Oregon, are local visitors. They lived in our community for many years and we all were glad to see Mr. and Mrs. Lewis looking so well and are happy to have them here for a visit, although it will be a short one.

Seeding is the main item these days although help is scarce and nearly every farmer is working short handed. There are hordes of mosquitoes and that means more delay.

Edw. Steen is in Edmonton having another medical check up.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Johanson (nee Mabel Anseen) attended the funeral of P. B. Anderson, uncle of Mrs. Johanson.

YOUNG HANDS ACROSS THE SEA

(By Daniel A. Poling)

Lieutenant Fox of LaFayette College and the University of Pennsylvania is an Intelligence Officer with one of our armies. He is a man with ideals and a way of selling them without seeming to impose his own opinions. Our servicemen like him, and the English regard him as a typical American.

He guided me through the blackout one night, down a road badly worn by heavy trucks to my room in "C" barracks. As we stood at the entrance of the long low building, camouflaged by heavy dried "Midland" mud, he finished his story about the Christmas parties given by our soldiers to English children in the surrounding communities.

"The kids had a grand time, but we had just as much fun. It gave us the chance to work off the holiday homesickness and to compensate for the things we missed. It was worth all the money and all the work just to see the faces of those English kiddies. I'll tell you out here a good many of them are really hungry, for they have gone without candy and fruit and eggs until it hurts to the bone.

"Well, they had candy-chocolate bars, big ones, and they had peanuts and special presents. They had everything we could beg, buy, and steal for them. We gave our rations for the present and mortgaged them for the future. You would not believe how much talent turned up in a wing like this, and the programs we put on for those boys and girls surprised even the men who did the act."

He went on in a somewhat similar vein, and then broke off to tell me two stories that sent me to bed glad one Intelligence Officer did have a flashlight.

"One 9-yearold with his mouth full of cakes, swallowed hard and asked, 'Foxy, do they have bananas in America?' 'Yes,' I replied, 'they certainly do.' 'And do they have oranges out there?'

"'Gee,' he remarked after I gave him another, 'God gives you everything in America, doesn't He?'"

Lieutenant Fox left me with a final Christmas party experience that remains as the best of them all. "We were trying to break away from one party to get our talent to the next when the village school master, insisted upon a farewell word and believe me, I am glad we [illegible] it. He called the children about him and said

"Children, this Christmas party is the first many of you can remember. It is given to you by the Americans who are far from their homes at this holiday time. You will never forget their kindness, but there is something else I want you always to remember. I have told you that the rolling, tossing Atlantic divides America and England. Children, let us all do our bit that nothing else shall ever divide us!"

And with that Lieutenant Fox headed for his barracks, and I got under my blankets.

There is a definite advance in Anglo-American good will, and [illegible] starting since the war. I was in England and Scotland then [illegible] always found [illegible] but in these days the traditional English reserve has [illegible] we know each other better. We have had a generation of [illegible] war made English appraisals and the results are apparent. There has also been work done by intelligent men and women.

CANNING SUGAR SUPPLY SET AT ELEVEN POUNDS

Montreal---The ration administration of the Prices Board has announced that 100,000,000 pounds of sugar---approximately half the quantity asked for by Canadian housewives will be available for home canning this year.

The announcement said the ration administration had received applications for a grand total of 200,000,000 pounds and consequently many Canadian consumers would receive less sugar than they applied for.

"Canada produces only about one-fifth of the sugar it consumes," said the ration division. "Some of North America's largest sources of sugar supply are now in enemy hands, and war on the high seas greatly curtailed our imports from the remaining sources of supply.

Despite all these difficulties, the sugar administration has been able to secure for home canning purposes 100,000,000 pounds of sugar. This must be divided among the people who have applied for sugar for canning.

Distribution of supplies available for each area is in the hands of more than 500 local ration boards, the announcement said. Housewives will receive their sugar canning coupons from their local boards by June 1st through the mails.

A number of volunteer workers are now busy preparing the ration coupons for distribution, these being in five pound denominations. The coupons will be serviced through the regular retail merchants.

MORE MACHINERY NOW AVAILABLE

Ottawa---Twelve additional items are now added to the five originally exempt from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board order which rations farm machinery.

Farmers may now obtain sickle knife grinders, incubators (150 eggs or under) wheelbarrows, electric fence controllers, hand operated seeders, cultivators and weeders and hay forks and their slings and attachments.

WAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATES

ARE A GOOD INVESTMENT

HOME-MADE SUGAR BECOMES MYSTERY

And another matter which is becoming hopelessly involved is this business of growing a few beets and making a supply of sugar to help out [illegible].

Only a few years ago, the [illegible] department of agriculture suggested that a supply of sugar beets in the vegetable plot would be a good idea. The sugar produced from these would not look very good, but we were told, the syrup would be valuable.

Last week and the department at Ottawa admitted that it had been swamped with letters from housewives asking for more information, but the apparently inspired report stated that the home made sugar from beets had gone down the road of abandoned hopes---so there was no such thing.

Not long ago, the explanation said, departmental chemists perfected a method of extracting table syrup from sugar beets and offered to supply the formula to all comers. In some quarters this was taken as a solution to the sugar shortage, and let the eastern maple tree tappers and the Alberta sugar factories go hang.

"The truth is (now we get it) that any housewife can make 8 to 10 pints of table syrup with 100lb of sugar beets," they said.

"But if she evaporates the syrup she doesn't get sugar, but a sort of taffy. Chemists are unimpressed with the taffey, but smack their lips over the syrup."

But Ed Cobb, farmer of Minburn, Alta., plans to raise 20 tons of beets on an acre of land and turn these into sugar. It will be a simple matter, he says. His tryout should be very interesting.---Market Examiner.

LAST WINTER HIT RAILROADERS HARD

Railroaders are glad to see the back of the winter of 1942--43. It was one of the worst in the history of Canadian railroading. But the railroads had a big war job to do and they fought it out. In an area of 9,000 square miles in Ontario and Quebec, some 10,000 miles of telegraph wires and 1,500 telegraph poles were totally wrecked, Canadian National Telegraphs reports. Wires snapped under the double strain of contraction in sub-zero cold and the weight of tons of ice. Plant forces battled the storms without sleep or rest to restore communications so necessary in wartime.

WORKING CLOTHES

The Prairie has tossed blankets off
  And gotten out of bed,
Washed its sleepy countenance,
  Slicked down a tousled head
And, hearing April clarion
  Its "Cock-a-doodle-do!"
Has climed into green overalls
  For it has work to do.

SEEDTIME and HARVEST

By Dr. K. W. Neatby
Director, Agricultural Department
North-West Line Elevators Association

Farmers Will Profit

Local committees of farmers have been set up nearly all over the prairie provinces to work out ways and means of more compact farm production with less labor and equipment. They are asked to produce less wheat and more of almost everything else. We hope these committees will be permanent and not just for "the duration." Modern farming requires special knowledge, skill and experience. The committees [illegible] as very useful link between agricultural scientists and other farmers and, also, encourage the exchange of good ideas between farmers. This need not mean less wheat; but will enable us to produce as much on fewer acres.

"The war is doing disturbing things to farming . . . Many, of course, are temporary expedients, not to be tolerated any longer than is necessary; others, it must be admitted, represent long overdue advances in the industry.

"Most notable of these is the formation of district agricultural committees, in which must be recognised not merely a contrivance to take farming through a crisis, but machinery ideally suited to the [illegible] of peace."

These views apply with equal force to Western Canada. Our own committees, with the assistance of professional agriculturists should, we think, play a major role [illegible]

PREMIER ABERHART IN HOSPITAL AT COAST

Premier Aberhart, who has been reported to be ill in Vancouver, now is in more serious condition than was at first believed, according to acting Premier E. C. Manning.

The premier has been ordered back to the hospital, following consultations by several doctors.

Mr. Manning, who was in touch with the family in Vancouver Saturday night, said Mr. Aberhart will remain in hospital for some time, as he had been ordered to take a complete rest.

The premier already has spent 10 days in hospital in Vancouver and was with his family for several days when his condition necessitated his removal to hospital.

EARLY SUMMERFALLOW

Seeding will be completed and the farmer will have a short breathing spell from the arduous task of sowing his crops, particularly arduous and difficult this year because of lack of labor. If it can possibly be done, however, it certainly would be wise for those farmers who have land which is to be summerfallowed to do the work as quickly as possible. Land summerfallowed towards the end of May conserves much more moisture than summerfallow done later in the year. First the weather is cooler in May, and so less precious moisture is lost by evaporation when the land is plowed or cultivated, and secondly early summerfallow gives a longer period during the summer for the soil to accumulate the summer rains which form the foundation for next year's crops.

The thought has been expressed that we may now be in a cycle of wet years, and that the preservation of moisture, therefore, does not matter so much. This, I suggest, is an entirely wrong view to take. The records of sixty past years clearly reveal that one or two drought years can occur at any time. No one can forecast the coming of either wet or dry years.

WHEAT ACREAGE REDUCTION

Farmers of the Prairie Provinces, including the Peace River and Creston areas of British Columbia, who desire to divert wheat acreage to the production of any other crops or to summerfallow in 1943, may claim payment for doing so.

Payment of $2.00 may be made for each acre by which the wheat seeded on any farm in 1943 is below that seeded on such farm in 1940. If there was no wheat on a farm in 1940 but there was wheat in 1939, the 1939 acreages may be used instead of those of 1940. Any crops or summerfallow may be substituted for wheat, but payment will not be made on abandoned lands.

Payment on any farm is limited to an acreage not greater than 80 per cent of the total cultivated acreage of such farm.

To obtain payment farmers must make a sworn statement of claim immediately seeding is completed. They should plan to do so NOT LATER THAN JUNE 30th.

Any farmer who did not apply for Wheat Acreage Reduction payment in either 1941 or 1942 and intends to do so in 1943 must notify his municipality of his intention before May 31, and then make his claim after seeding.

Forms are available in the offices of the municipalities or direct from offices of the Wheat Acreage Reduction Administration in Winnipeg, Regina and Edmonton.

Statements of claim may be submitted to Municipal offices or to Offices especially arranged to receive them in localities not served by municipalities. Delay in making claims should be avoided; they may be filed immediately seeding is completed. Persons having interests in farms as landlords may submit applications at once.

Keep Your Farm Machinery Fighting On the Home Front

TODAY the job of farming efficiently and abundantly is vital to Canada's war effort—behind the Nation's fighting men stand the food producers, toiling from early morning till late at night to keep supplies rolling up to the front lines.

Farm machinery must be kept operating at maximum efficiency these days, and that's why so many farmers are turning to polymerized "99" gasolines and Purity motor oils. FARM ASSISTANCE—

STATISTICS ARE now complete regarding the assistance rendered to farmers by the government under three different plans during the year 1941. They show that altogether, farmers of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta were paid the sum of $68,628,257.17 for assistance rendered under all three plans which were: Wheat Acreage Reduction; Prairie Farm Assistance and Prairie Farm Income. Of the three, wheat acreage reduction accounted for nearly 50 per cent of the amount paid out. Manitoba took the least, the amount being paid being seven million odd. Saskatchewan took the most with payments amounting to over 40 million; and Alberta was in between with paymounts amounting to 19 million odd.

There were 98,000 farmers in Alberta and of these 62,660 made application. The number of farmers actually paid was [illegible] and the amount paid for all plans was $19,277,736.67, with an average payment per farmer for: Wheat Acreage Reduction $1[illegible]; Prairie Farm Assistance $149.03; Prairie Farm Income $72.54.

In Cornhill M.D. 487 there were 397 applications under the W.A.R. with a payment of $42,389.00; 28 applications under P.F.A. with a payment of $1719.90; and 448 under P.F.I. with a payment of $23,773.78; thus for all three plans there was paid out in Cornhill $67,882.68.

In Beaver Lake M.D. 486, 503 farmers received assistance under the W.A.R.; 393 under the P.F.A.; and 546 under the P.F.I., the total sum being paid out being $132,219.81.

With no other source of income farmers would not get rich on government assistance, yet the amount paid to farmers able to comply with the conditions is not to be sneezed at. The United States have treated its farmers more liberally, but then the United States seem now to be the golden bowl of civilization.

The above figures make interesting reading and impresses upon individual farmers as nothing else could do, the importance of attending to matters connected with making application etc. This year Cornhill and Beaver Lake M.D.'s are, as everyone living in them knows, merged into a larger unit with headquarters at Ryley. But no doubt some arrangements will be made to accept applications at different points to avoid long distance traveling for residents of the enlarged M.D.

MAY TWENTY-FOURTH—

THERE SEEM to be some confusion and misunderstanding as to whether May 24th is to be observed as a statutory holiday this year and for the duration. Not so very long ago the government issued a curtailed list of holidays for the year in which May 24th was not included. The idea of the curtailed list of holidays of course was to make available more work hours for the war effort.

As to whether May 24th should be observed as a holiday or not in war time, we leave to individual opinion. Statutory holidays mean little to the average farmer anyway. Cows are just as full of milk and pigs are just as hungry on May 24th as on any other day. There is just one thing concerning May 24th that impresses us, namely that even while it honors the birthday of Queen Vctoria and in a sense the reigning sovereign, it is distinctly a Canadian holiday. We make this statement with certain qualifications, but as far as we know it is not observed in Great Britain except as a school holiday (Empire Day.) Its counterpart there is Whit Monday which is religious in origin and comes seven weeks after Easter.

"We Will Pay the Cost"

And if our lines should form and break
  Because of things you failed to make,
The extra tank or ship or plane
  For which we waited, all in vain,
And the supplies that never came,
  Will you then come and take the blame?
For we, not you, will pay the cost
  Of battles you, not we, have lost.

His Greatest Pleasure

"These shoes are going to be too tight for you," warned the shoe salesman.

"I know that," replied the customer.

"Then why not get a larger pair?" asked the salesman.

"Well, you see it's this way," replied the other. "My wife is a fiend for women's clubs, my daughter brought her husband home to live with us, my tires are worn out, my radio is out of order, so about the only pleasure I'll be getting out of life will be when I take these tight shoes off!"

Oh Dear!

If you want to know where all those nice little $5.00 leather brief cases have gone to, well, they've gone to $17.50.

SECOND ORDER ON COMPULSORY EMPLOYMENT TRANSFER

Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labor, announces that he has issued the Second Order under Section 210 of National Selective Service Civilian Regulations, making available for transfer to more essential employment men in age groups designated under Mobilization Regulations in a further list of certain occupations.

(1) Any occupation in or associated with retail stores; (2) any occupation in or associated with the manufacturing of feathers, plumes, and artificial flowers; chewing gum, wire; lace goods; greeting cards; jewelry; (3) any occupation in or associated with distilling alcohol for beverage; (4) any occupation in or associated with the factory production of statuary and art goods; (5) any occupation in the operation of ice cream parlors and soda fountains; (6) any of the following occupations; bus boys; charmen and cleaners; custom furriers; dancing teachers; dish washers; doormen and starters; greens keepers; grounds keepers; porters (other than in railway train service); private chauffeurs.

This Second Order places June 15 as the date after which no employer may legally employ any man subject to Mobilization Regulations, in any of the list of employments now listed, except under special Selective Service permit. At the same time the men employed in the industries now declared to be non-essential must register at an Employment and Selective Service Office not later than June 15th. If farm or other essential employment is not immediately available for any man registering, they will be given permits to continue at their present jobs, although these permits may be cancelled at any time when the men's services are needed for high priority jobs.

Hon. Mr. Mitchell points out that the present Order covers men employed in the restricted occupations, who are in four age and marital classes as follows: (a) Every man born in any year from 1917 to 1924 (inclusive) who has reached age 19; (b) every man born from 1902 to 1916 (inclusive) who, at July 15th, 1940, was: (i) unmarried; or (ii) divorced or judicially separated; or (iii) a widower without child or children; (c) every man born from 1902 to 1916 (inclusive) who has, since July 15, 1940, become a widower without child or children now living; (d) every man born from 1902 to 1916 (inclusive) who, since July 15th, 1940 has been divorced or judicially separated.

TO RELEASE PART 1943 SALMON PACK

Ottawa---The Prices Board announced an order covering maximum prices of Canadian Pacific coast salmon, including prices and wholesale and retail mark-ups.

Officials said it was expected that some part of the 1943 pack will be released for sale in Canada, and the order provides for such release. The exact amount to be released was not known, they said. Last year the entire pack went to the food ministry of the United Kingdom.

TWELVE MILES OF PIGTAILS MAKE RAIL CARLOAD SHIPMENT

Edmonton, May 17th.---A Canadian National refrigerator car which left here bound for Mobile, Alabama, carried 71,570 pounds of pickled pork tails. The average pigtail for eating is five inches long and weighs half a pound. Placed curl to curl, the tails in this load would stretch 12 miles.

JEWISH FARMERS INCREASE

The number of Jewish farming families in Canada has increased 20 per cent since 1931 although that period included the years of drought, depression and the lowest prices for farming products in Canadian history, according to a statement by the United Jewish Refugee and War Relief Agencies here, which has just completed a study of Jewish refugee settlement in Canada.

The study shows that there has been a slight decrease of Jewish farm settlement in Western Canada where there are long established Jewish farming communities. However, a considerable number of refugees has been successfully settled on farms in eastern Canada.

The study points out that the produce of the Jewish farmers in Canada is more than sufficient to feed the Jewish population of the Dominion.

FOURTH MEMBER OF ANDERSON FAMILY ENLISTS

Following the example set by her sister and two brothers, and there are only four in the family, Doris Evelyn Anderson of Edmonton has joined the C.W.A.C. for active service in the Canadian army.

"The last few months have seemed more like years," said Doris when she presented herself for enlistment. You see, Doris has just reached her 18th birthday anniversary, and ever since her sister, now Lt. Ruby Anderson (overseas), joined the C.W.A.C. the youngest member of the family has been counting the days until she would be eligible to join. She starts her Basic Training at Vermilion this week.

The Anderson parents live at Edmonton, but were a few years ago residents of the Hastings Lake district. All the members of the family are now in the services.

Earl is overseas being a Flying Officer in the R.C.A.F.; another son is in the army; Lieut. Ruby Anderson is overseas with the C.W.A.C. and Doris has recently enlisted. The family was well and favorably known in the area west of Tofield.

American industry was well equipped to cope with her own huge war requirements largely because of the vast British orders which had been placed before Pearl Harbour.

A profession of faith

WE have faith in Canada

WE have faith in her past * faith that the courage of the pioneers and the spirit which achieved Confederation and linked a continent with the shining steel of railways have laid strong foundations for national greatness and unity.

WE have faith in her present * in the part she is playing to save the world from tyranny...in her young men and women who serve on land and sea and in the air...in her workers who labour for more than wages...in every man and woman and child striving for Victory.

WE have faith in her future * believing that she is destined to exert an ever-increasing influence in world affairs, and in the shaping of tomorrow, when many will turn to her with new hope.

WE have faith in more than the statistics of Canada's bank clearings and her car-loadings, the vastness of her untapped resources, or even the glorious war record of a people numbering less than twelve millions.

OUR faith is a faith in a land we love, whose soul speaks to us from every free acre of Canadian soil... in the splendour of the Rockies at sunset, the blue mystery of a Laurentian dawn, the quiet of an Ontario woodlot, the far call of prairie horizons, the sound of surf on the Atlantic shore and the wash of the Pacific tides. It speaks to us from churchyards where Canadian dead lie beneath the tribute of English blossoms ...from the poppied fields of France and Flanders....from the winged and seafaring and mechanized epics of a new war.

OUR faith is a faith in her people... people, noted and obscure, with whom we daily rub shoulders...and by whose united effort, sacrifice and creative vigour the greater Canada of tomorrow will be built.

WE have faith in Canada

THE STORY BEHIND MEAT RATIONING

Food is a weapon of war, and we must share our supplies with those who are fighting to keep the war from our shores. After all special wartime demands are taken care of, only one half of the meat produced in Canada will be available for ordinary domestic consumption at home.

Meat supplies for our Armed Forces must be maintained at all costs

Canned meat is required in large quantities by the Red Cross to send to our boys who are prisoners of war.

Great Britain has to depend more and more on Canada for supplies to maintain even its present low ration rate of 28 cents worth of meat per person, per week

Places like Newfoundland and the West Indies, which previously secured their meat from other sources—must now depend to a great extent on Canada.

Since the war started the consumption of meat by civilians has increased in Canada. Great defense projects such as the Alcan Highway and the Shipshaw Power Development have created new and large demands for meat in areas where practically no demand existed before

RATIONING IS INTELLIGENT FORESIGHT – INTELLIGENT PLANNING

Coupon rationing is the only way of ensuring equal sharing of the meat available for civilian consumption in Canada. Those with lots of money will not get more than their share—and those with less money will be assured of getting their fair share.

Rationing will help prevent local meat shortages such as occurred last year from becoming widespread and continuous throughout the whole Dominion. The incentive for panic-buying which empties butcher shops early in the day, will be eliminated.

THE MEAT RATION WILL BE AMPLE FOR HEALTH AND NUTRITION

Fortunately, our meat production in Canada has increased. So, although only half our production will be available for civilian use it will mean a reduction of only about 15% to 20% in the average household consumption.

The proposed ration of [illegible] lbs. (carcass weight) per person, per week, has been approved by the country's leading food and nutrition authorities, as ample for the health and nutrition standards of everyone—regardless of age or occupation

DATES AND OTHER DETAILS REGARDING MEAT RATIONING—SOON TO BECOME EFFECTIVE IN CANADA – WILL BE ANNOUNCED LATER

You Roll Them Better With OGDEN'S FINE CUT CIGARETTE TOBACCO

TENNIS NOTES

The last few nights the courts have been quite popular with some players and many mosquitoes. One night it was seen the latter force won the battle. The defence force armed with mosquito lotion and the continuous swishing of tennis rackets, at times met the ball but most of the time the insects did not repel the attack.

The courts are in very good shape and there seems to be an added enthusiasm this year with the return of a few of the older players to the game. As yet we have not received any new tennis balls, but for the time being we are just as well off with the old ones as it slows up the game and gives us old crocks a chance to put up a little better opposition.

The big event of the season "the tennis ball" will be held in the Variety Theatre on May 28. See you there

Variety Test Plots

It has been our experience that when visiting experimental farms, farmers and others are always interested in variety test plots, and in new or unusual crops they have never seen before. With this in mind we sent seeds of wheat, oats, barley, corn, soy beans, grasses, alfalfa, etc. to country grain buyers willing to sow and weed the plots. Last year these plots were very popular. Several grain buyers reported that every farmer in the district visited the plots, and some farmers paid regular weekly visits.

This year we have 311 plots in the prairie provinces. About half of them include annual crops only, such as: wheat, oats, barley, soy beans, corn, etc. The remaining plots have in addition, perennial grasses and clovers. All include a variety of "hybrid" corn for comparison with standard varieties.

A complete list of plots, giving the location (town), and elevators in charge, has been sent to all grain buyers of line elevator companies associated with the Agricultural Department of The North West Line Elevators Association.

In order to find out where the nearest plot is, therefore, enquire at the local line elevator. Schools, Junior Clubs and other groups are cordially invited to make up parties and visit these plots. Insofar as the quantity of material permits, grain buyers will be glad to supply small bundles (when fully ripe) for display in schools and elsewhere.

REV PETERSON MOVES TO TOFIELD

The Rev. Peterson and family have moved from Kingman to Tofield and are living in Mrs. Chapman's house formerly occupied by Dr. Caldwell.

Rev. Peterson received some of his training in the States and also studied at the Prophetic Bible Institute at Calgary. Rev. Peterson was deeply moved on Sunday when he spoke of the death of Premier Aberhart as he had sat in many classes under his teachings at Calgary. He said the province had lost a great christian man, a man who taught the great fundamental truths of the Bible..

We welcome the Peterson's to town and are looking for great things under their spiritual leadership in the study of the bible and in personal evangelism.

Edmonton—Tofield Flyer Plays Part in Thrilling Rescue

London, May 26.--A portable radio transmitter dropped from a Coastal Command plane piloted by PO. Alfred Russel of Tofield, Alta., to 19 survivors of a ship torpedoed in the North Atlantic provided the means whereby a Canadian destroyer was directed to the rescue, the Air Ministry news service reported today.

It was the first time that the apparatus, described as foolproof and about the size of a home coffee canister, has been used for this purpose. The equipment automatically sends out SOS signals when a crank is turned.

Heavy seas and bad weather prevented aircraft which had flown about 25,000 miles in an eight-day search, from picking up the men, who were jammed in a single lifeboat.

The name of the Canadian destroyer was not announced.

PO. Alfred Russel is the husband of Mrs. Russel of Tofield, the former Miss Betty McCarthy. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Russel of Edmonton.

FIELD INSPECTION OF CROPS FOR REGISTRATION OR CERTIFICATION

Because of certain wartime restrictions and shortage of inspectors, it is essential that field inspections of standing crops of cereals or forage be made as economically as possible. It will, therefore, be necessary that growers wishing such inspection make their applications in good time. It has been decided that applications for forage crop inspections must be made prior to July 1st and those for cereal inspections before July 10th.

Application forms can be secured from, and must be returned promptly to Production Service, Plant Products Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Immigration Building, CALGARY, Alberta.

Growers who neglect making application prior to the specified dates may not receive service this season. It is therefore, to the growers' interest that his application for this service should be filed promptly.

WORK OF 60 YEARS LOST BY GRASS FIRE

In the spring it is a great old farm custom to institute a general clean-up around the buildings, and as often as not, advantage is taken in many localities to burn the dry grass around the houses and along the fences and roads. When this is done great care is necessary. A small grass fire under control may be a useful servant, but unfortunately as has happened in the past, it may become a demon of destruction. A small grass fire fanned by an unexpected wind may become a roaring furnace beyond control, bringing disaster in its train.

"Only last spring" says Omer Allard, Supervisor of Illustration Stations, Dominion Experimental Station, Lennoxville, a farmer who had lighted a small grass fire left it to go to dinner. Shortly afterwards a passer-by rapped at the door and told the farmer his veranda was on fire. The family rushed out, but it was too late. The farmer lost his house, his barn, his shed, his implements, and all his personal effects. He was heard to say 'There, that is all that is left after 60 years of work and one moment of carelessness'."

If it is necessary to burn grass, every precaution should be taken to avoid accidents. Before starting the fire care should be taken that the surroundings of nearby buildings had been swept clean, and that there was no danger of the fire reaching the woodlot or the bush uncontrolled.

FEEDERS' DAY

The Department of Animal Science, University of Alberta, has announced the annual Feeders' Day to be held in the livestock pavilion, University Farm, on Saturday, June 5th, commencing at 10:00 a.m.

In view of the special demand at this time for the production of livestock and animal products, this year's program should be of special interest. The reports and discussions will be based on the results of experiments that have been in progress during the past year. These include a comparison of different grains and protein supplements for swine, the use of cover crop and home grown feeds for cattle finishing, the use of wheat for feeding dairy cows, together with the value of cobalt in the winter ration for pregnant ewes.

Farmers and feeders will find it worth while to visit the University on June 5th and take part in the discussions. Lunch will be available.

DON'T WASTE ALFALFA SEED

Many farmers are already aware of damage to their alfalfa [illegible] caused by straight winter killing or crown rot injury. Reseeding of injured fields with alfalfa is inadvisable in case the damage has been caused by the crown rot organism, states Mr. A. M. Wilson, Field Crops Commissioner. The young plants may suffer the same fate. In patchy fields it may be advisable to seed in brome or oats which may serve as a temporary measure of keeping the field from becoming weedy while at the same time the remaining Alfalfa may be saved for the necessary protein feed.

Alfalfa seed is scarce, practically unobtainable, be careful with it. It is recommended that 10 pounds per acre be seeded. If all those seeds were given a good chance the crop would be very thick. Considerably less seed could be sown, perhaps 6 or 8 pounds would be sufficient, if the soil were well prepared, the seed planted not more than half an inch deep and at a time when moisture is plentiful. It would then be advisable to wait for ideal seeding conditions even until the first of July rather than to plant the seed when the chances of a good catch are limited.

Borrowing for War Farming

Farmers all over Canada—grain growers, stock raisers, dairymen, fruit growers, vegetable gardeners, poultrymen—all kinds of farmers—are forcing production, fighting hard early and late to supply the enormous quantities of products demanded in the greatest of all wars.

In this "survival war" food plays a tremendous part, and the farmer is the dependable supplier, to whom armed forces and civilians alike must look. The extra demands on farm production mean extra financing. The Bank of Montreal, ready always to co-operate with agriculture, is making special efforts at this time to help the farmer produce food for Canada and the United Nations.

If you need to borrow, see our nearest branch manager, who will understand your problems.

Freedom's Fires Must Be Fed Our COAL!

CANADIANS must dig and deliver coal that we may sail convoys, power vital war plants, keep our railroads rolling, preserve the nation's health!

The coal mining industry—miners and management alike—have done wonders to provide coal, but they need help. More workers must be provided, or we falter—possibly fail—in this grim hour. Nature has been generous but we must help ourselves. Our mines are rich, but undermanned. By Proclamation, His Excellency the Governor General in Council has declared that labour supply for coal mines ranks as a national emergency. Further, in order to provide manpower for coal, the Governor in Council has issued an Order in Council aimed at swelling the flow of coal from mine to firepot.

This Order is of vital interest to everyone in Canada. Every Canadian should read and study its provisions, to see whether it demands any action on his part:

1 EVERY EMPLOYER, REGARDLESS OF HIS INDUSTRY, must advise his employees of these Regulations, and he must assist in discovering whether any of his employees have had previous experience as coal mine workers.

2 EVERY EMPLOYEE, REGARDLESS OF HIS INDUSTRY, who has had previous experience as a coal mine worker, must report that fact to his employer not later than Tuesday, May 25th, 1943.

3 A "COAL MINE WORKER" FOR THESE PURPOSES is anyone who, since January 1st, 1933, has worked under provincial certificate or license in or around a coal mine, or who, since the same date, has been employed for a total of at least 24 months in the production of coal (except in office work).

4 EVERY EMPLOYER, NOT A COAL MINE OPERATOR, must report in writing to a Selective Service Officer not later than Tuesday, June 1st, 1943, full details on any of his employees who are ex-coal mine workers.

5 SELECTIVE SERVICE OFFICERS ARE AUTHORIZED to require ex-coal mine workers to report for interview and to accept work at a coal mine.

6 SELECTIVE SERVICE OFFICERS MAY REQUIRE any man in any employment, if subject to Mobilization Regulations but rejected for Military Training, and certain others excused from Military Training, to accept employment at a coal mine.

7 NO COAL MINE OPERATOR may terminate the services of any coal mine worker without written permission from a Selective Service Officer.

8 NO COAL MINE WORKER may leave employment at a coal mine without written permission from a Selective Service Officer.

9 EVERY EX-COAL MINE WORKER, returning to the industry under these Regulations, will be paid wages at the established rate for the job at which he is placed; and the Government will pay wages of 60 cents an hour, 8 hours a day and 48 hours a week, to any ex-coal mine worker required to leave his present employment under these provisions, but not placed immediately at coal mining.

10 A BOARD ALLOWANCE of not more than $7.50 a week may be paid an ex-coal mine worker now returning to a coal mine, if required to live away from the residence of his dependents.

11 PRESENT AND FUTURE COAL MINE WORKERS will be granted postponement from Military Training to February 1st, 1944, by virtue of their occupation; and no coal mine worker will be accepted for voluntary enlistment in the Armed Forces of Canada, prior to February 1st, 1944, except under permit to enlist from a Selective Service Officer.

12 NO EMPLOYER IN CANADA, EXCEPT A COAL MINE OPERATOR, may solicit for employment or hire any ex-coal mine worker.

13 REGARDLESS OF ANY DOMINION OR PROVINCIAL LAW, male persons at least 16 years old may be employed as coal mine workers, and female persons at least 18 years old may be employed as surface coal mine workers.

14 WAR EMERGENCY TRAINING CLASSES will be available for training men as coal mine workers.

Such is the substance of the new regulations. Full details may be had at any Employment and Selective Service Office. If these provisions require action on your part, you are urged in the national interest to act immediately. Severe penalties are provided for non-compliance, but the Government relies on the co-operation of the citizens of Canada to make prosecution unnecessary by prompt action as required. This is a grave emergency. Assist if you can.

THE DEATH OF THE PREMIER—

THERE WERE a very large number of people in Alberta within and without social credit ranks who were genuinely pained and shocked to hear of the premier's passing in Vancouver last Sunday. While not a young man, Mr. Aberhart could normally have expected to serve the province for a further number of years. That death intervened and prevented this will cause many people to feel a real sense of personal loss. To his immediate family the sympathy of all Albertans is extended.

FOOD PROBLEMS—

ON MAY 17th at Hot Springs, Virginia, there assembled representatives of 43 governments who will, until early in June, meet in conference and discuss the food problems of the world. The problems to be discussed are understood to be post war food problems and will likely include the food problems of not only the United nations but the post war food problems of nations with whom Canada along with the United Nations are now fighting.

Perhaps this is the reason why the press is barred from all but the first and last session of the conference.

It is estimated by agricultural experts that only about 11 per cent of the total land area of the earth is suitable for cultivation. Thus about four billion acres must be made to provide food and clothing needs of some two billion human beings. These acres are doing this now, but leaving out the effects of the war in creating shortages, it is well known that many millions of humans are undernourished and under clothed. One of the problems the Food Conference will try to shed light upon is how to make the present acres produce sufficient food for all peoples of whatever nationality or clime. The subject is a vast one and no doubt discussions will take the delegates into many unforseen channels including those connected with production, humanity, economics and finance.

If only a reasonable start can be made upon the problem of production and distribution of food stuffs to the end that all peoples of all countries will have an opportunity to be well fed and well clothed, a great deal will have been accomplished.

The conference now being held at Hot Springs is of much interest to Canadian farmers. Their vocation and their living is tied up to the production of food in one or more forms. If any real progress is to be made towards the objective of an adequate diet for all peoples of all countries, there must of necessity be great changes in marketing, distributing and financing of present farm crops. Of course the conference now being held, no matter what its findings are will be unable to change present conditions quickly. The war will prevent that, but it is quite possible it may point a way out of the tragedy of inadequate food supplies for many people, and in so doing, lay low the cause of many wars and devastating revolutions.

Speaking of food reminds one that garden planting time is rapidly drawing to a close. Our growing season here is generally good but it is always short. To those who have not already planted even a small patch, we could commend the statement of a lady, who some number of years ago, was trying to sell the writer some gooseberries. The gooseberries were very green and almost gave an adult the stomach ache to look at them, "Mr. Editor" she said in support of the sale, "the winter is long."

Pity the Poor Congressman!

When Dudley M. Hughes, of Georgia, was serving in the House of Representatives he devoted much of his time to the agricultural interests of his district. That this was not always an easy task may be surmised from the following typical letter Hughes received from one of his most demanding constituents:

"Dear Dud:" ran the epistle, "Sam Yopp has been telling me of a new seedless tomato the government is growing. I am writing to you in hopes you will send me some of the seeds."

Ignorance is Bliss

The following notice is attracting attention in some war plants:

"According to the theory of aerodynamics, and as may be readily demonstrated through experiments, the bumblebee is unable to fly. This is because the size, shape and weight of his body, in relation to his wing area, makes flying impossible. But the bumblebee, being ignorant of these scientific truths, goes ahead and flies anyway—and makes a little honey besides."

Strange!

Two flies were strolling along the ceiling. Suddenly one of them paused.

"You know," it remarked, "human beings are silly."

"Why do you say that?" asked the other.

A Statement of the Farmers' Position

(H. B. Nichols, Secretary, Alberta Farmers' Union)

At the end of the First Great War increased prices for farm products had given a great impetus to building up and equipping farm holdings in the West. The advent of the automobile, the radio and the farm tractor all helped to accelerate this and farm improvement proceeded apace. With this field of profitable investment opening up large sums of money at high rates of interest were made available. These high rates of interest could only be paid while farm prices were at a war level and when these commenced to drop, the interest speedily drained away every reserve which the farmers had built up. In addition, the cost of farm machinery continued to rise until today it is 600 per cent higher, comparitively, than it was in 1918. By this I mean in 1918 it only took 100 bushels of wheat to buy a binder while today it takes 600 bushels. (In reply to those who say, "look what you are getting for your money now," I wish to say that as a farmer of 35 years experience there is very little difference, as a lot of experimenting is done at the farmers expense.)

With the advent of the depression of the thirties, the farmers' life became a misery. Badgered by the mortgage companies who refused to believe that the farmers could not pay, the farmer explored every means to cut down expenses. He refrained from buying machinery, fencing, clothes, household goods and paint. Did without medical care for himself and family and reverted to a semi-primitive style of living. Figures show that the income for the three western provinces for the seven year period 1931-1937 as compared to the seven previous years showed a drop of two and one-half billions of dollars; but the debt with its interest accumulations continued to mount. During this period the farmers' children worked hard for board and lodging of a primitive type and a miserable allowance of clothes. The boys of more adventurous mind roamed the country in search of a job. They were hounded by the police from one city to the next and they are our "heroes" of today. They were heroes then in a truer sense in my opinion, than they are even now.

Well the farms and the farmers were thoroughly deflated and run down; (you know inflation is necessary in a tire under a heavy load) and then came the war. The farm became the recruiting ground for every man-power demand and in most cases the opportunity was eagerly siezed to get away from the destitution and everlasting drudgery of the farm. Now with man-power depleted extra production is required. The farmers in most cases cannot increase production in hogs and livestock to the extent that would be necessary to enable them to pay considerable amounts off their back debts because of the shortage of help. Present prices merely enable the elderly farmer to get by; but not pay anything off the back debt, which the mortgage wolves are now after.

In addition the elderly farmer is more or less played out. He is naturally beyond the age for strenuous exertion and the last 12 years (especially the last one, 1942) have taken their toll. His health is not even what it should be. Neglected teeth during the years of privation have poisoned his system. Broken hopes when he reviews his once partly-paid-for, well kept farm, now run down and buried under accumulated interest bearing debt. Worse still, he is not even going to be able to improve his position now that prices are somewhat better. His wheat production is curtailed and the price is too low and he cannot hire the experienced labor to increase his "debt paying returns" from livestock. Now, under the order in council he is going to be allowed to remain on the farm on suffrance. As long as he is an "efficient" producer. It is the very efficiency of himself and his fellows that has put him where he is financially.

When the war is over and he is no longer needed as an efficient producer he will be kicked off and the mortgage companies or the S.S.B. will take his home.

A farmer should not be threatened with the loss of his land and home because artificial conditions make it impossible for him to reap a profitable harvest. A farmers' business is to produce farm products and these constitute part of the real wealth of a Nation and it is somebody else's business to see that the farmers produce can be exchanged for sufficient dollars to enable the farmer to pay his bills and taxes in dollars, when he has succeeded so well at his own job that he has produced in super-abundance. The charge of dishonesty can be laid at some other door because evidently the dollars are not a true reflection of value. If the farmer could grow dollars then, like wheat, there would be plenty of them; and he would be able to pay his debts.

We feel that undue pressure is being exerted on the Government by the mortgage companies as it is also being exerted on the farmers; and this will inevitalby result in a curtailment of production, which, whether the mortgage companies realize it or not, is a direct sabotage of the war effort.

This pressure should be resisted by the government as it will be resisted by the farmers because ALL citizens are interested in this issue. And it is a sacred obligation of our Dominion Government to see that the homes of those who have done their part in the war effort are secured to them. Because the real purpose for which the common people are fighting this war is, boiled down,—Security in their Homes.

FOREST FIRE PREVENTION

••••••

A cigarette or match, tossed out of a car window, may mean lost lives, lost timber, lost jobs—also a lost war effort.

••••••

Many families depend on winter forest work for a large part of their income. Think of others when burning brush or slash.

••••••

Over 90 per cent of forest fires are caused by human beings. If each of us did his bit, there would be no man-caused fires.

••••••

There is no music in the roar of a forest fire. It is a dirge filled with the promise of death.

••••••

Alberta's forests control the water sheds of Western Canada. That is Alberta's responsibility, and yours.

An Alberta woodland scene of week-end holiday and relaxation may become a charred smoking scene of desolation after you leave it. Do not be responsible for this

ALBERTA "OBJECTORS" TO WORK ON FARMS

Calgary---Most of the Alberta conscientious objectors will be directed into farm work, said W. Harry Ross, Calgary national selective service manager, after attending a conference at which placement of conscientious objectors was discussed.

The majority of the conscientious objectors were men who lived on the farms, he said. The mobilization board is preparing a list of these in the province and as soon as this is completed the conscientious objectors will be allocated to farm work and jobs in essential industry.

Twelve selective service officers from Alberta were at the conference, together with W. H. Darracott, assistant regional superintendent, Winnipeg [illegible] Edmon-

MEAT RATIONING AS IT AFFECTS FARMERS

Farmers may slaughter their livestock for their own consumption—but must turn in to the Local Ration Board at the end of each month, 1 coupon for each two pounds of their own slaughtered meat consumed on their own premises. Farmers need in no case surrender more than half the number of each month's valid coupons for such home slaughtered meat.

Farmers may supply meat from their own slaughterings to other farmers for consumption on their own farm premises. Local farmer "Beef Rings" are also permitted. Farmers providing meat to other farmers, or "Beef Rings", must collect meat coupons on the basis of 1 coupon for each two pounds of meat, green weight. Self-addressed and stamped envelopes for mailing in coupons can be secured at your Local Ration Board.

CONSUMERS' MEAT IN LOCKERS

Before June 30th all consumers (including farmers) who store meat in lockers must declare in writing to the nearest Branch of the Ration Administration, the quantity of rationed meat they have in storage over and above eight pounds per person in the household. Declarations must be accompanied by sufficient coupons from the ration books of the locker holder and his household, to cover the quantity of declared stored meat at the rate of 1 coupon for each two pounds of any meat in the above groups.

The number of coupons to be detached by the locker user need not exceed more than 50% of the total meat coupons in the possession of himself and his household. Locker users may retain for retail purchasing one of each similarly numbered pair of coupons.

NOTICE TO THE MEAT TRADE

Retailers of meat must collect coupons for any rationed meats sold on or after May 27th. They need not turn in coupons to their suppliers for meat purchased up until June 10th. This arrangement is made to enable them to build up stocks. A Special Food Bulletin giving complete details of meat rationing is being mailed to all food stores.

Government Road Grant M.D. of Beaver $10,000

HONORS LATE PREMIER BY MINUTES SILENCE

A grant of $10,000 by the government for the M.D. of Beaver was announced by Mr. Ritchie of the Public Works Dept., Edmonton, at a meeting held at Ryley on Friday, May 28th. To this $10,000 the M.D. of Beaver must put another $10,000, the $20,000 to be spent on roads agreed upon between the Dept. of Public Works and the M.D. of Beaver.

The meeting opened in the recently enlarged and renovated M.D. office at 10:40 a.m.

There were present: Reeve Ovens (in the chair); Deputy Reeve Anderson; Councillors Giebelhaus, Logan, Lucas, Moen and Swabey.

Upon calling the meeting to order Reeve Ovens reminded council that the province had lost a valuable public servant in the death of the premier. He requested Council to stand and remain silent for a brief period in respect to his memory.

On motion of Councillor Anderson the minutes of the previous meeting were adopted as read.

Mr. Ritchie of the Department of Public Works was present and went into the matter of road grants. He announced that $10,000 was the amount of the government grant to be spent on a 50-50 basis and he recommended that the $20,000 be spent on district highways. He would rather see the money spent on one continuous road rather than split up. He also requested care regarding drainage when building roads as water must not be directed to private property.

Work on the following roads were agreed upon:

Div. 1, Reeve Ovens, $3000.00, east of Tp. 47, Rg. 54.

Div. 2, Councillor Logan, $4800.00, road running straight south of Holden for eight miles. Also 1¼ miles north of Holden on same road.

Div. 3, Councillor Moen, $3500.00, six miles from highway to Dodds.

Div. 4 and 5, Councillors Anderson and Swabey, $4500.00, 3½ miles south from N.E. corner 32-50-19.

Div. 6, Councillor Lucas, $3,000.00, Holden north to N.E. corner 34_50_16.

Div. 7, Councillor Giebelhaus, north four miles from corner 36_49-16_4 ($1500.00). And from N.E. 33-49-15_4 ($1500.00.)

Mr. Chomick interviewed Council and said he would like to buy S.E. 22_34-14 and offered $2.00 per acre. He wished to pay $100 cash, $50.00 in the fall and $50.00 per year until paid for. There is a fence on it. The land was stated to be only suited for pasture.

A bylaw covering the above sale was given its first, second and third reading. The sale to be subject to the approval of the minister.

Correspondence considered:

C. M. Finseth requesting letter of approval re transfer of N.E. 36_49-19. Secretary was requested to write such a letter.

Holden Entertain Many Guests

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BANQUETS PUBLIC BODIES

On Friday night last the Chamber of Commerce of the Town of Holden honored several public bodies and a few extra guests at a sumptuous banquet. Held in the Community Hall, which is a standing credit to the town and presided over by Mr. W. J. Fleming the event had a sparkle and snap to it rarely seen in small centres.

Mr. T. White, Mayor of Holden, in giving the first address of the evening said that the lead off man on the batting order is usually the weak guy. But he wanted to say welcome to these people whom we have as guests. He asked that the people of Holden be judged not by their words but by their acts. Judge the people of Holden by the friendship you find here. We want you to come back time after time, Holden Bids You Welcome.

Mr. Fleming said the primary purpose in asking the guests to gather there was that the public servants could meet each other. Many of them were doing the same work in a different way and they had as guests the Municipal Council and their staff, the School Division and their staff; the Drainage Association; the Municipal District of Minburn and the Mounted Police to keep us in order. All those who were asked to attend were those in public responsibility from Dr. McPherson down.

Mr. Kerns, former district agriculturist said their were two types of addresses, one to entertain and the other on serious matters. Here at Holden good things were left to the last and he felt like the English farmer, who while milking had a bomb drop and blew the cow to smithereens—he was just holding the bag. He would try to say what he had been trying to do here and in the district. There were many good junior grain clubs from Viking to Tofield. The grain clubs were both instructive and popular. Mr. Kerns also mentioned the usefulness and popularity of livestock clubs. He had recently conducted a series of meetings on gardening which were quite successful. He would like to say the community spirit in this hall suited him very well and he wished Mr. Moisey, his successor, every success in this area.

Dr. McPherson thought the committee had taken a little advantage of him as it was only this evening he received the first intimation that he was to address the meeting. The ladies should have more to say regarding public matters in the future than they have in the past. When they wanted anything done they must call on the ladies. He enjoyed the banquet, to the present time, very much. The meeting had been addressed by a lawyer, banker, agriculturist and doctor and he was wondering where the farmer came in. The farmer himself is the most important group in society. If the farmer did not do his work, where would we be. A great many of our people do not know much of farming and look down upon the [illegible]. We must attribute it to thoughtlessness on the part of the people. All kinds of people are required to make a society. Hospitality will be found in Viking, Tofield, Bruce and even Ryley. On the average the merchant, even the banker tries to deal fairly with the farmer. All are trying to do a job as we see it should be done, working according to our light.

Mr. McPherson referred to the death of the Premier, saying, we have lost a great leader, a leader who was criticized at times, but never ignored. He took no care of self as long as he could care for the [illegible]. He was a religious light in Alberta and Saskatchewan. Through him the Province was brought to the attention of this and other countries. He constantly raised the question of a better way of life for the people.

Mr. O. S. Longman, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, who was the principal speaker of the evening said he was pleased to accept the invitation. This was the first occasion he had had of addressing a gathering at Holden, and on behalf of the Department he was pleased to bring greetings. To him this was a unique gathering and he hoped that as time goes by it may become one of greater frequency. Each of us are entrusted with a degree of responsibility which is the essence of democracy and democracy is a very significant thing. He was not held down to one subject but Canada's basic industry presented such a wide range that it was difficult to know just where to begin. He felt something like the man who had been given a compass for a present, with instructions to use it if he became lost. One day toward nightfall the man did become lost and pulling the compass from his pocket read, north, south, east, west, and then in bewilderment exclaimed: "but where's my tee-pee."

He would like to say something about agriculture and its future. We were passing through times that are strenuous. We heard a great deal of reconstruction of agriculture.

MUSICAL RECITAL

The musical recital given by the pupils of Mrs. Stinson and Prof. Fruthkin in the United Church on Monday evening, May 31st was a delightful and enjoyable entertainment.

The young musicians excelled themselves. Those who have been privileged to attend this annual event could not but mark the steady improvement and development in the touch and interpretation of the students.

There was a large gathering present and the hearty applause given, showed their appreciation of the efforts of the performers.

There was also a wide variety of selections: piano solo and duets, guitar selection, violin selection and a vocal solo, duet and trio, also a fine selection of songs by the junior choir.

Prof. Fruthkin delighted the audience by playing a number of selections. This was greatly appreciated.

Great praise and credit are due Mrs. Stinson and Prof. Fruthkin for the fine and worthy contribution they are making to music in our community.

The Rev. D. K. Allan at the close of the program moved a vote of thanks and appreciation to the pupils and their teachers. This met with a hearty response.

The proceeds of the evening will be divided between the Red Cross and the I.O.D.E.

PICKLE RECIPES USING SACCHARINE

Uncooked Saccharine Pickles
(Yankee Cook Book)

Wash and dry cucumbers (large ones may be split lengthwise and small ones left whole). Pack into clean dry jars and fill to overflowing with the following uncooked syrup:

2 quarts vinegar quarter cup salt
1½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon allspice
3 tablespoons mustard
2 teaspoons powdered alum
1 teaspoon [illegible]
½ cup prepared horseradish

Let stand at least two weeks before using.

Saccharine Pickles (Kerr)

7 quarts medium sized cucumbers
1 teaspoon powdered saccharine
1 cup dry mustard
1 gallon vinegar

Wash cucumbers and pack into sterilized jars. Mix saccharine, mustard, salt and add to the vinegar. Pour over cucumbers in the jar and seal.

Saccharine is 300 times sweeter than sugar, hence the usual method is to dissolve the powder or tablet in water and use this liquid in order to spread the sweetening.

U.F.W.A. NOTES

• • • • • • • • •

At our May meeting roll call was answered by original spring poems. Many of our members surprised us by their poetic fancies. Here are some samples:

Men will plough and sow and reap,
Women cook and wash and sleep,
Children eat and romp and run,
The world moves on, it's a son-of-a-gun.

"Hail, Gentle Spring!" the maiden cried,
Stepping out in Easter bonnet
And Spring responded with a will,
And hailed like heck upon it!

The June meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Burchard. Five members will each tell the story of one person who "overcame life's obstacles." Remember to bring your quilt block and used clothing.

Russian General Praises Canadian Tanks

VALENTINE tanks, produced at the Canadian Pacific Railway's Angus Shops in Montreal, have been called by the Russians the best imported tanks they used in crushing Hitler's armor. Major General I. A. Elyasev, chairman of the Soviet Government Purchasing Commission in the United States, has been quoted by Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply at Ottawa, as saying "the Canadian tanks Valentine VII have shown good results in combat action on our front, and have proved themselves the best of all our imported tanks." The Soviet general's tribute was in response to a request from Mr. Howe for a report on the Valentines' part in the Russian offensive. It preceded a congratulatory message sent by General Elyasev to H. B. Bowen, chief of motive power and rolling stock for the Canadian Pacific Railway, on the completion of the Va[illegible] early in May, with the needs of a global war having dictated a switch to other weapons. At this time J. H. Berry, Canadian director general of tank production, also congratulated Mr. Bowen and Canadian Pacific personnel "for having delivered the goods on time."

NATIONAL SELECTIVE SERVICE

Freedom's Fires Must Be Fed Our COAL!

CANADIANS must dig and deliver coal that we may sail convoys, power vital war plants, keep our railroads rolling, preserve the nation's health!

The coal mining industry—miners and management alike—have done wonders to provide coal, but they need help. More workers must be provided, or we falter—possibly fail—in this grim hour. Nature has been generous but we must help ourselves. Our mines are rich, but undermanned. By Proclamation, His Excellency the Governor General in Council has declared that labour supply for coal mines ranks as a national emergency. Further, in order to provide manpower for coal, the Governor in Council has issued an Order in Council aimed at swelling the flow of coal from mine to firepot.

This Order is of vital interest to everyone in Canada. Every Canadian should read and study its provisions, to see whether it demands any action on his part:

1. EVERY EMPLOYER, REGARDLESS OF HIS INDUSTRY, must advise his employees of these Regulations, and he must assist in discovering whether any of his employees have had previous experience as coal mine workers.
2. EVERY EMPLOYEE, REGARDLESS OF HIS INDUSTRY, who has had previous experience as a coal mine worker, must report that fact to his employer not later than Tuesday, May 25th, 1943.
3. A "COAL MINE WORKER" FOR THESE PURPOSES is anyone who, since January 1st, 1935, has worked under provincial certificate or license in or around a coal mine, or who, since the same date, has been employed for a total of at least 24 months in the production of coal (except at office work).
4. EVERY EMPLOYER, NOT A COAL MINE OPERATOR, must report in writing to a Selective Service Officer not later than Tuesday, June 1st, 1943, full details on any of his employees who are ex-coal mine workers.
5. SELECTIVE SERVICE OFFICERS ARE AUTHORIZED to require ex-coal mine workers to report for interview and to accept work at a coal mine.
6. SELECTIVE SERVICE OFFICERS MAY REQUIRE any man in any employment, if subject to Mobilization Regulations but rejected for Military Training, and certain others excused from Military Training, to accept employment at a coal mine.
7. NO COAL MINE OPERATOR may terminate the services of any coal mine worker without written permission from a Selective Service Officer.
8. NO COAL MINE WORKER may leave employment at a coal mine without written permission from a Selective Service Officer.
9. EVERY EX-COAL MINE WORKER, returning to the industry under these Regulations, will be paid wages at the established rate for the job at which he is placed; and the Government will pay wages of 40 cents an hour, 8 hours a day and 48 hours a week, to any ex-coal mine worker required to leave his present employment under these provisions, but not placed immediately at coal mining.
10. A BOARD ALLOWANCE of not more than $7.50 a week may be paid an ex-coal mine worker now returning to a coal mine, if required to live away from the residence of his dependents.
11. PRESENT AND FUTURE COAL MINE WORKERS will be granted postponement from Military Training to February 1st, 1944, by virtue of their occupation; and no coal mine worker will be accepted for voluntary enlistment in the Armed Forces of Canada, prior to February 1st, 1944, except under permit to enlist from a Selective Service Officer.
12. NO EMPLOYER IN CANADA, EXCEPT A COAL MINE OPERATOR, may solicit for employment or hire any ex-coal mine worker.
13. REGARDLESS OF ANY DOMINION OR PROVINCIAL LAW, male persons at least 16 years old may be employed as coal mine workers, and female persons at least 18 years old may be employed as surface coal mine workers.
14. WAR EMERGENCY TRAINING CLASSES will be available for training men as coal mine workers.

Such is the substance of the new regulations. Full details may be had at any Employment and Selective Service Office. If these provisions require action on your part, you are urged in the national interest to act immediately. Severe penalties are provided for non-compliance, but the Government relies on the co-operation of the citizens of Canada to make prosecution unnecessary by prompt action as required. This is a grave emergency. Assist if you can.

THE FUTURE—

IT IS A COMMON thing for humanity to peer into the future. Mentally leaving the present, mankind will observe different signs and examine different prophesies in the hope that some light at least, may be shed on life as it will be lived in the days to come, both near and distant. Large organizations have been built up around certain prophetic writings and living conditions in each generation have been such that the immediate future appeared to "be the time at hand." These prophesies have a personal value, namely that each individual who reads them places his or her interpretation upon them, with perhaps an added weight by the persuasion of some more enthusiastic "believer". Generally a person dies before the complete fulfilment of the prophesy occurs, and the veil is drawn.

There is however continuous change in the world of men and women. Facts and figures which were true of one generation are totally outmoded in the next. There are men living today who can remember the opening of the grain era of the Canadian West. They can recall from a small beginning in Manitoba how the stream of wheat from the western provinces swelled in volume and increased in international power. And they can tell you that at different times it has meant near affluence and almost destitution to produce it. And they can also tell you that sometimes grain, sometimes livestock enjoyed popularity, and on occasions both together, which made for good times indeed. But what they can't tell you is what conditions will be like for the western Canadian farmer two years, five years, ten years or twenty years from now. All they or anyone else can do is observe the signs.

One, two or three decades ago the North American continent was considered the granary of Europe. Industrially conscious and agriculturally lax, Europe was content to let the continent of America grow most of its food. Two wars have altered all that and now Great Britain at least have advanced tremendously in the production of foodstuffs. By the spring of this year the plow land of Great Britain was increased by 53 per cent over that of 1939. Arable land would then be over seventeen million acres, and (note this) almost as great as in 1867, when arable farming was at its zenith. The population of dairy cattle in Great Britain is the highest they have known and beef herds are somewhere near a record in numbers. Sheep has fallen in numbers and pigs and poultry have been severely reduced. What is true of Great Britain is probably true of some other parts of Europe.

What effect the great increase in agricultural production in Great Britain and Europe will have upon the western Canadian farmer in years to come is something that cannot be foretold. All that can be done is to watch events closely and apply them to one's personal affairs. Everything considered, the farmer, despite disadvantages, is in as secure a place as any in this topsy-turvy world. And if by judicious management the farmer and his wife can arrange things so that the immediate family is taken care of as regards food and clothing, no matter what kind of economic winds blow, they will have done a good job.

GREW UP TOGETHER! THIS IS GOOD!

(Edmonton Journal)

A LITTLE international incident on Jasper avenue the other evening struck at least some of those who witnessed it as a shadow of things to come.

A young Canadian sailor who had a strong Cockney accent got into an argument with a United States soldier who possessed an authentic Southern drawl. The debate wasn't serious to start with but, as such things do, it soon developed steam and range. It waxed and raged, attracted a crowd, and seemed on the point of setting fists a-flying when two big U.S. military police strolled up.

One of the M.P.'s, a six-footer, wheeled the American soldier about. The Canadian sailor promptly stepped up to him, tapped him on the arm and assured him he was making a serious mistake. "Why," he exclaimed, "him and me are pals; we were just 'aving a friendly hargument. Why! blimey! We grew up together."

Even the "cop" had to smile at this, but he said "O.K., if you're friends," and released the lad from Dixie.

The incident, we think, reflects future relations of British and American nations. They may squabble among themselves, but any threat to either and they will close ranks at once. They surely will never forget how they have grown together in the greatest assault the world has ever seen on their way of life.

At the outbreak of the war, the railways in Great Britain evacuated 1,300,000 children, mothers, blind people, cripples and hospital patients from large centres to the country. 1500 special trains were run from London for this purpose.

HOLDEN ENTERTAIN MANY

What is agriculture? It has been described as an industry and it has been described as a way of life. We should have a clear understanding of what it is. He thought it should be understood as a way of life. A way of life free from want and fear. In industry a way of life is a by product. We should understand the different levels on which we must consider agricultural problems. There is a provincial level, a dominion level, and an international level. In our discussions we often confuse the different levels. Agriculture has component parts. In times past there has been more land than people; in the future there may be more people than land. There is no country in the world that has such a good back ground of information as Canada and if we do not realize what our limitations are it it because we do not study past history. Land consists of all things living as against dead things, like minerals, etc. We have now in this province five distinct divisions of land and he could not speak here as in Medicine Hat as conditions were different by nature. People who live under different conditions have different concepts of things. Land, crops, animals, people, knowledge are component parts of agriculture. We often do not sufficiently differentiate between the scientific and administrative parts of agriculture, and at times we have been negligent in the pursuit of knowledge. Often there is too great a lag in the knowledge and its application on behalf of the people.

Frequently on the part of the Department there is a tendency to help the more successful type of farmer because they show more interest and absorb knowledge more quickly. But he was of the opinion that the less successful farmer should be helped more. The original organization of agriculture was not around agriculture itself but around clubs. Farmers are generally on the farm 20 to 25 years. The objective should be that in this time, the farmer and his wife should enjoy some degree of culture and accumulate a competence for old age and also raise a family.

The Dept. of Agriculture fits in with three component parts, crops, livestock, people. The Department has done much as regards efficiency of living and the district agriculturist is an important arm of the Department.

Mr. Moisey, the newly appointed district agriculturist spoke briefly saying, what he was most interested in was the menu. He would like to see such a menu available to all brothers and sisters in the armed forces. There are other organizations in Canada such as, Guns for Victory, Tanks for Victory, but he would like the theme for this district to be Farm for Victory.

Mr. Henry Ovens, Reeve of Municipal District of Beaver said we had all met there with one accord and were not only from the Holden district but from a larger area. We represent all classes of our community, health, education, drainage, and not forgetting municipal, and we all welcome the opportunity to get together. He took great pleasure in moving a hearty vote of thanks to the Holden people for their generous hospitality. Applause.

The National Anthem was then sung.

The speeches were interspersed with vocal and instrumental numbers. There were two excellent quartette numbers by Freda Hopkins, Onagt Height, E. M. Hardy, L. M. Height.

The hosts of the combined gathering were:

D. H. Allan, A. Black, John J. Blake, W. W. Boyd, N. L. Campbell, J. Chamulka, W. J. Fleming, R. T. Gallant, Anton Gorrie, J. E. Gourdeau, A. E. Greenwood, S. P. Komarnsky, T. A. Liden, P. L. PARCELS

IN IT, you put the home-spun bits of chit-chat you know he wants to hear … and in it you also put your heart. You mailed it with a prayer that it might find him safe and well.

Look—it's already on the way … speeding as fast as railway wheels can carry it.

Those singing wheels carry more—much more—than letters. They carry food for your pantry, coal for your furnace. They roll tirelessly that you may live in comfort. They race across the great stretches of this Dominion with the men and materials of war, so that all of us may live in freedom.

Twenty-four hours a day our railway wheels are rolling, driven by an army of over 150,000 workers serving two major fronts … the home front and the fighting front.

"Keep 'em rolling" is their watchword, whether it's food or fuel, tanks or troops.

Or just your letter to your boy …

MEAT RATIONING AS IT AFFECTS FARMERS

Farmers may slaughter their livestock for their own consumption—but must turn in to the Local Ration Board at the end of each month, 1 coupon for each two pounds of their own slaughtered meat consumed on their own premises. Farmers need in no case surrender more than half the number of each month's valid coupons for such home slaughtered meat.

Farmers may supply meat from their own slaughterings to other farmers for consumption on their own farm premises. Local farmer "Beef Rings" are also permitted. Farmers providing meat to other farmers, or "Beef Rings", must collect ration coupons on the basis of 1 coupon for each two pounds of meat, gross weight. Self-addressed and stamped envelopes for mailing in coupons can be secured at your Local Ration Board.

CONSUMER MEAT IN LOCKERS

Before June 30th all consumers (including farmers) who store meat in lockers must declare in writing to the nearest Branch of the Ration Administration, the quantity of rationed meat they have in storage over and above eight pounds per person in the household. Declarations must be accompanied by sufficient coupons from the ration books of the locker holder and his household, to cover the quantity of declared stored meat at the rate of 1 coupon for each two pounds of any meat in the above groups.

The number of coupons to be detached by the locker user need not exceed more than 50% of the total meat coupons in the possession of himself and his household. Locker users may retain for retail purchasing one of each similarly numbered pair of coupons.

NOTICE TO THE MEAT TRADE

Retailers of meat must collect coupons for any rationed meats sold on or after May 27th. They need not turn in coupons to their suppliers for meat purchased up until June 10th. This arrangement is made to enable them to build up stocks. A Special Food Bulletin giving complete details of meat rationing is being mailed to all food stores.

"WE NOT ONLY HAUL 'EM—WE BUILD 'EM TOO"

ALTHOUGH we, the Canadian railways, are carrying vastly more traffic than at any time in history, we are also building guns and tanks, ships and shells. Our machinery of production hums day and night. Implements of war roll from our plants in steady streams. They're made by the railways . . . hauled by the railways . . . the railways of Canada.

Only your railways, ready and capable of meeting the emergency before it occurred, can handle this double "must" . . . mass transportation and mass war production.

Your railways met a mighty challenge in Canada's period of construction. They are rendering dual service in War's period of destruction. They will be needed more than ever in the reconstruction period of peace. They will meet that challenge, too!

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By Dr. H. G. L. Strange, Director, Research Department, Searle Grain Company Limited

WHEAT ACREAGE

We are continually being told that Canadian farmers must reduce wheat acreage because of an alleged burden of the world wheat surplus. (I have never felt myself that the surplus was as burdensome as some people think.)

Our farmers have loyally responded to the Government's appeal and have reduced wheat acreage from 1940 to 1942 by 26 per cent, while the United States during the same period reduced her wheat acreage by only 19 per cent. This year, 1943, prairie farmers have reduced wheat acreage by an additional 20 per cent, but the United States government is now actually bonusing American farmers to increase their wheat acreage.

Surely there is room for better co-laboration here. If the United States requires more wheat, can they not draw on the surplus Canadian farmers now have unsold on their farms, and devote more of their land to the production of foodstuffs which they tell us they so badly need.

How can we expect 43 different nations now meeting at Hot Springs, Virginia, to agree on the international production and distribution of all world food stuffs if two such close neighbors as the United States and Canada, and which speak the same language, cannot work out a fair plan to decrease their own wheat acreages?

"INASMUCH AS YE DID IT TO THE LEAST OF THESE"

(Mrs. J. J. Moore, Fort Saskatchewan)

My daughter was reading the scriptures
And quoted this phrase frequently
"Inasmuch as ye did it to the least of these Ye did it unto Me."
(I thought of the wives and mothers of men)
Who are now in the Services there.
What are we doing to lighten their load,
Whilst their men for us fight gallantly?
Her voice went on—
"For I was hungry and was not fed"
(Dear God! She is speaking to me)
My next door neighbor, starved for love
Which I have withheld, charitably.
"And I was thirsty, with nought to drink,
There it was again—
My heart overflowing with kindness
Had surely eased her pain.
"I was naked, ye clothed me not"
So warm I could have kept
Wrapped her in my sunny smile
Since the day her dear one left.
"I was a stranger"
I could have called
To see how she got along.
Alone and so far from the one she loves
Her days must be very long.
"I was sick"—
Oh thoughtless me!
A bowl of soup, a word of cheer,
Would have drawn her from abject misery
To know that she was welcome here.
"I was in prison"—
The bars are strong
Conventions ties—they bind her fast.
But we can open the windows wide
And friendships' sunshine round her cast.
So now, dear Lord, I will atone—
For negligent and thoughtless ways
I'll share my heart with my neighbor lone
And help her through these trying days.

NEW AND VALUABLE BOOKLET ON "WARTIME TRACTORS" TO BE HAD FREE

With a view to helping farmers keep their machinery operating at peak efficiency for the duration of the war, Gas and Oil Products Limited, Calgary Oil Refiners and marketers, are making available throughout Alberta a booklet dealing with "Preventative Maintenance".

Entitled "Wartime Tractors", the twenty-two page booklet is being distributed to farmers at no cost by "99" agents and dealers throughout the province. Any farmers interested in knowing the latest information on tractor maintenance may obtain the booklet from their "99" agent or dealer, or by writing direct to Gas and Oil Products Limited in Calgary.

"Preventive Maintenance" is designed to stop trouble before it begins, working on the principle that "a stitch in time saves nine", Company officials explained. The book is aimed at demonstrating the kind of maintenance and tune-up that give extra power and make farm tractors last longer. It also provides forms for a record of individual tractor operation.

"Today you need full horsepower from your tractor and from every gallon of gasoline you use. Whether you have a high compression or a low compression tractor, if the engine is not properly tuned for the fuel you use, it is losing power and wasting fuel. Proper tune-up and maintenance will bring out extra power' and save money for you,' the booklet states in the introduction. The agent for this area is Mr. Stan Wilson, R.R. 4, Tofield.

Keep 'Em Fighting At Top Efficiency With Complete "Preventive Maintenance"

FARMERS who are fighting the battle of production on Alberta's fertile acres realize the vital importance of their farm machinery in helping to keep food supplies rolling up to the front lines in a never-ending stream.

These farmers realize the value of every minute of daylight, and that's why so many are turning to "Preventive Maintenance" to stop costly, time-wasting trouble before it begins, convinced that a little service at the right time will prevent a lot of trouble at the wrong time.

"Preventive Maintenance" is a study in itself, and, for that reason, GAS & OIL PRODUCTS LIMITED is making available through its Purity "99" agents and dealers throughout Alberta a valuable booklet on tractor maintenance in wartime.

This booklet, called "Wartime Tractors", is free to all farmers interested in keeping their machinery at peak efficiency. All you have to do is see your "99" agent or dealer, or fill out the coupon below and mail it. Send in today for YOUR copy of "Wartime Tractors".

FAT OR LEAN PIGS?—

CANADIAN FARMERS are still being urged to market pigs of relatively light weight, and it is within recent weeks that George R. Paterson, Canadian Animal Products Trade Commissioner in London, issued a statement to the press in which he requests that Canadian farmers continue to raise pigs not over 220 pounds (we are carrying the news item in this issue.) The reason for asking Canadian farmers to market relatively light weight pigs is an old story now, everybody, or nearly everybody having heard of Wiltshire sides.

Simultaneously with the request for 200-220 pound pigs comes the exhortation to raise more and still more pigs, so that shipments to Britain may be kept up and even increased. Concerning this many farmers have expressed the belief that more bacon could be provided if heavier weight pigs were acceptable. They claim that it is easier to put a few pounds on a pig that is still growing than raise another one, and in war time at least, the Britishers are not nearly so concerned about extremes in quality as they are in getting a few extra ounces of bacon to eat.

Prior to 1939 only about 35 per cent of the marketable pigs raised in Great Britain were sent to the curers. Today more than 80 per cent of the pigs raised there are eaten as bacon, but there has been a great decline in pig population since 1939. Most of Britain's bacon is supplied by Canada, but what bacon from British raised pigs the people there do eat, is going to be fatter than the strict interpretation of the Wiltshire side permits.

In Great Britain the present policy of the Ministry of Food is the encouragement of marketing heavier pigs. The pre-war baconer of 140 to 160 pounds dead weight finds no place in the war time economy there. The Ministry of Food, early this year increased its payments by sums ranging from approximately $5.50 for pigs of 221 pounds to approximately $10.50 extra for pigs of 280 pounds dead weight. Thus while Canadian farmers are being urged to market comparitively light weight pigs and penalized in price if they don't, British farmers are being urged to market heavy weight pigs and paid a bonus if they do. And presumably, the British public are the consumers of both types of bacon.

It doesn't quite make sense, but perhaps here lies the explanation. The packing houses both in Canada and Great Britain use considerable machinery in converting a freshly killed pig to bacon. This machinery is primarily designed for a pig of the Wiltshire side type and weight and heavier pigs going into the packing plant in large volume would necessitate readaptation of present machinery or even the installation of new machinery, which would be quite a problem just now. This is exactly what the British bacon curing establishments are now facing. Another explanation is that of shipping space and protein. The fatter the bacon the less protein per pound and as the Canadian Animal Products Trade Commissioner said: "there are more economical ways of shipping fat to Britain than in the form of fat bacon."

No doubt peace time market preference brought into existence the Wiltshire side. The large curing establishments catered to this preference and installed plants to handle this type of pig, swinging over to rail grading from live grading to be more exact. Thus, both by premiums and penalties the farmer on his farm became a factor in the efficiency machine of the packing houses.

"I Saw The Morning Break"

Ye that have faith to look with fearless eyes
Beyond the tragedy of a world at strife,
And trust that out of death and night shall rise
The dawn of ample life;
Rejoice, whatever anguish rend your heart,
That God has given you for a priceless dower
To live in these great times and have your part
In freedom's crowning hour;
That you may tell your sons who see the light
High in the heavens—their heritage to take—
"I saw the powers of Darkness take their flight,

by Sir Owen Seaman (1861-1936)

Time for Action

By way of the Natal (South Africa) Mercury comes the story about the Frenchman who assaulted a German officer—right in the heart of Paris at that.

It seems that the officer trod on the Frenchman's feet as he was alighting from the underground. Without a moment's hesitation the Frenchman dealt him a resounding smack. A moment later another Frenchman kicked the German.

The pair were arrested and duly taken to the Kommandantur, where they were asked for an explanation for the assault.

The first Frenchman said that he suffered acutely when the officer trod on his feet and he didn't know what he was doing. He promised that it would not happen again.

"And you?" the second Frenchman was asked. "Why did you kick an officer of the Reich?"

"Well, sir," he replied, "when I saw the other fellow hit him I thought the war must be over."

THIS WEEK'S MESSAGE

(Contributed)

The question of the inspiration of the Bible has been the battle ground of the ages. 2 Tim. 3:16 declares, "All Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness."

The question arises:

(1) Is the Bible the Word of God? or
(2) Does it merely 'contain' the Word of God?

If it is truly the word of God it is absolutely authoritative and every jot and tittle of it demands our strictest attention.

If it only 'contains' the Word of God then some of it may be discarded or ignored. And who is the man, or the committee mighty and capable enough to dare tamper with God's Word, to add to or to take from it. Yet some would go where angels fear to tread.

Some have said it makes no difference with the details when it comes to the Bible. This reveals irreverence and is a gratuitous assertion as to what the Holy Spirit knew. Anyone who has studied the works of God in nature knows that if there is one thing that appeals to mind and heart more than another, it is the marvellous care bestowed by the Almighty upon the minutest details; and the closer the examination the more this is apparent.

For instance, while the point of the finest needle ever made by man, when examined under a microscope, appears as coarse and rusty as a poker; the sting of the common wasp, God's handiwork, is so marvellously constructed, that when examined under the strongest glass, it is impossible to detect the slightest roughness or irregularity in it. Truly His work is perfect! (Deut. 32:4).

Let us therefore, give earnest heed to the message of God's Holy Book, for it is supreme authority, it is God's love-letter to the children of men.

IMPORTANT THAT HOGS SHOULD NOT WEIGH OVER 220 POUNDS

George R. Paterson, Canadian Animal Products Trade Commissioner in London, England, who was in Ottawa recently, made some observations on why Britain wants lean bacon.

"Bacon production in Canada is now at the highest point on record. This may enable the 4-ounce bacon ration for the people of Britain to be maintained", said Mr. Paterson.

While the British bacon ration is not included in the general meat ration, nevertheless it is an important part because the official meat ration is not what might be considered generous. It consists of an amount of meat to the value of 26 cents per week with average weight of slightly more than one pound. The additional food provided by four ounces of bacon would consequently contain as high a percentage of animal protein as is found in any good, lean meat.

"While there is a comparitive shortage of fats in Britain there are more economical ways of providing fat than by shipping it in the form of fat bacon.

Though it is important to provide the quantity of bacon requested by Britain from Canada—675,000,000 pounds this year—it is equally important that the hogs produced for bacon for Britain should not be overfed—or in excess of a weight of 220 lb live weight when marketed."

BEER MODERATELY USED IN THE ARMY

The average Canadian soldier is not as addicted to the use of alcoholic beverages, as one might believe.

Beer canteens are open at certain hours and ration regulations are more a topic of humorous conversation than of bitter invective.

However, it is the service canteen which is universally patronized. Candy bars, milk and soft drinks are consumed by the case and truck loads. Despite Churchill preference cigarettes have the lead over cigars by a wide margin.

It's a writing army judging by the pile of mail going out every day, and it's a singing one too.

Women have invaded another he-man field in the Canadian Army, no less than the paratroopers.

The first of her sex to be attached to the Canadian Parachute Training School at Camp Shilo, is Private Marjorie Perry, of St. Boniface, Man.

Private Perry, a member of the Canadian Women's Army Corps, will not be schooled as a soldier jumper but as a "rigger" who will be charged with the care and maintenance of 'chutes.

It isn't as exciting a job as that of leaping from planes, but none the less important and interesting. Major R. F. Routh, acting officer commanding the school, pointed out there is a definite field for women in parachute work because they can relieve manpower for other duties packing and otherwise maintaining the silken bags.

It will take about two weeks to train a competent girl to pack 'chutes, and a month to repair and look after them.

One of the most meticulous phases of a paratrooper's course is how to pack it and how to keep it in repair. He will still have to learn all that, but much of the time-consuming routine of maintenance may in future be handled by the CWACs.

VALUABLE HINTS ON CARE OF RABITS

In times of war rabbit-keeping assumes an added importance. The pelts are much needed; the wool of the Angora wool rabbit is valuable, and every pound of rabbit meat produced helps to augment the meat supply. In the care and management of rabbits they should be handled as seldom as possible. They should never be lifted by the ears or feet. If it is necessary to lift a rabbit, the loose skin over the shoulders should be grasped by one hand while the weight of the rabbit should be supported from beneath by placing the other hand below the rump. If the feet are turned away from the person there will be less likelihood of receiving scratches in case the rabbit struggles. When a rabbit starts to struggle while it is being carried it should simply be rested on the ground until its struggles cease.

In view of the present interest in rabbit-keeping, a 6-page circular has been prepared by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, on their care and management. A copy can be obtained by writing for it. The title is "Care and Management of Rabbits."

COMMUNICATION

Do you believe the prices of farm machinery has been too high? Do you believe the cost of distribution of machinery and repairs are too high? If so, then what do you think should be done to secure better and cheaper machinery?

The Canadian Co-operative Implements Ltd. has been organized for the sole purpose of securing better and cheaper machinery for its former members. C.C.I.L. came into being as a direct result of various governmental investigations into the high cost of distribution of farm machinery.

Then came the war and as the need for tools of warfare became greater, the manufacture of farm machinery was curtailed. This resulted in much less machinery being made available and so the C.C.I.L. was unable to enter business.

Since that time C.C.I.L. has entered into joint agreement as joint shareholders with National Co-operative Machinery Inc. at Shelbyville, Indiana. Previous to the war this concern was manufacturing the Co-op. tractor.

As soon as hostilities cease they will go into production of farm machinery for members.

We as farmers must co-operate in this huge undertaking to bring C.C.I.L. the success that will prove to its members it can and will secure better and cheaper machinery.

Under the new system introduced this year, Income Tax is now on a pay-as-you-earn basis. The reduction of the 1942 Tax made this possible.

In most cases the larger part of the reduced tax will have been paid by the 1942 tax deductions or instalment payments. One-third of any balance must be paid by 30th June and the remainder on or before 31st December, 1943.

You must file an Income Tax return and pay any balance to establish your right, after the war, to the refund of the Savings Portion of your tax.

JUNIOR BEEF FEEDING CLUBS LOOK FORWARD to SUCCESSFUL SEASON

As a matter of fact there is a small increase this year in the number of livestock clubs and in total membership. This increase [illegible] a growing interest in one project, the Beef Calf Feeding Clubs. The beef clubs have had steady growth for the past four or five years, being stimulated by an increasing demand for finished cattle of good quality and the need for greater production toward the war effort.

During the [illegible] finished calves. The members [illegible] last fall and [illegible] A feature of [illegible] beef club [illegible] this season is a further development of the cooperative plan whereby a number of clubs combine for one large fair and sale at a central point, thus attracting larger crowds and more buyers.

To Trade Is Natural

To trade, to do business, to buy and sell is natural. As natural as breathing, eating, sleeping or walking. No race of humans are known to exist who do not buy, sell or trade to some extent. Even if one lived under a breadfruit tree in a tropical country there would still be something lacking—butter —— and surplus breadfruit would probably be traded to somebody who possessed cows or goats, for butter.

This is no tropical country and there are certainly no breadfruit trees around, but there are quite a number of things that could be traded or sold. A used plow, tractor, binder or any other piece of farm equipment. Furniture too, or even clothing very often have resale value, often having done duty for their original owner. And then too, there is that extra horse in the pasture, cow in the barn, extra pigs in the sty or even chickens in the chicken house.

Somebody, somewhere, may be looking for any one of these things and the easiest, cheapest and most effective way to let people know they are for sale is through a CLASSIFIED WANT AD in the MERCURY.

FAT IS AMMUNITION!

Fat and bone conservation begins at home and ends in the firing line

- DO YOU KNOW -

One pound of fat supplies enough glycerine to fire 150 bullets from a Bren gun

Two pounds of fat will fire a burst of 20 cannon shells from a Spitfire or 10 anti-aircraft shells.

Bones produce fat and aircraft glue.

If we saved fat at the rate of one ounce per person per week this would mean 36,000,000 pounds per year, enough to produce 3,600,000 pounds of glycerine for explosives.

OUR FIGHTERS DEPEND ON YOU

"Every householder who delivers to a retail butcher, collector, or Salvage Committee, any rendered or unrendered fats or bones shall be entitled to receive from the person to whom they are delivered 4 cents per pound net weight for rendered fats, and 1 cent per pound for unrendered fats."

The above paragraph is a direct quotation from Order A-642 of The Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

"Rendered fat" means fat melted down and strained to remove solid matter. It includes drippings and strained pan grease resulting from the cooking of meat.

"Unrendered fat" means raw or partially cooked fat free from lean meat and bone, but not fully rendered.

EVERY OUNCE COUNTS!

BAPTIST CHURCH NEWS

We are happy to note the interest that is on the upsurge as Christian workers everywhere are putting their shoulder to the wheel and cooperating for the cause of Evangelism. [illegible] without Christ and young folk who do not know that they have a material and eternal Redeemer [illegible] wonderful and holy privilege [illegible] have the absolute assurance of sins forgiven.

The Building of the Baptist Church in the town of Tofield calls for volunteer laborers. It was suggested by a fine Christian gentleman, (not a member of our local group here, yet living in the vicinity) that we make such a plea through the local paper, "The Tofield Mercury". We took up this suggestion as from God and so, [illegible] if you have any time to give, any financial support to offer, here is another chance to Worship the Lord in Truth. We need men to wreck the old skating rink, then we need workers, carpenters, masons etc. to aid in planning and erecting the New Building.

We also solicit your earnest prayers on behalf of this Mission Project that God again be honored and glorified through His Word of Truth? Let us walk by faith and not by sight! God bless you one and all!

PASTURE FOR HOGS

As a labor saving device the use of pasture for hogs cannot be too highly recommended.

Pastures may be either annual or perennial, and although the perennial pasture is to be preferred in many respects, some time must elapse after sowing before the pasture is suitable for grazing. For that reason it is advisable to make use of an annual pasture until such time as the perennial pasture is in condition.

As a source of perennial pasture alfalfa is the most valuable and nutritious crop that can be grown. If you are planning an alfalfa pasture, sowing should be done in the near future so that a good growth may be made before fall and the pasture may be in condition for grazing next spring.

The common cereals form a very satisfactory annual pasture for hogs. A mixture of oats and winter rye at the rate of two bushels of oats to one bushel of rye sown in the spring is recommended. The oats provide pasture during the first half of the season, and the rye furnishes late summer and fall pasture.

SPORTS' DAY JULY 1st

Last week we announced the Red Cross Sports Day at Tofield to be held on July 5th. This has now been changed to Thursday, July 1st.

Arrangements for a good day are progressing splendidly and given fine weather a first class holiday is assured.

Baseball, softball, races, etc., will all contribute to the people's pleasure and the booth and games will be going strong. Make a date for Tofield JULY 1st.

NOTICE

Owing to inability to obtain supplies the Club Cafe will be compelled to remain closed on July 1st. We regret this but have no other alternative.

DAVID DOONE.

LAKESHORE

Mrs. T. E. Seale and Miriam left on Tuesday evening for a three week's visit to the coast. They plan to go to Nelson, Trail and Vancouver to spend time with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Anderson, Harold and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Weeks motored to Viking on Sunday to see Mr. and Mrs. Meranes Anderson.

The Lakeshore War Workers Club was rained out again last week but to prove that they are still doing things, even if they are not going places, they held a "telephone meeting" and decided to donate five dollars to the Greek War Relief Fund.

On Wednesday evening a good sized crowd gathered at the school and really seemed to enjoy the ball games and horse shoe pitching. The hot dogs and doughnuts the Ladies' Aid served disappeared like magic and we did not hear one wistful wish for ice cream and strawberries.

Mr. T. R. Murray and the boys attended the Feeders' Day recently held at the University of Alberta.

SCHOOL TRACK MEET WAS A SUCCESS

The annual school track meet for the schools within this area was held on Tuesday of this week. It had been previously rained out on two occasions. There were a large number of students in town from surrounding schools and before the day was far spent many were proudly wearing award ribbons.

The teaching staffs of the different schools were kept busy, supervising, starting, judging etc., and it is safe to say that at the close of the day, like the youngsters, they were both tired and happy.

Fire Alarm Now Easily Available

Until quite recently the town's fire alarm system was operated from the central telephone office. This can still be done but an additional fire alarm box has been installed at the doorway of the town hall. This will be more convenient during night hours, when, while telephone communication may be had with the operator, access to the building is prohibited. Thus those discovering a fire have the choice of telephoning in the alarm or streaking to the town hall and turning in the alarm themselves.

"TO THE VICTOR"

For Monday night's screen entertainment at the Variety the management have chosen "To the Victor." This is a film adaptation of the famous novel by Alfred Ollivant and promises to be unsurpassed screen entertainment. Humor and pathos, tragedy and triumph are all brought out as the story proceeds to a grand climax. Monday at 8:30 at the Variety.

McKENZIE

It looks as though we may have some sunny June days yet. We certainly hope that the "good weather" remain with us for awhile. At present, there seems to be enough moisture in the ground to last for quite a length of time.

We are sorry to report that Ronnie Googlein is in an Edmonton hospital with a bad foot. He stepped on a nail on Saturday. However, we all hope that Ronnie will get well soon and be able to return home in a very short time.

Ball playing and picnicing are getting well underway now. The McKenzie High School ball team have had quite a number of competition games this year. They have played several times against Tofield, once with Ross Creek and on Tuesday of last week they motored to Holden to play a challenge game. Although they were not able to bring home the Cup or Trophy, they played a splendid game. The score was 5-4 in favor of Holden.

On the way home on Tuesday evening the "gang" stopped at the Robinson home to spend an hour or so of fun and to have lunch.

A game between Holden and McKenzie was to have been played at the McKenzie grounds on Sunday but only part of the Holden team arrived. The car carrying the remainder of the team went out of order just after it left Holden.

The McKenzie Senior girls' ball team has also had several competition games.

To Trade Is Natural

To trade, to do business, to buy and sell is natural. As natural as breathing, eating, sleeping or walking. No race of humans are known to exist who do not buy, sell or trade to some extent. Even if one lived under a breadfruit tree in a tropical country there would still be something lacking—butter — and surplus breadfruit would probably be traded to somebody who possessed cows or goats, for butter.

This is no tropical country and there are certainly no breadfruit trees around, but there are quite a number of things that could be traded or sold. A used plow, tractor, binder or any other piece of farm equipment. Furniture too, or even clothing very often have resale value, often having done duty for their original owner. And then too, there is that extra horse in the pasture, cow in the barn, extra pigs in the sty or even chickens in the chicken house.

Somebody, somewhere, may be looking for any one of these things and the easiest, cheapest and most effective way to let people know they are for sale is through a CLASSIFIED WANT AD in the MERCURY.

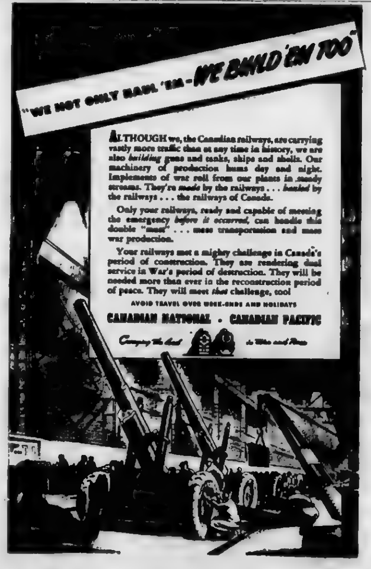
Seeds, Weeds and Services

The Line Elevators Association has completed germination tests on 11,000 samples of farmers' seed, an increase over last year of [illegible] 2,000. All samples have been tested twice, and many have had three tests. This means a total of more than 25,000 tests and, if you like big figures, 2,500,000 seeds! Not one complaint has ever reached this office.

Once, again, we take the liberty of reminding farmers that if they cannot identify all weeds on their farms, they may be making serious trouble for the future. Small patches of perennial weeds can be destroyed cheaply; but, later on, eradication may cost as much as the land is worth. It is only necessary to collect good specimens, including flowers and roots and take them to the nearest line elevator agent. He will forward them to us, and we will identify the weeds and indicate whether or not they are likely to be serious pests. Or, weeds may be sent to any Dominion Experimental Farm, Provincial Department of Agriculture or University. The importance of this matter cannot be over-stressed.

The Line Elevators' [illegible] "An Illustrated Guide to Prairie Weeds," is available through line elevator agents or by writing to the Agricultural Department, The North-West Line Elevators Association, Winnipeg.

It is now nearly four years since the Line Elevator Companies organized this Department to serve prairie farmers. Each succeeding year has brought increased demand for services and publications. [illegible] is an ample reward.



"WE NOT ONLY HAUL 'EM—WE BUILD 'EM TOO"

ALTHOUGH we, the Canadian railways, are carrying vastly more traffic than at any time in history, we are also building guns and tanks, ships and shells. Our machinery of production hums day and night. Implements of war roll from our plants in steady streams. They're made by the railways . . . hauled by the railways . . . the railways of Canada.

Only your railways, ready and capable of meeting the emergency before it occurred, can handle this double "must" . . . mass transportation and mass war production.

Your railways met a mighty challenge in Canada's period of construction. They are rendering dual service in War's period of destruction. They will be needed more than ever in the reconstruction period of peace. They will meet that challenge, too!

RUBBER STAMP MAIL—A Dispatch From the Farm—

By John Gould in the Christian Science Monitor

SINCE THE mail-order houses are essentially a part of rural life, it seems proper to report how they are making out under wartime difficulties. If the independent merchants, with their bare shelves, think they are having trouble—they will be heartened by a recital of mail-order activities. I have always "patronized home industry" as a matter of principle; but as a matter of getting things we need we are frequently required to trade by mail. Our local stores have some things, but some things they do not have.

One of our local storekeepers has become known as our "I'll-get-it-for-you" man. When he has been "fresh-out" of an item we need, he cheerfully and accommodatingly offers to get it for us. "I'll put it right on the book," he says. Then for weeks we drop in off and on and hear him say brightly, "Not in yet, expect it any moment." This entices us to shop by mail, because ordinarily we get what we want in a couple of days and we save a trip to town.

Since the gasoline famine, more and more rural folks have turned to mail ordering, and just as it was serving well, the service went all to pieces: What appears to have happened is this: The over-systemized system employed by the mail-order houses, when confronted with lack of certain merchandise now unavailable, has rubber stamped itself into a compromising position. One of their frequently used rubber stamps says the item is out of stock, and to please re-order in thirty days. This is the mail order way of saying "I'll get it for you," but in effect it throws the responsibility back on the customer and if he doesn't eventually get what he wants he is supposed to have nobody to blame but himself.

That rubber-stamping has become over-emphasized is shown by the recent instance when they told me my item was out of stock, and would I please re-order in thirty days? I needed it, and I sent the money right back the same day with a new order, and in two days I got what I wanted.

Another present day custom is to rubberstamp that only a portion of your order is being forwarded—the rest is unavailable. A friend of mine ordered a beehive and a swarm of bees and was somewhat surprised at this. The bees came but because of the shortage of lumber no hives were available. My friend chased around and found an old hive in somebody's attic, but he was more amused than indignant. Another friend recently bought a cultivator, and when it came it had no depth gauge wheel. He inquired, and they rubber stamped that the item is no longer available. He pointed out that a cultivator with no wheel is of small use, and said he wondered what kind of a thickhead handled the order. The company ignored his sarcasm, and rubber-stamped that he should re-order in thirty days. He next wrote that they could either send him the wheel or come and get the cultivator, and two days later the wheel came.

In ordinary times this might have ended the matter, but the next day he got a letter telling him how to go about returning the cultivator. This wasn't much different from the case of the saw-mill. A man near here wanted a saw-mill so much that he waded through the various boards, authorities, and committees and finally got all the papers ready and sent in his order.

The saw-mill came and the man set it up and sawed about fifty-thousand feet of boards. At this point a notice came from the company, asking him please go to the freight office and claim his merchandise. Not knowing that "merchandise" applies to saw-mills, he went down to the railroad to see what there was to astonish him, and their was another saw-mill. Lumber is a lucrative business these days, and while the idea of two mills had not occurred to him, he nevertheless took the second away with him, set it up, and sawed another field full of boards. Being an honest man, he sent the company another cheque, and a week later another saw mill came. The matter is pending settlement.

Our mail man tells us people order from one house, get something like bees with no hive, and switch to another firm. After they have made the rounds, they start in all over again. The rubber stamp system may be necessary, but it does not deliver the goods. Last time we ordered, we wrote, "If any of these items are unavailable, use your discretion in substituting." It was a $24.38 order, and we had some misgivings as to what would happen. Nothing happened. We got a box of milk filters, most of our money back, and a notice to re-order in thirty days.

I believe this month to month optimism has no bearing on the likely duration of the war. They have simply moved on into war-time conditions without laying in a new supply of rubber stamps. Our local storekeeper, however, is more straightforward with us. Instead of, "I'll get it for you," he now shrugs his shoulders and says, "Can't be had for love or money—just can't be had." He may not be always right, but he's saving everybody a lot of trouble.

Household Tip

SOME FACTS ABOUT WEEDS

The best time for a farmer to begin thinking of weeds is NOW. Winter dormancy is broken by the various weeds in many ways, according as they are annual, biennial or perennial in life duration.

Ordinarily an annual is a weed that germinates in spring, grows and reproduces before winter, and then dies or is killed by frost leaving its seed progeny to perpetuate it.

Fall cultivation helps except, for example, when a weed like wild oats refuses to be tempted to grow until after a period of rest. Fall ploughing, drainage, ridging up for winter and promptly harrowing all bare fields in spring all tend to start and dispose of annuals. Lightly harrowing spring grain not seeded to grass may also destroy annual mustards, Russian thistle, and other weeds of that kind. Hoed crops can also be useful.

Winter annuals differ in surviving the winter as seedlings, and may include some annuals favourably situated. With root system developed they are ready to outstrip spring operations and are soon too sturdy for easy up-rooting. They are early in bloom, stinkweed and shepherd's purse even going into the winter flowering at an inch or two in height.

Biennials start growth early enough to provide themselves with a stout reserve tap-root, and a sheltering rosette of leaves on the ground for the winter. Unless destroyed as seedlings in the fall, biennial weeds may have to be spudded or hand-pulled when the ground is soft the next year.

Perennial weeds, while also propagating by seed, maintain themselves chiefly by their root systems. No simple operation in fall or spring will suffice to kill the average perennial; it is usually best to let them spend themselves in preparation for seed production and then by timely cutting of hay or grain to prevent this. Ploughing before the plant can replenish its lost stores and then keeping it starved underground by cultivation is a good general rule, although dragging out to dry in the sun, or bodily removal, is an alternative for weeds like couch grass and dock.

For general principles of weed control, and for descriptions and illustrations of the more common weeds, the bulletin "Weeds and Weed Seeds", which can be obtained from Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, will be helpful. For information on recent experimental findings and how to identify unfamiliar weeds and particulars about their spread and habits, write to the Central Experimental Farm Ottawa.

PLANE FORCED DOWN

On Friday afternoon last a training plane was forced down just behind the school, and just before school let out. It was the biggest thrill the youngsters have had since the roof of the school was blown off. The airmen left in charge of the plane said they came over the field like an invading army in extended formation. The plane was forced down due to engine trouble.

The Country Fair

The wisdom of continuing agricultural exhibitions in wartime cannot be questioned so long as proper emphasis is placed on agricultural matters.

For several years, the exhibit of The North-West Line Elevators Association has been among the most popular features at B class fairs. We estimated that, in 1942, it attracted the attention of about 50,000 persons. It has always combined useful information with attractive appearance, and this year is no exception.

Food rationing has brought home to all of us the importance of agriculture in this war. Inefficiency in farm operations now means not only loss to the farmer, but it actually hinders progress in defeating our enemies. This has been kept in mind in designing the exhibit.

Through the generous co-operation of the Entomological Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, the exhibit includes a very interesting display concerned with warble flies. Specimens of damaged leather, figures on actual losses and control methods are included, and a new bulletin will be distributed.

The central part of the exhibit portrays the movement of food from the farm to the fighting forces, and one wing is devoted to emergency rations used in the army, navy and air force. Other features are weeds, soil erosion and 'sound' moving pictures.

We hope to welcome our readers at Swift Current (frontier celebration), Calgary, Regina, Yorkton, Melfort, Lloydminster, Vermilion, Vegreville, Red Deer, North Battleford and Prince Albert.

HELPING THE SALVATION ARMY

(Editorial, The Globe and Mail, Toronto, June 7th, 1943)

The election of Air Marshall W. A. Bishop, V.C., as chairman of the Salvation Army National Advisory Board to succeed the late Sir Edward Beatty, serves once more to show how the work of this great organization is appreciated by men of discernment in all walks. Sir Edward gave unstintingly of his time to assist the worthy cause. Air Marshall Bishop has been a member of the national and Ottawa advisory boards for years, and it is fitting that a distinguished soldier become national chairman.

In its early days the Salvation Army met violent opposition from both the ignorant and the intolerant but today it stands not only as a monument to the sincerity and energy of its leaders, but as evidence of the newer spirit of human brotherhood. It was launched primarily to lend a helping hand to the humbler folk who were treated so generally with disdain by the more fortunate. It took to them the text and spirit of the Gospel, and offered them the hospitality and companionship they could not find in the churches. Today the Salvation Army, still working on the fringe, and beyond, of church society, in a very large field, has won the admiration of all classes of people. It has carried on well a greatly needed crusade, and it is gratifying that the interest of able business men is readily enlisted in behalf of the cause so ardently pursued for humanity's sake.

SHORTAGE MILK CANS RECONDITION OLD ONES

Even if old, damaged or rusty, milk cans may be reconditioned and put into use again. Any farmer who doesn't need any milk cans he may have, may probably know other farmers who would be glad to get them.

The Used Goods Administrator, Wartime Prices and Trade Boards says that many discarded milk cans are again going into circulation after being retinned. Farmers can get the names of retinning companies from any creamery and advice on how to dispose of any surplus reconditioned milk cans. Milk cans are in short supply and due to the war new cans are difficult to get.

FARMERS Saving MONEY

Farmers and their families, today, are patriotically saving both money and materials—to provide for their continuing usefulness as suppliers of food to the United Nations, to provide for their own future financial independence AND to buy Victory Bonds and pay Income Taxes.

In common with other Canadians, farmers are carefully saving and salvaging EVERYTHING, because in this total "survival war" all things must be conserved, especially money. Determined, systematic saving by every citizen is part of the national price of VICTORY.

You have our co-operation through the services of Savings Accounts and Banking by Mail (which saves time of coming to town—saves gasoline and tires).

A Savings Account for every member of the family is a sound idea, especially in war times. Write for our folder, "How to Bank by Mail".

Your Income Tax....

MINISTER OF NATIONAL REVENUE CANADA

FELLOW CANADIAN

I would like to remind the two million taxpayers of Canada of their obligation to file a 1942 Income Tax Return before the 30th of June.

This year, the forms have been simplified so that they can be completed with a minimum of time and effort.

The Income Tax dollars that Canadians pay are necessary in our present struggle. They are an investment in our future peace and security. They are fighting dollars....Victory dollars.

Income Tax is fair to all, as each person is taxed in accordance with his ability to pay.

There is no easy way to win a war. Almost half the costs of this war must be paid by taxes. I know that the Income Tax is not a pleasant burden, but I also know that to win the war, Canadians are willing to fulfil their obligations...to pay the price and to shoulder their responsibilities with the same unbeatable spirit as shown by those who have gone from our shores to fight.

WEDDING

SWIFT — APPLEBY

Banked with ferns and gladioli, Central United Church in Calgary was the scene of a pretty evening wedding on June 12th when Florence Louise, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Appleby of Pinkham, became the bride of Mr. John Arthur Swift, second son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Swift of Tofield, Alberta.

Rev. C. A. Lawson officiated. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white brocaded taffeta and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. Her fingertip veil fell from a Mary Queen of Scots headdress. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Ann Swift, sister of the groom, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a turquoise sheer dress and carried a colonial bouquet of carnations and roses, and wore a hat to match.

P-O Alger was best man, and the ushers were Rex McMechin, and Albert Marcolm. Little Denny McJunkin, cousin of the bride, was ring [illegible]

Mrs. Appleby chose a beige crepe dress and carried a colonial bouquet for her daughter's wedding, and wore a corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. Swift wore a navy printed silk dress and wore a corsage of pink roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for fifty guests at the home of Mrs. F. W. McJunkin, aunt of the bride. Serviteurs were Misses Alice Green, Dorothy Alger, Isabelle Murdock, Bergit Dahl, and Hazel Stauffer.

P-O Alger proposed the toast to the bride which was suitably replied to by the groom.

The bride's table, covered with a lace cloth, was centred with a three tiered wedding cake embedded in nile green tulle and flanked by four pink tapers. The table was decorated with carnations and larkspur.

Telegrams of congratulations which were received were read by the best man. Miss Jean McArthur caught the bride's bouquet.

For going away the bride chose a grey crepe suit trimmed with platinum grey fur and wore blue and navy accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses and blue cornflower.

After a two week's honeymoon at Banff and the Pacific Coast, Mr. and Mrs. Swift will make their home in Calgary.

Out of [illegible] included: Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Swift, Tofield; Miss Anne Swift, Tofield, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Swift, Leslieville.

Speaking for myself, my plot is private property and I intend to protect it as such.

The Council may feel that they can [illegible] as they like with the plots still belonging to the Cemetery Association but if due to their carelessness a fire sweeps over the graves of our family they become liable for damages [illegible] and for the desecration [illegible] what [illegible]

Constable Woods, R.C.M.P. investigated for Mrs. Swinton because of my absence at the time of the fire. He informed her that the fire was set by Mr. Stinson who accompanied by Mr. T. Walington had gone out to tidy the place up. They had no license to set a fire, there was no 20 ft. fire guard as required by law, neither had they any water nor a number of persons enabling them to control said fire at all times. The day was windy and no sooner was the grass lit than the fire was out of control.

What has been done cannot be undone but it is quite within the power of those in charge to give reasonable assurance that such a method shall not be used again.

Upon this point future action depends, if the Council formulate some set policy of care and upkeep for the Cemetery [illegible] will gladly co-operate but unless definite assurance is given that never again will fire be set within the cemetery, unless proper precautions have been taken to keep the fire under control, such actions my solicitor may suggest will be taken.

Yours truly,
W. F. H. SWINTON

STAMP OUT THE U-BOATS

A new campaign to increase the sale of War Savings Stamps and Certificates is now underway. As everyone knows one of the United Nations greatest hazards is the U-Boat campaign in the Atlantic. Anti-submarine methods are numerous but probably the depth charge is the best known and feared by the German underwater craft.

Citizens are urged to buy stamps and certificates to the limit of their ability. Every ninety dollars loaned to the government means another depth charge can be purchased with the possibility of another U boat being destroyed. Certificates may be purchased at banks, post offices, and some other places of business.

The "Miss Canadas" will play an important part in this campaign and there is also a war stamp selling competition planned for schools.

HOW LONG WILL THE WAR LAST?—

HOW LONG WILL the war last? is not such an important question as to how one can assist in it being won by the United Nations. Even so there are thousands and thousands of mothers, wives and sweethearts, to say nothing of the millions of men engaged who would give a lot to know when peace will reign again. Therefore it is very interesting, (even though the information by its very nature cannot be authoritive) to learn what military men close to the scene of conflict and newspapermen who have toured Sweden and gone the rounds of inspection of a number of military and store depots in England think about it. Quite recently, after dinner, somewhere in England, fourteen military men who are saddled with much responsibility and a lesser number of newspaper men committed their beliefs as to when the war would end, to paper. The result was astonishingly unanimous. There were differences of opinion but they were of such a minor nature as to increase the importance of the opinion of the majority. It started like this. One of the military Colonels in the group said "When do you newspaper chaps think Germany will be defeated?" As a reply the same question was tossed back to the Colonel by the newspaper men. The result of this was that the Colonel reached for some paper and a secret ballot was held as to when the war would end. Down the centre of each slip of paper a line was drawn, one side being marked 1943 and the other side being marked 1944, and each voter was to write the month he thought the war would end in either the 1943 or 1944 column. Newspaper votes and military votes were kept separate, one being marked with an M the other with an N. Seven of the 14 officers voted for November 1944 as the date Germany would be defeated; two more fixed the date within the last three months of 1944. The other five voted the defeat of Germany in the last quarter of 1943. The average for the military group, obtained by adding all the monthly figures and dividing by the number of ballots, fixed the "concensus" as July 1944. It is very interesting to note that the majority did see the Nazi finish in the last quarter of 1944.

Of the four newspaper men and one military public relations officer who voted with the newspaper men, two voted November 1944 and one voted October 1944. The other two newspaper men voted for the fall of 1943, but again, it is quite interesting to note that the average for the 14 military voters and the average of the five newspaper voters hit the same month in the same year, namely, July 1944.

Too much emphasis should not be placed in the above incident, yet to the average man on the street and especially to the average man on the farm here, the incident is not without its degree of importance. With the exception of men in the high war councils, the men who voted had a back ground of knowledge above that of the ordinary individual. The vote was an expression of opinion in the light of knowledge gained up to the time the vote was taken which was not so very long ago. But this has been a war of surprises and anything may happen to change even these voters opinions. Even so the last quarter of 1944 does not seem such a long way off, and even though the intervening months may be fraught with trial and triumph for the United Nations there is a ray of hope, even though dim, that the end of the war is actually in sight.

CEMETERY MATTERS—

THOSE OF OUR readers who read the letter written by Mr. J. W. Cookson in a recent issue of the Mercury, referring to a fire in the cemetery, and the report of the Town Council meeting appearing last week, and also those who will read Mr. Swinton's letter in this week's issue, will probably begin to wonder what it is all about. Some time ago Mr. Stinson and Mr. Wallington voluntarily went out to the cemetery with the object of improving its appearance. The method used was to burn off some of the high grass, but unfortunately the fire got beyond control and did damage to sacred private property. While the method used for improvement is certainly open to question, the motive behind it isn't. Due to the absence of any organized improvement effort, voluntary or otherwise, these men went out, and no doubt regret the result as much as anyone else.

We feel that we should explain that the item as published last week was not exactly as it appeared in the minutes. The item as it appeared in the minutes seemed to us possible of mininterpretation, so we added a sentence to clarify this, but while we may have clarified the item in one sense, we befogged it in another. It is quite true that Mr. Swinton in his letter to Town Council did not claim damages, and as for us, when we wrote of "damage being made good", money was farthest from our thoughts. What Mr. Swinton asked for was the assurance that the same thing, which has happened previously, would not happen again. This was a reasonable request.

The cemetery is a sacred place and should not be allowed to become covered with the weeds and grass of neglect. While each plot is private property, the walks and pathways must of necessity remain public property. As such they should be a public charge.. In many places there is a cemetery association, whose purpose is to keep the cemetery tidy and neat. Generally a society of this kind is composed of those who have loved ones lying there, but anyone with a sense of public duty and a desire to assist in keeping God's acre well cared for should be eligible. We believe there is a cemetery association at Bardo and at one time there was one here.

But whether undertaken by private enterprise or performed as a public responsibility, there is no question that an improvement in the method of caring for the cemetery plot is desirable.

M.D. OF BEAVER COUNCIL MEETING

A meeting of the Council of the M.D. of Beaver was held at the District's office at Ryley on Saturday last. The meeting was called to arrange for a division of the assets and liabilities between M.D. of Beaver and municipal districts, a portion of whose territory was included in the M.D. of Beaver set up. Members of other councils were present, but negotiations were not completed

Iron and Steel

The Canadian public knows, and admires, the successful struggle against food shortages in which prairie farmers have been, and still [illegible].

Few people, however, know that but for the patriotism of farmers in the west, some steel mills in the east might have been unable to carry on last winter. About the 1st of July, 1942, a system for collecting scrap iron and steel by country elevator agents was organized. All elevator systems have been engaged in the work. Thanks to the willing response of farmers and the enterprise of elevator agents, 3,200 cars of scrap have been shipped with a total of about 130,000 tons of metal.

40,000 tons remain in dumps at various shipping points. This is because it has been necessary, until recently, to assemble at least 25 tons at a point before loading. Now, however, two stop-overs are allowed in order to make up a carload and, as a result, the local piles of less than carload lots will soon disappear.

This is no time to relax, because the need for scrap iron and steel is urgent. It is estimated that 65,000 tons are still available on farms. The importance of getting this delivered and shipped is very great. Farmers will be paid $7.00 per ton for scrap delivered to local elevator purchasing agents. Heavy stuff, such as steam engines, heavy tractors, etc., is worth $4.50 per ton on the farm. It will be cut up and removed by the cutter crew. Any farmer having heavy scrap which requires the cutter crew should immediately notify the elevator purchasing agent.

The government has publicly acknowledged the achievements of farmers and elevator agents—but requires more scrap urgently. To delay is to postpone final victory.

To Trade Is Natural

To trade, to do business, to buy and sell is natural. As natural as breathing, eating, sleeping or walking. No race of humans are known to exist who do not buy, sell or trade to some extent. Even if one lived under a breadfruit tree in a tropical country there would still be something lacking—butter —— and surplus breadfruit would probably be traded to somebody who possessed cows or goats, for butter.

This is no tropical country and there are certainly no breadfruit trees around, but there are quite a number of things that could be traded or sold. A used plow, tractor, binder or any other piece of farm equipment. Furniture too, or even clothing very often have resale value, often having done duty for their original owner. And then too, there is that extra horse in the pasture, cow in the barn, extra pigs in the sty or even chickens in the chicken house.

Somebody, somewhere, may be looking for any one of these things and the easiest, cheapest and most effective way to let people know they are for sale is through a CLASSIFIED WANT AD in the MERCURY.

Crews of the Canadian National liners Prince George and Prince Rupert have little time ashore during the season, so the company established school on board ship for instruction in first aid.

The taller the man, the longer the shovel handle. Thirty per cent of the square mouth shovels issued to Canadian National trackmen this year will have handles 28 inches long. These are for the tall men. The balance will be two inches shorter. Experiment has proved that the extra two inches for tall men reduces labor and defers fatigue.

YOUTHS AT SCHOOL ARE NOT AFFECTED BY LABOR DECREE

Ottawa, June 23th.—Extension of compulsory transfer regulations to youths 16, 17 and 18 years old will in no way interfere with their education, labor department officials said yesterday.

Under the new order, announced in the house of commons Wednesday by Labor Minister Mitchell, youths of these ages who are not attending school may be required to take certain jobs but none will be taken out of schools or colleges.

It is expected many of them will be used in relieving farm labor shortages in farming and cutting of fuel wood, and to replace men transferred out of the less essential jobs.

Details of the plan for using these young workers have not been worked out but officials said care would be taken to prevent them being directed to jobs distant from their homes.

BREWING INDUSTRY OF ALBERTA

51,321 individual shareholders own Canada's Chartered Banks. The average holding is 28 shares. Most of these shareholders are Canadians.

The wide distribution of bank ownership is indicated by the fact that 36,574 individuals, living in all parts of Canada, hold shares in the Chartered Banks of Canada. Of the remaining shareholders, 8,987 live elsewhere in the British Empire.

Some further facts about Canada's Banks:

There are 4,369,740 savings deposit accounts in the Chartered Banks of Canada, averaging $391 each. Safeguarding the funds of depositors is a primary function of commercial banking. Banks keep themselves in such a position that anybody going to the bank to withdraw his savings can get his money. Banks, like any other business, exist because they provide service which a community needs and is willing to pay for at a rate which will yield a reasonable return.

Every day, bank loans are helping Canadians in all walks of life and in all parts of Canada to profit from their individual enterprise and industry.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, BOSTON, MASS., JUNE 7th, 1943

Boston, Mass., June 7.—The Christian Science Board of Directors today placed "prayer" at the top of the list of defensive and offensive weapons that free-thinking peoples are counting upon to win the global war against oppression and suppression.

In a statement to the annual meeting of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, the Directors first emphasized the word "prayer," then followed with the term "miracle of deliverance" which is to be accepted, they said, as the logical answer to righteous prayer.

Thus, deliverance from the hand of the oppressor was seen by the Directors to be no miracle at all, but rather a simple witnessing to the fact that power springs from the prayer of understanding.

"A praying people can never suffer defeat," summarized the Directors' remarks to several thousand Christian Scientists assembled in The Mother Church.

WEDDING

GEORGE—HAUGEN

On June 30th a very interesting wedding was solemnized at the Manse in Ryley by Rev. A. M. Vinge, when Clara Evelyn, fourth eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Haugen of Tofield, was united in marriage to Pte. Douglas Earl, second eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. S. George of the Ministik community. The groom's attendant was his brother Walter of the R.C.A.F. now stationed in Macleod, and attending the bride was her sister Lilly who wore a brown and beige rose with matching accessories. The bride wore a navy tailored suit with matching accessories.

The young couple are well known in the surrounding districts and a host of friends wish them a happy and prosperous life.

SPORTS DAY GOES OVER BIG

Glorious weather, a happy crowd, plenty of attractions, all combined to make the 1943 Red Cross Sports Day a real success

There were also ladies soft ball games, a resume of which will be given next week.

Foot races, games and the attractions of the refreshment booth all added to the day's enjoyment.

In the evening the usual dance was held at which a large crowd attended. The Tofield orchestra played for the dance and it was not until well into the morning of the 2nd of July that the last weary celebrant went home.

(By Frank Johnsrud)

The baseball events at the annual Red Cross Day were interesting. A draw was made prior to the first game and the old rivals, Tofield and Dodds were drawn for the first game. Dodds with their strong aggregation looked like sure winners, but Tofield were not demoralized and played like demons to win 3-1. The game was close and Pte. Leonard Stauffer with his stylish curve ball was a little too good for the Dodds men. Nelson also pitched a very good game for Dodds. The batteries were: Dodds, Nelson and H. Hjelter; for Tofield, Stauffer and Johnsrud.

The second game featured a free hitting contest between Ohaton and McKenzie, Ohaton finally winning 8-4. A few errors were the cause of McKenzie's downfall. Tiny Middlestadt hurled for Ohaton and also hit a tremendous home run. Tiny who carries over three hundred pounds was nearly exhausted when he made the round trip. The batteries were for Ohaton, Middlestadt and Waugh; for McKenzie, Donald, Phillips and Jess Jones

The final game featured Ohaton and Tofield. This was an exciting slugging contest which had the score looking different every inning. Tofield had the better of things up to the sixth inning when Bert Lokken who had hurled masterfully up to then, showed signs of tiring. Then Ohaton started evening things up and the score was deadlocked at 8-8 at the end of the seventh. However, Stauffer again came to the rescue and Tofield went on to collect five more runs in the last two frames making the final score 13-8. The local boys looked rather stiff and weary after the last game but the smiles on their faces will show a long time.

The batteries for Ohaton were: Swanson, Gillespie, Nivens and Waugh, Nivens, Swanson. For Tofield: Lokken, Cunningham, Stauffer and Johnsrud

The whole Tofield team looked well on the day's play and for the interest of those who did not see the games, here is a list of the local players, most of them hailing from Bardo. Infielders were: Warner, Sears, Jack Lerbekmo, Stauffer and Lokken; outfielders were the Anderson Brothers, Cunningham, Schmeltzer and Julious Lerbekmo. Doing the catching, "believe it or not?" Johnsrud.

BARDO

Bardo's Annual Sports Day will be held on Friday, July 9th, on Alf Moen's farm, half mile south of Bardo School. Baseball, Softball, Horseshoe and races. Hot dog stand and refreshment booth on the grounds. Proceeds for the Red Cross.

[illegible] presented the happy couple with a purse of silver and many lovely gifts. Refreshments were served by the ladies.

DEVILLE

An air mail letter, from Air Ministry, London, Eng. dated June 8th has been received by Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Dunn, stating no further information of their son, Sgt. Francis A. Dunn had been received. He was Flight Engineer of a Halifax bomber which failed to return to base after an attack over enemy territory.

In a recent letter, he wrote he had been on ten successful operational flights, and was about to leave for the eleventh.

Since the above was written Mr. and Mrs. Dunn received a telegram saying that word had been received from Germany via International Red Cross of Sgt. Francis A. Dunn, and that he is to be considered missing, believed killed.

The Canadian Army and the Royal Canadian Air Force, co-operating with other United Nations Air Forces, have forged a mighty link in the war-time bomber route which joins the rugged Labrador coast to embattled Britain. The Canadian-built outpost at Goose Bay is one of the world's largest and most important air bases. The combined air forces operate the air line taking the vital ships to battle zones. Canadian Army units guard the area and Canadian construction gangs enlarge and maintain the outpost facilities. Mighty bombers are readied for the trip to Britain by the Royal Air Force Training Command. Runways going into the distance are 6,000 feet long.

In the Sunday School, C.G.I.T., Ladies' Curling Club and almost every other ladies organization, Miss McCrea was an energetic and willing worker, and it was with genuine regret that word of her resignation was received.

LAKESHORE

At a meeting of the War Workers' Club it was decided to send cigarettes to the local boys overseas and as the club is financially embarrassed each member will donate 50c. towards paying for the cigarettes. There are hardly enough members to pay the full cost so they are counting on the generosity of the men and women outside the club. This donation will go entirely for the comforts for the boys of the Lakeshore and McKenzie district and will not be put to any other charitable uses. The club members feel that a number of people will be interested and will be glad to prove their interest by donating to the fund.

Among Lake Shore people on their various ways to the coast or who are planning to be on their way soon are Mrs. T. A. Jones, Rita Eaton and R. C. Phillips.

Both the bride and groom responded in turn to the presentation and thanked their friends for the gift and the kind thoughtfulness shown them. To Trade Is Natural
To trade, to do business, to buy and sell is natural. As natural as breathing, eating, sleeping or walking. No race of humans are known to exist who do not buy, sell or trade to some extent. Even if one lived under a breadfruit tree in a tropical country there would still be something lacking—butter — and surplus breadfruit would probably be traded to somebody who possessed cows or goats, for butter.
This is no tropical country and there are certainly no breadfruit trees around, but there are quite a number of things that could be traded or sold. A used plow, tractor, binder or any other piece of farm equipment. Furniture too, or even clothing very often have resale value, often having done duty for their original owner. And then too, there is that extra horse in the pasture, cow in the barn, extra pigs in the sty or even chickens in the chicken house.
Somebody, somewhere, may be looking for any one of these things and the easiest, cheapest and most effective way to let people know they are for sale is through a CLASSIFIED WANT AD in the MERCURY.

SEEDTIME and HARVEST

Pests—and a Reminder

Practically every plant, wild or cultivated, is subject to fungus and insect attack. 100% health is as rare in plants as it is in men.

When introducing new crops, we usually have a good idea of the diseases and insects which may cause trouble, but we cannot forecast the severity of attacks. Furthermore, control measures practised elsewhere may not be practicable or effective in our own region.

This year, we are concentrating a good deal of attention on oil crops: notably flax, sunflowers, Argentine rape and soybeans. The Dominion Entomological Laboratory at Brandon is anxious to secure all possible information on insects found on the above crops. Growers of these crops are urged to be on the lookout, especially for flea beetles (on rape) and the sunflower moth. Please send specimens and report infestations to Dr. Bird at the Brandon Laboratory.

Send disease specimens to the Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology at Edmonton, Saskatoon or Winnipeg.

Cut Sawfly Traps

Dr. C. W. Farstad has prepared the following paragraph and asked us to give it all possible publicity: "Quite a number of farmers throughout the west have made a start toward a systematic plan for controlling wheat stem sawfly by planting traps. After having established a trap, and the sawflies have laid their eggs, the next step is to complete the destruction of the grubs in the stem. This can be accomplished by cutting the trap with a mower about July 10th, or simply by cutting it with the binder and cultivating the stubble immediately afterward.".

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

Many farmers are growing either Registered or Certified crops for seed, [illegible] wish to have their crops inspected in the field in order to know authoritatively whether their crops are true-to-variety.

Those who desire to have their fields of grain or forage crops inspected must make an application for such inspection to the Production Service, Plant Products Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, at either Calgary, Saskatoon or Winnipeg. The application must be made on a proper form, supplied for the purpose by the Plant Products Division, and the form must be filled in and returned to the Plant Products Division before July 1st.

Those who are having fields inspected would do well to run a mower around their Registered or Certified crop so as to have a clear alleyway or lane, some four feet wide around the growing registered or Certified field.

Fields will not necessarily pass inspection simply because they have been sown with registered or Certified seed. Work must be done on them. The seed grower or farmer should walk through the field at heading time and pull out by the roots plants of weeds or of other grains or off-types which obviously do not belong in the crop.

HOLD HIGH THE TORCH OF FREEDOM
FARMERS Saving MONEY
Farmers and their families, today, are patriotically saving both money and materials—to provide for their continuing usefulness as suppliers of food to the United Nations, to provide for their own future financial independence AND to buy Victory Bonds and pay Income Taxes.
In common with other Canadians, farmers are carefully saving and salvaging EVERYTHING, because in this total "survival war" all things must be conserved, especially money. Determined, systematic saving by every citizen is part of the national price of VICTORY.

"PRINT-DRUNK"—

SCANNING OVER the editorial pages of a number of newspapers, we ran across the following paragraph which, in addition to possessing originality, contains much that is true. The paragraph is by Rebecca West and she was writing about the Hoover-Gibson book, "The Problems of Lasting Peace." Here is the paragraph:

> I sometimes wonder if the extent to which we read has not destroyed our power of reading. We read all the time: newspapers, advertisements, the directions on the packet, text-books, business letters. We read so much that our eyes get blunt, they no longer see the form of sentences or the content, we peer at the nouns and guess at the trend of argument they indicate, and fabricate a picture of the book on that and what we know of the writer. Thus we build round ourselves a mental world as hypothetical and dangerous as the material world of the blind ......
> I perceive that in America also there is a reading public that is print-drunk as pugilists are punch-drunk, book-happy as pugilists are slap-happy.

There is no doubt that a continual stream of printing, and for that matter radio and platform addresses, will in time wear one down to the point where perception is dulled and the full import of printed and spoken messages are never fully appreciated. In these times, perhaps more than ever before, there are a hundred and one ideas, movements, grievances, all clamoring for public attention. Some of them are worthy of deep thought and attention, others not so worthy, but whatever their worth may be, it is impossible for the individual to appraise them, unless proper attention, sometimes study, is given to them. This requires mental effort and time which long continued, brings about the mental condition complained of in the above paragraph.

There is however, another side to this. It is by using one's muscles that they become hardened. It is by using one's brain that it becomes receptive as regards messages received and vigorous as regards ideas given out. To have either muscles or brain continually in a condition of rest, would be worse than the "print-drunk" condition described by the writer. We are inclined to the belief it is quantity as pitted against quality in regard to reading matter, which brings about a condition which might better be described as mental unawareness.

To suggest a remedy would be presumptious. A piece of printed matter, a radio message, a platform address reaches many minds. By some it is received with avidity, by others with keen interest, and by others with cool indifference. One can only measure its effect in the mass, individually no two persons receive a message with the same degree of fervor, interest or even dislike. Some minds, no doubt, would be "print-drunk"; but the great majority who took time out to read or listen, could if they would, bring all their mental faculties to bear upon the message.

The problem (if there is a problem) of "print-drunk" minds could perhaps be solved best by discrimination. To be able to pick the wheat from the chaff of current thought is no easy matter, but one should have definite beliefs as to what constitute good reading and what does not. In picking and choosing it is unlikely that any one individual would be right all the time, but it would be better to be occasionally wrong than to mechanically acquiese in the subject matter of every piece of literature one reads. "Print-drunk" may or may not be a common malady, but ceasing to read is not likely to improve matters. More discrimination as to what is read, and in the reading of it, might.

MALTA—

IN THE MONTH of June 1939 it seemed as if the whole population of Northern Alberta had assembled in Edmonton to welcome their Majesties King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth. Therefore, with this pleasant memory as a background, northern and central Alberta residents will learn with more than passing interest of a recent visit to Malta of His Majesty the King. Malta lies directly south of Sicily and has gained the reputation of being the most bombed island in the world. Stragetically located as far as the control of the Mediterranean is concerned, Axis aviators have kept up an almost incessant bombing for months and months. Now that North Africa is in Allied hands and the Mediterranean sea is "open for traffic," it was enthusiastically fitting that His Majesty should be able to visit the little isle by sea. The purpose of His Majesty's visit to the island, while the grimmest of all wars is in progress, was to bestow upon the people of the island as a whole, the George Cross. This is the equivalent of a civilian Victoria Cross and was in recognition of the wonderful and courageous behavior of the people of the island during its many months of bombardment. There was courage too, in the visit of His Majesty, as a little more than 60 miles away was the island of Sicily, upon which were large squadrons of both the German and Italian Air Force.

Normally the people of Malta are not given to cheering, generally expressing appreciation in hand clapping, but on this occasion all reserve was thrown to the winds and the arrival of His Majesty's ship was greeted with a spontaneous roar from overjoyed human throats.

SEEKING OF FARM PROSPERITY

Western Canada will be gratified with the interest being shown in Parliament in the proposals which have been advocated since 1936 by the Line Elevator Companies for more intensive scientific research in developing industrial uses for farm products. The Line Elevator Companies have all along contended that greater farm prosperity would result from expanding markets through finding new uses for wheat and other farm products. In 1938 and 1939 a representative of the Line Companies visited the principal research laboratories of the United States and reported great possibilities for utilizing large quantities of wheat in the manufacture of alcohol and starches. This information was made available at that time to the Dominion Government and the Chemurgic Committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. The weekly newspapers of the Prairie Provinces joined with the North-West Line Elevators Association in urging the Government to establish a Western division of the National Research Council and to erect plants for the manufacture of industrial alcohol from wheat. All beverage alcohol plants in Canada and the United States have since been converted to the use of wheat for the manufacture of industrial alcohol for war purposes. This year Canada will use 7,000,000 bushels of wheat in the manufacture of alcohol and proportionately larger quantities will be used in the United States.

Parliament a few days ago witnessed a unanimous demand from Liberal, Progressive Conservative, C.C.F. and New Democracy members for the government to appropriate $500,000 this year to intensify scientific research for development of industrial uses for farm crops and thereby add to the prosperity of agriculture. Farm organizations, the Governments of Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Pool Elevator Companies, Industrial Development Boards and various Boards of Trade in recent months have all added their voice to the need for action.

It is gratifying to the Weekly Newspapers to find that the consistent support which they have given the Line Elevator Companies' proposals during the past five years is bringing about a united demand from all sections of the country for action by the Dominion Government. It is hoped that steps will be taken during the present session of Parliament to appropriate sufficient funds to establish a Western division of the National Research Council. This laboratory should be dedicated to bringing about greater farm prosperity through development of additional Western farm crops and new industrial uses for crops now being grown. The laboratory should also seek economic means of using wheat instead of petroleum in the manufacture of synthetic rubber.

FACTS ABOUT WEEDS

By the time that a weed attracts enough notice to be taken seriously it is often so well established that it defies eradication. Over forty years ago Russian knapweed began coming into North America as an impurity in Turkestan alfalfa seed. Its characteristic white seeds readily betrayed it and the strongly perennial character of its root was recognized, but the risk was taken for an extended period because the seed was serving to [illegible] a wider use of this valuable crop and was proving profitable to the seed trade. It was not until about 1932, that importation of Turkestan alfalfa to Canada was banned.

By 1928 infestations of Russian knapweed began to be reported to the Division of Botany, Ottawa, and it is now clear that these years of almost unhindered entrance for the seed proved serious. About 1907 a greater degree of alarm was aroused for a time over another weed arriving with knapweed, known as rocket. It resembled wild mustard but failed to become naturalized as knapweed has done.

But these two were not the only weeds being given free passage all over the continent. For fifteen years at least two new hoary cresses (not recognized until 1939 to be distinct from another long known in Canada) have been spreading in the Peace River district. All three are now firmly established in many places in the West, and one in the East, to say nothing of undetermined numbers still to be disclosed. Their seeds, while detected, were not so distinctive as to attract the attention received by knapweed.

An Atriplex from four stations in British Columbia and a Bassia from four (two of them the same stations) were likewise traced to the same source. Others of the recently noticed weeds of Russian extraction, and doubtless some still awaiting detection, can be assumed to be part of the same unwelcome legacy. Only time will reveal the full extent of the mischief traceable to this one incident.

THE GREAT NEED TO CRY

(Contributed)

"The cry of the children of Israel is come unto Me." (Exodus 3:9) A young lieutenant in the United States Army on some far-off battle sylvania. "Prayer is going to win this war. Not guns alone. Fervent, agonizing prayer. Pray, oh, pray as you never prayed before. Tell everyone to pray. Tell all America to go to its knees. Before each decisive victory anywhere over here, sometimes for hours, sometimes for days, there has been a feeling of people praying from far away. The feeling is so strong you can hear it. One of the most stubborn of men said, in the stillness of the night, 'Did you hear anything? Sounded like people praying from some distant place.' Again I plead, tell America to pray. This war will not end until nations and people have paid in blood and tears for thrusting God out of their hearts and countries. And tell them to send bibles and more bibles. And you complacent, bridge-playing, cock-tail drinking mother why didn't you teach your son about God instead of handing him a cigarette, and a dance program? Get to your knees and ask God to forgive your sins. And then pray for the Army. Pray, pray, pray. Only repentance for sins can stop the shelling, the killing, and the murdering. So tell them to keep on praying."—From the Waynesburg, (Pa.) Republican and printed in the Sunday School Times.

HINTS ON TURKEY RAISING

(Experimental Farm News)

Turkey poult mortality, especially during the first month, robs turkey raisers of many hundreds of thousands of dollars annually. Much of this could be prevented by strict sanitation and disease control measures during the brooding period, says R. M. Blakely, Dominion Experimental Station, Swift Current, Sask.

Every piece of equipment with which the young turkeys come in contact should be swept, scraped and scrubbed clean before it is used. One can of lye to 10 to 15 gallons of scalding water makes an excellent cleaning and disinfecting solution. This same careful attention to sanitation should be maintained throughout the brooding period. Feeders and waterers should be plentiful and should be washed daily. Litter in the brooder house should be changed often enough to keep it dry. Ventilation should not be overlooked.

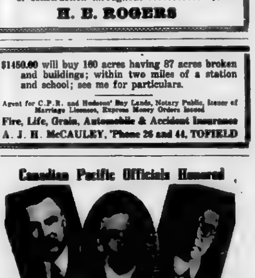
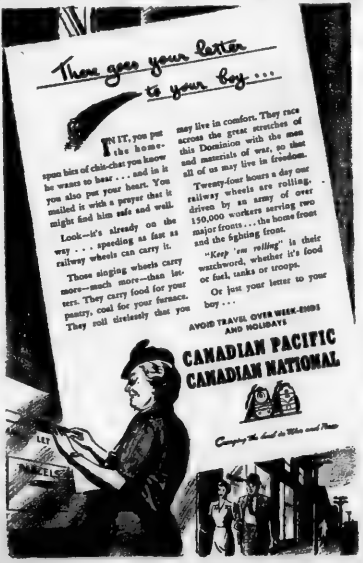
Canadian Pacific Officials Honored



OUTSTANDING contributions to the war effort of the United Nations by Canadian Pacific officials both in Government and in company service are given deserved recognition in the civilian division of the recent honors list when four were made officers of the Order of the British Empire, and one a member of the Order.

Those receiving the O.B.E. were: George Hodge, manager, Department of Personnel, and at Ottawa serving as a member of the National Labor Board Committee, representing employers, John Eaton, assistant general purchasing agent and on leave of absence, serving at Ottawa as Director General, General Purchasing Branch, Department of Munitions and Supply; A. Hector Cadieux, Montreal, acting chief, Department of Investigation and C.R. (Peter) Troup, Montreal, general supervisor, Canadian Pacific Air Lines, air observer schools operated in conjunction with the Air Training Plan. The M.B.E. was awarded W. A. Newman, Montreal, chief mechanical engineer and serving the Allied cause as President of Federal Aircraft Limited. Pictured left to right, top row, W. A. Newman, George Hodge and John Eaton. Bottom row, A. Hector Cadieux and C. R. Troup.



There goes your letter to your boy . . .

IN IT, you put the homespun bits of chit-chat you know he wants to hear . . . and in it you also put your heart. You mailed it with a prayer that it might find him safe and well.

Look—it's already on the way . . . speeding as fast as railway wheels can carry it.

Those singing wheels carry more—much more—than letters. They carry food for your pantry, coal for your furnace. They roll tirelessly that you may live in comfort. They race across the great stretches of this Dominion with the men and materials of war, so that all of us may live in freedom.

Twenty-four hours a day our railway wheels are rolling, driven by an army of over 150,000 workers serving two major fronts . . . the home front and the fighting front.

"Keep 'em rolling" is their watchword, whether it's food or fuel, tanks or troops.

Or just your letter to your boy . . .

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the Kingman Lutheran Church on June 11th, at 8:00 p.m. when Ruth Evangeline, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Skogness of Bardo, was united in marriage to Gnr. Richard Adolph Lyseng son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Lyseng of Armena. The ceremony was performed by Rev. P. Peterson of Tofield.

Entering the church on her father's arm, the bride looked charming in a slipper length gown of pink sheer, with a white veil, and a Coronet of flowers. She carried a white Bible, with a spray of flowers.

The bride's attendant was Mrs. Oscar Skogness, sister of the groom, as matron of honor, who wore a gown of pale green sheer and carried a bouquet of sweetpeas and ferns.

The groom was supported by his brother Arthur Lyseng. The wedding marches were played by Mrs. Geo. Hendrickson and while the register was being signed, Rev. Allan of Camrose sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The church was beautifully decorated with pink and white streamers with lilacs. The marriage vows were exchanged under an arch of lilacs. After the ceremony a reception was held at the Skogness home. The guests included relatives and intimate friends. The bride's table centred with a three tiered wedding cake. COMMUNICATION

ORANGES, LEMONS, DATES, OH BOY

Editor's Note:—The following is taken from a letter from L.A.C. Dorsey Letourneau to his mother. Dorsey is with the air crew in the air force and spent quite a few months on the Atlantic Coast and in England. At the time of writing the letter he was in Algiers.

Anyway, I have arrived here safely and am fit as can be. We had a comparatively quiet crossing. We were on the boat quite a while and were all very glad to put feet on shore again.

Our first glimpse of this land was a very pleasing one. The place where we landed is a lovely city. Their architecture is years ahead of anything that I had seen. There are lots of apartments all built of concrete and plastered over and colored. There are all kinds of small balconies and lots of windows. They must be very nice inside. The street cars have no windows, are double-deckers and three are hooked together. The mosques are very pretty with their tall spires and minarets. They all seem to be built on hills overlooking the surrounding area.

We spent most of our time coming over noting the changes in the color of the water. The Med. is the bluest blue that you ever saw. The sunsets just take your breath away. One evening the sun was just above the horizon. The light blue of the ocean blending into the red glow of the sun and going higher up to a light pink, and there were two brilliant stars just above where the sun disappeared. I'm not very poetic but it sure looked beautiful to me.

Gibraltar is quite a sight and we sure appreciated the sight of twinkling lights in Spain.

When we disembarked we marched five miles in the hottest sun I had ever been in and on a kind of cobble-stone road. We just carried our skeleton web but with the ammunition clips for our submachine guns and the guns, also two small suit cases. I was plenty tired when we arrived at a camp on the sand dunes. We just had a bite to eat there, turned around and marched about half-way back to the dock to a station where we thankfully entrained. We made the rest of the trip in darkness and walked three kilometres to where we are now. We arrived in the night and our cooks whipped up a lunch, and I never appreciated anything more. We slept on a concrete floor on our blankets, but everyone was so tired that even it was welcome. Even our officers did the same amount of walking as we did and slept in the same place.

We have things fixed up a bit now and are more comfortable. We awoke in the morning to find ourselves in a little paradise. We are on the largest farm in Algeria, and it is really big. In peacetime they had 1200 employees. Behind us is a range of mountains, covered halfway up by fruit groves. All around us are orange, lemon, plum, olive and "neuef" orchards. The "neuefs" look like a small pear and taste like an orange and apricot combined. They have a thick skin which is peeled off and a large double nut. Besides that there are all kinds of figs and dates and fresh vegetables. So you can imagine what our meals are like. Our cooks haven't much equipment to work with but they are doing a swell job.

Most of the resident families are French and the laborers Arab. We can buy all kinds of fresh eggs from them at three francs each, about seven cents. So we are making up for the lack of them that we had in England. The French people are very friendly, especially as most of our boys parlez-vous and the languages are very similar. I can buy anything I want, know the money fairly well, and can say a few words. But if we are here for long I think I shall soon pick it up.

We are just here for a rest, do a bit of cleaning up and marching to get toughened up, swim in the pool and eat and sleep. It is a welcome rest after the way we worked in England but I expect it shall soon come to an end. However, we are enjoying it while we can. There is an abundance of flowers all around. The resident workers homes and yards are just a mass of them. Rambling [illegible] three inches in diameter and every shade under the sun. Vines are used for shade arbors and some are on houses. One in particular is a deep purple with small red tendrils. And the vine is a mass of flowers running right to the eaves of the houses. Around "Les Patron's (the owner's) house are lilies four and five feet high and when you walk by at night the aroma from them nearly knock you down with its heavy sweetness. Tomato plants of which there are plenty) grow five and six feet high. Around here very much resembles Southern California in every respect but the people.

The French are immaculately clean, but the Arabs are dirty and bear watching. They are dressed in rags of all kinds and pad noiselessly around in sandals and bare feet. We have had no trouble with them except for a few things missing. The Arab women in the towns go around with voluminous white coverings with one eye peeking out. Will bring this letter to a close as our first mail is going out tonight. I think air letters to here make good time, I hear four days from England.

START WITH THE FARMER

(Letter in "Canadian Food Packer")

"Opinions may differ, but my opinion is that a food ministry should be the first rank in the cabinet of the country; who can work if they cannot eat?

"Too long have we been able to sit down at 8:00 a.m., 12 noon and 7 p.m. without giving much thought to the man who produces the things we eat and drink. Navy, army, civilians, war workers, high officials, also yourself would not be on the job 'war or no war' if the eats were not there when we expect them. I am afraid that some of the high officials now in office have gone short yet or there would be no question about it at all.

"When we want ships, munitions, airplanes, etc., the sky seems to be the limit. But food, all you get is orders, arguments, changes, uncertainties and bedevilment from all sorts of authorities.

"One good man could change the whole picture if he was given real authority, and understood the farmer's and processor's problems.

"There is plenty of data available to show the farmer's cost of producing. The processor also keeps costs of the finished product (or should do). These are all available to the food minister to guide him in his work.

"Start with the farmer first, if you don't, well, Mr. Editor you know WE EAT TO LIVE, and if there is nothing to eat you don't live.

THOS. G. DARK, registered optometrist for Alberta and Saskatchewan will be at the Tofield Hotel, Monday morning, July 19th at 9:00 to 10:30. Make your appointments at the hotel.

To Trade Is Natural
To trade, to do business, to buy and sell is natural. As natural as breathing, eating, sleeping or walking. No race of humans are known to exist who do not buy, sell or trade to some extent. Even if one lived under a breadfruit tree in a tropical country there would still be something lacking— butter — and surplus breadfruit would probably be traded to somebody who possessed cows or goats, for butter
This is no tropical country and there are certainly no breadfruit trees around, but there are quite a number of things that could be traded or sold. A used plow, tractor, binder or any other piece of farm equipment. Furniture too, or even clothing very often have resale value, often having done duty for their original owner. And then too, there is that extra horse in the pasture, cow in the barn, extra pigs in the sty or even chickens in the chicken house.
Somebody, somewhere, may be looking for any one of these things and the easiest, cheapest and most effective way to let people know they are for sale is through a CLASSIFIED WANT AD in the MERCURY.

WAGES FOR FARM LABOR IN ALBERTA

The federal bureau of statistics has released some illuminating figures dealing with the rates of wages for farm labor in the various provinces of the Dominion.

These figures are based on the [illegible] daily rate with and without board and on a monthly basis with and without board. In three of these four brackets Alberta shows the highest figures and in the fourth, the daily rate without board, our [illegible] is second only to British Columbia.

For day with board, the Alberta 1943 rate is given as $2.80, increase of 66 cents over last year and $1.35 above the bureau's figure for 1941. Expressed in other terms, the average increase in wages for day farm [illegible] over the last two years in this province is 100 per cent.

The monthly rates with board, show as in the case of the daily [illegible] that the regular Alberta farm laborer hired by the month is the highest paid in all Canada. The average 1943 figure is $61.84 per month for Alberta. The comparable 1941 average was $35.42. The farmers of this province who board and pay their hired help on monthly [illegible] therefore are paying approximately 175 per cent more [illegible] than [illegible] two years ago.

The Alberta monthly with board labor rate of $61.84 is also $10.00 per month higher than the Dominion average. It is $6.00 higher than Saskatchewan's, $16.00 higher than Manitoba's and $11.00 more than Ontario's.

These very substantial increases in costs of farm labor, without question, have been brought about by keen competition among the farmers themselves for the available labor supplies. There has been bidding for labor, district against district, and farmer against farmer. Obviously, labor has capitalized on the situation.

The unfortunate circumstance is that whatever he may have to pay for his labor, the farmer is limited by the federal government's price ceiling policy with respect to the prices he shall receive for his products. True, some price level adjustments have been made to encourage added production of certain commodities, and excepting wheat, wool and possibly eggs, farm commodity prices are higher than for some years. Notwithstanding this improved condition, however, and because on most farms labor costs are a substantial part of the annual outlay, the pyramiding of these costs contributes to the prohibition of any general economic improvement in the farm position.

The claim has been advanced by many farmers that there should be a ceiling on farm wages. That would be extremely difficult to enforce. A ceiling on wages would not be difficult to get around; certainly no more difficult than the practice at present current (it is hoped among only a relatively few farmers,) of enticing labor with the promise that no deduction will be made from wages for income tax purposes. In this case the more conscientious employer is penalized. He loses his labor. A wage ceiling, in my opinion, would not solve the rising wage problem.

What would solve it is an agreement among the farmers themselves as to what constitutes a fair wage in these days of 1943 and a commitment by them that they will pay no more. This might not have been possible earlier but now, through the community and zone "Farm for Victory" committees, it can be done. The machinery has been provided.

The machinery should not be used of course to unduly batter down farm wages. The farm laborer, also has a case in this matter, for too many earlier years many a man worked for much too little. But an increase of 175 per cent in two years simply does not add up. If today's wages are justified, then those of 1941 were unfair and the rates prevailing in years prior to 1941 scandalous.

MORE POULTRY MEAT

Owing to the acute meat situation it is particularly important at this time that poultry raisers produce all the poultry meat possible. In the past large numbers of young cockerels have been marketed too soon as fryers and broilers. These young birds do not carry enough meat nor the finish to enable the producer to obtain the maximum potential profit.

Young male birds should be separated from the pullets at an early age and placed on range with an open front shelter. Feed a good balanced ration, provide shade and an ample supply of fresh water. White Leghorn cockerels should be up to a weight of 4 to 5 pounds and the heavier breeds 6 to 8 pounds, at this weight they can be placed in fattening crates and given a fattening ration and a good finish obtained. This is a splendid opportunity to use surplus feeds to advantage.

A neighborhood community effort can be made to encourage a large number of poultry raisers to finish these birds for meat purposes and to market either in single lots or cooperatively. Arrangements can be made with the operators of the local grading station to receive this poultry at stated times and to have any or all producers' birds roll graded and paid for on a dressed grade basis.

See your district agriculturist and ask for bulletins 56 and 61.

ALBERTA HOG MARKETINGS

[illegible] hogs have been marketed in Alberta during the first five months of the year. Although this figure is slightly lower than that for the corresponding period in 1942 of [illegible], nevertheless the margin is being narrowed. In May of 1943, 199,000 head were marketed compared with 178,000 head in 1942. Marketings for the month of June are also likely to be higher than those of June 1942. The quality of the hogs marketed in 1943 is hardly as high as for the first five months of last year. Percentage of Grade "A" carcasses for January to May 1942 was 28 per cent while for the same period this year it is about 25 per cent.

The necessity of maintaining quality has been emphasized over and over again. Not only because our armed forces and the people of Britain require the best food obtainable to sustain them but also to establish a desire for Canadian bacon on the British market in the years to come. Too much attention cannot be paid to the quality of our hogs.

AN IMPORTED DANDELION

In the effort to find something from which a rubber substitute may be extracted, the authorities have imported a species of dandelion from Russia and this plant is being cultivated for experimental purposes. Probably this is all right, but to our mind it constitutes a direct insult to our own home-grown dandelions which for uncounted years have drawn unfavorable public attention to themselves. No plant in Canada is such a good and persistent advertiser as our dandelions. It must be evident that dandelions are good for something rather than making doubtful dandelion wine. Such a noble plant which never fails in any kind of weather, which is so widespread and which requires no attention at all to grow and grow and grow, cannot be entirely useless. Why go to Russia looking for more dandelion grief until the possibilities of good honest Canadian dandelions have been exhausted?

This reminds us that the other day, we found a dandelion stalk which measured 25 1-2 inches from the base to the top of the bloom. A young lady at Mannville got some publicity about a dandelion measuring 24 1-2 inches, so we scouted round to find one to beat the Mannville effort. Never shall it be said Mannville can come ahead of Vegreville even in the matter of growing weeds.—Vegreville Observer.

COST OF MAKING WHEAT ALCOHOL IS CUT IN HALF

New processes are constantly being developed which will reduce the cost of converting farm crops into industrial materials. An Associated Press Dispatch reports development of a new distilling process which went into operation late in June and which it is claimed will cut in two the costs of converting wheat into alcohol to be used for war purposes. It is claimed this development will make wheat alcohol as cheap to produce as molasses alcohol. This process will save the United States $30,000,000 annually in war alcohol costs and at the same time will provide one billion pounds of protein feeds for livestock and for enriching human foodstuffs. In advocating establishment of a Western Division of the National Research Council, with fully equipped laboratories, the Line Elevator Companies contend that the resultant research will bring about erection of grain alcohol distilleries in Western Canada, new industrial uses and enlarged markets for farm crops, and greater prosperity for the Western Farmer.

The total structural weight of aircraft produced in Britain in 1942 was 50 per cent more than in 1941, and contained about twice the weight of heavy and medium bombers, four times the number of large flying boats and a very substantial output of new types.

Preparations for the landing of troops in North Africa involved alteration to over 300 ordinary merchant ships for use as troop carriers, floating work-shops, etc. all of which was completed in a short time and in the utmost secrecy.

During 1942, Ceylon's village schools were responsible for the cultivation of 20,000 acres of crops.

In Ceylon there are 304 rural schools where, besides the ordinary school subjects, the children are taught practical agriculture homebuilding and carpentry.

Waste paper collected in the United Kingdom from November 1, 1939 to August 31, 1942 amounted to nearly 2½ million tons. It would have required 600 ships, each of 5,000 tons cargo capacity to transport it.

In the year that war broke out Britain imported more than 1,000,000 tons of paper-making materials. Today her imports are negligible and paper is being made from salvaged paper and sometimes from cotton rags.

Damage done to Malta up to the end of 1942 includes 5000 houses completely destroyed, 5000 ruined and awaiting demolition, a similar number unfit for habitation until repaired and 13,000 houses damaged by blast.

By January 1943, 1,491 Maltese had been killed and more than 1500 seriously injured in air raids.

75 per cent of the houses in Valetta, the capital of Malta, have been destroyed by air raids.

20,000 tons of iron and steel, 500 tons of aluminum and 250 tons of sheet aluminum will be released for industrial purposes by the decision of the British Ministry of Works to break up a quarter of a million disused motor cars and other vehicles.

By the use of Methane, a by-product of sewage purification, the West Middlesex Drainage Board (England) has been able to save 1,267,000 gallons of fuel oil and 2800 gallons of petrol in a year.

TWO-THIRDS of the total number of loans outstanding in Canada's Chartered Banks average less than $500 per loan.
Through bank loans, Canada's Chartered Banks help Canadians to benefit themselves, their fellows and their country. Many of these loans are small— but all contribute their share to the day-by-day activities of Canadian enterprise.
Some further facts about Canada's Banks:
Chartered Banks' loans related to agriculture as shown on the last official return to Parliament, totalled $340,118,473. This sum included loans to farmers, ranchers, fruit raisers and to grain dealers and grain exporters.
Every general manager today heading a Chartered Bank entered the bank as a junior in some small branch.
Up to and including February, 1943, no fewer than 6003 men and 154 women bank employees had enlisted in the armed forces.
Canadians in every walk of life and in every part of Canada are served by more than three thousand branches and sub-agencies established by the Chartered Banks to facilitate the nation's business.

OLD WINE IN NEW BOTTLES—

IF WE REMEMBER correctly the Good Book tells us not to put new wine in old bottles, but it would appear that in the march of events old wine is going into new bottles. That is if one has imagination.

Western Canada and wheat have always gone together like a boiled egg and salt. If one is mentioned, thoughts come of the other. Consequently to write concerning wheat is to write of the most common of commodities (in Western Canada) yet at the same time one of the most important and interesting. There was a time not so far distant when a field of waving and ripening grain caused a thrill of pride and a sense of power to a Western Canadian dweller. He or she knew that in due time the grain would be cut, stooked, threshed and finally find its way to a ships hold enroute to provide sustenance for people of nations afar off. In this way, Canadian wheat became an ambassador of good will, a medium of power and a mercantile commodity all in one. How large the crop was going to be was a matter of great interest.

But somehow or other, economic conditions (it is remarkable how so many human problems revert back to economic conditions) so arranged themselves in Europe that a self sufficiency era came into being there and by means of tariffs, quotas, embargoes and what have you, the shipment of Canadian wheat to Europe was considerably reduced. This was before the outbreak of the European war. When war broke out, shipments of Canadian wheat, with the exception of those to Great Britain, practically ceased. For the past two or three years restrictions in the way of farmers selling their wheat and bonuses for the non growing of wheat have been in effect, with the result production has dropped. Even so it was estimated that on July 1st this year, there was a carryover of 600,000,000 bushels of wheat which is about the equal of a two years crop. This is much larger than a normal carryover but is not so large but that should there be two or more short crops or should the war unexpectedly end and hungry Europeans clamor for food it could quickly disappear. The history of wheat production, wheat surpluses and wheat prices is one of peaks and valleys, surpluses and short supplies, only one thing being certain, that conditions as regards wheat never remain stationary, they are always changing.

The newest development as regards growing wheat is that connected with the manufacture of synthetic rubber. Much has been written and published concerning this but the general public is to a large extent still uncertain as to how far experimentation has been followed by actual production. Actually much rubber has been manufactured in the United States and there are now eleven States with plants turning out this product. So far, compared with prewar imports of the natural product there is still a shortage, practically all the rubber now being produced going into government service. As development and building of plants for the manufacture of rubber increase, production will increase also and there are already serious discussions as to whether the artificial product will oust the natural product from the American market. It is claimed that factory made rubber can be eventually sold for ten cents a pound as against thirty cents a pound which it costs now. It is claimed by those familiar with natural rubber production that natural rubber could be produced to be sold at five cents a pound, but to bring the price down to this figure, undesirable practices would have to be resorted to with native labor.

In the manufacture of artificial rubber alcohol is used, much of which is obtained from molasses and also from wheat. Quite recently Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions, told the House that Canada would continue to make synthetic rubber after the war and this statement would seem to pave the way for a liberal use of wheat in the manufacture of alcohol, with which to make it. The uses to which rubber may be put are continually multiplying. In 1940 the quantity used in the world was forty times as much as that used in 1900; and even in the five years preceding 1940, the increase was about a third. Even while the war is on there is a vast demand for rubber, a demand greater than the supply and after the war the demand is more likely to increase than decrease. Henry Kaiser, the famous United States ship builder is already at work upon a 12 cylinder car which he expects to market at $400.00 in the United States. He intends, according to information received, to market this car through gasoline stations and as most everyone will be able to pay this price for a car, there will be just one cash transaction. No trade-ins are expected.

Recently according to a news dispatch a more economical method of distilling alcohol from wheat has been discovered. It is now possible, so it is claimed, to produce alcohol as cheaply from wheat as from molasses. This may mean that the time is not far distant when synthetic rubber plants will be located in the heart of wheat growing areas and an entirely new outlet for wheat brought about. It may well be that through scientific research, service needs and popular demand, the next exhortation to farmers will be, "grow more wheat."

HIGH POINTS AT FOOD CONFERENCE TOLD BY DR. BARTON

Dr. G. S. H. Barton, Dominion Deputy Minister of Agriculture who was chairman of the Canadian delegation at the United Nations Food Conference held recently at Hot Springs, Va., said in an address given in Ottawa that food and agriculture were given first place in post-war national and international affairs at the Conference.

"Never before had food and agriculture had such recognition" he said. "Never before had it been so clearly and widely established that better diets and improved agriculture were so fundamental to the well-being of all people, and never before had the problems of world distribution of food been internationally explored so critically and with such scope."

Four main subjects were dealt with at the conference: nutrition, production, distribution and recommendations for continuing the work of the Conference. Concerning nutrition, Dr. Barton said it was generally recognized that there had never been enough food in the world to maintain the health of all its people.

The Production Committee, after a general review of the post-war period agreed that at that time there were three periods for principal consideration: the short-term period — one of the shortages; the transition period and the long-term period— the future. It was emphasized by the Committee in its report that the necessary production contemplated should not be expected unless a fair return to those who produce the food can be assured.

The Committee on distribution laid down that in order to assist and improve distribution to attain freedom from want, the Conference should regard international security and effective collaboration among nations as of first importance. The first cause of hunger and malnutrition is poverty, stated the Committee.

Dr. Barton said that the Conference was called to consider post-war problems with respect to food and agriculture and all the deliberations and recommendations were held and made with the purpose that while the war is on, its requirements must receive first consideration.

The findings and recommendations of the Conference should constitute an important document for the consideration and action of the governments of the 45 countries represented, said Dr. Barton.

THE WOMAN WHO WASHES THE DISHES

You have heard, I know,
Of "the man with the hoe"
And "the man behind the gun,"
We have heard so long
Their little song,
They have their laurels won.
But I lay claim to well-earned fame,
And bring her my best wishes,
For sterling grit,
She's surely "it"—
The woman who washes dishes.

We have wept at the "hurt"
In the "Song of the Shirt,"
And groaned at the doleful tale.
Do you ever think
Of the one at the sink,
And what we'd do if she'd fail?
Three times a day,
With never a nay,
She gathers the greasy pile;
The pots and pans, with tired hands,
She washes up with a smile.

Then sing if you will
With voices shrill,
Of the man with the hoe and the gun;
But I say,
(Can you say me nay)?
She too, has her laurels won.
So I lay a claim
Of well earned fame,
And give her my best wishes,
For sterling grit,
She is surely "it"
The woman who washes the dishes.

SOMETHING UNUSUAL

There is probably nothing unusual about animals of the protected Park area being born in the town limits, but it is somewhat of an unusual occurrence when a mother bear gives birth to twin cubs at this time of the year; these youngsters usually being born during hibernation.

About ten days ago residents of Spray Avenue, just beyond the hospital, spent a restless night during the twin maternity case. According to information gleaned by the "Crag" the mother bear gave birth to the first cub just after two in the morning. She nosed the youngster up a tree and then bore the second cub. The mingled cries of "mother and children" roused the entire neighborhood, and before one household discovered the cause, they telephoned the police, thinking that someone was shouting for help.

Another animal birth which has created great interest is that of a fawn at the far end of Marten Street. This little bundle of life has become quite a pet among the children in that end of town.

WEEDS, THE FARMERS' ENEMY

Weeds use up precious moisture and so decrease the yield of crops. Summerfallow offers a chance of getting rid of many weed plants. Annuals and some biennials can be eliminated by continual killing when the weeds are young. Perhaps the best method, particularly with wild oats, is to cultivate the summerfallow only after the weed plants are in the four or five leaf stage, usually when they are six or seven inches high, for at this state of their growth weed plants are usually quite weak. Under no account, of course, should any weeds be permitted to set to seed; otherwise the land will again become badly impregnated. Many of our Canadian weed plants each contain over 100 virile weed seeds.)

Good work requires, therefore, that the odd plant missed by cultivators and discs on summerfallow should be pulled by hand, dried and burned before they set to seed.

The Dominion Government has just issued a most excellent new pamphlet entitled "Weeds and Weed Seeds." Every farmer would do well to write to the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, and obtain a copy of this free booklet. It contains valuable information about killing many different kinds of weed plants.

M.D. of Beaver Acquires Large Road Unit From M.D. of Norma

Business of major importance was transacted at the regular July meeting of M.D. of Beaver on Friday, July 9th. There were present at the meeting, Reeve Ovens, presiding; Councillors Anderson, Giebelhaus, Logan, Lucas, Moen and Swabey.

After considerable negotiating with the M.D. of Norma during which proposals and counter proposals were made, the M.D. of Beaver will acquire a large elevating grader road outfit together with caterpillar tractor in return for 35 miles of road to be built within the M.D. of Norma by the M.D. of Beaver.

The explanation behind the deal is that when the new municipal set up was brought about early this year, the territory forming the former M.D. of Patricia was divided between M.D. of Norma and M.D. of Beaver. Among other assets which were also divided, of the former M.D. of Patricia was the large road outfit referred to. The "deal" was put through by Councillor Giebelhaus and ratified by formal motion by Council.

A further arrangement concerning the disposition of the large road outfit was made within the M.D. of Beaver itself. By this arrangement Division seven will control the large unit until 32 miles of road is constructed, 13 within division seven, four and a half in division two and four and a half in division six. This arrangement was made so that the ratepayers whose money originally paid for the unit would receive first and reasonable benefits from it.

MORNING SESSION:

Mr. Jacobchuk interviewed Council and expressed a desire to purchase N.W. 30-48-16 W4. Councillor Logan valued the quarter section at $1000.00, which price Mr. Yacobchuk was willing to pay. On motion of Councillor Logan it was decided to sell Mr. Yacobchuk this quarter for $1000.00; $250.00 down and corresponding payments at regular intervals. There will be no interest unless payments become past due.

Moved by Councillor Logan that Mrs. P. Erickson be requested to take livestock off of the above mentioned quarter as the land had been sold. Carried.

Sealed tenders were on hand for a portion of the townsite of Poe comprising 60 acres north of the track. There were two tenders and Council now being in a position to sell this land ordered that they be opened. The highest tender was $12 per acre. On motion of Councillor Giebelhaus the 60 acres was sold to Mr. at $12.00 per acre. First and second readings of a bylaw covering the above sale were given.

On the motion of Deputy Reeve Anderson the division of machinery between M.D. of Beaver and M.D. of Sterling made by Reeve Ovens, was ratified by Council.

Communications were received from:

Edmonton hospital regarding admission of Howard Pike, South Cooking Lake. Council were of the opinion Mr. Pike was not an M.D. of Beaver responsibility.

From J. K. Brownlee & Co. regarding water on some land, a matter brought up at last Council meeting. The letter informed Council that if it was necessary sufficient land could be exappropriated for the digging of a ditch.

On the motion of Councillor Lucas the bylaw passed at the last regular meeting regarding municipality voting by divisions was repealed. It was found that the change from voting at large to voting by divisions could only be sanctioned by order of the Minister.

Moved by Councillor Moen that we request the Minister of Municipal Affairs to allow voting by divisions in M.D. of Beaver. Carried.

Meeting adjourned for lunch.

Council re-assembled at 1:00 p.m. Councillor Giebelhaus announced

To Trade Is Natural

To trade, to do business, to buy and sell is natural. As natural as breathing, eating, sleeping or walking. No race of humans are known to exist who do not buy, sell or trade to some extent. Even if one lived under a breadfruit tree in a tropical country there would still be something lacking—butter — and surplus breadfruit would probably be traded to somebody who possessed cows or goats, for butter.

This is no tropical country and there are certainly no breadfruit trees around, but there are quite a number of things that could be traded or sold. A used plow, tractor, binder or any other piece of farm equipment. Furniture too, or even clothing very often have resale value, often having done duty for their original owner. And then too, there is that extra horse in the pasture, cow in the barn, extra pigs in the sty or even chickens in the chicken house.

Somebody, somewhere, may be looking for any one of these things and the easiest, cheapest and most effective way to let people know they are for sale is through a CLASSIFIED WANT AD in the MERCURY.

On the motion of Councillor Logan a number of tax consolidations were approved by Council.

Re-considering the Komarnicki damage claim Council decided they could not pay damages as they did not know of the incident soon enough.

Mr. Tkachuk interviewed council re land which he is farming. The district has title to the land, but the rest of it is rather involved with the former owner living in the United States.

Mr. [illegible] has had an elder man staying with him for a number of years. He cannot keep him any longer and desired the district to make arrangements to take care of him. Secretary was requested to write the Salvation Army Eventide Home and ascertain whether they had accommodation for an elder man.

A number of bills were presented, passed and on motion by Councillor Moen ordered paid.

During the day the question of the disposition of road machinery owned formerly by the M. D. of Patricia which lost its identity in the new set up was discussed off and on. Several telephone conversations were held with Norma representatives, the Norma Council being in session at Vegreville.

Reeve Ovens moved that M. D. of Beaver pay M. D. of Norma $4800 for the machine either in work or money. If in work the machine to operate 60 per cent in Norma and 40 per cent in Beaver. This motion was not seconded.

Further discussion seemed to favor the idea of Beaver building 35 miles of road for Norma in exchange for the machine and specifications were given over the telephone as to the type of road required.

At six o'clock negotiations were still in progress and Council adjourned for supper.

Re-assembling after supper:

On the motion of Councillor Moen Court of Revision will be held on September 10th.

Moved by Councillor Swabey that Miss Pyle, the stenographer be paid $600.00 per year. —Carried.

It was decided that the staff be allowed the customary summer vacation.

The office is badly in need of a new toilet and it was decided to build one.

Work has been very heavy at the office for the past few weeks and on motion by Councillor Logan the secretary was authorized to engage and pay extra office help if needed.

The road machinery problem came up again and Councillor Giebelhaus who had been in telephone conversation with the M. D. of Norma in session at Vegreville announced that the M.D. of Beaver owned the outfit on the following terms:

The M.D. of Beaver to build 35 miles of road according to specifications for the M.D. of Norma. Twelve miles in 1943, twelve miles in 1944 and eleven miles in 1945. If Norma was dissatisfied with the labor they would take 60 per cent of $12000.00. A planer was also purchased at a valuation of $750, 40 per cent of which sum, namely $300.00 will be paid by Beaver to Norma.

A further arrangement within the M.D. of Beaver was made. It was agreed that division 7 and the portion of divisions 2 and 6 which were formerly in M.D. of Patricia, build 52 miles of road, 43 in division 7, four and a half in division 2 and four and a half in division 6. At the conclusion of the work the machine to be revalued and divisions 7, 2, 6, be remunerated by the M.D. as a whole with regard to the equity they have in it.

The above was incorporated in two formal motions which were duly passed.

Moved by Councillor Moen that contract be entered into with the Tofield Mercury to supply paper to resident ratepayers of M.D. of Beaver west of a line run north and south from the centre of range 17 on the same terms formerly existing between the Tofield Mercury and the M.D. of Cornhill, being on the basis of $1.00 per year per resident ratepayer, including publication of municipal notices and financial statement. Carried.

Councillors Giebelhaus and Lucas were appointed a committee of two to see that construction of cement culverts be commenced immediately.

Meeting adjourned.

The Truth About Synthetic Rubber

It is not easy to obtain accurate facts concerning the development of synthetic rubber manufacturing in North America and the possibility of using wheat for such a purpose. It has been demonstrated that alcohol made from wheat can be efficiently utilized for making rubber but from any information now available wheat must be priced so low that it would not pay farmers to cater to such a market.

Writing in The Country Gentleman, Bertram B. Fowler states that cheap grain alcohol necessarily means cheap grain and that the farmer can only retain a market for grain alcohol if he is ready to accept a corn price of from 25 to 30c a bushel. Corn is more economical in the making of alcohol than wheat. A market for wheat at 25c a bushel is of no use to farmers of Western Canada.

At the same time, there have been tremendous strides made in the manufacture of synthetic rubber. One United States [illegible] turn out 90,000 tons of artificial rubber in a year and employing only 1,300 persons. To achieve that production of natural rubber plantations in the Orient would [illegible] 100,000 work men to tap [illegible] trees on 250,000 acres. Nevertheless this does not prove that artificial rubber can be manufactured economically. The present price is around 35c a pound for synthetic rubber. What would happen to the economics of natural rubber prices would decline as low as 3c a pound which has occurred in the past?

Raw rubber has a history of wild price gyrations. The swing has been from 3c a pound to $3.10. This price uncertainty has always been the cause of worry to plantation owners and manufacturers.

C. W. Wilson, author of a book on rubber entitled: "Trees in Test Tubes", says that in the competition between natural and synthetic rubber the farmer is bound to win in the end. The vast productive power of the tropical earth, rain, sunlight and seasons, he asserts, can never be measured by Temperate Zone yardsticks. Man's efforts to compete with fabulously rich tropical earth, with eternal tropical growth, in the production of an essential material is usually a futile enterprise, even when the basic materials which we would use for making such rubbers are free and plentiful. Then, Mr. Wilson goes on to point out, basic petroleum materials used for synthesizing rubber are worth about $20 a ton before they enter factory vats.

It may thus be seen that whenever peace comes to the earth again, an economic war will develop between the factories making synthetic rubber and the tropical regions of the earth which produce the natural product. —Alberta Wheat Pool Budget.

Wave After Wave

A. E. Powely, of the CBC overseas news staff, recently made a tour of several Canadian units in the United Kingdom. Here are his impressions of an incident which occurred in the night, as broadcast on a recent CBC national news summary:

"The noise of their engines was incessant as wave after wave of our bombers streamed out toward the coast. Back in Canada I often heard that sentence, or one something like it, in the cabled dispatches about our night raids on Europe, and as often as it came I used to think that the sound of a procession of our heavy bombers outward bound must be an awe-inspiring thing. Well, I heard it the other night and it is. The bombers passed over, wave after wave as the dispatches usually put it, as I lay in an army tent in the wood in a particularly beautiful part of rural England. How many of them there were I couldn't guess, but they were a mighty force. I don't know either how long they took to pass for when the noise of their going was finished it left no clear recollection of beginning or end, only of immensity. The sound filled the valleys and echoed in sustained volleys from the hillsides. If you were to imagine an endless succession of giant express trains tearing overhead you would have an idea of what it was like. Or you might arrive at a closer idea by contemplating the probable thunder of Judgment Day.

Perhaps it isn't strange how far and fast one's thoughts can travel along the sound track that the bombers make. It's as if you could see through the darkness far over the hills and the valleys out over the sea and almost to the unknown target towards which the planes are hurrying. Or for the instant or two in which you hear the individual sound of a single plane overhead your mind's eye catches a half picture of the men in it and you have a quick wonder of who they are and where they're from. Perhaps they're Canadians, perhaps English or Australian or perhaps some of each. But then they're gone like a gale and another plane or group of planes come roaring up in their wake.

I didn't know of course what the target was but it wasn't necessary. It was satisfyingly certain that someplace in enemy territory was in for it in a big way—in for such a concentrated dose of destruction as this scarred and gassed London never knew in the worst days of the Blitz. It turned out from the next day's communique that the target had been in the Ruhr again. Also the communique told of our losses that night. The figure did not seem disproportionate, but I know that some of the lads who passed so close in the darkness were going away for the last time. But I don't think that anyone who heard it could forget the triumphant voice of their passing.

C.P.R. Saves Rubber With New Machine

SHOWN above, with the safety guard removed from the knife for this picture only, to illustrate the operation of the cutter, is a new machine developed at the Canadian Pacific Railway's Angus Shops in Montreal as part of a programme for reclaiming rubber, latest phase of the company's Dominion-wide conservation campaign. The machine prepares worn and burst sections of rubber hose from air and signal connections to be put back into service. The good sections of the used hose are spliced with the aid of a small malleable iron adapter and the reclaimed product meets all safety requirements. In the short time the programme has been in effect five and one-half tons of rubber have been saved with 5,394 air hose and 1,088 signal hose reclaimed to make up that total, according to H. B. Bowen, chief of motive power and rolling stock, who is in charge of the rubber-saving plan. Over the year it is estimated there will be a saving of 30 per cent. in the rubber hose used on the 84,120 pieces of company rolling stock — with locomotives, passenger equipment, freight and work cars included in that total.

WHAT IS STATE OF GERMAN CIVILIAN MORALE?

(By Joseph C. Harsch in the Christian Science Monitor)

WITH A BIG Allied offensive under way in the Pacific and a considerably bigger one probably just about to open on the European fronts one can't help wondering how on earth the German people can fail to read the omens of war, and allow their leaders to go on fighting uselessly.

From what we can see on our side of the fence the outcome is a sure thing. How long it takes to finish off depends on Hans and Gretchen. Why don't they just stop it right now? And if they won't stop it right now, how much longer will they go on enduring a pointless and fruitless agony? In other words, what exactly is the state of civilian morale in Germany as the curtain goes up on the great preparatory battles of 1943?

The answer is a highly complicated one. We know some parts of it. Others we can guess at. Some perhaps Dr. Joseph Goebbels himself could not supply. One thing we must accept. It can't be as bad as we would like to have it, because if it were the war in Europe would be over.

The most revealing thing we do know about it today is that Dr. Goebels is telling the German people a surprising amount of straight facts about the war. He let them know this week that Hitler's "ace in the hole"— the vaunted German U-Boat—has taken an almighty shellacking this spring. The published German figure on Allied ship losses from U-boat action in June is only 107,000 tons which—compared with the claimed sinkings in previous months—is practically nothing. In March they claimed 851,000 tons. Before this figure was published the German press carried responsible technical observations on the submarine war which actually admitted that Allied countermeasures had "surprised" and overcome the best German U-boat tactics.

For over a month the German press has been completely devoid of any boasting about victory in Russia this summer. Instead it has been discussing the probability of German defensive action on the Russian front.

Colonel Ditmar, the official German Radio military commentator, this Tuesday delivered an extraordinary analysis of the American position in this war in which he said that America was almost unassailable and unconquerable. It was primarily a plaintive wail that America enjoys all the military advantages which Germany wishes it possessed.

Now all this is strong food for a people shuddering from night after night of utterly devastating air attacks. It is strong food for a nation whose armies suffered a Tunisia on top of a Stalingrad, and which has no military prospect whatever beyond a protracted defensive struggle with the attacking powers becoming more and more dangerous every week.

Their food ration is lower this summer than last summer, although not much lower. They have just been put through the wringer of a total mobilization which has almost completed the liquidation of the middle class and made every German either a soldier, a defense worker—or a privileged Nazi. Their new generation of youth has developed a totally unexpected attitude of questioning about the Nazi Party, the war and everything tied to Hitler—as the recent Munich "student plot" showed.

When I think of the Germans I knew personally in Berlin during the first year of the war and try to project their present thinking from what I knew it to be three years ago I am convinced that every one of them wishes fervently that he or she could find some escape from the horrible labyrinth they are floundering in.

But they go on submitting. The absence of any political machinery to express open opposition is part of the explanation. The fact that their men folks are in the Army on the front is another part. So is the ruthless determination, bred of desperation, of the Nazi Party to retain power. But underlying all these, and alone making this continued war acceptance possible, is the fear of the consequences of giving up.

The terror of Allied bombs is still not as great as the fear of what will happen to individual Germans if their country is actually conquered by armies which are swelled as they reach Germany by Poles and Czechs, Norwegians and Frenchmen, Belgians and Dutch. And we must assume that this fear will curb the potential rising which exists so long as it is accompanied by a hope that by holding out they can win a compromise peace which will save Germany from actual land invasion.

They unquestionably still have that hope. It is fed by American strikes and race riots. It is a real hope in their minds. The most authentic and reliable information available in Washington and London indicates that even the German High Command, which is the best informed single group in Germany, and the one best able to estimate the general situation objectively, itself still believes that by holding long enough a compromise can be extracted from an Allied war weariness. So long as the officers of the High Command feel this, it is obvious that the mass of German people will also continue to feel it. The doubt will penetrate the High Command before it penetrates elsewhere. It has not yet penetrated. That is the one fundamental reason why they still go on.

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

Written specially for the weekly newspapers of Canada

BY JIM GREENBLAT

This introduces, from the nation's capital, a new series of weekly letters, designed exclusively for community papers of Canada and that vast audience of readers which never gets out to a night club. For the rancher, farmer, fruit grower, miner; the semi-urban and rural people whose feet are directly and indirectly rooted in the soil of Canada.

Your own editor among others has been annoyed to high heaven with the flood of material which comes from Ottawa much of which he cannot use. Like you he's a busy person running that old paper you think so much of, whether you agree with him on politics or not. He knows you would be interested in a quick pick-up on governmental doings and what's what around Ottawa after you come in from chores at night. He also knows you do not relish long winded reading after a hard day's work. And this weekly feature, for your editor's sake and especially you, I hope will fill the bill.

The Wartime Information Board has been made aware that readers of weekly papers are entitled to something in their own language from Ottawa, and so, accepting this assignment it would be interesting to get your collective reaction through your editor.

If you have any particular problem which has its anchor in Ottawa, and you want to know what makes it tick, feel free to drop a line to this column. Maybe it can be interpreted for you. Possibly there are thousands others who want to know about the same thing. But it would be better if none of us get too personal or too political. We'll leave that sort of thing to the politicians.

This column to justify itself should be a national mirror for the home town. I don't suppose you are much interested in the fact that Ottawa looks really beautiful this time of year. So is your own place out east and west. But you might like, occasionally, to hear of strange people, strange faces, strange ideas, all of which makes Ottawa so intriguing, even if you have to stand in line to get it.

There could be little sidelights, like seeing the Soviet fliers recently; the fellows who flew from Moscow to Ottawa—just like that. I watched them in the hotel lobby, in black knee length boots, loose fitting tunics, rakish forage caps; smart earnest looking fellows who looked as if they had a mission in life. Undoubtedly their's is killing Germans. They were watching the smartly dressed girls in and out of uniforms; men of our armed forces, civilians and seemed to be measuring the standards of democracy as against Communism. I got a kick out of watching them eye the well filled cigar stand, the jammed hotel cafe.

Well, that's part of Ottawa. A little of this, a little of that about government activities, legislation, Parliament, none of it too wearying — but informative.

Just recently I heard Hon. Humphrey Mitchell in the House of Commons justify the government's manpower policy. When he said that 5,100,000 men and women out of a total population of 8,720,000 aged 14 years and over were in the armed forces or at work, this on the face of it speaks mighty well for Canada at war. The Opposition calls it a "muddle". Well after listening in on debates for weeks on end, it becomes increasingly clear that Canadians have got to think and interpret for themselves a little, too. We'll try to unravel things if possible, always keeping in perspective the national picture and that millions of others have problems and ideas, too.

Letters in from editors all over Canada relative to this new service reveal that people in Canada are pondering these days and want to take the works of the clock apart themselves. One editor suggests we dig with both hands into a Health Insurance measure now pending which he claims would be foisted on us by a medical monopoly, and which in its present form would cost the people plenty.

A Manitoba editor wants, "in simple language enlightenment on matters pertaining to farmers and the farming communities" and also "of what benefit will the post war reconstruction schemes be to the farmer."

That seems to be our "simple task" in this weekly news letter. You must not expect miracles of reporting. Time, experience in digging out the essential facts and developing a continuity of understanding of what you might be interested in out here will follow. Undoubtedly you want facts, and an authentic, unbiased and interpretive slant at Ottawa, dished out as if your own worried-looking editor was here doing it.

Harvest Leave For Soldiers

Harvest leave, not to exceed six weeks' duration, may be granted to fully-trained soldiers of the Canadian Army where service conditions permit. The leave will be taken without pay and allowances when granted. Only soldiers who have experience in farm work are eligible.

Periods during which harvest leave may be granted will vary according to crop conditions in various parts of Canada, but all soldiers must report back to their units before October 31, 1943.

Those who may not obtain Harvest Leave are soldiers awaiting despatch overseas, and those awaiting allocation after completing Army Courses. Members of the Veterans Guard who can be spared from their duties may apply.

Home Processing Tomato Juice

Tomatoes rank high as a practical Canadian source of vitamin C. Chemical analyses of tomato juice processed by a large number of housewives in the Okanagan Valley of British Columbia revealed that [illegible] per cent of the samples contained sufficient vitamin C to be classed as "excellent".

F. E. Atkinson and C. C. Strachan of the Dominion Experimental Station, Summerland, B. C., say that where home processed juice fails to retain adequate quantities of vitamin C the cause may be (1) the failure to heat the juice to almost boiling (190 to 212 degrees F.) before extraction; (2) failure to fill the warm bottles with juice while practically boiling; and (3) failure to fill the bottles to within one inch of the top of the neck. The process that is recommended for use in the home is as follows.

Thoroughly vine-ripened tomatoes are stemmed and cored. The fruit is slightly pulped and placed on the stove in a covered kettle, then heated to boiling. As many tomatoes are placed in the kettle at the commencement of this step as possible in order to exclude the air and prevent destruction of vitamin C. After the pulp has boiled 5 to 8 minutes, it is ready to be passed through a screen to remove the skin and seeds. At this point, the necessity of haste cannot be over-emphasized as the juice will lose much of its vitamin value if exposed to the air. If the juice is kept near the boiling point the vapour given off during the extracting will keep the air away from the product.

The extracted juice should be returned to the kettle and brought just to boiling. At the same time have enough sealers or bottles being kept hot in the oven. Fill these with juice, seal, and place in boiling water. If the juice is kept hot, bottles may be filled to within one inch of the top of the bottle. If bottles are used, sterilize caps in boiling water for 5 minutes before use, but not long enough to cause cork to bulge. Aluminum or parchment spotted caps do not require this treatment. Cook bottles on their sides for 10 minutes in [illegible] water. Quart sealers should receive 20 minutes cooking.

Bank of Montreal Crop Report

General: In the Prairie Provinces crops generally continue to make good progress, with the best prospects in Manitoba. While the season is about ten days later than average, higher temperatures during the past two weeks have promoted rapid growth. Wheat is coming into shot blade and in some districts early-sown crops are heading. Coarse grain shows healthy, even growth. Moisture conditions are satisfactory in Manitoba, but good rains are required in many parts of Saskatchewan and Alberta in some districts of [illegible] deterioration has already set in. Losses from hail and pests have been small. Sugar beets in Alberta and Manitoba are progressing favourably. In the Province of Quebec, the season continues to be backward and frequent rains during the past fortnight have caused further delay in operations, as well as considerable damage in many districts. The yield of grains will probably be below average. Cutting of a good crop of hay has commenced in most districts. Pastures are in very good condition. Tomatoes and corn have suffered from excessive moisture and below-average yields are indicated. Warm, dry weather is needed in most districts. In Ontario, crops generally have benefited considerably from recent showers following a period of warm, dry weather, and prospects are much brighter than anticipated earlier in the season. Fall wheat and spring grains are making satisfactory progress, but total yields will be considerably below normal, due largely to the reduced acreages seeded. A heavy crop of good quality hay is being harvested. In the Maritime Provinces, crops are still backward; frequent rains have retarded growth and caused some damage to the potato crop. The outlook for the hay crop is good. In British Columbia, crop conditions have been improved by recent rains and warmer weather. A very light crop of strawberries is now being picked. Tree-fruit crops are patchy and a low yield is indicated. Cherries and prunes promise good yields, with other stone fruits light.

PRAIRIE PROVINCES—Alberta: Warm weather has stimulated growth and crops, although late, are now making favourable progress in the central and northern districts. Lack of moisture over most of southern Alberta has caused considerable damage to stubble crops, and good rains are needed immediately to prevent further deterioration. Early sown wheat is in shot blade. Pastures are short in the south.

Market Hog is Portable Wiltshire

Edmonton Journal

Type of hogs in the purebred breeders' foundation stock must reflect the market needs if farmers are to be provided with the best seed stock for the commercial hog business, Dr. R. D. Sinclair, dean of agriculture at the University of Alberta told the large crowd of swine breeders who gathered in Lacombe on June 28.

The swine breeder must think in terms of Wiltshire sides which the British export contract calls for. Fortunately the same standard of quality suits Canadian consumers so there is no conflict in the type required.

"The market hog is just a portable Wiltshire," said the dean. "Heredity is the main determining factor in type. Feeding is important, as such things as thrift and gain depends on the ration, but we have always found that feeding and management practice could not definitely influence carcass."

Dean Sinclair said it was impossible to feed another inch into the length of the loin or make even fleshing on the back if these characteristics were not passed by heredity. "Advanced registry is helping to make the old rule of heredity work in the pig business," he concluded.

B.C. TO USE MOTOR FUNDS FOR ROADS

Plans of the B.C. government to spend $6,000,000 on the construction of a highway from Prince George to link with the Alaska highway have renewed demands in Alberta that motor revenues should be used for road [illegible].

The coast government's move is interpreted by officials of the Alberta Motor Association to mean that that province has decided that motor revenues should quite properly be used to improve the roads used by car drivers that produce those revenues, and particularly for new projects.

The adoption of just that policy has been advocated over a long period by the A.M.A.

It has been estimated that Alberta's surplus revenues from motor vehicle and gasoline taxes, over and above what has been spent on roads, amounts to about $10,000,000. Consequently there is a strong feeling that the province should increase its highway expenditures providing that men and materials are available under wartime conditions. In the alternative, the surplus funds could be used for the purchase of dominion war bonds, which would create a reserve fund that could be used for highways when the war is over.

Stock Sweeps Centre Of Interest At Field Day

GOOD CROWD ASSEMBLES AT DODDS' FARM

Wednesday afternoon a [illegible] or more people assembled at the Dodds farm where under the sponsorship of the Farm for Victory Committee, an informative time was spent.

The day was very hot with brilliant sunshine and those present appreciated the shade provided by a grove of trees under the shade of which the addresses were given.

Prior to the commencement of the program, people just visited and wandered around the farm buildings looking at things with a "professional" eye, exchanging experiences of this and that.

Mr. Parkinson of Olds School of Agriculture was lecturer-in-chief and spoke for some time regarding stock sweeps, there being one there for illustration purposes. The stock sweep has been developed to speed up threshing operations, the stooks being brought to the machine in the "sweep" instead of in a wagon with rack, as customary.

In appearance the stock sweep is like a giant dust-pan with the bottom and sides being of wooden slats instead of sheet iron. Hitched to a tractor the sweep is provided with a raising and lowering device. The operator backs the sweep into the stook and the stook just slides into the sweep. Number of stooks carried and speed of delivery depends on efficiency of operator and distance to be travelled. A number of questions [illegible] asked and [illegible] was [illegible] question as to how efficient as regards quantity the machine would be. Most of those present thought that where labor was scarce and the distance for stooks to be hauled not too great, the sweep would be valuable in getting the crop off quickly.

A demonstration was arranged in a field of sweet clover some of which had been cut and stooked. However the stooks were too green for the sweep to do a really good job.

Mr. Parkinson then gave a lecture on a tiller, Mr. Dodds' tiller being used as the ideal, the horrible example or something-in-between. Anyway such things as centre of draught, alignment of wheels, height of frame, etc., were explained in considerable detail.

During the afternoon Mr. Gould gave an address on Credit Unions. Mr. Gould, who was introduced by Rev. Schmeltzer, gave a brief history of Credit Unions saying that they were neither new or untried. Credit Unions had been in existence for over 30 years in the United States and over 40 years in Canada. Credit Unions had no political or church connections and were not in [illegible] with [illegible]. They formed a splendid method of saving for people of moderate means and a convenient source of borrowing moderate [illegible].

At the conclusion votes of thanks were accorded Mr. Parkinson, Mr. Gould and the host for the day, Mr. [illegible].

I.O.D.E NOTES

The "Miss Canada" young ladies have been keeping up their good work in selling War Stamps. During a period of 6 weeks stamps to the value of $200 were sold. Those helping out in this worthy cause recently were the Misses Stinson, Jean McGuire, Ida Jacobs, Jean Lovell, Audrey Bradbury and Joan Webb.

POLISH RELIEF OVERSEAS

The Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire throughout the Dominion has been asked by the Department of Voluntary Services, Ottawa, to undertake the work of sending aid to a million and a half Polish men and women and children who were deported to various parts of Russia from German-occupied Poland. During a year over $150,000 worth of clothing and bedding has been sent but this is only a fraction of what is urgently needed. Russia is herself hard-pressed and in need of help to care for her own war-torn sufferers and the public has responded generously to a recent appeal for aid to her. Every chapter of the I.O.D.E. has been urged to take its part in this humanitarian work. No heart can remain unmoved by the tragedy which has struck these innocent people. It is a small service we are called upon to make to help cheer [illegible] women and children in their sufferings and exile.

The local Dr. Tofield Chapter, I.O.D.E. are anxious to collect good used clean clothing (not boots) for Polish Relief Overseas. Boxes have been placed in the four local grocery stores and we are trusting to the usual generosity of our town and country citizens in seeing these boxes are well filled. Will you, busy housewife, just take a little time as soon as possible to look around and see if you have any used clean clothing to pass along to help alleviate the distress among the Polish people. Our thanks are due to the grocery storekeepers for assisting the I.O.D.E. in this worthy cause.

AMISK CREEK

HAFSO—ANDERSON

The Amisk Creek church was prettily decorated with peonies and other flowers, streamers and wedding bell, for the marriage last Saturday at 2 p.m., of Olive Irene, oldest daughter of Elmer and the late Mrs. Anderson of Dodds, to Nils Henry Hafso, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Hafso of Viking. Entering the church on her father's arm, the bride looked very sweet in her sky blue sheer afternoon dress with accessories to match. She carried a bouquet of carnations. Miss Doris Anderson, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She looked charming in a pink afternoon dress. Little Sylvia and Joyce Anderson were flower girls.

After the ceremony about one hundred and sixty-five guests journeyed to the home of the bride's parents at Dodds, where a very tempting cafeteria lunch was served to the guests. The bride's table was very nicely decorated and a three tiered wedding cake was placed in the centre. Mr. Cole, the storekeeper at Dodds was toastmaster. The bridal couple received many nice presents and good wishes for their happiness in the future. For going away the bride wore a navy blue suit. The couple left on the train for Edmonton the same evening. They will make their home on a farm near Viking.

Farm For Victory Committee Makes Plans

The Tofield Farm for Victory Committee held a meeting on the 12th of July at 8:30 p.m. in the offices of the Tofield Town Hall. The following were present: Mr. P. Sears; Mr. Ivor Moen; Mr. J. R. Murray; Mr. V. Moss; Mr. J. A. Jacobson; Mr. H. Weatherill; Mr. Roy Fleming; Mr. Agnew Dodds; Mr. A. J. Harrison; Mr. W. A. Moisey.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. A. J. Harrison, the member of the Holden Zone, Farm for Victory Committee. W. A. Moisey, District Agriculturist, acted as secretary.

The Election of Officers:

Mr. J. R. Murray (V. Moss) nominated Mr. P. J. Sears for president. Mr. Sears was elected unanimously. Mr. Weatherill (J. A. Jacobson) nominated Mr. Dan Dodds for vice-president. Mr. Dodds was elected unanimously. Mr. Ivor Moen (V. Moss) nominated Mr. William Davison as secretary. Mr. Davison was elected unanimously.

The next item of business was the discussion of the stock sweeps as a labor saving device in harvesting the fall crop. Mr. Rasmussen, the local blacksmith, was present and discussed the mechanical details of construction necessary in building a stock sweep. In view of the shortage of materials the following resolution was adopted unanimously.

RESOLVED: That the Tofield Farm for Victory Committee shall request permission from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, enabling them to purchase the necessary material for the construction of ten "Stock Sweeps" for use in the Tofield area.

In view of the shortage of labor for stooking this fall, it was decided to make use of the high school boys to assist in this work. However it was felt that to employ the boys individually or singly is not the best way to attack the labor shortage. The committee adopted that "swing gangs" be organized. The local teachers will be asked to act as guides for the boys. They will assume the responsibility in organizing the crews, making the agreements with the farmers and for the collections. It was suggested that an attempt be made to obtain the help of about sixty boys.

After some discussion the following resolution was adopted unanimously.

Whereas there will be a great shortage of labour during the coming threshing season, and

Whereas there will not be sufficient to operate all the machines to capacity, thus making the threshing expensive.

Therefore Be it Resolved we recommend that a system of rotating the available man power among the machines be instituted so that each may run with a full crew for a time. By so doing each machine will be enabled to put through as much grain in a shorter time as it would in a long period with a small crew.

The item of increased prices of Feed Grain was discussed and the following resolution was passed unanimously.

Whereas the price of Feed Grain has increased during the last month from 5c to 10c per bushel, and

Whereas there has been no corresponding increase in the price of hogs, and

Whereas this condition is undoubtedly likely to bring about a decrease in the production of hogs.

Therefore Be it Resolved that the price of hogs be raised at least two dollars ($2.00) per hundred pounds, live weight.

The committee decided to hold a Field Day on July 21st on the farm of Mr. Agnew Dodds. W. A. Moisey was requested to make arrangements with Mr. Claude Gallanger to have his "stock sweep" brought to the Field Day. In request to the price and to the materials required for the "stock sweep" it was decided that Mr. Rasmussen, Mr. Dan Dodds and W. A. Moisey go to Edmonton and see what can be done to purchase the necessary materials for the building of the "stock sweep". The date set was to be July 15th.

Mr. Stinson, the secretary of the Town of Tofield was approached to act as the local "contact man" for the application for farm labour. Mr. Stinson accepted the suggestion.

In view of the possibility that Mr. Rasmusson might be busy during the coming season, the members present thought that the building of the "sweeps" would best be accomplished by working in groups. Five members working together could help each other and speed up the construction considerably. Group working would save considerable time because one measurement of a particular job would serve, for example, five pieces.

Meeting adjourned.

Here's Easiest Way To Fix Plant Lice

Aphids, commonly known as plant lice, attack a wide variety of plants all over Canada. Spraying the plants with 40 per cent Nicotine Sulphate and water to which has been added a small amount of laundry soap, is the best and easiest method of controlling them. The nicotine should be used at the rate of [illegible] half a pint to 100 gallons of water, with two pounds of soap added. In small amounts the rate is two teaspoonfuls to a gallon of soapy water. Apply the material on a hot calm day, and drench both the upper and lower surfaces of the leaves so as actually to hit all the insects.

In protecting field crops at least 100 gallons of spray should be used per acre at each application, states the Division of Entomology, Dominion Department of Agriculture. Two or three applications at weekly intervals should give complete control. By purchasing the nicotine in bulk lots, that is, in large containers rather than in a number of small bottles or cans, the cost will be reduced.

Dangers To Young Pigs

According to a report just released by the Committee on Swine Diseases of the American Veterinary Medical Association, the four dangerous 'D's' in the lives of young pigs are drafts, dust, dampness and dirt. The report says that farmers can save more pigs if they will beware of these four dangerous 'D's' and be sure that the pig houses are warm, dry, well ventilated and free from dust and that young pigs are kept away from contamination of the old hog lots.

THE WHEAT PICTURE

Canadian wheat prices have firmed substantially in recent weeks. The Winnipeg price lagged for months away below the Chicago wheat quotation by from 40c to 50c a bushel. The changed wheat situation in North America has brought the speculators into the Winnipeg market and the price has mounted steadily.

The principal change in the wheat situation this year was the large disappearance in the United States, now calculated at a billion bushels for the 1942-43 crop year. Disappearance in that country in 1943-44 is expected to be even larger and the United States department of agriculture advances the tentative estimate of 1.1 billion bushels. The use of wheat for stock feed and for making alcohol were mainly responsible for the increased disappearance.

The July 1st, 1943 United States wheat carryover is estimated at around 590 million bushels. The new crop will probably yield 790 million bushels, giving total supplies of 1,380 million bushels. If disappearance totals 1.1 billions, the United States carryover on July 1st, 1944 will be down to 280 million bushels.

There are several other important factors which will have a strong effect on the wheat situation. One is the size of the corn production in the United States. Last year the total production was around 3.1 billion bushels. This year's crop is estimated at 2,700,000, so more wheat will likely have to be used as stock feed. There is a plentiful supply in Canada which could be shipped to the States if grain cars were available.

The United States livestock population has increased tremendously in the last two years. Some agricultural authorities are inclined to the opinion that the increase has been too great and that the enlarged herds and flocks are simply "eating their heads off." If the feed supply situation tightens up this summer, panicky selling of livestock may result.

Great Britain learned the lesson that it is more economical to produce grain to the exclusion of meat production. A pound of cereal will keep a man alive in an emergency just as long as a pound of meat but it takes from 3 to 8 pounds of cereal grain to make a pound of meat.

The general statistical position of wheat throughout the world has worked out about as estimated. Wheat stocks on July 1st, 1943 in the four major wheat exporting countries—Canada, the United States, Argentina and Australia—are placed at 1.8 billion bushels by the United States department of agriculture. Normally, that department says, this is large enough to take care of total world trade for three years.

Prospects for the 1943 world wheat crop indicate a production of from 10 to 15 per cent below the 4,240 million bushels harvested in 1942. The principal reduction was in North America, as both Europe and India had better crops than last year.

As indicated by Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Canadian minister of agriculture, the Dominion is likely to have total wheat supplies for the 1943-44 crop year of around [illegible] million bush., made up of carryover of around [illegible] million and prospective surplus from the 1943 crop of 280 million. This year's crop will be sure to be one of moderate out[illegible]. Drouth has been doing extensive damage and in the regions of ample rainfall the crop is quite late. —Wheat Pool Bulletin.

Railway Teamwork Saves The Day—And The Home

Detroit, Mich. July 19— Mrs. Ben Foster, Muskegon Heights, Mich., recently boarded a Grand Trunk-Canadian National train for Detroit. After the train left the station she remembered she had been using the electric iron and wondered if she had switched it off. She told the conductor of her plight. He tossed a message to a section gang working along the line. The foreman telephoned the Grand Trunk agent at Muskegon, who called the fire department. The fireman rushed to Mrs. Foster's kitchen, found the iron had burned through the board, but were in time to prevent serious damage.

Famous Questions

Here's our first and perhaps only story about pre-Christmas confusion in the great big stores. A man we know called one of the very biggest ones and told the operator he needed some information about phonograph records. She connected him first with the stores archives, or records office, which told him rather huffily, that he wanted the record department. The operator, who had apparently been listening in, said, "I'm sorry, sir. Which kind of records was you interested in musical or classical?" —The New Yorker.

Best Varieties Of Fall Rye

Rye is one of the most versatile of the cereal crops. It is grown for its grain, for early spring pasture, as a cover crop for ploughing down, and in areas where soil erosion may occur. While it responds to good soil, it will do relatively better than other cereals on poor fertility.

Varieties of rye are not known as generally as those of other cereals, yet there are distinct varieties of this crop which make them more suitable than others for different localities and for different purposes. Variety tests are conducted at most of the Dominion Experimental Farms and Provincial Institutions and variety recommendations may be obtained from the nearest Experimental Station. The following are a number of varieties which have given good results in tests sponsored in different parts of Canada by the Cereal Division, Experimental Farms Branch, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

DAKOLD. This is a very hardy winter variety which is especially recommended for the Prairie Provinces where winters are severe. It originated through plant selection at North Dakota Experiment Station. The University of Saskatchewan has done further selection on this variety and has produced Dakold (Sask. 23).

COMMON (Lethbridge) —A winter hardy variety produced at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Lethbridge, Alberta, from rye grown in this area, and has given good results in this locality.

CROWN—A winter hardy variety of Swedish origin, possessing large dark coloured seed. Not as hardy as Dakold, but an excellent yielding variety.

HORTON—A tall growing variety of good strength of straw. Begins growth early in the spring, a desirable feature for early spring pasture. Developed at Macdonald College, Quebec, and does well in Eastern Canada.

IMPERIAL—Produces large seeds of light colour. It has good strength of straw and is an excellent yielding variety. Formerly known as Wisconsin Ped. 6 and developed at the University of Wisconsin. Well adapted for most parts of Canada except where an exceptionally winter hardy variety such as Dakold is required.

WARM WEATHER LOWERS CREAM QUALITY

Water is the best cooling agent—it has twenty-one times the cooling power of air at the same temperature.

The cream producer wishing to secure top grades and top prices would be well advised to construct an inexpensive farm cream cooling tank which can be placed between the pump and stock trough. Plans for such a tank will be supplied free of charge to anyone writing the Dairy Branch, Department of Agriculture.

Sugar Rationed: Need More Honey

(Experimental Farms News)

Because of sugar rationing every pound of honey that can be produced is urgently needed, consequently beekeepers in Canada are being urged to work their bees and equipment to the utmost capacity.

The main sources of honey in Canada are Alsike, White Dutch and Sweet Clovers. Although the major portion of the honey crop comes from the clovers grown under cultivation a great amount of it is secured from those that grow under natural conditions along roadsides and on uncultivated land, says C. B. Gooderham, Dominion Apiarist. Usually the cultivated crops are cut for hay before they finish blooming, so that the flow of nectar is prematurely stopped and the possible honey crop reduced. Under natural conditions, however, the clovers will continue to blossom until late autumn, so the flow of nectar is continued over a longer period and the honey crop is thereby increased. This is particularly true of sweet [illegible]. It is estimated that under suitable weather conditions for nectar secretion, one acre of clover allowed to blossom normally will yield from 1 to 200 pounds of honey.

Just now there is an abundance of clover of all kinds growing along roadsides and on uncultivated land which, if allowed to bloom would add many thousands, perhaps millions of pounds to the honey crop of Canada. In order that this potential crop of food may be secured it is hoped that in any region where cutting the vegetation along roadsides and on waste land, is practiced, an effort will be made to leave standing as much of the clover as possible.

Flowers From Manchester To Calgary In 48 Hours

Calgary, Alta., July 19— When Capt. M. B. Barclay of Trans-Canada Air Lines, piloted a Lancaster plane from England to Canada in the near record time of 14 hours, seven minutes, he carried a dozen roses from a garden in Manchester, in care of A. Stewart, airways technician. At Montreal, Mr. [illegible] transferred the flowers to Trans-Canada Express and shipped them to Calgary. They arrived in fine condition. The overall time from Manchester garden to Calgary parlor was less than 48 hours.

SOLDIER of the SOIL

THIS year the Canadian Farmer urgently needs help. He needs your help to produce the food so necessary for victory. Many thousands of farm workers are serving in the Forces, so that the farmer—the Soldier of the Soil—is shorthanded, but shorthanded as he is, he is called upon to produce more food than ever before. Food is one of the most powerful weapons of war. Grains, bacon, dairy products, eggs, beef, fruit, vegetables—FOOD to feed our armies, our allies and our people we must have.

WHAT CAN YOU DO?

You may be a school teacher, student, business or professional man, an office or store clerk—no matter what you are, if you have a few hours, days, weeks, or months of free time this summer, you can do your country and the farmer a great and patriotic service by helping out on the farm. You may be inexperienced, but you still can help. You will find work on the farm healthy and congenial. It will give you the satisfaction of feeling that you have brought Victory nearer.

What you should do NOW!

FOOD—

ONE NEEDS VERY little excuse to write about food. First of all most people need it three times a day, and only a shade less important is the fact that the production of food has been and still is this district's basic industry. Consequently when most of the world's regular food trade channels are disrupted to the extent that they are disrupted, and there are genuine fears among men well versed in world wide food distribution that the "cruelist famine of modern times" is possible, now is a good time to take stock.

If one views the question in an international, national or even local area sense, there is not a great deal he or she can do. Enthusiasm and interest can be aroused but enthusiasm and interest itself is of little practical use. Among the things that are needed is a realization that, incredible as it may now seem, it is not impossible for North America to become short of food, particularly for the civilian population.

No doubt Canadian as well as United States statesmen and government officials are working on the problem according to the information that they have, and they will no doubt do all in their power to avert any catastrophe here or elsewhere. As intimated by the selected editorial following this one there will be criticism and quite likely praise levelled at them, which providing it is constructive and not destructive, is all to the good, as that is the democratic way of doing things.

Our interest lies, and we feel the interest of those people living within this area should also, in the individual's application to the problem. In the spring in addition to the regular plowing and sowing of grain fields, many gardens were planted. Under the impetus of "plant a victory garden" enthusiasm, regular gardens were enlarged and many new ones added and these gardens are now green with the promise of a good yield a short time later. There is a danger that in the abundance of vegetable foodstuff that these gardens contain that there will be some waste, but while some waste no doubt will be inevitable, individual thought and planning now will help to reduce this to a minimum. Each individual has his own problems and to write "do this" or "do that" is for us just a little too superior. However there are at least two good reasons why the individual should take the food situation seriously, duty to oneself and one's family and duty to all mankind.

AT LEAST 50,000,000 ACRES—
(Christian Science Monitor)

IF ANYTHING CONCRETE were needed to show the Roosevelt Administration is still strangely uncomprehending of the supremely critical part American food must play if the cruelest famine of modern times is to be averted, such evidence is contained in the 1944 production goals just announced by Food Administrator Marvin Jones. He asks for the planting of 16,000,000 additional acres. On June 8, Herbert Hoover said the planting of 47,000,000 additional acres was the minimum needed.

Mr. Hoover was being conservative. American agriculture, which normally feeds some 140,000,000 people, must, within a future that is daily becoming more foreseeable, undertake the gargantuan task of feeding up to three or four times that number. It must do this not only because humanitarian instincts demand it, but also because there can be no stable peace anywhere in the world while that third gaunt horseman lashes his black steed over Europe and Asia.

The general direction of Mr. Jones' goals are good. His recognition of the need for more oils, vegetables, and cereals and his acknowledgment that more cotton lands must be devoted to food purposes is encouraging.

And if domestic consumption were the only concern, his goals might suffice, although augmented purchasing power, combined with price freezes, tends greatly to increase domestic consumption, while lend-lease and the armed services also make heavy demands. But when vision is lifted to embrace the world need already vividly present, and when the pattern of future events can be seen in the food ships that followed in the wake of the invasion of Sicily, the 1944 goals look pitiably small.

The United States still has before it a scheduling, organizing, management, production problem that is as vast, and possibly as costly, as the job of munitions production. This task is entirely feasible and can be accomplished within the limits of the Nation's resources; but it requires leadership and planning that are still disappointingly lacking.

The suburbanite in his Victory Garden and the housewife busy with canning seem to show an appreciation of the domestic and world food situation that Washington might usefully emulate. These are times for strenuous exertions.

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

Written specially for the weekly newspapers of Canada

By JIM GREENBLAT

Night of July 9th. While Brooke Claxton, parliamentary assistant addressed a sparse and somnambulant House on External Affairs, I had the feeling somehow that momentous things were in the making. The Prime Minister and Defence Minister Ralston, only two cabinet members present were close in huddle in adjoining front benches. The P.M. looked grave and pre-occupied. He was making a pencilled draft. Correcting, leaning over to check with Mr. Ralston, pencilling some more. At 8 o'clock next morning I heard his radio announcement to the nation that Canadians were fighting on the beach heads of Sicily. He may have been drafting that important speech as I watched, even while all of Canada was unaware of history-making events taking shape thousands of miles away. Surely they knew. What a secret to carry!

* * *

No stove league raised more fuss than sugar for canning. Housewives were definitely annoyed at the arbitrary allotment after counting cans in the basement. The Opposition started a warm but informative debate in the House on this matter and Finance Minister Ilsley said knowledge of available supplies was not known at the time. It was estimated 30 to 40 per cent of the population did their own canning. Lo and behold, actually 84 per cent applied. Now, in Germany and the U.S.A., a flat allocation is made to each ration book holder, whether for canning or not. Canadians asked for 200 million pounds; only half that amount available. Certainly there will be a different approach to the problem next year.

* * *

Most productive of argument speech in the House for some time—that of Justice Minister St. Laurent on the resolution for deferment of redistribution during the war. There was a distinct tenseness in the House. Party leaders and supporters approved, but nine Quebec members voted against putting the motion. There seemed unanimity with Mr. Coldwell the day must come when Canada will make decisions of this kind without reference to Imperial Parliament. That Canada by this time is wearing long pants. Mr. St. Laurent who talks in clipped and measured tones, drew fire from quiet speaking Conservative House Leader Graydon for "side-stepping the resolution and injecting racial controversies". The minister claimed some people mongered that "that man in the Vatican" and Quebec clergy plotted to control government of Canada; He said such talk was rampant. Saw the desirability of having our own flag and national anthem although that shouldn't be pressed during the war. Claimed vigorously that Quebec was entitled to more equitable representation based on population. Mr. Graydon countered that raising of these side issues now was provocatively dangerous to national unity.

* * *

Who'd ever thought it! Research experts of the Department of Agriculture, although mum on the subject yet, are working on the production of rubber, resins and a superior kapok from species of the lowly milk weed. A group have returned here from the U.S.A., where they conferred with experts on progress made there along the same line. It appears it's getting into the post-experimental stage because I hear they are even working on harvesting methods and machinery to make the once-pest get to work for the war-effort.

* * *

Members tell us the present long-drawn out session, which started in January, will probably wind up by the end of this month. The closely printed official report of the House of Commons already runs well over 4000 pages. Which brings up press comment that the four federal by-elections will be a serious test of public opinion; may influence the government's decision re a general election, though there is no official peep about such a possibility. Ontario election: editors in the province showing definite party tendencies, but all agreeing there should be no apathy by voters.

* * *

"T1-General 1942" income tax form was a national headache. C. Fraser Elliott, commissioner for income tax told a newsman here, at the height of the mob scene, he had high hopes for simplified income tax legislation in 1944 and with it a form that doesn't take a hopped-up chartered accountant to solve.

Probably more CWAAC's, etc., in Ottawa than any other single place. My observation here is that Canada can be proud of them. From what I've seen in the nation's capital their bearing, conduct and deportment on the whole is excellent. It could be that some civilian women do not set the same standard.

* * *

Come prepared. Probably tradition, but lady visitors to the House of Commons galleries without a hat have to spread a kerchief or piece of Kleenex over their heads before entering the august presence. Men, of course, uncover. Seems—and sometimes looks—a little silly.

* * *

Directed toward greater efficiency in manpower allocation it is announced here that a representative of National Selective service will be located at army reception centres to interview rejected applicants for enlistment. If sympathetically handled in my opinion, this should help to put more round pegs in round holes of the agricultural and industrial war effort.

* * *

The Prices Board has granted an increase of 2-3 of a cent a dozen on clothes pins. Doesn't seem much, but what does it mean to Canadian housewives? Curious I checked, found they use annually around one million 380 thousand gross or over 190 million pins to hang out the wash.

* * *

1941 census figures show that 82.5 per cent of the population of Canada was born in this country, as against 77.8 in 1931. Of the 11,506,655 total about 8.7 per cent were from British countries, mainly the British Isles; European, 3.7 per cent, United States 2.7 per cent; Asia born only 0.4 per cent.

* * *

Forecasts by Gardiner (Agriculture): Movement of coarse grains to eastern provinces for feeding will double 1942 figures, and probably reach 100 million bushels. Government pays cost of freight from Ft. William east, thus they buy at Ft. Wm. prices. He also said the reason there will be no subsidy on corn this year is because fertilizer is short, has to be distributed largely in connection with grass and other grain [illegible]

* * *

Widely quoted in the press was an article on political union with the U.S.A., appearing in London Free Press. In brief it opposed union because "the British [illegible] is best; there is greater respect for law and order under it; there is a greater future under the British Commonwealth of Nations than becoming the 49th state in the Union.

* * *

In spirit of humility but resolution, I thought, political leaders in the House referred to Dominion Day 1943, as they were in session. Significant excerpts! Prime Minister King, "By our strength in war, and by our understanding and co-operation in peace, Canada can contribute mightily to the building of a better world." Mr. Graydon, Progressive-Conservative: ". . . our armed forces, we owe them a debt of gratitude difficult to pay . . . resolve to pay them that debt, no matter how much it may be." Angus MacInnis, C.C.F. pinch-hitting: "If we are to have peace and harmony then we shall have to start thinking in terms of world community, not Anglo-Saxon, not only of English speaking races, but of the whole world;" J. H. Blackmore, Social Credit: ". . . cause for deep satisfaction that we have boundless responsibilities for feeding of the people of the world and for the rehabilitation of the world."

What Japan Offered

During the depths of the depression, in 1933, Japanese industrialists set out to capture the markets of the world. A European bureau was set up in Vienna as a distributing centre for Japanese manufactured goods. Here are some of the prices quoted on Japanese goods offered through the Vienna branch:

Electric lamp globes	1 1-3c each
Bicycles	$3 10 each
Men's socks	3c pair
Fountain pens with gold gold points	6c each
3 piece china service complete	28c

During the year 1933 Japanese export trade to Europe and North America increased by 39 per cent. —Wheat Pool Bulletin.

Canadians In Japanese Hands Said Suffering

Ottawa, July 22— Conditions among Canadian prisoners in hands of the Japanese are indicated by recent word received here that a number of Canadians have died from causes believed related to deficiencies of food. Efforts are under way to forward more food to Canadian prisoners held by the Japs, but officials report that difficulties have been great so far.

The Japanese shipping situation is known to be deteriorating and this is believed to be a contributing factor to the difficulties of getting assistance to war prisoners in Jap hands. Over a recent period 40 Canadian soldiers have died in Jap prison camps.

From information received here recently some of the Canadians captured at Hong Kong and interned there have been moved to Formosa and possibly some other parts of Japanese territory. Under the Geneva convention, prisoners are entitled to the same rations as base soldiers of the army that captures them. It is understood that in some cases, the Japanese have recognized the difference in diet and provided prisoners with more than their own army rations. But many prisoners it is believed, are steadily becoming subject to diseases due to food deficiency as a result of living on provisions supplied by the Japanese.

To Trade Is Natural

To trade, to do business, to buy and sell is natural. As natural as breathing, eating, sleeping or walking. No race of humans are known to exist who do not buy, sell or trade to some extent. Even if one lived under a breadfruit tree in a tropical country there would still be something lacking—butter — and surplus breadfruit would probably be traded to somebody who possessed cows or goats, for butter.

This is no tropical country and there are certainly no breadfruit trees around, but there are quite a number of things that could be traded or sold. A used plow, tractor, binder or any other piece of farm equipment. Furniture too, or even clothing very often have resale value, often having done duty for their original owner. And then too, there is that extra horse in the pasture, cow in the barn, extra pigs in the sty or even chickens in the chicken house.

Somebody, somewhere, may be looking for any one of these things and the easiest, cheapest and most effective way to let people know they are for sale is through a CLASSIFIED WANT AD in the MERCURY.

Sink A U-Boat — Buy A Stamp-O-Gram

Residents of rural Northern Alberta are responding generously to Canada's "Stamp Out The U-Boat" campaign. Returns to date indicate that many of the sixty rural Units are well on their way toward meeting their respective objectives. First point to report success was Cadogan, which doubled its Sub-Unit objective of $45 and reported a completed "Stamp-o-gram" chart indicating $90 sales on July 1. According to information they submitted to Head quarters, the hard-working committee have set two completed charts or $180 as their new objective. This is four times their quota.

The first completed "Stamp-o-gram" chart to reach Headquarters came from Wetaskiwin. Provost followed twenty four hours later.

The Andrew Sub-Unit, with an objective of $100, reported last Friday that sales at that time totaled $180, and in view of promises from two individuals to purchase a depth charge each, the committee has voluntarily raised its quota to $800.

Committee workers are finding "Stamp-o-gram" charts very appealing and popular. Customers generally are making purchases by the dollar or more in order to be eligible to sign their names to the "Stamp-o-grams."

Each "Stamp-o-gram" contains a message to Hitler or his Naval head or Admiral Karl Doenitz. As the "Stamp-o-gram" is signed, it is pasted to the "Stamp-o-gram" chart. As the chart is completed with ninety signatures, it is then forwarded to Edmonton Headquarters. During the campaign the charts sent in from the various towns will be placed on display in departmental store windows especially reserved for that purpose.

At the end of the campaign all the completed charts will be forwarded to Ottawa and thence to an operating Naval Unit Overseas accompanying a depth charge. In that manner, each individual's signed message will be delivered to the enemy.

The campaign closes July 31. In the meantime, Stamp selling committees throughout Northern Alberta's sixty rural Units are appealing to the residents to increase their savings by making extra purchases of Stamps this month. "Stamp-o-garm" charts can be found in any retail store in your community.

Golden Opportunity

A certain very happily married college professor, delivering a graduation address, had this to say to the listening students.

"Gentlemen, many of you will marry. Let me entreat you to be kind to your wives. Be patient with them. When one of you asks your wife to go riding with you, do not worry if he is not ready at the appointed time. Have a good book nearby. Read it while you wait. And, gentlemen—" his kindly smile showed a trace of irony—"I assure you that you will be astonished at the amount of information you will acquire."

SEEDTIME and HARVEST

By Dr. K. W. Neatby, Director, Agricultural Department, North-West Line Elevators Association

For Farm Boys

Farming requires a wide variety of skills and a lot of knowledge. The farmer must be a mechanic to get the best out of machinery, a botanist to recognize weeds and mixtures in his crops, a breeder to select the best sires and dams, a nutritionist to fit his stock for the market economically, a pathologist to recognize and control diseases in his crops and livestock, and so on. In addition, he must be a business man and a useful member of his own community.

Our colleges of agriculture have done wonders in training men who wish to devote their lives to research and experimentation, but these are not all. They also provide courses for those intending to farm. These courses do not pretend to teach a boy how to farm, but they do teach him a lot about farm problems that cannot be learned at all, or only with great difficulty, elsewhere. In addition to much useful knowledge of crop production, livestock management, and agricultural engineering, the student mixes with farm boys from all over his province, and learns something of their problems. He returns to his farm a better farmer and a more useful citizen.

Agricultural training is offered at the School of Agriculture, Olds, Alberta; the University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon; and the University of Manitoba, Winnipeg. Write to these institutions for information on School of Agriculture courses and short courses in special subjects. Extra copies of this article with additional information may be obtained from line elevator agents.

PELHAM RICHARDSON

Mr. Richardson, well known to Canadian radio, was born in England, but came to Kingston, Ontario, at an early age. He obtained his schooling in Canada, and later studied music in New York and Los Angeles. Some of his early network shows were entitled "Prairie Half Hour," "Live, Laugh and Love," "Melody Lane." In 1928 Mr. Richardson conducted the "Little Symphony," one of the original studio orchestras in Canada, and among the first to broadcast on a coast-to-coast network. A Veteran in Canadian radio, Mr. Richardson has met with some unusual experiences. His "Worst moment" was when, with seconds to go until broadcast time, the vocalist fainted! Presence of mind and some hastily-applied first aid resulted in her recovery in time to go on, with no indication to the listeners of the near-disaster. Pelham Richardson's orchestra is heard on Tuesdays at 11:00 p.m. CDT (10:00 p.m. MDT) over CBK and stations of the Western nework.

Garson Sees Much Lacking In Debt Act

Winnipeg, July 22 —Premier Stuart S. Garson of Manitoba declared yesterday that the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act at present before the Canadian House of Commons, falls short of the protection requested by the western delegation he took to Ottawa last March.

In fairness to the federal government, the premier said, it should not be forgotten that any bill to stand the chance of enactment would have to contain provisions a majority of parliament was prepared to support.

"We must take a realistic view of one other fact," Premier Garson declared. "This new bill has been introduced a few days before adjournment of the house. If the western delegation had asked to have the sittings of the House of Commons Committee adjourned so that it might make representations concerning the points in which the bill falls short, it would have created, not only the risk but almost the certainty of the bill being left on the order paper when the house adjourned. That would have left farmer debtors without any protection.

"If the new act, once enacted, was found wanting, amendments could be made."

M. J. Coldwell Condemns Ilsley's Farm Debt Bill

Winnipeg, July 22— M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the C.C.F. party, said here today that his party was highly critical of the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act, passed last night by the house of commons. Mr. Coldwell is here to [illegible] addresses in support of William Bryce, C.C.F. candidate in the Selkirk federal by-election Aug. 9.

He said the C.C.F. did not believe in a one-man court, presided over by a county court judge, to make adjustments for farm bankruptcy cases.

"The judicial mind is schooled in the sanctity of contracts," he declared, "and is not the proper type of mind for adjustment work of this nature."

"We would be quite willing to see a county court judge as chairman of the board, on which there would be lay representatives," he continued. "Then, too, under the present setup, appeals would be expensive for the farmer, and we oppose this bill."

In Other Words, "No"

It is supposed to have happened in an Oslo hotel. A girl sitting in the [illegible] was approached by a Nazi [illegible] who asked her to dance. She refused, and [illegible] afterward he returned and in a belligerent manner asked:

"Is it because I am a German?"

"Not at all," said the girl smiling very sweetly. "It is merely because I am a Norwegian."

Premier Speaks at Social Credit Picnic

The Social Credit Picnic which was held at Weslake Beach, Wednesday, July 21st, was a grand success. A splendid crowd was in attendance and the weather was ideal.

Prominent representatives present were, the new premier, Mr. Manning and Mrs. Manning, Mr. Floyd Baker, M.L.A., Dr. McPherson, M.L.A. and Mrs. McPherson of Ryley and Mr. and Mrs. Williams of Edmonton. Mr. Williams is editor of the Social Credit paper, "To-day and Tomorrow."

Mr. Ronald Murray was chairman and introduced the speakers. The first speaker called on was Dr. McPherson, then Mr. Baker, followed by Premier Manning. All speakers gave splendid addresses, Mr. Manning stressing the Social Credit platform strongly. As this was the first time the people in this district had heard Mr. Manning as the premier, his address was doubly appreciated. This part of the program closed by all singing the grand old theme song "Oh, God Our Help in Ages Past," and "God Save The King."

The sports were enjoyed, the children taking an active part. Both grown-ups and children made good use of the booth.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended Mr. and Mrs. Weslake for their kind hospitality and the use of their grounds which are excellent for such a picnic.

Premier and Mrs. Manning met and greeted the people personally which was heartily appreciated and we all hope for another grand day like this next year.

Strawberry Ripe

About eighteen months ago Mr. Pete Sosiak came to the Tofield district from Manitoba and purchased a small acreage north of town. At the time he came here he announced that he intended growing strawberries. This announcement while not exactly sensational, was received with certain reservations. Strawberry growing is not new in this district, many people having tried them out, but growing strawberries commercially was another thing. However Mr. Sosiak went ahead and planted his bed and cared for them through the first non-productive year and this year is reaping the reward of his labor and care by selling quite a lot to the eager buyers in town and country. Pete's arrangement is unique, you can pick your own or have them picked for you, the price is the same in any [illegible].

Mr. Sosiak has been growing strawberries for twenty or more years and feels that he has ironed out most of the wrinkles. Certainly due to a waiting market and a high price he has done well.

The strawberry patch while not immense is of good size and will yield about 25 cases, which at this year's prices is a good return.

The birds are his worst enemy but he says the solution to the bird problem is to plant a good sized patch. Speaking of his own patch, Mr. Sosiak said, "I plant enough for the birds and myself too, the birds cannot eat them all there are always some left for me."

Certainly he seemed to be doing very well while we were there.

Hastings Lake Luther League Bible Camp Has Grand Opening

A splendid opening day for the Hastings Bible Camp with approximately 350 campers and visitors on hand was held. The entire shoreline was lined with cars.

Pastor Rude of Armena delivered the opening sermon choosing as his topic "The Challenge to Our Youth Today." In the afternoon Rev. Viage of Ryley spoke on the theme "Take Heed How Ye Hear." Rev. Johnson of Edmonton was the evening speaker. There were splendid musical numbers by Leaguers.

Rev. Stolee of Viking is camp manager. Messrs. B. Lokken, J. Holte, M. Johnson and E. Haave have charge of the junior classes, and John Lerbekmo and P. Anderson are directing recreational activities.

Pastor Rude is dean of the boys and Irene Rude is dean of the girls.

By the second day 125 campers had registered. An offering for the camp was lifted Sunday amounting to $72.00.

Miss Stella Gunderson is again the chef and her excellent provision for the hungry campers is by no means a minor feature of the program.

The camp remained open until July 25th.

New Order Freezes Canned Goods

Ottawa, July 26— The Prices Board today froze stocks of canned goods in the hands of canners and wholesalers "to assure supplies of canned fruits and vegetables for civilian and military requirements for next winter."

The board's order affects all canned fruit and vegetable products except canned soups, baby foods, jams, jellies and marmalades. Frozen and dehydrated products are not affected.

The board's announcement said that "under the plan the public will be asked to refrain from using canned fruits and vegetables during the season when fresh supplies are on the market."

"The action takes the form of withholding from the retail market the current pack of canned vegetables and fruit and the remainder of the 1942 pack now in the hands of canners and wholesalers, thus conserving the stocks during the period when supplies of fresh products are readily available," said the board statement.

The freezing order is effective immediately and applies to canners, wholesalers and those retailers who operate central warehouses or storage places separate from their retail stores.

It is claimed that India has mastered the processing of all kinds of vegetables, fruits, meats and eggs and has progressed a step further than other countries and produced a steam pressure cooked dehydrated vegetable which does not require cooking and will rehydrate in five minutes by pouring boiling water over it.

ALLIED GRAND STRATEGY CONFERENCE IN NORTH AFRICA: PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT MEETS MR. CHURCHILL

One of the most momentous conferences of this war began on 14 1 43 near Casablanca when President Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill met to survey the entire field of the war, theatre by theatre. They were accompanied by the Chiefs of Staff of the two countries. All resources were marshalled for the active and concerted execution of the Allied plans for the offensive campaign of 1943. President Roosevelt later described the conference as the "unconditional surrender" meetings, meaning that only the unconditional surrender of the Axis powers would assure world peace in the future.

LAKESHORE

Mrs. McConnell spent Wednesday with Mrs. T. E. Seale. Mrs. Innis, Mrs. E. Rogers and Mrs. Hopgood drove out to Mrs. John Wood's for dinner and the afternoon.

While the ladies were having visitors, the men were attending the Bruce stampede. There was quite a crowd went down from this district.

Leslie Jones and Arnold made a "circle tour" recently that included Edmonton, Pigeon Lake and Camrose.

Stewart Ferguson spent a few days in hospital after a result of accidentally drinking some gasoline. He is home again, feeling quite well.

Remodelling and stuccoing of T. D. Ferguson's home has been completed and a very neat and cosy home it looks now.

Mrs. John Wood and Mrs. Abernethy are planning to spend the week end at Pigeon Lake with Mrs. Carl King.

Mr. and Mrs. Radke and daughter Sharon of Trail, B.C., were visitors at Owen Eaton's last week. Mrs. Radke is better known here as Della Fry.

More than one person in this locality has mentioned the fact that they have potatoes growing this year where, mysteriously, none were planted. There were some left in the ground last fall and in each case they were near a windbreak or other sheltered spot where deep snow fell early and stayed till late in the spring. Even so, for potatoes left in the ground to survive a winter such as we experienced in 1942-43 is really something for the books. There were dozens of people whose potatoes were badly frozen in their cellars.

Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Russel Ferguson, at Lamont, a son.

Mussolini Ousted, Italy Under Marshal Law

From around the world comes speculation and assertion that the exit of Benito Mussolini as premier of Italy has spelled out the prelude of a separate peace for Germany's Axis partner.

The Rome radio has announced the formation of a new cabinet, including the following members:

Chief of Government: Marshal Pietro Badoglio.
Foreign Minister: Raffaele Guariglia.
Minister of Interior: Bruno Fornaciari.
Minister of War: Antonio Sorice
Minister of Navy: Rear Admiral Rafaello de Curten
Minister for Italian Africa: Gen Melchiade Gatta.
Minister of Justice: Gaetano Azzariti.
Minister of Finance: Domenico Bartolini.
Air: Renato Sandagli.
Education: Leonardo Severi.
Public Works: Alessandro Bruzzi
Communications: Gen Frederico Amoroso.
Corporations, Leonardo Picardi.
Popular Culture: Guido Rocco
Currency: Giovanni Campora.
War Production: Gen. Carlo Favagrossa
Under Secretary to President of Council: Dr. Pietro Baratono

Announcement of the new cabinet, from which all of the former Fascist leaders were cleaned out, was preceded by a statement that "His Majesty the King Emperor, at the suggestion of the head of the government, the Prime Minister," had nominated the new cabinet members.

In capital after capital the reaction, although frequently only semi-official was that a tottering Italy had moved one step nearer to an exit from the war, whether through early armistice or capitulation to marching Allied armies.

Boys' Camp To Be Interesting Experiment

(Wm. D. Cutsungavich, M.D.)

An experiment in nutrition research is being carried on at present by the Lamont Health Unit, through a boys camp at Elk Island Park, which should draw the attention of all interested in this work.

We are accustomed to hearing of some learned scientists in some distant part of the country, backed by a wealthy institution, carrying out painstaking laboratory tests with the help of a corp of silent, keen-eyed assistants. But taking thirty undernourished boys from here and there in the northern part of this province and establishing them at Elk Island Park, a spot familiar to us all, as part of an experiment in nutrition under ideal conditions, is an innovation in Alberta. Carefully planned and organized by Dr. Siemens of the Lamont Health Unit, the purpose of the camp is to see by before and after comparisons, what benefits can be derived from correct nutrition, proper rest, play and environment. All activities are under the supervision of Dr. Siemens, with a dietition in charge of the meal planning; two nurses to care for the childrens' health and an athletic director supplied by the Provincial Department of Education in charge of recreation. A careful study of each child is made, accurate records kept, and from this a report will be written up later on the results of the experiment which will be of great interest to those engaged in health work.

The costs of the project are largely met by donations from wholesale houses, individuals, and food supplies brought in by different school districts in the Lamont area. Expenses not accounted for in this way are being borne by the Lamont Health Unit.

Each candidate for the camp was given a careful medical examination previous to being accepted, and in instances where physical defects could be corrected, operations and other services were performed, free of charge. Most of this work was done through the co-operation of medical men in the district who were willing to help along the undertaking by donating their services. This included chest plates made of all the boys going to camp. [illegible] district in the province was invited to send one boy, aged 10 to 13 years, and the remainder of 22 were selected from the Lamont Health Unit. The Holden Health Unit sent a candidate and he writes us that he is having a wonderful time.

Part of the plan was to invite the public in to observe what is being done. Certain days have been set aside when special demonstrations will be held although the public is welcome to call at the camp at any time during the six weeks from July 4th to August 14th, and see what is being done. On August 6th a big day is planned with the Hon. W. W. Cross, Hon. Bruce McMillan and the Hon. Solon Low as guest speakers. During the week following a demonstration booth will be operated by the Department of Agriculture, with a district agriculturist in charge to advise on farm problems. At the moment we understand Mr. Moisey from this territory will be in attendance for that week. There will also be a canning demonstration given for the ladies.

Should you be planning a trip to Elk Island Park for August 6th, or would find it possible to go, you are cordially invited to visit the nutrition camp and learn more about this experiment. Take your picnic basket and enjoy an outing at one of our prettiest holiday spots, and at the same time observe a new step in health education, such as will probably witness much more widely as our knowledge of this vital science grows.

Sad Story of a Broody Hen

A DISPATCH FROM THE FARM
By John Gould in Christian Science Monitor

We've been whittling down on our old hens this summer. Every time we stew one, the difficulties of feeding them are reduced, and with grain shorter than the wool on a pig, this is a good thing. We have four left and they are doing on sour milk and grass. [illegible] We give them the [illegible] they round up the grasshoppers themselves, and we had a [illegible] a rest [illegible] in the tall grass.

I suppose the stupidest thing in the world is a broody hen. She hops off the [illegible] in full possession of her various faculties, and [illegible] sneaks out to her cache and lays another egg. Upon surveying the collection she decides she has enough, and that evening she clucks and hovers as if she thought the infinite activities of the universe were [illegible] and nobody had anything to do but sit on the fence and cheer her. She resents anything and everything and instead of climbing up the roost with her chums she goes through a red herring routine designed to allay suspicion and then trots back to her nest to commence incubation.

This red herring business consists of [illegible] to the northeast sending nobody at all to believe her nest is in that direction. After a bit of this, she sneaks around the barn, through the raspberry canes, and comes to the southwesterly clump of thistles by the pigpen and settles over her clutch like a fog bank on Tit Manan. This is when I step up, take her in hand, retrieve the ten eggs, and expect an omelet for breakfast.

Since our hens have lived collectively in single blessedness, the idea of chickens is sheer fancy. Nevertheless a maiden hen will cope with the problem extensively; coping with the [illegible] of a circus poster when she comes to feed at the common hopper, and coping with the [illegible] secrecy of an entranced recluse when she sits in reversed [illegible] on her eggs. It seems a shame for such laborious application to go to waste, so we decided to help her out.

Taking the ten eggs, not yet far enough advanced to be worthless, to the house, I walked over to Harry Gould's and bought an expensive setting of eggs. Harry has worked for years to develop his strain of [illegible]. They are about as good a bird as grows feathers and get up to [illegible] pounds as quickly as anything short of a mangelwurzel! My broody hen, I thought, would be delighted.

My broody hen, of course, was nothing of the sort. She never went near the thistle clump again, and began hovering on anything and everything else that would let her. One day she hunched in a corner of the tie-up on two half-grown pullets—immature babies who were unquestionably amazed and kept popping their heads out to confirm their suspicions. She hovered on nothing at all part of the time, and would chase around suddenly as if she'd just discovered a great loss. In her deluded condition she must have fancied herself mothering a handsome brood, and in momentary returns to ratiocination she was inconsolable. Each evening we would hunt her down, stroke her back feathers kindly, and carry her to the thistles where we would settle her down over Harry's eggs and beg her to apply herself.

Each evening she would cluck pleasantly, tuck the eggs under her with her beak, and appear to be well satisfied. But as soon as our backs were turned she would cheat, and as we walked back to the house we would find her somehow under the grape arbor clucking and hovering and tucking an old mustard jar under her with devoted mother love. We stood just so much of that and stuck her in a breaking-up coop where she soon returned to straight thinking and went back to her grasshoppers and sour milk. Had she made a go of it, we'd have heard little peeps in time, and she'd have enjoyed the rest of the summer teaching her clutch the manifold methods of catching grasshoppers.

But hens that go broody stop laying eggs, and hens that stop laying eggs are not long for this lean year. I hope her unhappy culmination with dumpling and boiled onions may be profitably heeded by the three sturdy layers we shall have left. I think this coming Sunday will do nicely.

Avoid Accidents, Protect Children

During the long vacation period this year, there is a special need for motorists exercising great care to avoid accidents. Thousands of youngsters, no longer at school owing to holiday time, will be playing on the streets and highways, regardless of warnings of the danger of playing in traffic lanes.

The Alberta Motor Association has issued many warnings of the risks involved in letting children play on the streets. But these warnings have not removed the danger.

The co-operation of parents or guardians is essential. They must impress on the children in the home the great risk to life or physical injury involved in playing on the streets, and the important need of using every precaution to ensure safety.

Valuable work of school boy patrols no longer is at hand during the summer holidays to protect the children. They must be told at home that they should use every care to keep out of traffic zones where hazards are involved.

Alberta Department Of Agriculture Crop Report

General: Recent rains in Southern Alberta have improved crop conditions, however, the severe damage from drought already inflicted gives little hope for more than a light crop. Crop conditions in central and northern Alberta are generally good but as yet crops are still behind normal in development. A long open fall is of paramount importance to enable harvesting of this years crop.

Field Crops: Crops in the drought areas of Southern Alberta received general rains. This long awaited moisture has improved crop conditions greatly but crops on stubble have deteriorated too far to benefit a great deal. Crops on summerfallow are greatly improved but in general a light crop is all that can be expected. In central and northern Alberta crops are generally good. Crops were late seeded this year and as yet have not been able to develop rapidly enough to overcome this loss in time. Although crops are good, a long favourable fall is necessary to complete the harvesting of a late crop.

Haying is generally delayed due to recent rains. In the south, dry land hay crops are light. Hay crops are very good in central and northern Alberta but some reduction in quality due to daily showers is experienced.

Live Stock: Light hay and pasture crops in southern Alberta will result in a scarcity of forage this winter. At present the condition of live stock on pasture in the south is only fair. In central and northern Alberta feed is abundant and the general condition of live stock is satisfactory.

Live stock marketings were brisk with steady prices. Receipts were generally light. Calgary offered good to choice steers $11.50 to $12.25; hogs $15.40 for basic grade; spring lambs $14 to $14.50.

Edmonton sold a few steers up to $12.50; hogs basic grade $15.30; spring lambs $12.50 to $14.00.

Dairying: Abundant feed and excellent pasture in dairy areas is favourable for maintaining peak production which was reached about July 10. Mosquitoes in some districts have been severe and have prevented cattle from feeding as extensively as is desired.

The quality of creamery butter is being maintained. Butterfat prices are steady. Cool weather in July has made it easier to maintain the high quality of cream.

Scouting Service Valuable

So important is Scouting experience considered in the Fleet Air Arm in Great Britain that one of the questions asked of all recruits is "Have you any Scouting service or experience?"

On a recent secret visit to London Sir Archibald Wavell was recognized by a press photographer, who asked: "May I take your photograph, Sir Archibald?"

"On one condition," was the reply. "I must be invisible on the photographic plate, because I am not here." —Answers

The Indian Air Force is growing at a remarkable rate. The number of men recruited in March was nearly 800 per cent greater than the average monthly recruitment over the whole of 1942. RAF officers training Indian recruits say that not only the quantity but also the quality of the Indian airmen has improved. An enemy on the door-step has a great vitalizing power in every country!

Too Old To Serve? Read On

New York, July 20 — Six Britons, barred from battlefront service by age or physical disability, have arrived here to ferry American-built fleet tenders to England.

They and others like them, the group explained in an interview, were helping to keep the Empire's life line intact by manning small ships in the Atlantic.

Heading the group was Admiral the Hon. Sir Herbert Meade-Fetherstonhaugh, veteran of Jutland, Heligoland and Dogger Bank naval engagements in World War 1, and now at 68 holding only a lieutenant's rank in the Royal Navy Volunteer Reserve.

Among the sailors were sub Lieut. Conor O'Brien, 63-year-old Irishman who wrote a book about his adventures on a two year round-the-world trip in a 20-ton boat; Col. (now Boatswain) H. B. Gunn, 63, who got his first commission in the Royal Artillery in the days of Queen Victoria; Lieut. Samuel B. Evitt, R.N.V.R., 66, a London utility company engineer in prewar days.

The youngster in the group was Sir Richard White, 33, former Captain in the yeomanry but invalided out at the beginning of the war because of a stomach ailment. He said he found his mates "very understanding" about his youth.

The men in the Ferry Service, the Admiral explained, were giving up their leisure and civilian jobs to relieve younger men for the fighting service.

The Admiral whose decorations include the Grand Cross, Victoria Order, Commander of the Bath and Distinguished Service Order, said "we all take turns" at peeling potatoes.

Give The Pullets A Chance

Early hatched pullets will be very close to the lay now if not actually started. Pullets of the heavier breeds such as Barred Rocks and Reds should not start before six months of age, according to Mr. C. W. Traves, Poultry Commissioner, and lighter birds such as Leghorns not before four months of age for best results. If pullets are forced into production before fully grown and matured they will lay small eggs for a longer time than if allowed to continue development normally. Many will never lay large eggs if forced too early. Neither will they attain full body size and usually many of them will go into a moult after about two months laying. Mortality also will be higher where pullets are forced for production too early.

If the pullets are developing too fast, especially when an abundance of good pasture is available, the grain hoppers should be open all day, and the developing mash hoppers opened only between eleven in the morning and four in the afternoon. The pullet flock should be laying about 60 per cent before a gradual change is made from developing mash to laying mash.

Moulting Pullets

Each year about this time the Poultry Branch receives several inquiries about pullets moulting heavily, especially the early hatched pullets. This is no cause for worry since it is a sure sign that the pullets are developing normally.

From the time they lose their chick fluff until they commence to lay, pullets should make from five to seven complete moults. After the fourth month, if your pullets are developing as they should, there will be an abundance of feathers about the range shelters.

Presto! Just Add Hot Water And Tablet Becomes a Meal

Pittsburgh — You can get a meal in a tablet at last. But not in the way expected. You don't eat the tablet. You drop it into a dish of hot water and it expands into a meal.

The tablet is a small brick of compressed foods squeezed down under pressures of 250 to 2,500 pounds a square inch.

War, looking for more and more and less cargo space is the reason. The experimenting is progressing on a national scale and already it appears likely that some foods compressed into the size and form of a wall tile will find a permanent postwar market because of convenience and palatability.

One of the places working on these new food preparations is the Mellon Institute here. The work is in charge of Dr. George E. Helz, who holds the Varieties Fellowship, supported by the Heinz Company.

The raw materials in all cases are dehydrated foods. As far as experiments show to date, the compressed foods are just as good as the dehydrated forms. No deterioration or other damage has been found due to compression. Whatever flavors and qualities can be processed into dehydrated foods apparently will remain after compression.

The present limit for squeezing down the sizes is the ability to mix quickly in water. It is possible to compress food so densely that the block would not disintegrate for hours. The temperature also has to be just right during compression. Otherwise the brick may erode, crack or crumble.

A dozen eggs will compress to the size of one egg. A small marble would equal one egg.

Laboratory experiments with dehydrated foods indicate that palatability depends considerably on the skill of the chef. The same personal equation applies to the compressed [redacted].

In the original processing of the compressed foods, there still is much to be learned. Some articles process readily; others are giving difficulties. One of the principal problems is wrapping. Cellophane does well for some of the foods. Paper, cardboard, waxes and foils are wrappers under experiment.

Foods containing fats are largely an unsolved problem. Due to the presence of the fats, they are likely to develop a rancid flavor. Chicken and rice broth, a tasty compressed meal, may not keep well due to fats.

The varieties which may be dehydrated and compressed cover scores of articles and dishes. Eggs, dried milk, meats, fruits and vegetables all can be dehydrated and compressed. So can many cooked dishes. Puddings, ice-cream mixes and precooked cereals are promising.

Compressed butterscotch pudding has done very well. Carrots compress with excellent results into a dark brown brick. But in water the bright, fresh carrot shades reappear.

Dr. Helz has bricks of shredded potatoes which were compressed in England. In the compressed form, they have the appearance of taffy candy. Some experiments are being made on compressed foods to be eaten out of hand. Powdered beans, compressed into blocks, remain crumbly enough to be eaten like candy. There is still a fat flavor problem to be overcome in beans.

In the past, gradual appearance of the hay flavor has been a deterrent to compression of foods. That difficulty is disappearing under the blanching process now used with nearly all dehydrated foods. Blanching is heating in hot water or live steam and sometimes amounts to almost complete cooking. The process gets rid of the enzymes which were thought to be responsible for the development of undesirable flavor in many foods.

Compression promises a further advantage in preserving flavor. In brick form, most of the air is squeezed out. That reduces the chances of oxidation, one of the general spoilers of food. If air-tight packaging can be attained, then the compressed meals are likely to be largely free from this handicap to preservation.

Agricultural experiment stations, food companies, laboratories and industrial concerns which make compression machinery have embarked on an intensive program of food compression.

No Food Shortage Likely In Canada

No real domestic shortage of food in Canada seems imminent, states the Current Review of Agricultural Conditions in Canada. From the standpoint of minimum nutritional requirements at least, the position is comparatively secure. In late May, meat joined butter in the ranks of rationed foods, largely because of contributions being made to the larder of the United Nations in the form of pork contracts. Consideration is already being given to the probable extent of post-war food requirements and from this aspect all that can be produced will undoubtedly be needed.

GEORGE WAIGHT

George Waight is one of the principal players in the Summer Theatre Series heard from Winnipeg on Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m. CDT (6:30 p.m. MDT) over the National network. Mr. Waight is well known in Winnipeg for his "command" performance of Othello before the Earl and Countess of Bessborough.

N.Y. Boy's Height Too Much For Army

Slim—192 pounds of muscle—tried to enlist last summer but recruiting officers turned him down because he was above height ceilings. He finally got in by telling Army officers, "I'm six feet six, sir."

The G.I. troubles began: The sleeves of the largest shirt available, size 16, reached just below his elbows; no 39-inch trousers were in stock; it took days to get size 13-C shoes.

Transferred to a field artillery unit at Fort Jackson, S.C. the supply sergeant found Sarbel needed four shelter halves to cover him; his sleeping bag fitted like a bathing suit. A regulation Army cot stopped far short of his toes.

Sent to Arizona for desert training, he volunteered for air-borne artillery and ran into a stony-hearted physical examiner who insisted on following regulations to the letter.

Television For Use In Every Family Promised "Immediately After War"

New York, July 21 —Television will be ready for every family's use "immediately after the war," Ralph R. Beal, Research Director for the Radio Corporation of America, said without reservation today.

Home receiving sets in any desired size with "screens" from six to 24 inches in width will be available to purchasers, Mr. Beal said "within the shortest space of time required to re-convert the radio manufacturing industry from war to peace production."

He made it clear, however, that he thought there was room for both sound broadcasting and television, just as the telegraph and the telephone have pursued parallel successes in common usage.

"Unquestionably, television receiving sets will be within the range of the average pocketbook," Mr. Beal said, "and we expect to be able to do a good job of programming without too many awkward growing pains."

He added that the "imponderables" of labor and raw material costs in the postwar period made it impractical to name the price range of receiving sets at this time.

Mr. Beal's remarks were the first flat-footed statements from a cautious natural scientist concerning the imminent nation-wide launching of the new commercial entertainment industry which has been disputed pro and con for a decade.

About 5,000 television receiving sets now are in use, most of them within the range of New York transmitters and a good many scattered throughout California. The Pearl Harbor attack occurred in the fifth month of a six months' commercial television test, and war exigencies have cut television broadcasting from a minimum of 15 hours weekly to four.

WINTER FRUIT—

There are few people who have not heard of the story of the Indian selling wild fruit during the last war. To the prospective buyer, a customer of many years standing, he asked double the amount he had in former years been accustomed to ask, and when asked the reason for the increase replied, "Heap big war in Europe." While no doubt the force of the story increased with repeated telling, it is quite easy to believe its foundation was laid on something more solid than mere rumour. "Heap big war in Europe" is apparently sufficient reason for a person with something to sell, to advance the price if he or she can legally do so.

Last summer prairie housewives were faced with the problem of obtaining sufficient fruit, particularly berries, to make even half of a pre-war showing of canned fruit, and this year the situation is much worse. Berry fruit is very scarce and is also, as far as ordinary folk are concerned, almost prohibitive in price. We have price control, ceilings, cellars and subsidies, but apparently none of these things are going to help the prairie housewife fill her basement shelves with preserved fruit. Yet to the prairie housewife the curtailment of her fruit supply is a serious matter. With almost seven months of winter when green vegetation is frozen dormant, sealers of bottled sunshine in the form of preserved fruit, help to make meals more appetizing and attractive and at the same time is a prime factor in a balanced diet and above all a potent force in the preservation of good health.

There are no doubt many reasons why strawberries this year in prairie towns were almost as scarce as hens' teeth and required the purchaser to be possessed of a pot of gold in order to obtain a case of the luscious berries. Among other things there is the labor shortage, a short crop, rain at the wrong time, heavy and insistant demands from the jam factories for berries with which to make jam for the troops, and of course the tendency for prices to rise due to "heap big war in Europe."

Even if it were possible for the War Time Prices and Trade Board to place a ceiling price on berry fruits in any year the opportunity is lost for 1943, but there is another year coming and with this in mind, now is a good time for the W.P. and T.B. to be thinking about it. Undoubtedly there are thousands of urban and farm homes who have no preserved berries this year simply because $7.00 per case for strawberries does not fit into their economy. Tree fruits such as apricots,, peaches, plums, etc., are also quite high in price as compared to previous years, in fact viewed as a whole by the housewife of the prairies, the fruit situation is not a pleasant one, in spite of the fact that preserved fruit during the winter ranks high among the necessary foods.

There is of course one way by which the prairie dwellers may fill their fruit jars, simply by growing their fruit themselves. While this district, in the true sense of the word, is not a fruit growing one, fruit can successfully be grown here. In previous years we have visited gardens within this area in which more than enough fruit was growing to fill the jars required by one normal family. Strawberries, raspberries, currants, plums, crab apples, were there in abundance, and while considerable labor is involved in growing these fruits, there is immense satisfaction in gathering them when they are ripe. This satisfaction is doubled when it is realized just how much one is financially gaining.

This angle of the fruit situation has potent economic possibilities. Certainly it is better to grow ones own fruit rather than go without and once the custom has developed it will be more likely to increase rather than decrease. High prices and difficulty of obtaining supplies could easily be one of the most forceful urges for prairie fruit growi[redacted]

HAMBURG—

During the past week Hamburg has been much in the news. Concurrent with the tremendous happenings in Italy, has come news of terrific and almost continuous bombing of Hamburg. Geographically Hamburg and Italy are a considerable distance apart, the one being a large sea port on the west coast of Germany and the other a long "boot" jutting into the Mediterranean sea. But though being many miles distant from each other, apparently in the United Nations' scheme of things they are somewhat closely related.

Even at the very beginning the great mass of Italian people were not enthusiastic regarding the war against Great Britain. It was only under Mussolini's guidance and German pressure that their sons were sent into battle against a country with whom a traditional friendship of many years standing had been wilfully broken. As their armies met reverse after reverse on the borders of Egypt, in Libya and on the shores of North Africa, culminating in the Sicilian campaign, the people of Italy became really sick of the whole thing. Mussolini's downfall was the result. Many people believe that the complete surrender of Italy is only a matter of a short time.

Generally speaking, the German people supported the Nazi regime. No doubt many had no choice in the matter but when German armies were gaining premature victories there were few Germans who did not feel a sense of pleasure and pride. In Hamburg however, pro-Nazi sentiments were never quite so strong as in some other parts of Germany. Whether this was due to Hamburg's coastal position by which residents of Hamburg's water front mingled with foreign sailors and visitors, one cannot say, but it has long been known that some of the Nazi's pet ideas, such as supremacy of race, etc., were not fully accepted there. It will be remembered that it was in Hamburg that riots started in 1918 which if they did not have any direct connection with the armistice, were forerunners of it.

So it would appear that the United Nations shifting the weight of bombs this week from Italy to Hamburg might be classed as working according to plan.

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

Written specially for the weekly newspapers of Canada

By JIM GREENBLAT

In the House of Commons the other day attended, on behalf of the weeklies, a press conference for General Henri Giraud. A memorable experience for me. The General spoke for 50 minutes without notes. Tall, wearing a plain khaki field uniform without decorations of any kind, he looked every inch the famous soldier, who in two wars has escaped from German prisons. His chiselled, granite jaws sets up an interesting face, close to a double for the late Lord Kitchener. He talks in slow, measured tones, without gesticulation; at times arms folded. He has piercing eyes which seem to take everything in without moving. While speaking, his face, stern, is in complete repose. Only twice did he appear animated; once when talking about the road from "Tunis to Berlin"; and again later in the question period when asked what effect recognition would have for the National Liberation Committee. His face lit up and he smiled broadly, saying if that was a political question he knew nothing about politics. He was introduced to the press conference by Prime Minister King.

Questioned in the House why the discount on Canadian funds as against U.S. dollars, finance minister Ilsley stated that stability is much more important at the present time. Any change in final exchange rates he declared, would cause a vast amount of dislocation; some would benefit, others wouldn't. There would be no national gain by reducing the spread now. For instance if the west exported a lot of grain to the U.S. they would suffer by reason of the changing rates set. It was pointed out that to wash out the exchange rate while competing with countries whose currency is depreciated below ours would be a disadvantage to us.

As the Sicilian invasion news broke, Parliament sitting in irritating, hot sticky weather, forced its way through a penetrating discussion on foreign affairs. Mr. King, Mr. Graydon and Mr. Coldwell had formally pledged Canada would not fail our fighting men. J. H. Blackmore, said he wanted no repetition of the deal given soldiers after the last war.

Howard Green, Vancouver, C.C.F. proposed a foreign affairs committee like they have in Washington. R. B. Hanson frostily called the government's foreign policy negative. Here is a little back-bench comment: Listened to with respect, Mrs. Cora T. Casselman thought our foreign policy should be three-fold; Firstly, one to which the majority subscribe; secondly, being free and autonomous, it should be in close alliance with the Commonwealth and the U.S.A. Thirdly, in it we should be wrapped up with the security and peace of the world community. E. G. Hansell, in demanding from the P.M. a full pronouncement on foreign policy took the stand that the British Empire needs Canada; Canada needs the empire, but above all the world definitely needs the British Empire.. Clarence Gillis thought the time inopportune to talk foreign policy; that should come when we win the war, the world picture is clearer.

West coast members like Mr. A. W. Neill, have been particularly anxious for the government to say what will be done with Japanese nationals after the war. There are roughly 9,000, a third still subjects of Japan; another third naturalized, remainder born in Canada. Mr King said the policy must depend upon the times and the situation prevailing, to be, maybe related and co-ordinated with the same problem facing the United States.

* * *

Government was sharply queried on the European refugee question. Canada will co-operate in recommendations of the Bermuda conference, the P.M. told the House; said little could be done now, shipping being such a vital factor. ". . . best way to save these helpless people is to win the war quickly". Our total immigration from April, 1933 to March, 1942 was 20,000 mostly refugees and thousands others "temporarily admitted."

Home front quickies: Owing to short supply of allied nations, such seeds as alfalfa, red clover, alsike from 1943 Canadian crop badly needed. Farmers asked to harvest save as much as possible, sell at ceiling through usual channels . . . formerly only bought in Britain, U.S.A., for the first time we now have delivered, Made-in-Canada, 50 special operating tables for use on naval vessels, a million dental burrs for drilling teeth . . . total value of contracts and commitments on Canadian and the United Kingdom accounts by Munitions & Supply neared nine billion dollar mark end of June. Don't kid yourself, Canada is pulling its load.

There was a lump in my throat. Other morning watched national film board crew shoot scene for a documentary film. Wave after wave of soldiers, airmen, C.W.A.C.'s Wrens, air-girls marching down the massive broad steps of the House of Commons toward the cameras; khaki, blue, white; six abreast, arms swinging, proud of themselves and the historic background. Canada's thrilling youth in uniform. You might see your own boy or girl in that film some place, some day.

You asked about bicycles. I'm told present intention not to increase number manufactured. No change in number of models till end of war." We have developed a wartime model, expect to be able to continue its production as it represents the barest essential for cheap transportation", is the statement.

Scheme for creation of an International Exchange Union tabled in House. Canadian experts added new elements to scheme by British, American experts. No use trying to be technical about it, as few laymen understand. However, the proposal aims to "promote conditions in which member countries are free to carry out sound economic policies for the welfare of their own people and in which . . . will not be forced to pursue policies which impoverish themselves or the world." Monetary unit proposed is 137 1-7 grains of fine gold.

A reminder. No later than July 24, men 16 to 18 years in certain employment, capable of transfer to more essential work must report to National Selective Service offices, under new ruling. Authority given officers to take into account health and domestic circumstances.

To indicate increased demand on Canadian supplies now, the Standard section informs us that sales of women's clothing increased by 98 per cent during first three months of 1943, as against the same period in [redacted].

No increase in butter ration, officials say. Your little mealtime pat works for victory. Increased stocks not abnormal, but consumption higher. Every time a coupon comes due, they have to provide for 5,700,000 lbs. weekly. To build up reserve stocks for winter, as production lags they need at least 70 million pounds.

When the House is in committee discussing departmental estimates, a table is brought in on the Floor immediately in front of the Minister at bat. Here sit deputies who quickly furnish him information on questions which are popped with astonishing regularity from the benches. Atmosphere is quite informal but often very electric. How they pick these items to pieces, bit by bit. It looks to me like a Minister has to be a cross between a shadow boxer and professor of universal knowledge.

Because Ontario and Quebec depend almost entirely on the U.S. for coal, a new order comes to prevent a serious shortage next winter. Consumers to get 75 per cent of their last year's requirements of hard coal must agree to take one-quarter of his proved need of the softer coals. It will be necessary to file a government form with your dealer. If you want coal it's up to you.

Here's news. Pacific coast salmon a favorite food, will likely be lower in price than otherwise, and if the run is good supplies will be available for Canadian tables. Prices Board, fishermen and department have come to an agreement. Previous order setting maximums and prices to fishermen revoked.

THE R.A.F.'s SUPER-SPEED "MOSQUITO" RECONNAISSANCE BOMBER

The "Mosquito" twin-engined R.A.F. reconnaissance bomber, one of the fastest aircraft of its type, has carried the daylight air war to Ger[redacted]. Making long-range attacks without fighter escort, it can outdistance enemy interceptor fighters. Of simple wooden construction it has two Rolls-Royce engines. Its offensive armament may consist of four 20 mm. cannon and four .303 machine guns. Undercarriage and tail wheel units are retractable. It has the de Havilland three bladed hydromatic type propeller.

Dimensions: Span, 54 feet 2 inches. Length overall 40 feet 9 1-2 inches. Height 15 feet 3 inches.

"Canadian Army Overseas" Not Magical Phrase

"Canadian Army Overseas"—that familiar phrase. It is written by thousands of Canadians every day on envelopes addressed to their men on active service.

To many, there is a belief that by just writing those magical words on the envelope the letter will eventually reach its owner whether he be in the heart of London or the wilds of Timbuctoo.

The fact that it does, can be credited to the Canadian Postal Corps and its organization. But the length of time required to get it there depends to a large extent on the sender.

A careless or inadequate address must be supplemented before it leaves Canada. In the Base Post Office all mail is sorted first into the service, then into units and when the bags leave Canada they are ready for direct delivery to the various units. A special staff of the Canadian Postal Corps is kept constantly at work correcting errors in addresses on both letters and parcels. This work takes time and automatically delays delivery.

The most serious omission in an address is the number of the unit, according to postal officials. For instance, letters addressed to the Canadian Armoured Corps or to D Company [redacted] inadequately addressed. There are many units in the Canadian Armoured Corps and there are many D companies. The omission of the all-important personal regimental number causes less inconvenience and delay than the omission of the unit number, officials stated.

Typical of the poseurs turning up every day at Base Post Office is the following address from which the name and number have been deleted:

No. Private John
A 20 C A S C T C A (RL)
Canadian Army Overseas

Every day the staff handles more than 20,000 air letters alone and every day at least 500 of these have to be held out for correction of address.

There is a temporary period immediately after a soldier goes overseas, when "Canadian Army Overseas" is the official address, but as soon as a more detailed address is available it should be used in full.

Remove The Black Teeth From Piglets

(Experimental Farms News)

To ensure strong healthy piglets from birth and to keep the sows gentle after farrowing the black teeth should be removed within 12 hours after the pigs are born, says C. H. Anderson, Dominion Experimental Station, Beaverlodge, Alberta. By removing these black teeth, so named because of their dark color, the newly born piglets can get down to the serious business of their first food without causing pain to the sow. If not removed these teeth very often pierce the udder of the sow with the result that she becomes very restless. She may get up quickly and in so doing crush one or more of the little pigs. The pain may be so severe as to cause the sow to refuse to nurse the litter. It is believed that many young piglets become stunted in early life because the black teeth are not removed at birth.

During the past season the young piglets born at the Beaverlodge Station have shown a tendency towards longer and sharper "black teeth" than formerly observed. The practice at the Station, as in many good herds, is to remove these teeth as soon as the pigs are born. The teeth should not be broken off carelessly as this may cause excessive bleeding if the break is close to the gums, but should rather be clipped off with a pair of small side-cutting pliers. Remove the black teeth from all newborn piglets to spare the sow and save the litter.

Subsidy For Farmers Who Buy Grain Now

As an incentive to farmers in Eastern Canada to buy Western feed grains as soon as possible and store them on their own farms so that next winter's livestock feeding requirements will be met, the Dominion Government will pay per bushel subsidy based upon a sliding scale, the Agriculture Department stated on July 16.

Farmers in the Eastern provinces who buy Western food grains under this plan, to be known as Plan B will receive a 3 cent per bushel subsidy for grain bought in July; 2 1-2 cents per bushel for August; 2 cents for September; 1 1-2 cents for October; 1 cent for November and half cent for December.

Orders placed since July 1, 1943, will be eligible for the subsidy.

F. W. Presant, Feeds Administrator, under whom the plan is being administered, stated that it is anticipated it will increase the immediate demand for Western feed grains at a time when transportation facilities are more favourable than during the winter months.

A small grain crop is in prospect in Eastern Canada, he said, and with the substantial increases in live stock and poultry on Eastern Canadian farms, which are being raised so as to meet the abnormal food demands from every direction, it is necessary that steps be taken at once to assure that sufficient feed be available for next winter.

Farmers who buy Western grain under Plan B will receive the subsidy in the same way as under the Freight Assistance Policy in connection with Western feed grains.

Heavy Meat Marketings

The United States meat famine will soon end, Time magazine prophecies, and suggests that butcher shop counters should soon groan with beef steaks and pork chops. The rush of hogs to market has already begun. In four days eleven marketing centres handled 363,000 head. Beef slaughterings have been running as much as 40 per cent below last year but the grass is beginning to dry up on western ranges and ranchers are faced with the alternative of feeding their livestock grain which is almost impossible to get or sending their herds off to market. "The coming rush to market should prove a good thing to the United States," says the authority in Time. "In the midst of wartime food scarcity the United States should be using its feed grains first for poultry and dairy herds, then for beef cattle which eat grass as well as grain. The large hog population eating vast quantities of corn is a luxury the United States cannot afford in wartime." —Wheat Pool Budget.

Rubber From Wheat

There has been a great deal of discussion in recent months about the possibility of producing rubber— a product badly needed by the United Nations during this war— from wheat.

The Minister of Agriculture, Mr. Gardiner, recently informed the House of Commons that after studying the question thoroughly and taking the advice of the United States Government, Canada had decided to do her share of producing rubber by manufacturing it from petroleum, and not from alcohol in turn made from wheat or other agricultural products. Cost and speed of production, said Mr. Gardiner, were the governing factors. Mr. Gardiner also expressed some doubts about the possibility of producing rubber economically from wheat after the war was over.

An official of the Searle Grain Company recently met in Quebec City a delegation sent by the Government of Brazil to study the war efforts of the United States and Canada. This delegation stated that Brazil was planning to produce large quantities of natural rubber when the war was over. They stated they had thoroughly investigated the different methods and costs of producing artificial rubber, both from petroleum and from alcohol, and had come to the firm conclusion that Brazil, Malaya and the Dutch East Indies would be able to place on the markets of the world natural rubber, of high quality and at a good deal cheaper price than rubber made from any artificial process.

There has, however, been so many hopes held out to our Western farmers that rubber could economically be manufactured from alcohol in turn produced from wheat, that Dr. Archibald, Director of the Experimental Farms, recently suggested before the House of Commons that in order to prove whether this could be done or not, and at a proper price, it might not be a bad plan to establish a small rubber producing plant in Western Canada and so once and for all prove whether rubber produced from alcohol in turn derived from wheat could be made of the same quality as natural rubber, and at as cheap a price. It may be that the establishment of such an experimental plant will be the only method of demonstrating convincingly whether artificial rubber can or cannot be produced economically from alcohol.

One important matter the Brazilian delegation brought up was that many forget that while science is advancing in the production of industrial synthetic and artificial products that the same science was making important strides in the production of better varieties of higher yielding and higher quality agricultural products, rubber trees included. —Searle Grain Co. To Trade Is Natural

To trade, to do business, to buy and sell is natural. As natural as breathing, eating, sleeping or walking. No race of humans are known to exist who do not buy, sell or trade to some extent. Even if one lived under a breadfruit tree in a tropical country there would still be something lacking— butter — and surplus breadfruit would probably be traded to somebody who possessed cows or goats, for butter.

This is no tropical country and there are certainly no breadfruit trees around, but there are quite a number of things that could be traded or sold. A used plow, tractor, binder or any other piece of farm equipment. Furniture too, or even clothing very often have resale value, often having done duty for their original owner. And then too, there is that extra horse in the pasture, cow in the barn, extra pigs in the sty or even chickens in the chicken house.

Somebody, somewhere, may be looking for any one of these things and the easiest, cheapest and most effective way to let people know they are for sale is through a CLASSIFIED WANT AD in the MERCURY.

Soldiers' Services To Be Made Available To Farmers

Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour, today announced that on July 24th he had telegraphed the premiers of the Provinces, asking cooperation with the Dominion in the plan to place soldiers from Army units stationed in Canada, at seasonal farm work. The plan has been worked out in cooperation with Hon. J.L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence. The telegram reads as follows:

"The Departments of National Defence and Labour are working on a plan which would permit the detailing of certain men in the Army in Canada to farm labour. This is in addition to what is commonly known as compassionate farm leave. The plan under consideration contemplates detailing of men to specific farms, and during the period so detailed their pay and allowances in the Army would be continued. It is proposed that the plan be worked out under the existing Dominion-Provincial Farm Labour Agreement and that the Provinces share in the responsibility and administrative expense. It has been suggested that the soldier would be paid in addition to his Army pay and allowances the difference between the amount charged to the farmer at a specific rate and the pay and allowances which the soldier receives from the Army. Under the Dominion-Provincial set-up we would require to collect the amount owing by the farmer and pay it to the National Defence Department. Under no circumstances could a soldier collect it. I would like you to authorize me by wire to the effect your Province approves and agrees to share in responsibility and administrative expense including transportation and other incidentals and loss there might be in collection of wages from farmers."

Under the plan it is proposed that farmers will be invited to advise the Governments of their labour requirements; the government agencies dealing with the matter will be named later. These requirements will be notified to the Army, and District Officers Commanding will direct Army personnel to proceed to the farms to fill vacancies. While the soldiers will remain under military discipline and orders, they will work for the farmers in the same manner as civilian farm workers.

Rates of pay are being fixed, at which the farmer will engage the soldier's services, but the wages will not be paid by the farmer directly to the soldier. The soldier will continue to draw his regular Army pay, and any allowance to his dependents will also continue, but after his return to his unit, the man will be given any additional money which he may have earned over and above Army pay and allowances. The employing farmer, on the other hand will be required to pay in full the wages which the man earned to agents representing the Governments of Provinces and the Dominion, and the money collected will be turned over to Army Paymasters. It is expected that the farmer will be required to guarantee full wages for the period during which a man is engaged, regardless of weather or other working conditions.

Hon. Mr. Mitchell stated that there had not yet been opportunity for all provinces to reply to his offer but those which have replied have been in favour of the plan. The Minister said he confidently hopes that the provincial governments will undertake the scheme on a fifty-fifty partnership basis with the Dominion.

The Minister of Labour continued: "The Minister of National Defence and his officers are most anxious that the plan should succeed, and they are giving every possible assistance. Various other measures taken have assisted in relieving farm labour shortages up to this time, and the present plan should meet the greater part of extra harvest requirements. Safeguards will be provided of course, to look after the interests both of farmers and soldiers."

It is expected to put the plan into operation immediately. No estimate of the number of men who will be sent out by the Army can be arrived at until the farmers have advised of their needs.

The new plan does not interfere with the previous system of men in the Army being given compassionate leave to return temporarily to their own farms or to those of relatives; applications made by soldiers for this compassionate leave will still be considered by Army officials.

Bees Can Be Wintered In Alberta

Bees can be wintered successfully in Alberta, and due to the uncertainty of the supply of package bees during the past year or two many beekeepers are following this procedure.

Beekeepers who plan to winter their bees should make sure that their colonies are headed by young queens, says Mr. W. G. Le Maistre, Provincial Apiarist. Old field bees that have been working on the honey flow have insufficient vitality to pull through the long winter, and one of the essentials for successful wintering is to have young bees in the hive. These may be obtained by requeening the hive early in August. The young queen will produce good quantities of brood in the fall at a time when the old queen usually reduces egg laying. Many young bees with sufficient longevity will thus be available to populate the wintering hive.

Full particulars of methods of requeening are contained in Bulletin No. 58, "Wintering Bees in Alberta" prepared by Mr. W. G. Le Maistre and available from the Agricultural Extension Service, Department of Agriculture, Edmonton. This bulletin contains, in addition, full details of winter feeding and preparation of hives for winter.

The Effect Of Farm Subsidies

Albert S. Goss, master of the National Grange, second largest farmer organization in the United States, (the farm bureau is the largest) in commenting on the government plan of farm subsidies said:

"If we use subsidies to meet the rising war dislocation costs we will develop a price structure which becomes constantly more and more out of balance. When war ends the first thing we will have to do is to balance the budget and subsidies will be the first expenditure to be lopped off . . .

"If consumers are not willing to pay the cost of their food in these days of excess income what chance would there be to raise prices when the boys come home looking for jobs and war income starts down? You know the answer; it is bankruptcy. The chaos which would follow would make our recent depression look like a banker's picnic in comparison. This alone is ample reason for the flat rejection of subsidies." — Wheat Pool Bulletin.

Sept. Canning Sugar Now Valid

Ottawa—. Effective July 26, August and September canning sugar coupons are good for the purchase of sugar, the prices board announced in a statement which said the move was made to help women who wish to can fruit now available. Expiry date of the coupons remains unchanged.

"This does not mean that additional sugar for home canning will be available later in the season," a spokesman emphasized. "The move is made for the convenience of women who want to can the fruit that is available now, instead of spreading their canning activities throughout the whole summer. There is no present prospect of the present canning sugar allowance being increased."

Sowing Cover Crops

Quite a number of farmers, particularly in the foothills section of southern Alberta, follow the practise of seeding cover crops in their summerfallow. The Lethbridge experimental station has made a study of this practise to see what effects it has on crops the following year. It has come to the conclusion that cover crops seldom decrease the yield of next year's crops in the wetter areas of the province but usually do so in the drier localities. A cover crop will dry out the soil down to a depth of 18". This is not serious if the moisture reserves are abundant or if rains in the late fall or early spring restore the moisture deficiency.

Frost On July 12th

The High River Times reports that from 4 to 10 degrees of frost were experienced in that district on Monday morning, July 12th. In some cases there was ice on water troughs at 6:30 in the morning. The last bad mid-summer frost which occurred in that region was on July 20th, 1933 when 30,000 tons of grain were reduced in quality to feed. On July 20th, 1923 frost also did extensive damage. Thus it would seem that bad frost years run in ten year cycles. —Wheat Pool Budget.

ONLY THE BEGINNING

A Negro preacher in a small Southern community, desiring to impress upon his congregation the length of eternity, presented the following illustration:

"If a sparrow, breddern, should take a drop of water from the Atlantic Ocean at Coney Island, and with this drop of water in his beak should hop, hop, and hop across the country until it reached the Pacific and when this had been done should turn around and hop, hop, and hop all the way back to Coney Island and get another drop and do the same thing over, and keep on doing this very same thing until it had carried the whole Atlantic Ocean over into the Pacific, it would then only be the early morning in eternity."

M.D. Beaver Has Light Agenda

A fairly light agenda compared to some of the previous ones greeted the M.D. of Beaver Council on Wednesday of this week. The regular meeting day is the second Friday in the month but the August meeting was held on Wednesday to fit in with office arrangements.

There were present at the meeting: Reeve Ovens; Councillors Giebelhaus, Logan, Lucas, Moen and Swabey.

Communications were received:

From the Department of Municipal Affairs regarding elections by divisions. The Act calls for enlarged M.D. elections to be held at large. That is, ratepayers over the whole M.D. vote for all the councillors. It was felt that the ratepayers in one part of the M.D. did not know the candidates in another part well enough to use good judgment in their choice. A clause in the Act allowed a council to apply to the Minister to hold their election by divisions. Application was arranged for at the last meeting, and the letter from the Dept. of Municipal Affairs stated that the request had been granted.

From the Dept. of Municipal Affairs regarding relief advances.

From the Dept. of Agriculture regarding Prairie Farm Assistance Act. This act provides assistance for farmers in townships having an average yield of less than 12 bushels to the acre.

From the Dept. of Munitions and supply regarding fuel permit.

From the Holden Drainage District re condition of bridges.

From the Old Age Pensions Board asking for information regarding Mrs. Evelyn Lofsett. None of the councillors present knew this lady.

From the Royal Alexandra hospital regarding account of Mrs. Mary Ryan. The offer made at the last meeting of council was accepted.

From the Vegreville Hospital regarding contract.

From the University Hospital regarding some old accounts from former M.D.'s.

From Grant and Stewart re Morley Anderson account. Council felt that it had treated Mr. Anderson fairly and could not change their decision of last meeting to pay Mr. Anderson's account in full less supervision charges.

From Nick Zowtuk re damages. Council felt that it was not responsible.

From M.D. of Parkland regarding N.W. 24-48-17 W4. This quarter had been under tax consolidation agreement which had been allowed to lapse. The owner desired consolidation statement to be reinstated and on motion of Councillor Logan this was authorized.

From A. J. H. McCauley, Tofield, regarding sale of S.W. 22-51-19, W4. Mr. McCauley stated he had a cash prospect and requested a five per cent commission. Councillor Swabey was given authority to negotiate the sale of this quarter with Mr. McCauley, at a fair price.

From Fred Lyons offering $2000 for the north half sec. 24-50-18, W4. There was also another bid for the same half section from Mr. Lillo who offered $2100.00. It is assessed at $4070.00 Council was of the opinion neither bid was commensurate with the value of the land and on motion by Councillor Logan bids were tabled until next meeting.

The secretary gave a report as to tax collections regarding three townships from January 1st to date of turning over records.

The appointment of Mr. Jack Good as weed inspector for Division two was approved.

Communication from Mr. Hammermaster regarding a Mr. Debranski leaving his farm N.E. 24-49-14, W4. It was stated some old machinery and grain in stooks was left there. Councillor Giebelhaus was requested to investigate.

It was decided to hold a tax sale Monday, November 1st at 2:30 p.m. at Ryley.

Communication was received from Geo. H. Taylor re Soldiers' Home Exemption Act. Mr. Taylor claimed exemption on two quarters for 1942 and 1943 as his family resides there. The Act was consulted and it was decided as the farm land was leased out, exemption could only be allowed on one quarter section.

Communication from Mr. D. W. Richie re condition of bridges. One was incorrectly described and one was in a dangerous condition and should be closed to traffic.

It was announced that the Holden Health Unit will provide capsules to such children as need them within the area covered by their boundaries. For schools not within the Holden Health Unit area but within the M.D. of Beaver area, they asked council to purchase the capsules. Council felt that inasmuch as it was paying a sum in order to have these schools serviced by the Holden Health Unit that the school districts in which these schools were located should purchase the capsules. A motion embodying the above was made by Councillor Giebelhaus and formally passed.

It was announced that weed inspectors may get weed killer from the office.

A by-law covering a number of leases was formally passed.

On the motion of Reeve Ovens, Mr. .... bill for damages was ordered not paid.

The monthly financial statement was studied and filed.

On the motion of Councillor Logan, cement and culverts will be paid for out of general revenue and as each division uses them the divisions will be charged accordingly.

Moved by Councillor Lucas that rate of maintaining originally set at 80c per finished mile for an 8 ft. grader and $1.00 per finished mile for a 10 ft. grader be sustained. Carried.

On the motion of Councillor Logan the secretary was instructed to get forms for taxation purposes and distribute them to the road foreman and councillors.

On the motion of Councillor Swabey it was decided to instruct the electric light and gas companies to cease servicing the Tofield office.

The public works allocation as prepared in the spring was formally approved.

Regarding the offers made for half section in 24-50-18, W4, Councillor Lucas moved that sealed bids be asked for. Carried.

On motion of Reeve Ovens, Council adjourned to meet Friday, September 3rd at 10:00 a.m.

August 2nd, 1943.

Mr. Editor,
Dear Sir,

Please cancel my ad in the paper. I got the paper on Saturday week at noon and sold the pigs by 1:30. I had the man that bought them phone you to take my ad out of the paper last Monday week but I see it has not been done. It pays to advertise in the Mercury. You can use this as a booster if you like.

Yours sincerely,

LINDBROOK

Ye scribe being down on a visit from the city, observed and listened, hence this news. We hope you don't mind.

The sympathy of the Lindbrook people is extended to the Bruha family on their sad loss by death of their mother, Mrs. Bruha of Shonts. Deceased was an old timer and well loved and respected by all.

Mrs. Gertude Jones of Vancouver, sister of the late E. W. Hooper of this district who has been spending a few months here with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Hooper of Lindbrook, returned to her home last week.

Mr. Mears was down from the Northland on a visit to his family here. Mr. Mears, who is employed by an American firm, reports great doings and large earnings up there.

We wish to take this opportunity to convey the best wishes to Miss O. Irene Anderson, former resident here, on the occasion of her marriage to Mr. Henry Hafso of Viking. The best of luck to you both!

Mr. Bracegirdle returned from a pleasant holiday at the coast and Mrs. Bracegirdle is now away there too.

Mr. Norman Ellis is also a coast visiter recuperating from his illness and operation. Latest reports are to the effect that he is doing fine so we hope he will be A1 when he returns.

We were sorry to hear of the illness of Mr. A. J. H. McCauley of Tofield and hope soon to hear that he is O.K. again. Also Mr. Allan's sudden illness; some of you old soldiers had better look out or else you'll be getting permanent M & D. Not so hot that, eh?

Mr. Pete Holland also spent the week end at home at "his country seat" hence this scrawl. He notes abundant vegetation, especially weeds, but bar that no change. Seems that even the sheep and stock can't eat it fast enough this year. Well, its a welcome change from drought years even if haying, etc. is a bit awkward.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Richards of Edmonton visited Mrs. W. Lancaster over the week end.

Mr. La Rocque sr. spent a few days with his daughter in the city last week.

Mr. Wilfred La Rocque has built a "chateau" on his newly acquired farm. It is just west of the store on the south side of the road. Why, Wilfred? and how about a house-warming?

Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Richardson's mother, who has been with the Richardson's for the last year, left last week for her home in the fruitlands of B.C. Gee, we wish we were there too, with fruit the price it is.

The new resident minister here, Rev. Mr. Brown, has taken up his residence here in the house built by the Rev. R. Rogers on Station Approach. We welcome him and wish him the best of luck.

The VVR still carries on, and despite the loss of several who have joined up or gone away, also 3 of its N.C.O.'s, it is still a live concern and we hope it is kept so. Outside of any military idea, its a d—— good club to have and belong to as well.

The Anglican minister, the Rev. Mr. Court, B.A. was around last week visiting his parishioners.

We have lost a well known figure of late in the person of Rudy Heichen, whom you all know and will miss as well, especially when either your car or radio goes on the blink. We understand that he is engaged in war work as a machinist on aeroplane parts at Hoover Machine works in Edmonton.

The dances on Saturday nights at the Hall are very popular and are being attended by many from other parts, so the committee should soon be feeling very pleased with the way things are going.

We hear too that the school is getting a new chimney and floor, and several other repairs, and paint. What is really needs is a new school, but——there's a war on, in case you didn't know.

LAKESHORE

Pauline Walker was the surprised and honored guest at a party on Tuesday evening when the young folks of Mackenzie and Lakeshore met at Hunter's. Pauline left this week to attend Normal School.

The Ladies' Aid will hold a Social evening on Friday, August 6 at the school. Hot dogs, doughnuts and coffee will be sold after games of soft ball and horseshoe.

A hailstorm struck the northern side of Lakeshore district and went east to Beaver Lake, doing considerable damage on some farms. The path of greatest destruction apparently was from the east gate of the reserve across J. H. Johnston's, J. Wood's, Mel Wood's, T. Jones', G. Neimetz, Joe, Bert and Les Jones', Alvin Steen's, Boothes', Bethel's and Anderson's. There were a number of others whose crops and gardens were damaged to a greater or less degree, and several of the Mackenzie district suffered heavy loss. Windows were broken in some homes.

Mrs. T. R. Murray is confined to her bed for a few days. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Arthur Taylor of Warsop, Eng., who is stationed at Penhold with the R.A.F. spent a 48 hour leave with Mel Wood's.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Bethel, Carol and Baby Bobby visited friends and relatives over the week end.

'Meet United States Army'; Invitation To British Pupils

London, July 26 — British school children who are not already fully acquainted with the friendly American soldier who, during off-duty hours, hand them sticks of chewing gum, teach them to [illegible] "home runs" in Hyde Park, and take them bouncing through the countryside in Army jeeps now have an opportunity to learn more about these allies who are entrenched here to help fight the war.

A little booklet "Meet the United States Army," prepared by the British Ministry of Information, was published here July 24. The price is 4d. It is being sent to every school in Britain so teachers can explain to students the backgrounds of their American visitors in order to encourage a better understanding and friendship.

The author, Mr. Louis MacNiece, says the present war has seen a new unity growing between America and Britain and that this process neither must be broken nor slowed down. Then he proceeds to remove the American Expeditionary Force from a showcase labeled merely "Americans" and set these Americans in a perspective where they will appear as human beings "like and unlike us, but more the former than the latter."

Among the chief differences between a Briton and an American, Mr. MacNiece lists an accent, vocabulary, food, and training which he suggests, are due largely to varying backgrounds. New Yorkers, he says seem to be more Europeanized than most other Americans. Middle Westerners are less critical of British cities and the comparative lack of certain material comforts (central heating, electric gadgets and luxury plumbing). He asks his readers to remember that the movie industry is not the chief concern of Californians any more than a West End theatre is the chief concern of Londoners.

As regards the South, Mr. MacNiece would have the British acquaint themselves with the historical and economic background which explains the persistence of the color question.

Under the heading "American Ways are Different," the author says that a soldier from Baltimore will hunger for Maryland chicken, one from New Orleans, La., may be used to a French cuisine, but that all Americans in contrast to the British, are accustomed to fruit juice for breakfast, a greater variety of vegetables including corn on the cob and more meat and fish. He says many American dishes are a blend of the sweet and the savory.

The booklet cites the differences in American phraseology, currency, and attitude toward sports. It evaluates American soldiers as informal, but well disciplined in battle.

The text of the pamphlet is accompanied by a regional line map of the United States and eight pages of photographs illustrating the activities of the United States Army. However, the author advises the British that the best illustrations to the pamphlet "you will meet, as large as life, walking in your own village."

New Slant On "Man-Bites-Dog"

When Capt. J. T. Freeman, gas officer of the Reserve Army Camp at Sarcee, Alberta, took up his residence in one of the huts, he found the territory already occupied. And the incumbents, a family of skunks, were prepared to wage war to the finish.

First effort made by the odiferous warriors was of course, a gas barrage, which they released through the floor of Capt. Freeman's hut. A dauntless warrior himself, the Captain determined not to give an inch. He donned his respirator, found it worked against the pervading aroma of skunks, and bedded down for the night, proving also that one can sleep with a respirator on.

Next morning however, victory belonged to the aromatic rodents. Captain Freeman moved out.

How To Examine Farm Land Soil

In evaluating a farm property and in estimating the chances of making a satisfactory living from it, the nature of the soil, among many other things, must be given serious consideration, state P. C. Stobbe and A. Leahey, Field Husbandry Division, Dominion Experimental Farms Service in the Farmers' Bulletin No. 117, "Guide for the Selection of Agricultural Soils". The first essential of success in farming is to have a fertile soil that is adapted to the crops which are to be grown on it. However, in addition to productivity, other factors relating to the soil, such as the cost of tillage and other management operations, must be kept in mind. In order to help farmers, the main features that should be observed in examining farm land are explained in the bulletin, covering in detail the examination itself, discussion of the eleven soil zones of the Dominion, the various soils, local conditions to be observed, depth, colour, texture, structure, together with a diagram key to soil classes and soil maps of Eastern Canada and the Prairie Provinces. A copy of the bulletin may be obtained by writing to the Publicity and Extension Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

An End In Itself

Every machine requires fuel or some kind of power. In the co-operative movement the plainest need is greater faith in the co-operative principle, and a greater determination to see that principle more widely and vigorously applied. To the multitudes co-operation is merely a week-to-week trading convenience, but on that basis it can have no future in a world where monopoly strives for mastery. The co-operative movement is not an end in itself, not an ivory castle in a world of base commercialism, but a living force demonstrating how the peoples of all lands may enrich their lives by collaboration and mutual aid. No administrative machine will of itself keep these truths alive. The machine as the instrument of control and direction is important, but the dynamic power of co-operation can come only from the faith and sincerity of the co-operator. Fettered minds are a drag on every cause. It must be the larger purpose or none.

SEEDTIME and HARVEST

Autumn-Sown Grasses and Legumes

There are, no doubt, large areas in the prairie provinces which will be devoted to straight grain farming for many years to come. In most districts, however, a reasonable acreage of grass, or grass and alfalfa mixed, is good for the farmer and good for the farm.

A great many farmers have been discouraged because attempts to "get a catch" of grass have failed. Failure is commonly due to (a) sowing too deeply, (b) no protection from soil drifting and (c) sowing at the wrong time. In some years and some districts, the use of nurse crops has also caused disappointment.

Since the autumn is, alas, not very far away, and since autumn-sowing of grasses is becoming more and more popular, we think it wise to draw attention to some experimental work done at Saskatoon and published in "Scientific Agriculture" (Vol. 23, No. 7). The following statements are derived from this publication and the authors are Dr. W. J. White and Mr. W. H. Horner.

1. Sweet clover should not be sown in autumn.
2. Crested wheat grass, brome grass, slender wheat grass and alfalfa may be sown in autumn if:—
   - (a) Sowing is early enough to establish good-sized seedlings (late August to early September), or
   - (b) Just before freeze-up, so that seeds don't germinate until spring.
3. Better results are obtained by sowing in stubble or weeds than on bare summerfallow.

Since conditions vary from place to place, it is wise to consult the nearest experimental farm or the local agricultural representative.

A tin-can is only 2 per cent tin; it is really made of tinplate which is sheet steel that has been given a thin coating of tin on both sides to prevent rusting. When the can is collected as salvage the coating of tin can be removed at a de-tinning factory and the steel then goes to a steel-works for melting down. The cans are however, often sent direct to furnaces which boil them for 10 hours in a temperature rising to about 1,000 degrees Centigrade.

Getting The Most Out Of The Poultry Flock

(Experimental Farms News)

Good pasture is a great benefit to the poultry flock but too often its true worth is unrecognized. The full value of the range to the growing stock depends to a great extent upon the care and management that it receives. Generally there is a tendency to allow the grass to grow until it has lost much of its feed value.

When kept short by mowing, the range will supply a great part of the valuable proteins, minerals and vitamins, a worthwhile consideration at this time when the supply of these essentials in concentrates threatens to become more difficult, says C. W. Scott, Head Poultryman, Dominion Experimental Station, Harrow, Ont. Overgrown range will not only deprive the birds of a valuable part of their diet but will tend to keep them confined to small and much used areas in the vicinity of the colony houses or shelters, increasing the risk of infection and disease while lowering resistance.

Mowing may be something of a task but the benefit derived by the growing stock from the young tender growth will far outweigh the labour cost.

Green feed is necessary at all seasons but on a grazed range in late summer and fall when the fibre hardens and much of the nourishment is lost the fast developing pullets may be deprived of just the succulent roughage they need at this season to get the most out of their grain ration. Helped over this difficult period by favourable range conditions they will give a far better account of themselves during the winter laying season.

On the light sandy soil of the poultry division at the Experimental Farm at Harrow a three-year rotation has proven very satisfactory in keeping infection from parasites under control, and at the same time provided an abundant green range. This rotation consists of tobacco the first year, oats seeded to alfalfa the second year, and alfalfa range for the chickens the third year. One acre mowed at least twice during the rearing season will provide ample range for 600 birds to laying quarters.

Husband, 6 Brothers In Army; Kathleen Wilson Joins CWAC'S

With a husband and six brothers in the Army, Kathleen Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mace of Hamilton, found her job as stenographer in a Hamilton electrical store rather dull stuff, so she enlisted in the Canadian Women's Army Corps, and made the count unanimous.

Pte. Wilson was married to Sigmn. R. O. Wilson, R.C. Sigs. He went overseas the next July, and it was only five months later that Kathleen enlisted in the C.W.A.C.

Five brothers of Kathleen Wilson are overseas with the Canadian Army. Another is in service with the Royal Canadian Navy, and a seventh brother, Charles Mace, recently received an honourable discharge from the Navy. Pte. Wilson's father is a veteran of the South African War and the Great War.

With the opening of the "Battle for Europe" the task of the Royal Navy is staggering. It is a pleasant fact that today, despite casualties it has more ships than it had when the war began, thanks to the tremendous speed-up of Britain's shipyards, which built 900 warships during the first three and a half years of the war; and these shipyards are working at an increased tempo this year.

Last year, nearly a million and a half Canadian hogs, in the form of bacon, travelled over Canadian National lines on the way to Great Britain. Their weight was 88,985 tons, an increase of almost 40 per cent over the previous year. More than 2,500 refrigerator cars were used.

Don't Extract Honey Too Soon

(Experimental Farms News)

This is the time of year when beekeepers are besieged with inquiries as to when honey will be available. Beekeepers are frequently being asked when honey will be ready and when it will be possible to get some.

This year, because of sugar rationing and the scarcity of certain foods, beekeepers are receiving more and more orders for honey, says W. A. Stephens, Bee Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. The urgent inquiries may cause honey to be extracted before it is fully ripened. This is a mistake and beekeepers are warned that there will be a lot of honey of high moisture content in certain parts of the country this year.

Even honey from capped combs may not be fully ripened where the weather has been wet and humid. During much of the time when the honey has been gathered there have been rains and very humid weather with the result that it has been impossible for the bees to concentrate the nectar as it has been brought into the hive.

Where high humidity and rainy weather has been more or less prevalent during the honey flow, it would be advisable not to be in a hurry to remove the supers. Honey in capped combs will ripen if left on the hive for a few warm days. Don't be rushed into extracting honey too soon!

The Royal Navy's motto is "Seek out, engage and destroy". By June, 1942 6,170,001 tons of the 11,000,000 tons of Axis merchant shipping had been destroyed, captured or put out of action by the Royal Navy and the R.A.F. In addition, the Royal Navy had sunk 3 Axis (German and Italian) battleships, 15 cruisers, 62 destroyers and in conjunction with the Royal Canadian and United States Navies, sunk or damaged 530 submarines. British submarines alone have sunk more than 300 enemy supply ships, including many troop ships, and have damaged many more.

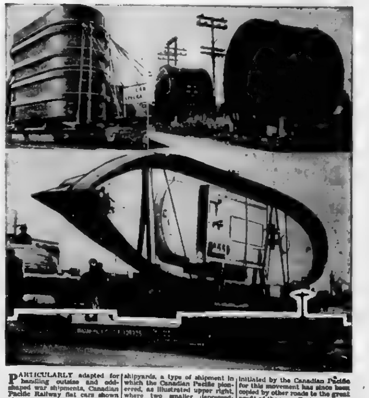
C.P.R. Beats Obstacles to Move Wartime Shipments



PARTICULARLY adapted for handling outsize and odd-shaped war shipments, Canadian Pacific Railway flat cars shown above — empty and with loads of boilers for corvettes, a huge transformer and a welded-steel boat — have been of great aid to the war effort of Canada and the United States. Recently the company's largest depressed-centre flat cars, one of which is pictured at the bottom of this layout, were the only ones which could handle a 130-ton tank — 105 feet long and 12½ feet in diameter — from Lachine, Que., to a synthetic rubber plant in southwestern Ontario.

Two of these huge cars now are on loan in the United States hauling marine engines for the Kaiser shipyards, a type of shipment in which the Canadian Pacific pioneered, as illustrated upper right, where two smaller depressed-centre flat cars are shown, each loaded with a corvette boiler. These important shipments towered 21 feet, five inches above top of rail when blocked up to get them by certain half-deck girder spans on many bridges and at some bridges this blocking had to be removed, while the boilers were held up by jacks, and the shipment lowered to clear the bridge.

The company's engineering department laid down the special moves necessary to get the corvette boilers from Toronto to Quebec, listing all permanent installations which had to be removed temporarily. The technique initiated by the Canadian Pacific for this movement has since been copied by other roads to the great profit of the war effort.

In the matter of the transformer (upper left) the main consideration was to get equipment heavy enough to carry it from Toronto to Milton, Ont., with its weight of 134 tons being only one ton less than the maximum load capacity of the biggest depressed-centre flat car the company has in its freight rolling stock of 77,710 pieces, all in war service. The boat (centre) was an awkward load with a maximum width of 12 feet, 10 inches. It was 81 feet, six inches long and was transported from Owen Sound, Ont., to Saint John, N.B., on two machinery flat cars.

WELCOME TO A HERO—

(J. E. C. Weir, London, May, 1943)

THE THEATRE IS packed, but for one empty box. A good house, expectant of amusement—a friendly, laughing, cheerful house.

"Oh, here they come, three soldiers, what do you think, and one of them a "Yank." Idly one watches three men take their places in the box.

Suddenly, an electric shock of recognition, a hush of incredulity spreads through the house, a breathless gasp, and then the shout:

"Montgomery's here!" "Montgomery's home!" "Do you see him in that box on the left?"

"It can't be Montgomery, I ask you—he isn't in this country."

"It is, though. I'd know that salute of his anywhere, let alone his black beret!"

Wave after wave of cheers. Everyone on their feet, struggling with opera glasses, waving programs wildly.

"Montgomery! Montgomery!"

The man who welded the Eighth Army; the man who saved Egypt; the man who gave us El Alamein, and Tripoli, and Mareth, and the rest; the idol of the "Eighth"—Montgomery is actually here before us. Cheer after cheer rings out, acknowledged by a wide-flung slow salute.

Press photographers appear from nowhere in the boxes opposite. Cameras flash and click. The incredulous are convinced. "It's Montgomery all right!"

We simply must let him see we're proud of him. We must show him what these victories of his on the desert roads, in the wadis and Tunisian hills have meant to us.

From somewhere, someone has found a box of chocolates and presents them to the General—surely a modest gift for a life-size hero? Look! red roses for England are tied to it. Yes! and a large white Victory "V". Montgomery holds the box toward us and we cheer the "V". After all, did he not first show us the vision of desert victory? Did he not tell Mr. Wilkie, "Egypt is saved," when many doubted.

He tries to hush the house.

The lights are lowered. The play begins.

What is that young American thinking? Are we shattering the "myth" of British stolidity? Does he still think we are a cold and reserved nation?

Why shouldn't we cheer? We don't get the chance to say "Thank you and welcome home!" to a hero every day. After all these months, you know, after all the setbacks, after all the "gallant failures," after endless disappointments, fighting retreats, evacuations, and the rest, Montgomery led us straight along the road—the long, long Libyan road—which led to victory in the end.

What did he say to his men on May 14?

> Now that the campaign in Africa is finished, I want to tell you all, my soldiers, how intensely proud I am of what you have done . . . . As your Prime Minister said at Tripoli in February last it will be a great honor to be able to say in years to come, "I marched and fought with the Eighth Army." . . . Together, you and I, we will see this thing through to the end.

The final curtain is down.

Actors and actresses surge to the footlights to join in the welcome.

Everyone suddenly bursts out singing: "For he's a jolly good fellow." (Why don't we have a decent song for occasions like this?)

Cries of "Speech! Speech!"

Montgomery advances to the front of the box, smiles at our enthusiasm, slowly shakes his head, pronounces the one syllable "Sh-sh-sh," and waves his arm in final salute.

How extraordinarily patient he looks! Inflexible of purpose, and steel-like, yes! but gentle and patient, too. There is something of the mother in the best type of British Army officer.

And some day, perhaps, the young American of the theatre box, will say: "Yes, I was at the play that night—the night Montgomery came home after the Battle of Tunisia. They certainly said 'Thanks a lot' in their own way that night. I guess, sometimes, you don't really know the British till you have seen them welcome their heroes home."

Frigid Response

Sir Henry Irving had an aversion for any attraction which competed with his own sterling performances in the theatre.

One night when Sir Henry was playing in London he was told that Nansen, the hero of North Polar exploration, had just returned to the city, and was present in the theatre. Sir Henry said nothing.

Bram Stoker came behind the scenes just before curtain time, and informed the great actor that Nansen was seated in the royal box. Sir Henry merely grunted.

A few minutes later a fluttery woman acquaintance rushed in and exclaimed, "Oh, Sir Henry, did you know the great Nansen is out front?"

"Nansen? Nansen?" exclaimed Sir Henry. "Oh, yes, the chap who stands the cold so well!"

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

Written specially for the weekly newspapers of Canada

By JIM GREENBLAT

There was a dynamic, expectant air about the House of Commons late Saturday night as members waited for the exodus to the Senate chamber to hear Royal assent given to bills passed. They were just like youngsters at school getting ready for summer holidays, gleefully sang songs in varying chords from tenor to profundo basso. They all trooped to the Senate and heard Chief Justice Sir Lyman Duff give assent, soon returned to hear Mr. King move adjournment until January 27, 1944 ending a six month session. Members broke off, party lines vanished while they shook hands, said good-byes, cleared desks. Sunday I watched the usual visitors wander around the buildings, but the vaulted corridors seemed to miss those hurrying, familiar figures. Parliament is usually prorogued, but this time only adjourned because the war might necessitate a hurry-up call to convene members. At the hotel Sunday a departing M.P. said: "There's really no connection between Parliament adjourning and shortly after, Mussolini resigning."

●●●●●●●

As the end of the Session flickered into view, the mills of Parliament started to grind faster but got caught in the whirl of some long distance debate. One subject was the Farmer's Creditors Arrangement Act, a bill bringing Manitoba into the system of farm debt legislation with her two sister provinces. Highlights: Limiting date of May 1, 1935 stays. If two-thirds of a farmer's debts were incurred before that date he may seek adjustment on all his debts, even those incurred after. Opposition members from the West took the stand that legislation didn't go far enough for the farmer. Mr. Ilsley who piloted the bill though it unwise at this time to re-open fundamental issues of western debt problems and just couldn't see eye to eye with the three-province plan for permanent debt legislation, something which no other country has. He stressed courts have power to stay foreclosure.

●●●●●●●

Grist from the House: Opposition members also took considerable time in a front asking for lifting of the ban against Communists in Canada and Jehova Witnesses. Minister of Justice St. Laurent said to do so involved an order by Governor-in-Council; he also pointed out that a recommendation by a parliamentary committee last session had not been implemented by majority House vote. As to Witnesses he said in view of certain evidence their recognition would be a detriment to the war effort . . . A special committee of 24 members named to scrutinize war expenditures . . . Further study of the draft health insurance bill by the Dominion and provinces, recommended in final report of Social Security Committee.

●●●●●●●

A percentage of Army personnel from operational units and depots in Canada may be detailed up to 30 days, with provision for extension, to help with the harvest and help relieve manpower shortage in agriculture . . . the men will benefit from extra pay from the farmer employer . . . further details will be available in your own Home front.

The important Agricultural Committee tabled final reports in the House, main recommendations summarized, being: Consider advisability of paying farm storage on grain . . . Whether to bonus marketed dairy butter and if eggs should be sold by weight . . . that precautions should be taken by the Meat Board to keep live cattle prices in proper relationship to beef carcass floor prices and also a measure between hog prices to producer and price of products by the processor . . . committee thought public should get more information on progress of research in producing new varieties of farm products . . . asked higher priority for essential farm equipment. The need of encouraging more production of essential foods was noted. Important too, was recommendation for a close check on spread of ceiling prices of feed grains and prices paid by live stock feeders in B.C., Eastern Canada.

From coast to coast, you've argued this: but the National Research Council tabled a report in the House that wheat is a costly raw material for industrial use; the quantity of it which could be used would contribute in only a small way to the solution of our surplus problem. The report shows that wheat yields alcohol at 2 gals. to the bushel. At 90 cents (Ft. Wm.) a bushel, alcohol would cost 62 cents a gallon. In normal times however, molasses makes alky at 25c a gal.

Whether waiting the waves in the Mediterranean, North Atlantic or the Aleutians, your lad in the Royal Canadian Navy is going to see on board ship each week from now on, at least one current up-to-date movie with his favourite screen star. Plans have already been organized here by the Navy Film Society.

You might be interested, housewives. The other day at the Prices Board information branch I had a look at the new ration book you will be getting between August 22-28. Twelve million are being printed, weighing 270 tons, enough to fill nine box cars. Piled singly they would reach 11 miles in the air and their 144 million pages would form a ribbon 3 1-2 inches wide five times across Canada. Color changes in the ration book: grey cover, green for tea and coffee; red for sugar; purple for butter; meat brown; and 4 spare series. They tell us that a man would need to live until he is 2000 years old if he started counting coupons Canadians spend, at the rate of 4000 per working day. By the way, your August and September canning coupons are usable now, merchants having been authorized to honour them ahead of date.

While it is definitely good news that a new farm machinery order increases quotas, it should be remembered that you won't get much benefit from it until the crop year of 1944 for obvious reasons, because many of the items can't be completed until late fall. With allotment to zones as needed, machines will be increased to tonnage equal to 77 per cent of the 1940-41 output, that of repairs 156 per cent. The total will be 96 per cent of the average weight of machines produced in the basic period.

Any of you folks who visit Ottawa should really make it a point to wander over to Parliament buildings in the lowering eventide, and sit on one of the benches of the broad and beautiful walk facing the buildings. Silhouette of the stately House of Commons with the odd windows lighted up, gleaming like a ship at sea; the irregular shape and spires of the East and West blocks, makes an unforgettable picture against the darkening sky. Just sit there for a while. You'll be glad you did.

With increased raising of livestock and poultry in Eastern Canada as against an indicated short grain crop, the department of agriculture here has set up a subsidy on a sliding scale for eastern farmers to buy western feed grain for storage against next winter's feeding needs. It starts with a 3 cent subsidy per bushel for grains bought in July, 2 1-2 cents in August, receding half cent each month to a subsidy of half a cent per bushel in December.

When it is realized that our Canadian producers have got the job this year of supplying 85 per cent of Great Britain's bacon requirements to maintain their 4 oz. weekly ration, it emphasizes the tremendous war job being done on the farms from ocean to ocean. To hit this high mark in 1943 means that a greater percentage of hogs offered for slaughter in Canada will have to be diverted for export. It won't reduce the amount of pork for our own consumers much however, as canning pork for export is also reduced, mostly fresh and smoked being used now. Last year our shipments of bacon and ham to the Old Land was 5,249,519 cwt. in money $90,723,873.

Behind Mr. Metcalfe are map-lined walls and the long battery of news "ticker" machines, which bring in Canadian Press, and British United Press news from east and west.

Vision Of Canada

Editorial from The Liberty Magazine July 31st, 1943

One of the sad characteristics of Canada as a nation has been the tendency to depreciate ourselves, to belittle our achievement and to hesitate before the uncertainty of tomorrow.

In the little of good that can be said for war let us admit that, while it has brought to Canada sorrow and continuing loss, it has jolted us out of the attitude of complacent self-effacement. It has made plain to us the vastness of our national heritage and what is more difficult for us to believe, it has demonstrated our own ability to master those resources. Today Canada ranks among the great manufacturing nations, her production exceeded among the United Nations only by Russia and Britain and the United States.

Canada's industrial accomplishment has been an Alladin's dream. Ship-building once a matter of a baker's dozen of ships a year is now a great industry, producing almost as many every week. This week, and every week of the year, Canada's munition plants will turn out better than half a million rounds of heavy ammunition and fifty times that volume of small arms. Our airplane industry has turned out more than 2,000 planes—more than Britain owned when she first faced the war. We have shipped to Russia more than 1,400 tanks and have built besides, another 1,700. Of military and fighting vehicles 4,450 roll off the assembly line every week.

We have doubled our peacetime output of iron and steel. We are producing in Canada today more aluminum than was produced in the whole world in 1939, and are supplying 40 per cent of the total requirements of the United Nations. We are providing 75 per cent of the Allies' nickel, 75 per cent of the asbestos, 20 per cent of the zinc and mercury, 15 per cent of the lead and 12 1-2 per cent of the copper.

"Never again," as the Hon. C. D. Howe, who supplied these figures, has said—"never again can there be any doubt that Canada can manufacture anything that can be manufactured elsewhere."

These are the accomplishments of Canadian effort and initiative and daring; and a Canada that was equal to this miracle of accomplishment for war will not be less effective in planning for peace, or in making those plans come true.

But the faint of heart are using even these accomplishments as arguments against us. "What will become of these great plants," they ask, "when the greedy demands of war are over?"

What the faint hearts are saying today, they were saying a quarter century ago. They were saying that you couldn't perpetuate in peace a business built on war. We are surely within our rights when we bring the record of history to answer this complaint. The four years of the last war tripled Canada's exports of the five preceding years. It couldn't last, the faint heart said; yet, in every one of the twenty years that followed, the average exports were $170,000,000 greater than the average of those war years. The net value of products we manufactured in 1937, when we were just emerging from depression, was $200,000,000 better than the miracle peak of production of 1918.

We need a new and more confident vision for Canada. We need men who will believe what their eyes and their hearts tell them is true—that nowhere else in the world is there the assured promise that faces Canada today.

(Signed) Joseph Lister Rutledge.

Next-Of-Kin Problem Due To Canadian Soldiers Marrying Overseas

Marriage of an unofficially estimated 8,000 Canadian soldiers overseas to English and Scottish girls has created a next-of-kin problem for authorities at National Defence Headquarters in Ottawa. It means that they have changed the address of their next-of-kin from their Canadian folks to that of their British wives with addresses in the United Kingdom. Dependent's allowance is forwarded to the new recipient, by a treasury officer at Canadian Military Headquarters overseas.

If a soldier who has married since proceeding overseas becomes a casualty, his wife as immediate next-of-kin will be notified as a matter of routine, but Records now advise that the soldier's former next-of-kin, that is, his mother or father in Canada, will also be notified.

Casualty lists are issued only after confirmation has been received that next-of-kin have been officially notified. The Canadian home town of the casualty as usually shown on the list is assumed to be the same as the home town of his next-of-kin. If, however, his next-of-kin (wife) is in the United Kingdom, his Canadian next-of-kin and address will also be shown.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. G. L. Strange

THREE BEAUTIFUL THINGS

John Masefield, the celebrated English poet, once wrote that he thought the three most beautiful things in the world were: A mother with a babe at her breast; a full rigged ship at sea; and a waving field of wheat.

Most people, I believe, won't agree with this, accepting that while sailors would place a full rigged ship at sea in the second place as John Masefield has done, most farmers who have an eye for the beauties of Nature—and who has not—would be inclined to favour a waving field of wheat as the second most beautiful thing in the world; for surely there is nothing that brings more pleasure to the eye and to the emotions of a farmer than a field of wheat, healthy, strong, and true-to-variety, giving the promise of a good crop of grain, the fruition of his hopes, his careful work and his skilful planning.

This year farmers can find an added pleasure in regarding with proud eyes their fields of wheat. It is that the wheat, in the form of man's finest food in add— will give life and energy to the members of the fighting forces overseas; and will eventually help to provide food for the stricken people of a hungry world.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

High temperatures and lack of rainfall have caused continued crop deterioration in southeastern Alberta and western Saskatchewan. A further decrease is indicated in Australian wheat acreage this year with preliminary estimates showing an area of 9,000,000 acres as compared with 10,000,000 acres in 1942. Mexico officially forecasts the 1943 wheat crop at 11,023,000 bushels as compared with the 1942 harvest of 15,8[illegible] bushels.

U. S. spring wheat is reported to be in satisfactory condition. Turkey and Spain report excellent crops with the harvest underway in both countries. World wheat production in 1942 has been estimated at about 5.8 billion bushels, or approximately 100 million bushels larger than the estimated 1941 production.

Farm Work Wages Set For Soldiers

Ottawa, Aug 4—Minimum wages to be paid for the services of soldiers detailed for farm labor were announced yesterday by the defence department.

In western Canada the minimum rate is $4 a day, in most parts of Ontario $3.50, and in Quebec and the Maritime provinces $3. In addition farmers will provide board and lodging.

The department also announced that in the case of men granted compassionate leave to alleviate harvesting conditions on their own farms or those of their parents or near relatives, men will be provided with free return transportation to destinations of not more than 500 miles, meal tickets and free [illegible].

Soldiers going on compassionate leave to farms more than 500 miles distant will have to pay their own transportation beyond that point.

Care Of Raspberries After Fruiting

(Experimental Farms News)

Raspberry canes bear fruit only one year and should be removed near the ground soon after the last fruit is picked. Removal at this time serves two definite purposes. Cutting out the old canes which are still alive allows more plant food to go to the young canes which will produce next season's crop. Their removal will also eliminate disease and insect pests which may harbor in the canes over winter. For this reason canes should be removed and destroyed as soon after pruning as possible, says F. H. Hutton, Dominion Experimental Station, Morden, Man.

Red raspberries unpruned will produce many more canes than are desirable for the production of good quality fruit, and maximum yields. This makes thinning necessary. Such thinning can be done at the time old canes are removed, or all new canes can be left until spring. If left during the winter they will aid protection against cold and drying winds. Their presence during the late summer and fall will also reduce the size of the fruiting canes to be left by added competition. Whichever practice is followed the canes should eventually be spaced 6 to 8 inches apart where the hedge row system is used, or six to eight canes left where grown in hills. The strongest canes should be left in each case.

Black and most purple raspberries do not sucker but will require thinning in the hills similar to the reds. As growth in this species is very strong, pinching back the young canes when they are about 24 inches high is very desirable. This encourages the production of strong canes with long strong laterals. The fruiting buds on such laterals will be more productive than on the weak canes.

Red raspberry canes produce best when allowed to fruit their full length. Black and purples should be pruned back in the spring to about 24 to 30 inches, and the laterals to about eight buds.

North Alberta Exceeds Quota In Stamp Drive

Residents of Northern Alberta exceeded their $50,000 objective in the "Stamp Out the U-Boat" campaign that concluded last Saturday, campaign officials announced Wednesday. During the five weeks stamp sales totalled $51,867.50. Quota for the northern half of the province was $50,000 divided into $23,000 for the 60 rural units and $27,000 for the City of Edmonton.

Campaign officials stated that results from the rural residents were exceptionally gratifying with sales totalling $27,836.50. In Edmonton, where campaigners were faced with what officials regarded as a "stiff" quota, the sales totalled $24,031. More than $10000 worth of stamps were sold in the last week and over $8000 of that amount was turned in by youthful house-to-house canvassers working under the direction of the Junior Service Bureau.

Stamp sales in all of Northern Alberta during the first week totalled $6,226. This was boosted to $8,695.50 during the second week and to $11,032.75 in the third week. The fourth week's total dropped to $9,761 and during the fifth week total sales reached the record of $14,282.25.

The campaign set-up in Northern Alberta was much along the pattern of that followed during the Fourth Victory Loan. Rural Northern Alberta was divided into eight divisions and the City of Edmonton constituted the ninth division. Sales by divisions were as follows:

Peace River area under W. L. Caldwell $3,372.25, northeast Alberta under R. H. Driscoll $2,742.50; Edmonton Rural and east to Bonnyville under F. Pepper $2,807; Coal Branch under J. E. Syde, $2,838; Vegreville and northeast under A. W. Fraser $2,441.75. Clandonald-Innisfree-Lloydminster triangle under R. F. Blakmer $1,763.50; Tofield-Edgerton-Provost triangle under J. L. Sutherland $5,300.50; Leduc-Camrose-Ponoka triangle under C. L. Jackson $6,420

ALLIES MAY SEIZE OR DESTROY MOST OF ITALIAN FLEET SOON

Washington, Aug. 4—There is growing opinion in naval circles here that the Allies can count with reasonable certainty on capturing or destroying the major portion of Italy's fleet, possibly soon.

This would be more bad news for Tokyo's admirals. The Mediterranean and the Pacific are not separated for all practical purposes in this global war.

The final crushing of Italy, if it entails the surrender of the Axis Mediterranean naval force, will facilitate greatly the organization of amphibious forces for an assault on Burma this fall. Royal Navy warships could be shifted to the Burma theatre immediately.

At present the Italians should be able to muster about half a dozen battleships, somewhat less than a dozen cruisers, a maximum of 100 destroyers of which about half are Corvette types, and some 70 submarines.

The vessels were mostly based on Spezia and Taranto when the present Allied offensive against Italy began. There have been reports that the naval units at Taranto were moved into the Adriatic. If that is true, the Germans might have a chance of gaining control of them should Italy surrender.

On the other hand there is little likelihood that the units based on Spezia would fall under German domination with Allied naval and airpower in the Tyrrhenian sea as great as it is.

Housewife

She made a home of four bare walls
  A citadel of strength and grace,
A refuge in a stormy world
  Where all her family came—a place
Where quiet reigned and sunlight shone
Upon the little house and lawn.

She made a home of simple things,
  A woven rug of laurel green,
A little desk of knotty pine,
  Chintz curtains and a lacquered screen
A tufted spread of sailcloth blue,
A quilted hassock gay and new.

She made a home (oh, lovely word!)
  A place where warmth and light became Part of her own eternal self
  Cheerful and lovely as a flame
With work and love and little halls,
She made a home of four bare walls.

Arrange For Your Next Winter's Coal Now

The general public is being warned that the fuel situation, particularly as regards coal is rapidly becoming very serious. The shortage of coal is so alarming that the Prime Minister has declared a National Emergency.

As far as possible coal consumption now should be reduced to the minimum required and arrangements, and if possible, delivery of coal made for use next winter.

To Trade Is Natural

To trade, to do business, to buy and sell is natural. As natural as breathing, eating, sleeping or walking. No race of humans are known to exist who do not buy, sell or trade to some extent. Even if one lived under a breadfruit tree in a tropical country there would still be something lacking—butter — and surplus breadfruit would probably be traded to somebody who possessed cows or goats, for butter.

This is no tropical country and there are certainly no breadfruit trees around, but there are quite a number of things that could be traded or sold. A used plow, tractor, binder or any other piece of farm equipment. Furniture too, or even clothing very often have resale value, often having done duty for their original owner. And then too, there is that extra horse in the pasture, cow in the barn, extra pigs in the sty or even chickens in the chicken house.

Somebody, somewhere, may be looking for any one of these things and the easiest, cheapest and most effective way to let people know they are for sale is through a CLASSIFIED WANT AD in the MERCURY.

C.P.R. Diesel-Electrics Speed Up War Freight

THE sleek new diesel-electric locomotive pictured here is one of two which the Canadian Pacific Railway has added to the rolling stock in its Outremont, Que., yards to speed up the heavy flow of wartime freight passing through Montreal terminals. Within the next few months three more of the same type will be in service, capable of giving highly efficient work on a 24-hour basis in contrast to steam yard locomotives, which require servicing at 16-hour intervals. With the new diesel-electrics on the job steam locomotives can be released from yard service for longer haul runs where they are urgently needed to move war freight.

Needing to be refuelled only once every three days and inspected once a month as compared to the daily refuelling and inspection necessary with steam locomotives the diesel-electric units can haul a 5,000-ton load on level track at slow speed and have a starting tractive effort of 69,000 pounds. Their loaded weight is only 115 tons and they are powered with one six-cylinder 1,000 horsepower supercharged diesel engine which runs at 740 revolutions a minute. Their overall length is 45 feet 5 inches and four-wheeled driving trucks allow them to operate anywhere a box car can go—a decided advantage on private sidings where track curvature is sometimes severe.

In preliminary tests the locomotives have been easy on fuel, doing a strenuous eight hours of work on only 30 gallons of fuel oil. Objectionable features [illegible] in the early designs of this type of power of some 20 years ago have been eliminated, according to H. B. Bowen chief of motive power and rolling stock. The new engines were built by the American Locomotive Company, of Schenectady, N. Y., with the electrical equipment supplied by General Electric. The controls are so simple that little instruction was necessary to familiarize the driver, shown in the lower picture, with the operation.

Ryley Couple Wed Saturday

With Rev. A. H. Solheim officiating, the marriage took place Saturday, August 7th, at 2:30 p.m. in the Lutheran parsonage in Camrose of Gladys Cecilia, daughter of Mr. Gustave Olson and the late Mrs. Olson of Ryley to Roy Palmer Annebo, son of Mr. Iver Annebo and the late Mrs. Annebo, also of Ryley.

The bride looked charming in a toe-length wedding gown of delicate azure blue taffeta, fashioned with a close fitting bodice, low neckline, and draped from the long torso with a full double net skirt. Her only piece of jewelry was a gold locket. Her shoulder length veil of blue net was caught to her hair with a wreath of flowers and she carried a bouquet of talisman roses and asparagus fern.

Miss Hennie Annebo, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. She wore a floor length gown of marigold crepe trimmed with gold sequins and carried a spray of pink gladioli.

Best man was Harold Olson, brother of the bride.

After the ceremony a reception to immediate relatives was held at the bride's home, where the wedding table, laid with a lace cloth, was centered with a three tiered wedding cake and decorated with bowls of flowers.

I.O.D.E NOTES

POLISH RELIEF OVERSEAS

The Dr. Tofield Chapter is again anxious to remind town and country citizens that good used clean clothing (not boots) for Polish Relief Overseas is still needed. Boxes for receiving articles have been placed in the four local grocery stores but to date only a small quantity has been received. Perhaps some of you are still planning to help in this worthy cause. If so, we would be glad to receive them now, and all donations will be gratefully received.

During the twelve weeks War Stamps Campaign the "Miss Canada" young ladies sold stamps to the value of $545.75—this representing a total of 2,183 stamps. Those helping out in the past week or so were Joan Webb, Betty Stinson, Joyce Wiltsen, Myrna Carlisle, Jean Lovell, Audrey Bradbury, Wyonne Rude, Lorna Swinton, and Doreen Munro.

During the recent six week's drive stamps to the value of $265.25 were sold. Our quota was $330.00 which probably was a little high. Nevertheless our thanks are due to the public and the "Miss Canada" ladies for assisting us in this worthy cause.

The block of pennies venture sponsored by the I.O.D.E. resulted in a contribution of $34.62 to that worthy organization. Young ladies and boys sold pennies to willing purchasers who placed them on the sidewalk.

The Chinese Have Been Game

Through six years of war against the aggression of Japan, China has not flinched. This Ally of ours in the Far East has helped to fight our battles as well as her own, in an amazing stand against the Japs—amazing in a military sense, and amazing because China also had to contend with famine, disease and destitution.

No nation has suffered as China suffered. None has shown such stoicism, such downright gameness. More than 50,000,000 Chinese have been made homeless. Fifty million. That's almost five times the total population of Canada. Think of it in terms of your community. And more Chinese millions have been blasted by war, blighted by disease, wasted by want and hunger.

It is to help alleviate this heroic suffering that the Chinese War Relief Fund is now making its first national appeal to the people of Canada—to send Canadian dollars as well as Canadian sympathy and admiration, to a gallant Ally.

China has a proverb which says: "Friendship in time of distress is stronger than metal or stone."

China and Canada have long been friends, and the friendship between their peoples has grown ever stronger through these last few years of war against a common enemy—a war in which Chinese suffering has been terrific and sustained.

Now, through the Chinese War Relief Fund in its first national appeal to Canada from coast to coast, the Canadian people have an opportunity of showing friendship to the Chinese people in a practical way. Contributions of money, with a Dominion-wide objective of $1,000,000 will go to China in the form of hospital and medical supplies, war orphanages, ambulances, food, clothing—all the vital things needed by China to sustain life and alleviate suffering.

The Chinese have withstood hunger homelessness, disease through six awful years— because they knew they were fighting not only for national survival, but for the preservation of freedom and of all the fundamental ideals on which their civilization, like ours, is based. Their sacrifices have been, and will continue to be, immense. Canada's dollars can help to lighten them, and will let China know that Canadian friendship is strong—and real.

When Madame Chiang Kai-shek, the indomitable First Lady of China, visited Ottawa recently, she gratefully accepted cheques for Chinese relief from various organizations—but not in any of her utterances did she ask for aid to lessen the terrible sufferings of her people under Jap aggression.

Madame Chiang asked for military aid, yes. She asked for agricultural equipment. She asked for war supplies of all sorts. But, proudly, she did not ask for anything to relieve the sickness, hunger and want of her fellow Chinese.

The Chinese War Relief Fund of Canada is now doing what she would not do. Across the Dominion the people of Canada, this month, have an opportunity of contributing money which will give China a measure of relief from its long and patient suffering. Objective of the August campaign is $1,000,000 and with it will be purchased medical and hospital supplies, drugs, food—anything and everything that the Chinese need and which Canadian dollars can supply.

1943-44 Grain Quotas

The initial wheat quota for the 1943-44 crop year has been set at 3 bushels per authorized acre. Last year the initial quota was 5 bushels.

This announcement was made by Hon. J. A. MacKinnon, minister of trade and commerce, on July 30th. The minister said further that the initial quotas were lower than last year because of the "present congestion" in country elevators.

Last crop year's wheat quota began at 5 bushels to the authorized acre and ended up at 15 bushels. The "authorized acreage" is 65 per cent of the acreage sown to wheat in 1940.

The final total quota for the 1943-44 crop year has been fixed at 14 bushels per authorized acre.

Up until August 15th certain delivery points in the prairie provinces will be permitted to accept deliveries of wheat under the 1942-43 quota of 15 bushels. This privilege is extended to farmers who are unable to complete deliveries of their quotas because of conditions beyond their control.

With regard to oats and barley, the quotas in effect at July 31st are extended to August 15th 1942, and apply only to old crop grain. An entry in the 1942-43 permit book is required.

Effective August 16th the general delivery quota on oats will be 5 bushels per seeded acre and on barley 5 bushels per seeded acre. Such deliveries must be recorded in the 1943-44 permit books but may include old as well as new crop oats and barley.

Flax deliveries are under no restrictions and need not be entered in permit books.

The wheat quota of 3 bushels is in effect now at points where no extension has been granted. At points where the old quotas have been extended to August 15th the new quota will not apply until August 16th.

Best Heat Absorber Best Milk Cooler

The speed at which milk can be cooled depends upon the rate at which the heat contained in the milk can be passed on to something else which will absorb heat. Some materials absorb heat much more rapidly than others. Water, for example, will cool milk 20 times faster than air. Air absorbs heat very slowly. Consequently if a can of warm milk is placed in a refrigerated room where the air temperature is at freezing point, it will be about 12 hours before the temperature of the milk has fallen to 50 degrees Fahrenheit. This explains why attempts to cool milk in winter by setting the cans in a snowbank or exposing them to outdoor temperature often leads to trouble.

Because milk must give its heat to surrounding water, the larger the volume of water and the lower its temperature, the quicker the milk will be cooled, and the cooling will be still more rapid when the water is kept in motion.

Says Plowing Is Wrong

Plows are the ruination of the land says Edward Faulkner, a farmer of Norman, Oklahoma. He claims that plowing destroys the root systems which lift moisture from the soil. The method he advocates is a surface cultivation which leaves the trash on top of the land.

Faulkner's ideas have created widespread interest in the United States and have aroused a great deal of discussion, both for and against. It might be interesting to note that some years ago the Swift Current federal experimental station came out with a statement that experiments conducted over a number of years showed that the real usefulness of cultivation was to destroy weeds and, consequently, deep plowing was unnecessary. Since then many prairie farmers have gone in for tillers equipped with large discs which do not penetrate deeply in the soil and which leave the trash on top. By this method wind erosion is kept at a minimum. —Wheat Pool Budget.

Bank Of Montreal Crop Report

General. Crop conditions continue favourable throughout Manitoba, but have deteriorated further in the dry areas of Alberta and Saskatchewan where yields will be light. Wheat, oats and barley are practically all headed and are filling out well where moisture conditions are satisfactory. Further rains however, are required in many districts. Flax has been affected by weeds and rust and some poorer crops have been ploughed under. Sawfly and grasshopper damage is reported in parts of Alberta and Saskatchewan. There have been scattered hail losses. Sugar beets are progressing favourably. In Quebec, grain crops are making good progress, with average yields indicated. The harvesting of an abundant hay crop of good quality is nearing completion. Pastures continue in very good condition. Root crops are showing satisfactory progress but canning crops are below average. A good apple crop is in prospect and small fruits are plentiful. Warm, dry weather is needed in most districts. In Ontario, crops generally continue to make satisfactory progress under favourable weather conditions. Harvesting of a reduced acreage of fall wheat is well advanced and threshing has commenced in some areas. Spring grains are ripening rapidly, but are short in straw, and yields will be considerably below average. Storing of a heavy crop of good-quality hay has been completed in most districts. Corn and roots are making good headway. In the Maritime Provinces, unfavourable weather during the past week has retarded growth, but prospects are favourable for average crops. In British Columbia, most fruit and vegetable crops are maturing well. It is indicated that yields generally will be below average. Potatoes, raspberries, apricots, semi-ripe tomatoes and early apples are now being marketed.

PRAIRIE PROVINCES

Alberta: Continued hot, dry weather in southern and east-central areas has caused further crop deterioration and yields generally will be light. In west-central and northern districts where good rains have been received, the outlook is satisfactory. Serious hail losses have occurred at scattered points. Heavy sawfly infestation is reported in southern sections. Saskatchewan: Crop conditions are varied. In areas where moisture is satisfactory crops are heading out well, but further rains are required to ensure proper filling. Elsewhere, particularly the southwestern and parts of the west-central, central and northwestern districts, yields will not be better than light. Sawfly and grasshopper damage is reported in some districts. Weed and rust infestation will reduce the yield of flax crops. Manitoba: The favourable crop outlook has been maintained during the past week. Wheat is practically all headed and the condition of coarse grains is satisfactory. Rain is required in some districts to ensure proper filling. Rust has appeared, but little damage is reported. Scattered hail losses have occurred. Sugar beets are making good progress.

$30,000 Model Engine, 8 Feet Long, Makes Good a Father's Boast To Son

Chicago, July 22 — John F. Lindsey made good on his boast to his six-year-old son—but it meant putting in thousands of hours of work over a period of nine years.

Back in 1934 Mr. Lindsey and his son Jackie were at the railroad exhibit in A Century of Progress and viewed the "400" of the Northwestern railroad.

"Daddy, can you make one like that?" asked Jackie, and his father's response was "sure."

On display in the Wrigley Building where Mr. Lindsey is department foreman, is a working model of the "400" engine and tender which Mr. Lindsey said he made completely by hand. He said the entire engine, which he values at $30,000 is built of machine steel and bronze castings and all boiler, engine and brake controls are located in the cab.

Mr. Lindsey who said he never was on a railroad engine in his life, explained that all dimensions and details were taken from the original engine and no blueprints were used. The model is eight feet long, one foot high, weighs 500 pounds and has a steam pressure of 250 pounds. All equipment on the locomotive are operating units.

Mr. Lindsey estimated he averaged 2 1-2 working hours a day for nine years to complete the model engine.

Agricultural Conditions

Compiled from reports of correspondents by Agricultural Extension Service for the period ending August 4th, 1943

Issued under the direction of Hon. D. B. MacMillan, Minister of Agriculture

GENERAL: Continued hot dry weather has thrust the boundaries of the area suffering from drought farther into central Alberta. Although good moisture reserves in central Alberta prevents rapid deterioration of crops in this area, some heat damage is experienced by crops on stubble. The Peace River Block is also undergoing dry conditions and rain is needed to enable crops to fill normally.

FIELD CROPS: Crops in southern Alberta on summerfallow may produce light yields but crops on stubble are, in many cases, not worth cutting. Early sown crops are ripening and cutting of barley will commence in a week or two. Rain is needed immediately in C.D. 7, C.D. 8, and the eastern half of C.D. 6, if normal yields are to be expected. General crop conditions in the northerly sections of central Alberta are good. The Peace River area is subject to hot dry weather and crop prospects are being lowered. Crop conditions there are fair but in some localities only fair to poor.

Haying is almost completed in dryer areas but showers in some more northern localities retard progress. Hay crops in central and northern Alberta are very good. A scarcity of winter feed in the most severe drought areas is expected.

LIVE STOCK: The flow of grass cattle has been heavier in the past week and cattle prices took a drop of anywhere from 25c to 75c at most markets. Hog markets remained steady at the same level as previous weeks. The price of lambs was sharply lowered on Tuesday following the announcement of a new price ceiling on dressed lamb, after September 1st, when it will be reduced from 30c per lb. to 22c per lb.

Cattle prices at Calgary were lower with best dry fed steers bringing $11.75 to $12.50. Edmonton was more active with choice steers reaching a new high of $13.00. Good butcher steers were generally $11.75 to $12.25.

Calgary hog market was steady with the basic price of $15.40. Edmonton showed no change and sold B1 hogs at $15.40 to $15.60.

Winter Salads For Swine

(Experimental Farms News)

Green leafy and well cured alfalfa hay forms a tasty and much needed winter supplement for growing pigs as well as for brood sows, says C. H. Anderson of the Beaverlodge Experimental Station.

In the winter of 1939-40 considerable hog trouble was encountered at the Station which upon investigation was diagnosed as resulting from a deficiency of vitamin "A". When the ailing pigs were fed well cured alfalfa hay or fish oil, the animals gradually recovered. In the autumn of 1940 an experiment was set up to compare rations carrying vitamin "A" with a basic check ration.

The results suggested that both the alfalfa and the fish oil supplied certain essential vitamins and the pigs receiving these feeds in their ration did not show signs of vitamin "A" deficiency.

The practice at the Station is to winter-feed all the swine stock well cured alfalfa hay, which is rich in the carotene from which vitamin "A" is derived and also carries the sunshine vitamin "D". Racks containing alfalfa are provided the brood sows in their paddocks. It is surprising [illegible] they relish this food. Weanling pigs and feeder pigs also have access to high quality alfalfa hay and they keep the racks picked clean of all green material. These racks are never empty during the winter months. In addition, all young winter pigs are given a tablespoon of fish oil in their drinking water each day until they attain a weight of 100 pounds. Where alfalfa hay is not available any tender well cured clover hay may be supplied. In the summer time pasture or almost any green plant material will substitute fairly well.

To a casual observer it might appear that these animals are being fed from a silver platter but experience at the Station has shown that "winter salads" for pigs pay dividends.

Calgary sheep and lamb market was $2 lower with good lambs $12.25 to $12.50, yearlings $6.00 to $7.00.

Edmonton offered best handy weight lambs to $13.00 to $13.50 and yearlings $7.50.

VOTING BY DIVISIONS—

A MATTER OF MORE than ordinary interest to ratepayers was settled at the last meeting of M. D. of Beaver Council meeting. Those who voted in the Municipal election held in the early part of this year will remember that voting was "at large". By this is meant that all ratepayers voted for a candidate in every division in which candidates were nominated. Within a small area this system is quite satisfactory but in a large district such as M.D. of Beaver, ratepayers in the east end would be called upon to choose between candidates in the west end of whom they had previously never heard and of whom they knew practically nothing. The same of course, would apply to ratepayers in the west end. When voting "by divisions," the ratepayers of each division will vote for a candidate in their own division only and thus will not be called on to choose between candidates unknown to them.

There are seven divisions in M.D. of Beaver, each being represented by one councillor and by unanimous vote at a recent Council meeting it was decided to request the Minister to permit voting by divisions. The Minister granted permission and that system will be used in future elections.

The system is not new, it was followed in the former M.D. of Cornhill set up and seemed to satisfy both ratepayers and councillors. We believe the M.D. of Beaver's action in requesting permission to make the change will meet with the ratepayers' approval.

WHICHEVER WAY THE WIND IS—

J. E. Hodgson

IT IS JUST one hundred years ago since a British engineer, W. S. Henson, designed and patented his "aerial steam carriage." Henson's patent specification revealed the first design ever produced, in Britain or any other country, for a full-scale power-driven aircraft. Although it was never constructed as a full-scale heavier-than-air machine, this far-seeing patent of a British experimenter became the basis for another notable step in the progress of aviation.

At the time when Henson envisaged flight with a power-driven aircraft, a bill was presented to the British Parliament to promote an "aerial transit company." The intention of the company was "to convey passengers and troops to China and India in a few days."

These two events took place a century ago, but they are important landmarks in the progress of British aeronautical development. Remote as they are from the streamlined planes of today, they illustrate the weight of British research which lies behind the achievements of the R.A.F. in this war.

William Samuel Henson is believed to have been born in Leicester in 1805, but beyond that essential date little is known of his early life. In 1820 he was living in Chard, and having shown mechanical ability of an inventive character, he took out a patent in 1835 for improvements in bobbinet or lace machinery, as his father had done before him.

How he became interested in aeronautics is also unknown but it is on record that in 1840 he was making experiments with model flying machines. A year later he was granted a patent for improvements in steam engines. These improvements were in the nature of novel types of boiler and condensor, doubtless designed to provide an engine of high-power weight ratio, which Henson realized was essential to the success of his flying machine. By the autumn of 1842 he had completed the patent specification of his "aerial steam carriage," for which, as "the true and only inventor"—to quote the official phrase—he was duly granted a patent.

Henson's patent specification, with its accompanying detailed drawings, is a remarkable document in the annals of mechanical flight—the more remarkable, perhaps, in that it was produced at a time when to take any interest in flying was to be thought either a fool or a knave. It revealed nearly all the features essential to that type of flying machine known at a later date as an airplane.

The main structure comprised rigid wings built up of wood, with main and secondary ribs, the whole covered above and beneath with varnished fabric. These wings had a span of 150 feet from tip to tip and were 30 feet in depth, the total supporting surface—including a "second tail" or elevator—being 4,500 square feet. In order to strengthen the large span of the wings, Henson provided wing-post bracing, the struts and wires of which were to be of oval section in order to reduce the factor of resistance. Beneath the center of the wings was a "car" or fuselage—in the manner of the modern mid-wing monoplane—in which was housed a lightweight steam engine of twenty-five to thirty horsepower, driving two "pusher" propellers of ten feet in diameter.

The car was also intended to afford space for the crew, as well as passengers, goods and mail. Steerage of the machine was to be by vertical rudder, while a "second tail"—fan-shaped and horizontal—was to serve the purpose of an elevator. Finally, take-off and landing were to be facilitated by means of "tricycle" landing wheels, quite in accord with modern practice.

Such, in brief, was Henson's design of one hundred years ago—a design sound in the main both as to the scientific and mechanical principles on which it was based. It is not to be wondered at that the possibilities of this novel invention attracted the attention of a small group of company-promoting type, who proposed to exploit the project by floating an aerial transit company.

It was in connection with this speculative scheme that the bill was presented in Parliament by a well-known member of the House, and read a first time, doubtless to a chorus of ironic laughter. But it got no further, and having been dropped it gave rise to a universal belief that the whole affair was a mere stunt. From an attitude of ill-informed optimism and wonder, press comments became cynical and derisive, and this "marvel of the age" became the subject of pictorial caricature and doggerel verse.

But the writer of the couplets:

It matters not, I understand, whichever way the wind is,
They'll waft you in a day or so right bang into the Indies!
Or you may dine in London now, and then, if you're romantic,
Just call a ship and take a trip right over the

would be surprised, if he were alive today, to find that his prophetic jest had become an accomplished fact.

It is only fair to Henson to add that, while the general atmosphere of failure prejudiced the mechanical merits of his design, he is not known to have taken any personal part in the financial scheme, or made any money from it. On the other hand, although it was not possible for financial and technical reasons to construct his aircraft on a large scale, it is more definitely to his credit that he was not discouraged.

Indeed, with the help of his friend, John Stringfellow—a fellow enthusiast in the cause of flight who also lived in Chard, and who in 1848 earned the high distinction of being the first man to demonstrate that a small model could support itself in the air when driven by steam power—he continued to make further experimental models. About the time of Stringfellow's notable success, Henson, having doubtless exhausted his resources, gave up his aeronautical endeavors and in 1849 emigrated to America, where he died in 1888.

TRADITION—

A LANCE-CORPORAL came and looked at us and announced that he was going to make soldiers of us; he looked at us again, somewhat scornfully, and said he was going to try, anyway.

He practised us in sloping hipes, in ordering, securing and presenting hipes. He told us to press on our butts, swing our arms, look to the front and hundreds of other things vital to the war effort. He shouted, screamed and implored until his voice cracked. Then he told us a little story.

It seemed that when he was a small boy his daddy gave him a box of lead soldiers. He was very fond of these soldiers and played with them for hours on end. One day he lost them, and though he searched high and low they were nowhere to be found. He ran to his father, sobbing his poor little heart out. "Never mind," said daddy, "you'll find them again some day."

In the afternoon a full corporal took us in hand. He was more inclined to be facetious than was the lance-corporal, but he was far, far more critical. Also his voice was healthier and it was many hours before it weakened. When at last exhaustion set in he told us a story.

When he was a small boy his father had given him a lovely box of lead soldiers.

When the corporal passed us over to the sergeant we could drill almost as well as real soldiers. But the sergeant didn't seem to think so.

But before dismissing us he gave us one long cold, contemptuous look, and told us a story.

Yes, it appeared that he also had once been given a box of lead soldiers.

Soon the Powers were looking about for prospective N.C.O.'s.

How that single stripe of mine caught the eye—my eye, that is—every time I swung my arm.

My first job was to instil the rudiments of foot and arms drill into a bunch of recruits. They moved awkwardly, got themselves into fantastic positions—almost, it seemed at times, tied their rifles round their necks.

"Listen," I said, "while I tell you a little story."

I commenced gently: "Once, when I was a small child, my father gave me a box of lead soldiers . . ."

I was interrupted by a deep resounding voice from behind me.

It Really Did Happen

The telephone rang in the composing room of the Durham (N.C.) Herald-Sun and a new apprentice picked up the receiver.

It was an outside call which the switchboard operator was relaying, and she wanted someone to press the necessary button to pick it up. "Outside," she said.

"What?" asked the new apprentice, who had been told nothing about the way the phone system was operated.

"Outside," repeated the operator, this time in a more commanding tone.

Without a word, the apprentice replaced the receiver and beat it down two flights of steps to the sidewalk. —Editor Publisher.

Many of us get funny notions about members of Parliament. Sure they make speeches, but after watching them in action here for a while I guess they're just working men like you and me. For instance the other day I was talking with Olaf Hansen, member for Skeena (B.C.) He told me he had lost 14 pounds during the session. The stocky, grey haired son of the Vikings still talks with a delightful Scandinavian accent. His home port for many years was Prince Rupert, that booming, pulsating war baby become adult. Mr. Hansen in 1907 went after the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow, walking the nearly one thousand miles from Edmonton to Prince Rupert through a wild country. He found the gold all right—but in lumber, pioneered and prospered.

This is Ottawa! The other day a huge tank with its long barrelled cannon pointing straight ahead at the traffic, its treads clanking loudly, rumbled along the pavement in front of the Parliament buildings. Incongruous . . . but it had to stop at the red light. Nobody seemed to pay the slightest attention to this monster of war.

The Prices Board order clamping down on further permits for storage of eggs until later in the year they tell me is primarily to stop speculating profits in storing and handling of eggs. You know Canada has a big job ahead of it this year. The production objective for 1943, according to the Agricultural Supplies Board, is to provide 345 million dozen eggs. Think of that, an increase of 26 per cent over 1942 and 41 per cent over 1941. For domestic consumption they figure over 282 million dozen; a reserve of 11 million. Munitions and Supply estimates it will need 7 1-2 million and the United Kingdom's need will probably be about 62 million dozen. That's cackling for victory in a big way.

In my rounds I also inquired about publication of the Sicilian campaign casualty lists, but find this can't be done for some time yet for security reasons. While one part of the Canadian army is still in one sector, like Sicily, such publication would give the enemy a fine chance to gauge losses, determine disposition etc. However when a paper has satisfied itself next-of-kin has been notified it may refer to an individual. Another interesting thing I was told is that official cameramen have been taking shots of the action in Sicily, these are sent on to London, then to the National Film Board in Ottawa. The people of Canada will be given the opportunity of seeing them through news reels in their local theatres.

You who groan over the mower on your little lawn at home ought to see what the men have to keep in trim around the Parliament buildings. I enquired and found there are about 40 acres of grass to be looked after and it keeps a number of men working continually day after day. I was surprised to see the absence of dandelions, so pestiferous in some parts of Canada. The Central Experimental Farm here says a pretty effective treatment for them is spraying the infested area with long-time burning oil at the rate of 5 gallons per one thousand square feet of lawn. No other place does one see more beautiful swards of grass and such magnificent trees as in Ottawa.

Odds and ends of the recent session: The war finance bill which set up a jackpot of $3,000,000,000 for war purposes passed quickly but Parliament was concerned with it on 44 days of the session, so it wasn't given a once over lightly . . . largest single item in the supplementary estimates was $27,816,000 for wheat reduction acreage bonus and administration of it as against $4,266,000 last fiscal year . . . there was a reduction of 4 million acres seeded to wheat in the three prairie provinces, but that's all covered by increases in oats, barley and flax seed, . . . one of the final debates before the curtain rang down was a bill which increased old age pensions and blind pensions by $5 a month and under certain circumstances also allowed $125 outside income without deduction.

A quick glance for folks "out there" on the new order stopping purchase of used tires and tubes without a permit. Rural school teachers get raised rating; rural auctioneers can get them; a new ruling allows a farmer to procure same for passenger car even if he has a truck. Provision is made for certain dentists, optometrists who operate branches; also for those employed in breed associations engaged the in control or direction of producing or marketing foods and farm products. A redefined status for those who use passenger vehicles for 75 per cent or more mileage in transporting produce supplies to and from the farm, and who own no truck. The order is to conserve dwindling stocks of new tires in Canada. Further information will probably be available at your local dealer who will likely have the detailed order.

Railways appear to be doing a swell war effort job. In June a new record level was reached, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics in freight tonnage hauled. An astounding total of 9,036,000 tons as against 4,277,000 in June 1939.

Why is the government pushing production of oil bearing seeds? To keep the Canadian boys punching over there. Four pounds of the lowly sunflower seed produce a pound of oil; a bushel of flax yields about 18 pounds of oil, while soy beans give about 8 pounds per bushel.

Had a letter saying: "Give us a little news for women". So I took a stroll down to the Consumers Branch of the Wartime Prices Board and said "How about it?" Got talking about the rural women in relation to price control and rationing. Found that representation of rural women in Consumer branch committees is taken seriously. For instance when it came to granting extra rations for temporary farm help, their wishes were really considered. Arrangements have been made for farm women to obtain extra rations, whenever they serve 12 meals or more. To further ease their problems of meal planning rural residents owning their own herds are granted special privileges under meat and butter ration.

HELP FOR OUR CHINESE ALLIES

Our gallant Allies, the Chinese people, BADLY NEED HELP! For seven long years China has been holding in check the greater part of the military strength of Japan. China has lost more men in killed and wounded in this war than all the other Allied Nations, including Russia, put together. The Chinese, by fighting Japan are defending Canada today just as truly as though they were fighting in Canada alongside of us, but our gallant, patient and courageous friends now need help; the condition of millions of them is pitiful. They badly need medical supplies and comforts. They need food for the millions of refugees who have escaped from Japanese-occupied territory into Free China, and to add to their plight, China is now suffering over a large area from a severe drought which is bringing famine and untold miseries in its wake.

It takes money to buy the things the Chinese people so urgently need, so they are appealing to the Canadian people for help through the Chinese War Relief Fund. Bank Managers, Elevator Agents and others throughout the West, are empowered to accept donations for this fund. It is one of the worthiest appeals ever made to Canadian people. The smallest sum will be gratefully accepted. Let each of us, therefore, give as generously to this fund as he can afford to. As little as ONE DOLLAR will help save a life.

Farmer Slaughterers Must Register At LRB

Edmonton, August 9 — Farmers who kill livestock for use on their own farms, or for sale to other farmers for consumption on their own farms, must register with the nearest local ration board. This applies also when farmers have livestock killed by a packer or other valid slaughterer in order to consume the meat on their own farm premises.

From the Local Ration Board the farmer will obtain a card certifying that he has registered and giving him a registration number. This card or the number on it, must be [illegible] by any person who kills meat for the farmer's home use or for the farmer to sell to his neighbor for his home use. The number must also be recorded by any storage plant accepting this type of meat for storage in a locker.

Officials of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board state that many farmers have neglected to register as farm slaughterers and remind them that this measure is in accordance with rationing regulations and must be observed.

To Trade Is Natural

To trade, to do business, to buy and sell is natural. As natural as breathing, eating, sleeping or walking. No race of humans are known to exist who do not buy, sell or trade to some extent. Even if one lived under a breadfruit tree in a tropical country there would still be something lacking—butter — and surplus breadfruit would probably be traded to somebody who possessed cows or goats, for butter.

This is no tropical country and there are certainly no breadfruit trees around, but there are quite a number of things that could be traded or sold. A used plow, tractor, binder or any other piece of farm equipment. Furniture too, or even clothing very often have resale value, often having done duty for their original owner. And then too, there is that extra horse in the pasture, cow in the barn, extra pigs in the sty or even chickens in the chicken house.

Somebody, somewhere, may be looking for any one of these things and the easiest, cheapest and most effective way to let people know they are for sale is through a CLASSIFIED WANT AD in the MERCURY.

Ten Hours To London For $100 Is Seen For Postwar Planes

Washington, July 31 —. Further details about the postwar trans-Atlantic airplane that may take passengers to Europe in 10 hours for $100 are becoming available here.

Airline officials are circumspect in their comment, but it is evident that with the cessation of hostilities a new era in civilian aerial transportation is going to dawn. One airline official here, who declined to be quoted direct, said that a 150 passenger airliner would already be in service if the war had not intervened.

Details of this model, and of the transportation revolution it is capable of creating by fast trips and speed in turn around reveal that aviation leaders are already talking in terms far different from those that the man-in-the street has generally grasped.

The proposed model would have four engines and would be substantially smaller than the air monsters Henry J. Kaiser and other imaginative industrialists have visualized.

It would have an over-all range of 5,000 miles and a practical range, fully loaded, of 3,000 miles.

With a plane of this sort "stepping stone" islands and matters of sovereignty in air travel would almost disappear. Trips to London from New York would be direct, one-hop affairs, and to Scandinavia would require only one stop. The plane could go fully loaded round the equator with only six stops.

The same plane would reduce the 21 days carrying time by boat from New York to Buenos Aires to about 40 hours.

Most spectacular change would be the passenger-carrying capacity of such a vehicle arising from its fast passage multiplied through the year.

Taking a hypothetical case the plane could make the round trip daily from New York to London in less than 20 hours carrying 150 passengers on the round trip.

The Normandie would take 12 days for a round trip carrying about 5000 passengers. In 12 days the airplane would carry 1800 passengers. The airplane would cost about $1,500,000, it is estimated, compared with many times that amount for the big passenger liner.

According to tentative computations such an airplane, operating to hypothetical capacity through the year could move 109,500 people back and forth across the Atlantic.

Even the most enthusiastic aviation official does not believe that half a dozen of the proposed planes is apt to be operating at such a rate. But the figure is offered as an illustration of the effect speed will have in making the airplane the equal of the steamboat.

Jonah's Delight

"It's immense" is the comment of many a steel draper as he sinks meat-starved teeth into the latest—one could hardly call it a delicacy—to reach the grab-a-snack counters. Whether the remark refers more to sheer quantity than to gustatory enjoyment is left to the decision of the individual palate. For the newcomer is certainly a whale of a "burger" and there are those who insist that this Jonah's Delight not only looks like beef, but tastes like beef. Of course there is always the chance that rationing and time have dulled the memory of the latter.

In any case, Friend Cow after years of maintaining without effort, a preferred position on grill and plate, had better start tooting her own horn. Even then she'll be somewhat at a disadvantage against such an expert blower as the whale, and with the red points against her at the start. It is true, she never really has owned up to her humble role in the burger business, preferring the fame of her steaks and roasts, but she must have taken some secret pride in being queen of the picnic and roadside stand. So it would not be surprising if under the impetus of the whaleburger's challenge, she insisted that hamburgers drop their disguise and come out in the open as beefburgers.

Coffee Ration Remains The Same

Ottawa, August 9 — Following the announcement last week by President Roosevelt that coffee rationing was being lifted in the United States, Wartime Prices and Trade Board officials in Ottawa said no such action was contemplated in Canada.

Coffee shipments to Canada have not increased and the present supply is not sufficient to permit an increase in the weekly ration of four ounces, the Board stated.

The tallest man in the Canadian Army is six feet 11 inches. He is 41 inches around the chest, 36 at the waist and his length of leg is listed at 38 inches.

Ancient Rationing

On this continent food is slightly rationed. In Britain it is severely rationed and in Nazi occupied countries it is drastically rationed.

But rationing is nothing new. A friend has supplied us with a clipping taken from the "Washington Evening Star" which gives details of rationing used in China as far back as the year 1111 B.C. The method was simple and most effective. Each housewife was supplied with a piece of thin rope of a certain length. The rope was bound at one end with the official seal of the government, and the other end of the rope was loose. Retailers and merchants were from time to time supplied with a list requiring that for each kind and quantity of food purchased a certain length of rope should be snipped off with shears; a certain length cut off for a pound of rice, a different length for a pound of fish or meat and so on. When the rope was exhausted the housewife was "out of luck" so she was bound to be thrifty.

From this method no doubt comes the old saying "He has come to the end of his rope." So once again we see the wisdom of the great writer Ecclesiastes of old "and there is no new thing under the sun." —Searle Grain Company, Ltd.

No. 2 retorted, "My father is a doctor and sometimes has two hundred for a good job."

Not to be outdone, the smallest of the group ended the bragging with, "Well, my father is a minister and it takes six men to carry away the money on plates after he preaches."

Two Oshawa, Ont., Boy Scouts, Bill Thickson and Bob Johnston through observation, presence of mind and quick action were able to save the life of a man. Returning to their homes one evening they noticed car lights shining in a closed garage. Investigating they found the car motor running and upon entering found the owner overcome by fumes of carbon monoxide. The boys immediately shut off the motor, ran the car out of the garage, removed the man and administered artificial respiration. The man, Harvey Cassidy fully recovered and credit for saving his life was given by the attending physician to the two Boy Scouts.

Fruit Information

APRICOTS AND CHERRIES—Definitely Finished

PEACHES—Fair supplies of Rochesters should be available this week. However the B.C. crop being about 50 per cent to 60 per cent of normal supplies will never be sufficient to fill the demand.

PEARS—Washington Bartletts are now on the market. B.C. Bartletts which will be lower in price will arrive about August 28th. Bartlett crop is way down on last year but fairly good supply of Flemish Beauty is evident.

CRABAPPLES—Fairly good supply of Transcendent Crabapples now available. This variety has been very short for the last two seasons. Our suggestion is to get them now while they are available and at their best.

DISCONTINUE PROFESSIONAL VISITS

It is with a great deal of regret that I have decided to discontinue my semi-monthly visits to the town of Tofield. The difficulty, I would almost say the impossibility, of travelling during these times is my main reason.

I shall however, be very pleased at any time to see any of my Tofield friends and clients in my Edmonton office at 316 MacLeod Building.

Dodds Winner of Ball Game

The baseball game at the Tofield grounds on Sunday resulted in a decisive win for the visiting team, Dodds. The visitors were strong and without relying on alibis to explain away a decisive defeat it is only fair to say the locals were not up to top form. Stauffer was unable to be present in the pitching box and other players were unable to turn out, which meant a lot to the locals. Anyway the game was witnessed by a good crowd and the boys of both teams wish to express appreciation for the support.

The score was 7-0 in favor of Dodds.

In a recent letter received by the convenors of the Women's War Work Committee, great stress is placed upon the need for more knitters. The following is an excerpt from the letter received:

The calls for them are overwhelming. We realize all the difficulties but beseech you to put forward the strongest appeals.

Manitobans Teach Gunners Job of "Foot-Slogger"

TOFIELD ARTILLERY MAN AS FOOT-SLOGGER

(Winnipeg Tribune)

Somewhere in England The average gunner does not give much thought to the infantry but there's one medium regiment of the Royal Canadian Artillery in England in which every soldier from the cooks to the colonel knows how it feels to be a "foot-slogger."

The commanding officer took his regiment into the field for a week's infantry training and the objects of the course were to let the artillery men find out for themselves what sort of jobs infantrymen do, and train the gunners in the use of small arms so they can defend themselves if the occasion arises.

The week began with a 30-mile route march from the gunners' camp to the training area.

Six instructors from an infantry training school took the men in charge and for the balance of the week the regiment became a battalion, batteries became companies and troops were called platoons.

The instructors, steel-nerved N.C.O.'s included Sgts. Bert Bloomfield, Rathwell, Man., Bill Blue, Winnipeg, and Cpl. Ian Hall of Winnipeg.

They gave the gunners instruction in all types of small arms from rifles to the newest model mortars. They took them on day and night schemes, gave them battle inoculation under live ammunition and, in general, put them through infantry paces.

One afternoon a mock attack was staged. Troops from one company charged the closed end of a U-shaped valley, one section coming straight up the valley and two others circling in from the flanks.

Gnr. K. J. McNeill, of Virden, Man., was in the centre section; Gnr. F. S. Fifield, Olds, Alta., was on one Bren and behind him with rifles was Duncan Tough of Tofield.

Tough said one week of this sort of training was just about enough. "I guess it would be all right once we got used to it," he said, "but it's sure hard work."

Aid To China Campaign

Canadian admiration for China and for the Chinese people is unbounded. Now, through the first national appeal of the Chinese War Relief Fund, that admiration can be turned into a dollar and cents assistance for the people who have stood up against Japanese fury, superior arms, famine and disease for six years.

The money now being contributed from coast to coast in this Dominion will help to raise China's countless war orphans, to educate the thousands of young men and women in whose intelligent hands lies much of China's future, to buy medical supplies which will be flown to China by bomber through arrangement of the British authorities with the Chinese government. A committee has been set up in China to dispense Canadian aid, according to the need and the emergencies that may arise. On this committee are Madame Chiang Kai-shek, wife of the Chinese Generalissimo, and Major-General Victor Odlum, Canada's first minister to China.

The Chinese War Relief Fund has set an objective of one million dollars for this, its first, national appeal. Canadian generosity and Canadian feeling towards China and the Chinese will see that objective reached and passed.

"The Lord helps those who help themselves" is an old proverb. Today Canada is helping those who help themselves — the people of China. Through the Chinese War Relief Fund Canadians are being asked to give $1,000,000 this month for the aid of a people who have stood up amazingly against the horrors and sufferings of six years' war against Japan and who are girding themselves for reconstruction and recovery.

For instance, the Medical Relief Corps of the Chinese Army, under Director Robert K. S. Lim, is setting up a blood plasma bank. The Chinese War Relief Fund will help to furnish the equipment for the manufacture of dried plasma — and thus China will have taken another big step in medical warfare.

Further to meet the war emergency in medicine a two-year continuous course for medical officers and nurses is being given at Emergency Medical Service Training Schools in China. Canadian dollars will help to support these schools.

Present Book 2 For Ration [redacted]

Edmonton—To obtain ration book 3, between the dates August 25 to August 28, it is necessary to present ration book 2 with information completed in the post card at the back. Officials remind that it is wrong to tear out the post card in the back of book 2 and mail it to ration offices and local ration boards as some people are doing now. These are the rules:

(a) Print prefix letters, serial number of your ration book, name, address, and age if under 16, on the post card in the back of ration book 2.

(b) Present ration book 2 to the recorders at the distribution centre from which you will get your new book. Recorders check information on the postcard with that on the cover of book 2, then transcribe this information to cover of book 3, detach and retain the post card.

(c) Receive new ration books, and take them home. Do not destroy ration book 2 because brown spare "A" coupons for meat are good until Nov. 25th.

A member of the family, if over 16 years old, or a responsible member of the community may present ration books of his family or friends to obtain ration books.

Interesting Demonstration Plots

A most interesting demonstration plot will be found at most of the elevators which are managed by the companies which sponsor the "Crop Testing Plan" the Searle, the Home and the Midland and Pacific. These plots will repay a visit by any farmer. There will be found growing at least six varieties each of wheat, oats, barley and flax. A careful examination of these varieties by farmers in their own district will reveal to them how these different varieties have behaved under their local conditions. Experience has shown that farmers quite frequently obtain valuable information from observing these growing plots that helps them decide which variety they should grow.

Included in the plots will be found some of the very newest varieties. One entirely new strain of wheat, and the new varieties of rust-resistant oats (Ajax and Exeter) from which much is expected; the standard varieties of barley (both rough awned and smooth awned) and in particular there will be found some entirely new varieties of flax, both linseed flax and fibre flax.

The local elevator agent would be happy indeed to guide farmers to these plots and to explain the varieties to them.

SEEDTIME and HARVEST

By Dr. K. W. Neatby
Director, Agricultural Department
North-West Line Elevators Association

What We Have, We Hold!

This fall and winter, the farmers of Western Canada will have to store a large proportion of Canada's grain stocks. The greatest dangers to farm stored grain are moisture and insects. Uniformly dry grain is not subject to insect damage or spoilage.

If trouble begins, however, the farmer's position is difficult because he rarely has accommodation or equipment for turning or cleaning large amounts of grain. Note the following precautions:

1. Repair leaky roofs to exclude rain and snow.
2. If possible have wooden floor with air space underneath.
3. Much damage has resulted from concrete floors, but a covering of moisture-proof paper will help.
4. Before filling granary, clean thoroughly. Brush down walls, and sweep floor with damp sawdust. Then sprinkle a little hydrated lime over the floor and sweep it about to fill all cracks.
5. If granary was infested with mites or insects last year, give the entire inside a coat of whitewash containing ¼ pound of lye per gallon of solution, and allow to dry thoroughly before binning grain.
6. Don't fill granary to roof, but provide all possible ventilation without allowing moisture to enter.
7. Open bins or piles are risky. If unavoidable, they should be on well drained ground, and two or three feet of straw should be on the ground under the grain. Piles should be uniform cones. A covering of hay or sheaves may help, but should be removed before warm weather arrives in spring.

OUR CANADA

By Alice Kouch

(Grade Nine, Bahonne School)

Looking at the word "Canada" and getting the real meaning from the word, we find that it means a country that is filled with industries and products. A country that lives on the road of faith and democracy, a country that is filled with beauty, the beauty that stretches from the snow capped rockies across the golden prairies to the foaming rivers where the sun dips its golden rays into the sinking waves, the beauty that reaches the shores of the bluish-green eastern ocean.

We Canadian citizens do not realize in what state Canada would stand, if the dictator's hand should ever rest on the Canadian soil. Canada would still maintain the beautiful landscape, but we citizens would be ruled by force. Meaning we would have to do as we are told.

Democracy means a great deal to us citizens. It means that we live in freedom do as we like, but we must obey the laws which are regulated by the government.

As Canada stands in the dress of war, we citizens of Canada must do our duty to prevent the Nazis' hand from touching the soil of Canada, to keep Canada on the road of democracy forever.

Our duty is to supply our armed forces with ammunition. Our fighting men are facing death and giving their lives to keep Canada free from dictatorship. Why shouldn't we on the home front be willing to lend our money to help them? Our fighting men won't fail, for their hearts are filled with love and faith for Canada. They'll fight for freedom and their beautiful country as long as they have something to fight with. We citizens will see that their needs are filled.

Canada has waved the flag of democracy for many years and we citizens of Canada will have it waving forever. Our Canada will never let Nazism demolish the old flag of democracy. It shall wave in the breeze from the snow-capped rockies to the hurling waves of the eastern ocean. It shall catch the eye of every citizen and fill their hearts with love and pride to see that "Our Canada" can live on the road of faith and democracy forever.

PRECIPITATION—

THE AVERAGE annual rainfall is one of the most important, probably the most important, factor in any agricultural area. Without adequate rainfall little will grow, regardless of the soil's fertility. The only solution for very dry areas is irrigation. Consequently even in areas where good yields have been the rule rather than the exception, the seasonable precipitation is of considerable interest.

As most of our readers are aware we have for several years past been publishing the weekly rain report furnished by courtesy of the Searle Grain Company and the kindness of Mr. T. Hutson. These weekly reports cover the growing season which is from April 1st to August 15th, and does not take into account the fall rains or winter snows. This week is the last report for the 1943 growing season and is worthy of some comment. Contrary to the belief of many in this immediate district we have had less than average summer rainfall. Experiencing quite a number of small rains and with no extended hot periods it comes as a surprise to learn that the rainfall is more than a half inch less than the ten year average and 4.76 inches less than last year.

CHINESE RELIEF—

WE WONDER what Chow Joe (Big Ben) would say if he were alive and was told his photograph was on display in the bank at Tofield. We know he would feel terribly embarrassed and think it rather silly, but if it could be explained to him that it was in support of a relief fund for Chinese people hurt and distressed by the ravages of war, he would feel better and might even like it. Chow Joe was one of a number of proprietors of the Club Cafe of which there have been several during the past 25 years. There was Mah Wat, remember him?; and Mah Kim, remember him?; followed by a partnership the names of which have escaped us, but of one of the partnership it can be said he was a very excellent cook and a very poor gambler. This partnership was followed by Chow Joe, who in turn was succeeded by the present proprietors. To most residents, of prairie towns and country districts, Chinamen are just Chinamen, always ready to serve a full course meal or a stick of gum and almost invariably on hand when they are wanted. To a few people however, Chinamen could be interesting, at least something more than a mere economic convenience in a western setup.

To play up an attribute or quality and apply it to a whole people is unwise for we all know that there are good, bad and indifferent Chinese as well as there are good, bad and indifferent people of all nationalities. But while the above is true it is also true that one of the dominant traits of the Chinese is their generosity. At least so we have found. Many years ago while the Tofield Agricultural Society was still alive, the secretary was in the Mercury Office collecting money for it. Mah Wat, who had ended his business career in Tofield a year or so previously and who was on a brief visit, was also there, and upon learning the cause of the secretary's visit, said, "Me give some money too." And he gave it. Many years later Chow Joe when approached for a five dollar donation to the Sports Day Committee, wanted to make it ten or twenty, and finally most of Tofield's business men will remember Chow Joe and his gifts of big fat turkeys at Christmas time.

Now the shoe is on the other foot. The Chinese people have been subjected to acute distress due to the ravages of a ruthless attacker for six or more years. Unprepared in a military, political or armanent sense, yet they have gamely resisted, even though having to suffer reverse after reverse. Large areas of China have been taken by the Japanese, and it is only within the past year that the Chinese were able to turn the tide of battle. Short of food, short of clothing, short of almost everything that makes life worth living, millions of Chinese people have lived on, day after day, clinging to hope even though despair tugged at their hearts.

The present campaign, running through August, is one of a number of national campaigns, by which it is hoped to enlist the sympathy and help of the Canadian people. Your contribution could easily be the means of saving a young Chinese life or lightening the burden of trouble and sorrow resting on the shoulders of an aged Chinese couple. You may hand your contribution in to any bank who will forward it, or you may send it direct to Mr. J. A. Wetmore, Imperial Bank, Edmonton.

WHAT PRICE CIVILIZATION?—

AN INCIDENT with both serious and humorous implications occurred recently at an auction sale in Edmonton. Among a bunch of other odds and ends were a parcel of books and a parcel of Wild West Magazines. The books were put up first and even though the auctioneer expanded upon the fund of knowledge contained in them, one of which it seemed had something to do with the story of civilization, twenty cents was all a blase public would part with to possess them. Then the Wild West Magazines were offered and again the auctioneer elaborated upon their contents, saying that the horse jumped 500 feet over a precipice and just made it. "If you don't believe it, buy the books and read it for yourself," he said. And as a challenge to the brain cells of mankind, said he would get more for the magazines than for the story of civilization. He did, a nickel more, twenty-five cents.

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

Written specially for the weekly newspapers of Canada

By JIM GREENBLAT

Recent diplomatic changes occurred in Ottawa with the arrival of Ray Atherton, the new United States minister to Canada, and the first Swedish minister to this country, Per Wijkman. They presented their credentials to the Governor-General shortly after arrival. Mr. Atherton, who got here on a Sunday, finished the last leg of his journey from Montreal by car so as not to disturb officials with the necessity of a formal reception at the train. He will be a popular minister here. At his first press conference he went over big with the newsmen by telling them to give him "the highball" when they met him on the street and he failed to recognize them. The white stone, square-faced United States legation with Old Glory hanging in front, directly facing the main gates of the Parliament buildings, to me always [redacted] the two friendly nations with "hands across the street."

It seemed like a tragedy in the family — something was missing. The big, friendly clock high up in the Peace Tower took a holiday for a few days and stopped. Habit is a queer creature. Thousands who rush to work by that clock just kept looking and looking at the time, regardless of its evident inertia. It finally got going, to the immense relief of all of us, though most people carry a wrist watch anyway.

Shortage in fruit crops. Expected higher prices are responsible for the ceiling to be tacked on pears, peaches and plums when they hit the market. Stocks of canned fruits and vegetables, with exceptions like jams and jellies, were frozen on the national shelf just for the same reason housewife leaves her cellar stock alone while taking advantage of the fresh stuff available. Cold and wet weather early this year killed off a lot of peach trees in eastern Canada; late spring hurt strawberry and raspberry crops. Blueberries were heavy but faced a labor shortage; cherries were poor. The Canadian total for apples will likely be down, with a 23 per cent increase over last year in Nova Scotia, but reductions from 2 to 29 per cent are expected in New Brunswick and B.C.; about 400,000 barrels less. The pear crop looks like 250,000 barrels less; prunes and plums only slightly off. Peaches show a drop of around 67 per cent, affecting both B.C. and Ontario crops. Grapes are expected to be 22 per cent below 1942's record harvest but the current estimate is nearly a third more than the five year average from 1936 to 1940. Plans are being made, we are told to see that some of the crops are canned.

Some people are irked with the news that Canada will not follow the U.S.A. in taking coffee off the ration list. But it is pointed out we have only a four months' supply on hand, which is not so much. Besides here's another angle. Because of our low tea ration and relatively high coffee coupon value, the latter's consumption is up 15 per cent over prewar normal while tea is down by a half. It would be difficult to eliminate one without the other, they claim.

Wandering around services information offices you pick up interesting items. For instance a Wren, the first day "aboard ship" has a talk with a trained beauty specialist about her hair, etc. Incidentally she pays about a third of civilian prices for shampoo and wave; all of which goes back into the fund for "ship" beauty parlor equipment. The girls do look well-groomed and smart.

Food seems to have been in the spotlight around Ottawa — with many announcements concerning an item which takes about a third of every family income. The war has put a big strain on our country's productive capacities. This is shown by figures that food production is now more than 25 per cent above pre-war levels. Hog marketings are up 60 per cent cheese 50 per cent. Feed grain acreage shot up 25 per cent to meet live stock and dairy products increases. That means our producers have to work harder and be ingenious. The department of labor statistics show a net decrease in male farm workers during the period March 1939 to March 1943 of 250,000. At the latter date male family help only averaged 121 workers per 100 farms.

Pay increases recently announced, tie up with the strong campaign radiating from Ottawa all over Canada to induce more women to take their places in the services and release men for active duties. There are some 31,775 women now enlisted, but they say they need 65,000 more. High priority plants will be surveyed to increase employment of women; even looking for an increase in half-day work by housewives.

As the strain of our manpower increases a shortage of air-crew is also noted by the Royal Canadian Air Force, accentuated by the steady aerial pounding given Germany. A potential and growing pool, of course, organized in most centres of Canada is the Air Cadet League, with some 22,000 lads from 15 to 18 enthusiastically girding themselves to play their part some day. Organized in 1941, already 1,455 of these lads have joined the R.C.A.F. But the immediate need for aircrew is urgent.

One of the lady officials in the Consumer section, talking about the conservation program says it really had its origin in the back concessions. Here Canadian women have always made over their clothing or cut it down for the children. Now that conservation has become a national necessity, due to the demands of the armed forces on the country's textile supplies, many of the ideas of these early experimenters in make-over are coming in and contributing to the success of the program. She says that under the leadership of older women, the young fry are also taking to the idea of make-over. Many communities which do not already have Re-make centres are planning to open these schools for sewing instruction in the autumn. Will all this affect our national home economy after the war? That's an interesting point.

There has been some newspaper editor reaction to this column's subject matter and the handling of it. One objects to anything that might be construed as politics. Another says frankly: "Some we do not agree with, but most of it is O.K. It would not be right if anyone could write something that everyone agreed with." Which sounds Irish.

Soldiers detailed from army training to help with the harvest will be paid at $4.00 a day in Western Canada, $3.50 in most parts of Ontario, $3.00 in Quebec and the Maritimes, farmers also providing room and board, according to National Defence H.Q. Where they are granted compassionate leave to work on their own farms, or the farms of near relatives, soldiers get free transportation up to 500 miles.

If Ottawa ever gets a nuisance air raid — a possibility but not a probability — we'll know about it, judging by the sirens which go off in unison every morning at 8.30 o'clock. They seem to be installed at strategic points in Ottawa and Hull and are the weirdest sound of a long day. As the mournful but penetrating noise rises and falls, thousands do the last leg to work in a staggered day.

Unofficially it is estimated that around 30,000 people are in Ottawa doing temporary work in connection with the war. Looks it on the street and in the eating places. Housing has been a big problem. Maybe you don't know it out there but the government built a place, called Laurentian Terrace, especially for Grade 1 girl office workers which takes care of about 300. It is nicely and very comfortably furnished, and the girls pay $6.50 weekly, which includes meals. Helps some.

Behind the scenes plans seem to be laid for repatriation of service men. For instance, Repatriation Depot No. 1 was recently opened at Rockcliffe R.C.A.F. Station near Ottawa where men are taken care of from the time they land in Canada by ship until another place is found for them in the service or to their return to civilian life as the case may be.

A significant item! The number of male teachers in eight provinces, excluding Quebec, declined from 14,700 in 1939 to 12,000 in 1942, due to enlistments and the fact that higher salaried employment was found elsewhere. About 80 per cent of this loss was from one-room rural schools, where the teachers were younger and lower paid, the Bureau of Statistics indicates.

Lambs, Hogs, Must Be Left In The Pasture

During June, July and August of any year, holders of slaughtering permits will not be allowed to kill lambs weighing less than 75 pounds live weight, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has announced. Also prohibited at any time is the slaughtering by anyone of hogs weighing less than 100 pounds live weight.

Officials of the Board's food administration pointed out that the order is designed to increase Canada's meat supplies later in the season by checking what has become a wasteful practice. Particularly in a season such as the present one when pasturage is relatively plentiful, young animals can profitably be kept longer on pasture, thus increasing the farmer's returns and yielding a greater amount of meat for Canada's overseas requirements and for the domestic market.

GRAIN STORAGE

Western farmers must again be prepared to store large quantities of grain on the farm. Shortages of elevator space, lumber and labor will necessitate storage, in many cases, of an emergency nature.

Grain having a moisture content of less than 14.5 per cent in the case of wheat, 14 per cent in oats and 14.8 per cent in barley, if free from excessive weed seeds can be stored for an almost indefinite period if kept dry.

Avoid threshing or combining when the grain is tough or damp. Tough or damp grain will give trouble in storage and may result in fire or spoilage losses due to heating. Threshed grain containing tough or damp weed seeds should be cleaned before being put into permanent storage.

On many farms, barns and other buildings can be repaired to provide satisfactory storage. In repairing such buildings it is important to bear in mind that provision should be made to take care of any weight or bursting pressure which may result through storage of grain. Bins which previously have been satisfactorily used for oats and barley may have to be tie-rodded and strengthened to hold wheat.

After use has been made of all available storage space, or as a result of the lack of sufficient teams or trucks to remove the grain efficiently from the threshing machine to permanent storage it may be necessary to pile some of the grain in the open. Grain should be kept off the ground by first covering the earth on which it is to be piled with straw or sheaves in order to prevent moisture from coming into contact with the grain. This protection is preferable to tar paper since there is a possibility of rain passing through grain, and collecting on the tar paper and damaging the grain in the bottom of the pile.

Emergency storage has been effected by the use of woven wire fencing lined with straw, sheaves or hay. This type of bin provides a very cheap form of temporary storage, and if properly protected from livestock and weather will keep the grain without loss for a considerable length of time.

Circular No. 84 "Storing Grain Crops on the Farm" is available on request from the Agricultural Extension Service, Department of Agriculture, Edmonton. This circular will be found useful to farmers who are faced this fall with the problem of grain storage.

BASRA. Indian Sappers are performing an amazing engineering feat on the Persian Gulf where it was necessary to have a bridge for shipment of war supplies from Basra to Russia. Because of a muddy river bottom, seasonal gales of 70 miles an hour, a four-and-a-half knot tide, and the necessity of providing a 40-foot overhead clearance for inland traffic, there seemed to be insurmountable difficulties. The British officer in charge conceived the idea of building a bridge on piles with a sinking span in the centre, and the Indian Sappers have carried out his instructions. A sinking span has never been used before in the history of bridge building, but after exhaustive tests the Brigadier in charge and engineering critics from far and wide are convinced that this simple alternative to a raising span has come to stay.

NEW CLASSES CALLED TO THE ARMED FORCES

Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour, today announced the call to military training of married men, ages 27 to 30 inclusive and of all men who reached the age of eighteen this year.

This call, Mr. Mitchell stated, is pursuant to a decision reached by the Cabinet Council. As in previous calls those in the classes mentioned will be required to present themselves for examination and if found fit and accepted they will train and serve in the Armed Forces in Canada and her territorial waters.

The Minister explained that the call covers all men not heretofore designated or already under arms and whatever their marital status, who were born in any of the years 1916, 1915, 1914 and 1913. Similarly the call is to men born in 1925 save that none of these will be served with "Orders-Medical" until he reaches the age of eighteen years and six months.

Arthur MacNamara, Director of National Selective Service, stated these "Orders-Medical" to the men covered by the Minister's announcement will be mailed as rapidly as possible from the offices of the Registrars in the thirteen Mobilization Divisions.

Air Station Inducts Mascot

A ceremony unique in Royal Canadian Air Force history took place on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 14th, at No. 15 S.F.T.S. Claresholm when Pilot Officer Fairplay Prunes jr. received his commission, was formally inducted into the Service and was officially presented with his wings.

P.O. Prunes in case you don't know, is now the official mascot of the southern Alberta flying station—he's a long-eared, saucy black burro from Colorado and a gift from the Fairplay Chamber of Commerce.

Highlighting the second anniversary celebrations of No. 15 S.F.T.S. the formal ceremonies were witnessed by hundreds from the surrounding district of Claresholm, visiting senior officers from No. 4 Training Command at Calgary and commanding officers from Vulcan and Macleod. Representatives from other nearby stations were present as were aircraft from Pearce and Lethbridge which put on formation and acrobatic displays which thrilled the large crowd.

Marching proudly up to the flag-draped stand Prunes Jr., was formally presented to the Commanding Officer, Group Captain W. E. Kennedy, by P.O. G. E. Finley, a U.S. member of the R.C.A.F. and one of the flying instructors at Claresholm. P.O. Finley hails from San Francisco but at one time lived in P.O. Prunes' home state of Colorado. The United States Consul at Calgary, Charles W. Allen, was to have officiated but owing to illness was unable to attend.

"I have been given the honor on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce of Fairplay, Colo., to present to you Prunes jr. who is to be the official mascot of this station," declared P.O. Finley. "This presentation is indicative of the strong bonds between our two great nations. I trust that this bond may always be maintained and that P.O. Prunes will serve as an indication of our best wishes for your continued success."

In accepting the mascot for his station Group Captain Kennedy said that "it seems most appropriate to me that it should be a gift from our American Allies across the border. If we can say nothing else for this Second Great War, we must at least concede that it has given us a greater understanding and friendlier appreciation of the great country bordering us to the south."

INDIANS PURCHASE $1000 CERTIFICATES IN JUNE

Ottawa, August 19—Indians at Fort McPherson in the North West Territories are discovering that two muskrat pelts will buy a War Saving Certificate and a brighter future for their children. In a letter to G. W. Spinney, chairman of the National War Finance Committee, Right Reverend A. L. Fleming, Bishop of the Arctic tells of how in the month of June alone the Indians purchased Certificates worth $3,000.

With the increased price of $2 for every skin ungraded, there has been a big hunt for muskrats, and much money has been going into Victory Bonds and Certificates. But, where money has never been plentiful there was always the temptation to sell the securities and see what the proceeds would buy.

The missionary in charge at Fort McPherson who is also the postmaster, hit upon a plan whereby war savings are bought in the children's names. So, when Bonds and Certificates mature, money will be available for the boys and girls to receive an education and advantages which they might miss if the hunt was bad or prices dropped.

"The Indians," writes Bishop Fleming to Mr. Spinney, "have never learned to be thrifty. They are dependent from year to year on their hunt. Now through the War Savings plan the missionaries are teaching them the value of having some protection against the future."

It's A Question Of Loyalty

Canada has the loyalty of our Service Men, a full loyalty freely given. No one can force it, nor buy it. But your country has it. YOU have it. Nor can they buy your loyalty, nor force it. You and you alone, can GIVE it.

One effective way of giving your loyalty is to buy . . . WAR SAVING STAMPS and CERTIFICATES.

Buy as many as you can
. . . as often as you can.

To Trade Is Natural

To trade, to do business, to buy and sell is natural. As natural as breathing, eating, sleeping or walking. No race of humans are known to exist who do not buy, sell or trade to some extent. Even if one lived under a breadfruit tree in a tropical country there would still be something lacking—butter — and surplus breadfruit would probably be traded to somebody who possessed cows or goats, for butter.

This is no tropical country and there are certainly no breadfruit trees around, but there are quite a number of things that could be traded or sold. A used plow, tractor, binder or any other piece of farm equipment. Furniture too, or even clothing very often have resale value, often having done duty for their original owner. And then too, there is that extra horse in the pasture, cow in the barn, extra pigs in the sty or even chickens in the chicken house.

Somebody, somewhere, may be looking for any one of these things and the easiest, cheapest and most effective way to let people know they are for sale is through a CLASSIFIED WANT AD in the MERCURY.

International Peace Hospitals

Such is the significant name of four large hos[illegible] built in caves in Northwest China to care for the sick and wounded—and supported by the dollars Canadians are now [illegible] asked to contribute through the Chinese War Relief Fund. The Dominion's objective of $1,000,000 in the current campaign is small beside China's great need and these hospitals are but one section of the relief work undertaken.

The four International Peace Hospitals have 4000 beds. In addition a countless number of patients—civilians and soldiers, women and children, workers and peasants—receive treatment in the clinics and out-patients departments of these great medical centres. All have been developed since China's "War of Resistance" started in 1937.

Mme. Sun Yat-sen, as president of the China Defense League, supervises the spending of funds for the upkeep and development of these hospitals, and it was Dr. Norman Bethune who headed a special medical mission which travelled hundreds of miles by horseback and on foot, three times going through the Japanese lines, to found in 1938 the first of the I.P.H. centres at Wutaishan.

To turn Canadian sympathy into practical help for war-blasted China, the Chinese War Relief Fund is now open for contributions—large and small, dollars or silver or cents—to raise $1,000,000 across Canada for aid to China.

For six years, two years longer than our own participation in war, Canada has watched with admiration the staunch, stubborn, unremitting fight put up by the Chinese against Japan. Canada and Canadians are proud to call China and the Chinese "Ally" and the current appeal for money contributions will undoubtedly reflect this state of mind and heart.

The Chinese War Relief Fund, with a committee in China to advise on the best possible way of spending the dollars Canada is now giving, stands ready to supply clothing, food, medicines, ambulances and surgical instruments. How many and how much will depend on the generosity of the people of Canada in the present campaign. The objective is $1,000,000. China has surpassed everybody's expectations in its stand against Japan. May Canada surpass an objective which touches only our pockets, not our homes and lives.

All Pre-School Children Should Be Protected Against Whooping Cough

(W. D. Cutsungavich, M.D.)

Of all the diseases with which the health officials have to deal Whooping Cough is one of the hardest to control. It kills more children during the first year of life than [illegible] other disease. Whooping Cough is highly contagious. It begins as an ordinary cough and is most catching during the week or ten days before it can be recognized by the "whoop" so all too frequently the pla[illegible] have caught the disease before the sick child has been separated from them.

When a child is exposed to the disease, the first symptoms usually make their appearance within ten days, so it is important to keep a watchful eye for that length of time on any child who has played with another with Whooping Cough.

Recently a Whooping Cough Vaccine has been perfected which, if given some months before the child has been exposed, protects most children from the disease. Three doses are required, given three weeks apart. One small reinforcing dose is required each year or every second year to keep up immunity. Even tiny infants can be protected by this procedure but all children after six months should not be left susceptible to this dreaded disease.

Within the last year the Provincial Government has been able to procure for the first time a new product, a "Diptheria Toxoid and Pertussis Vaccine Combined for protecting against both diptheria and whooping Cough at the same time. Giving three doses of this mixture one month apart is the procedure recommended. Connaught Laboratories, University of Toronto prepares this product. Although quite expensive the Provincial Government supplies it free of cost.

The Holden Health Unit holds a Clinic at Holden every Saturday morning and periodic Clinics at Tofield, Viking, Kinsella and Lindbrook, Kingman and Dodds, at which the Doctor gives this protective treatment. All parents of infants and pre-school children are urged to take advantage of this service.

Stooking Plans In The Making

The Tofield Farm for Victory Committee is endeavoring to organize stooking gangs so that all the grain will be stooked promptly this season. Farmers are asked to cooperate by giving the following information to any member of the executive: Stanley Sears, pres.; Wm. Davison, secretary or Dan Dodds, vice-president; all of Tofield.

The information required is:
How many acres to be stooked?
Whether wheat, barley or oats?
When cutting is to be done?
What price farmer is willing to pay?

With this information on hand the committee will have something to work on in order to be of service to the community.

Will Pay Children To Collect Milkweed For Making Rubber

Large scale experiments are under way to determine the value to the rubber industry of a gum obtained from common milkweed. Laboratory experiments [illegible] that this gum [illegible] for blending with [illegible] types of synthetic rubber. The National Research Council is [illegible] a pilot plant at Ottawa [illegible] quantity of gum [illegible] commercial tests. The [illegible] Department of Agriculture has undertaken to secure [illegible] from wild plants a minimum of [illegible] of dried milkweed leaves for processing [illegible] extra [illegible] for the armed forces may result from the milkweed leaves collected.

A campaign is being organized to secure the co-operation of farmers and rural school children in obtaining this material. The Ontario Department of Agriculture has agreed to have its Agricultural Representatives act in advisory capacity in connection with the collection of the milkweed.

Many farms have pastures with appreciable stands of milkweed. The Dominion Department will purchase either dried leaves or whole plants directly from the farmers. If the farmer wishes to strip the leaves from the plant, dry them on the ground or barn floor, pack them in bags and ship them to Ottawa, he will receive 3 cents per pound for dried leaves plus a small bonus for well dried material entirely free of other weeds. The Dominion Department will provide bags and pay freight charges.

If the farmer has a dense stand of milkweed he may cut the plants with a binder, leaving a long stubble of at least 8 inches and making small sheaves. He should then make stooks of not more than 4 sheaves. The material dries slowly and probably two weeks will be required for complete drying. The dried sheaves should then be transported to the railroad, packed as tightly as possible in a box car and shipped freight collect to Ottawa. The Department will pay $30 a ton for this material plus a small bonus for shipments that are especially free from other weeds and perfectly dry.

Farmers who wish to sell either dried leaves or whole plants should first write directly to Dr. Harold A. Senn, Division of Botany, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, and collecting and shipping instructions will be sent to them.

Through the co-operation of the Ontario Department of Education pupils in rural schools are being urged to strip milkweed leaves, dry them at home and take them to school after school opens in September. The collection of the leaves should start as early as possible in August. Bags will be provided to each school co-operating. The teacher will be responsible for assembling the material at the school, weighing it, getting it transported to a central point or points in the country. The teacher will fill out an invoice for all the material collected at the school, forward this to the District School Inspector who will forward all the invoices for his inspectorate to Ottawa. Payments will be made at a rate of 3 cents per pound plus a small bonus for especially dry high quality material. Cheques will be sent to the Inspectors to be distributed to each teacher. The money may be used for school purposes, Red Cross or paid to individual pupils at the discretion of the teacher.

Inspectors will be responsible for the assembling of material at central points for shipment by freight collect to Ottawa. Inspectors will also be responsible for general supervision of the collection within their inspectorates. If necessary the Dominion Department of Agriculture will pay charges for the transport of material to central points within the country.

Officers of the Dominion Department are now making surveys of native milkweed and all available information on each county will be sent to the Agricultural Representative and the School Inspector. This may be of value in indicating localities in which collecting should be concentrated.

Collection by both farmers and school children should begin at once before leaf fall begins.

This is definitely a war project which may ultimately make a very important contribution to our supply of rubber. The appeal to the public should be on this basis.

The quantity of milkweed needed is large, the figure of 100,000 lb. being minimum. A great effort is required and your co-operation will be greatly appreciated.

Royal Canadian Air Force

The girls in the R.C.A.F. are more than happy in the knowledge that they are helping Canada's war effort by serving that men may fly. However, recent smiles may be credited to the substantial raise in pay which is retroactive to July 1st. This new rate should also appeal to girls contemplating enlistment in the Women's Division of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Base pay will now be 80 per cent of that paid men, rather than the former 66 2-3 per cent.

Airwomen will also receive the same trade pay as airmen, while originally they were paid two-thirds of the male trades pay. This is how the new rates work out:

	Base Pay	Group "C"	Group "B"	Group "A"
Under Officer Class I	$3.35	3.60	3.85	4.10
Under Officer Class II	2.50	2.75	3.00	3.25
Flight Sergeant	2.00	2.25	2.50	2.75
Sergeant	1.75	2.00	2.25	2.50
Corporal	1.35	1.60	1.85	2.10
Leading Aircraftwoman	1.20	1.45	1.70	1.95
Aircraftwoman Class I	1.10	1.35	1.60	1.85
Aircraftwoman Class II	1.05	1.30	1.55	1.80

Officers will also receive corresponding increases.

Wives of men in the three services enlisting in the Women's Division of the Royal Canadian Air Force continue to receive dependent's allowance from their husbands. Airwomen marrying service men will receive dependent's allowance six months after their marriage.

Airwoman's dependents (dependent parent or other close relative) may now receive dependent's allowance at the same rate as that paid to dependents of airmen.

If you plan on a future of security and happiness, then you must be willing to back the boys and help fight for it. No job is more important than the job you can do now by releasing men for flying duties. Don't keep putting it off. Resolve now to help your brother, cousin or sweetheart. This is your war too. You must help to keep the flag of freedom flying for future generations. There is a place in the service for you. Write or visit the R.C.A.F. Recruiting Centre, Provincial Building, Edmonton, Alta.

AT A FIGHTER STATION IN BRITAIN

Shortly before he landed with the Canadian assault troops on the beaches of Sicily, CBC war correspondent, Peter Stursberg, interviewed a famous Canadian ace in Britain. It was a Vancouver reunion. Squadron Leader Edward Francis John (Jack) Charles, D.F.C. (left) is the son of Mrs. Anne Charles of Vancouver. Charles, it will be remembered, split a three-hundred pound purse with a Fighting French pilot for the thousandth plane brought down by their respective squadrons; Charles bagged eleven of the enemy planes in his squadron's tally. Stursberg (right) was a member of the CBC Vancouver newsroom staff before going overseas.

Agricultural Conditions

Compiled from reports of correspondents by Agricultural Extension Service for period ending August 16, [illegible]

Issued under the direction of Hon. D. B. MacMillan, Minister of Agri[illegible]

GENERAL: Rainfall was very light in C.D. 1 and 2, with moderate showers in the central area of Alberta. Moderate to heavy rains were recorded in north central and north-[illegible]

Moisture is sufficient to mature the crops in central and northern Alberta. In general warm dry weather is required to hasten the ripening of cereal in these areas.

FIELD CROPS: In C.D. 1 to 5 inclusive, crops are fair to poor. Cereals are ripening rapidly and cutting will be well underway next week. Some early sown fields are already being cut.

In the remainder of the province the crop prospects are good. Cutting will be generally started about September 1. In the case of early varieties of barley, cutting may be underway by August 25th.

There is much comment on the lateness of the crops. As harvest time approaches farmers are looking forward with anxiety, and fear that frosts may do considerable damage this autumn.

In north-central areas haying has not been completed due to unfavourable weather. A reduction in the quality of hay is also noted.

LIVE STOCK: Live stock buyers were determined in their efforts to lower cattle prices during the past week in an endeavour to get them in line with the ceiling price on beef. Cattle prices were 25c to 50c lower than in the previous week.

At the Calgary market good steers brought $11.25 to $11.75, best veal $11.50 to $12.00, while hogs were steady with B-1 $15.40. Spring lambs sold for $12.25 to $13.00.

At the Edmonton market, cattle movement was dull, good steers offering $11.00 to $11.75, top veals at $11.50 to $13.00. The hog market was unchanged and sold B-1 hogs at $15.40 to $15.60. Edmonton lamb prices held unchanged at $12.00 to $13.00 and yearlings $7.00 [illegible].

DAIRYING: Creamery butter production for Alberta showed an increase of 1.8 per cent for the month of July as compared with the same month of 1942.

The northern section was responsible for the increase, while the southern section showed a decrease of 1.5 per cent due entirely to the lack of rain and good pasturage.

Cheddar Cheese production showed a decrease of 29.7 per cent for the month and is down over 40 per cent for the period January to July.

Now that the butterfat subsidy has been in effect for more than a year, it is expected that future reports will indicate a close relationship for both butter and cheese production.

Clover And Alfalfa Seed

The Field Crops Branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture wishes to draw to the attention of farmers who are saving their clover or alfalfa fields for seed, the necessity of hand pulling weeds or plants which have seeds difficult to clean from the threshed legume crop.

Night flowering catchfly has a small seed similar in size to legumes. If these plants are not removed from the crop prior to harvest, there will be little chance of selling seed of No. 1 quality, which means a reduced selling price for the seed.

Sweet clover growing in alfalfa or clover will also reduce the value of the seed crop, and individual plants should be rogued out whenever such is possible before harvesting begins.

Home Canning Of The Non-Acid Vegetables

A number of people have been disappointed in having their home canned vegetables e.g. peas, beans and greens spoil. Usually the cause of spoilage may be traced to either not following recommended procedure or to breaking the seal after processing.

The following suggestions by Miss Vera Rickards, will assist in avoiding spoilage:

1. Can as soon as possible after picking—preferably within two hours—certainly not longer than overnight.

2. Wash thoroughly. Precook by steaming or in small amount of boiling water—boiling for 5 to 8 minutes. Pack hot, using this water to fill the jars.

3. For screw top jars use small [illegible] rubber rings. Screw tight then barely loosen about one eighth to one quarter of an inch.

4. Process in hot water bath making sure water is boiling hard before counting time and keep boiling hard for full time. Keep at least one inch water over top of jars while processing (otherwise liquid is lost from jar).

5. The safest method next to the Pressure cooker is the intermittent Method of boiling for one hour on three successive days. Another method proven successful is Acid-Method—use 2 tbsp. vinegar or lemon juice to the quart jar and process for 1 1-2 hours instead of the usual three hours. This method gives a better flavor.

6. Remove jars, seal tight and invert to test. Do not tighten the screw top again while cooling as this breaks the seal.

7. By no means open the jar after processing as this allows for contamination of the food.

8. Cool quickly—jars set apart [illegible] away from draught.

Note: If in doubt about the wartime rubber rings take the extra precaution of dipping the top of the jar in paraffin wax to ensure a perfect seal. Do this as soon as the jars cool sufficiently to take the wax.

Ten Level Crossing Deaths In Alberta

An increased number of deaths from accidents at level crossings in Alberta this year has caused police officers to sound a warning of hazards at these crossings.

For seven months of this year, a report shows that there have been 10 deaths at level crossings. The whole of the previous year showed seven deaths.

The Alberta Motor Association again is emphasizing the need of drivers using extra caution at level crossings. Just a little additional care to avoid an accident might mean the saving of several lives.

Railway traffic has greatly increased owing to wartime conditions. That makes it all the more necessary under present conditions to take every precaution to prevent accidents that might result in death or permanent injury.

WORLD SHIPPING

The great expansion in world grain trade during the last century was a direct result of cheapening transportation, both ship and rail. It was the substantial reductions in ocean freights which stimulated the agricultural development in the western hemisphere and in Australia, and thus enlarged the food productive capacity of the world. In normal times more than one-third of the cargoes on the oceans of the world consist of agricultural products. The transport of wheat requires more cargo space than any other commodity and hence wheat is the most important factor in international trans-oceanic trade. Correct statistics regarding ocean shipping are not available nor have they been since the war began. In 1938 Lloyd's register listed some 31,000 commercial vessels of 100 gross tons and over. Over half that number were under 1,000 gross tons, another 5400 ranged from 1000 to 3000 gross tons. Most of these smaller vessels were engaged in the coastal trades or for short voyages. The bulk of the world's grain shipments is carried by vessels of 3000 gross tons and over, built for voyages involving distances of 2000 miles and upwards. In 1938 there were in existence some 8000 vessels which could participate in the world's overseas grain trade. This figure included passenger liners which frequently carried grain for ballast.

In 1938 the British owned and operated one-quarter of the total tonnage, the United States 15 per cent, the Japanese 7 per cent and Norway just under 7 per cent. Then came the German fleet followed by the Italians, the French and the Greeks.

The lowest shipping rates are always obtained when cargoes are carried both ways. For instance, when a ship sets out from Liverpool for the Plate River in Argentina to load a cargo of grain, rates are substantially reduced when it carries from Britain railroad equipment, electrical goods and coal.

While sinking of ships by German submarines have declined in recent months losses were very heavy for over quite a long period. The United States, Great Britain and other allied and neutral countries are building ships at an extensive rate at the present time. From January 1st, 1942, up until the end of July 1943 the United States built close to 1800 cargo ships.

The experience of the Great War I was that destruction of shipping caused an acute shortage for a year following the armistice. However, two years later in 1920 there was an abundance of tonnage as the result of extensive building. Ocean freight rates tumbled as did commodity prices and values generally in the first post-war deflation.

Many people look for a tremendous increase in overseas grain exports once the war ends. The big problem then will be to get sufficient shipping to carry the needed requirements. It would take a thousand ships, each one capable of carrying 275,000 bushels of wheat to transport 275 million bushels to Europe. It should be remembered that the demand for other food products may be even more pressing than that of wheat—such products as meats and fats, dairy and poultry products and so forth. —Wheat Pool Bulletin.

The Weaning Of Lambs

(Experimental Farms News)

Lambs are usually weaned at approximately five months of age, that is about in late August or in September depending upon conditions. The lambs should be separated from the main flock and pasture or a feed lot provided, preferably at some distance from the ewe flock. Wether lambs and ewe lambs intended for market should be separated from the lambs to be held for breeding purposes. Those intended for market may be placed on rape or alfalfa pasture, and gradually started on grain so that as the pasture becomes less luxuriant they will be approaching a full grain ration.

In a test at the Dominion Experimental Station at Scott, Sask. says E. Van Nice, Assistant in Animal Husbandry at the Station, two lots of weanling lambs were placed on good rape pasture, one lot was fed grain and the other no grain. At the end of a 30-day period the gains were practically identical indicating that so long as a good rape pasture is available, grain is unnecessary, but grain may well be started before the rape pasture becomes short.

Another test showed greater gains by 6 1-2 pounds per head in 30 days of weaning the lambs at 4 1-2 months and placing them on rape pasture as compared with a similar lot of lambs left with the dams on native prairie pasture for 30 days longer.

The stubble field, quite satisfactory for breeding stock, provides too much exercise for market lambs and makes for growth rather than fattening. The most desirable weight for market lambs is from 80 to 90 pounds, and this should be kept in mind when considering the age of weaning and fattening for market as some breeds tend to become too large before getting the desired finish.

THE QUEBEC CONFERENCE—

IT DOES NOT SEEM reasonable to us that even with press interviews and radio addresses by the principals, the public will be very much informed as regards what is actually taking place at the historic conference at Quebec. A group of nations at war with another group of nations do not intentionally broadcast their plans prematurely. Such important information as dates and places of future major navy-army-air operations are closely guarded secrets, no matter what general information the public is given. Inasmuch as information regarding the holding of the conference was freely given, there would of course be spread many versions of what the conference was going to do or did do. These would be assumptions and guesses for the most part, a number of which would be shrewd and close to the mark and others wild and merely speculative. The definite information given to the press interview by both principals was that the war effort was going forward which is general enough, goodness only knows.

But not being informed of the plans laid down and decisions made by the Quebec Conference does not rob the Canadian public of intense interest in the event. First of all there is a feeling of national pride that such an important and history making event should be held on Canadian soil. This in itself is somewhat unique, because despite Canada's splendid contribution to the war effort, both the United Kingdom and the United States of America have much larger populations. The conference could easily have been called together in either London or Washington or any one of a thousand places in either the United Kingdom or the United States. Then there is the satisfaction of knowing that in a war in which on our side as well as on the side of the enemy a number of different nations are engaged, there is sufficient harmony prevailing to make such a conference possible. With such a multiplicity of tasks and stupendous effort involved it is not easy to prevent misunderstandings and friction.

No doubt the spokesmen of the conference will emerge with inspirational and high sounding phrases, definite enough as to purpose but vague enough as to detail as to be of no aid or comfort to the enemy. It is a matter of great satisfaction that these utterances may be made on the eve of great things accomplished, and will likely prove to be the foreshadow of great happenings to come.

CAREFUL PLANNING NEEDED—

THE TOFIELD FARM for Victory Committee, organized to be of service to the community, has arranged with the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Edmonton to obtain boys over 16 years of age to assist in stooking operations. With an acute shortage of usual harvest labor likely to occur this is a good idea providing perfect, or near perfect, co-ordination between committee, farmers, Chamber of Commerce and boys is effected. It is proposed where possible to use boys in gangs of [illegible] with an experienced man with each group.

In order to do this it is not only necessary that the committee be actively interested, individual farmers requiring help should be actively interested also. The committee cannot do much unless the farmers requiring help for stooking co-operate with it. Boys cannot be brought into the district under such an arrangement unless there is a definite promise of work to be done at a definitely understood figure. Members of the committee are willing to give some of their time and talent in order that the plan may work smoothly but in order to make the plan work smoothly farmers must do their part also. Advance information is required to bring the boys into the district and farmers desiring help of this nature for stooking should lose no time in contacting members of the committee whose names appear elsewhere.

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

Written specially for the weekly newspapers of Canada

By JIM GREENBLAT

THE C.W.N.A. CONVENTION

This article due to my attendance there will deal briefly with the 24th annual meeting and War Conference of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association. Digressing this week from Ottawa news, I think is justified because what interests weekly newspaper publishers interests readers of the weekly papers, those folks back home so closely rooted to the soil of Canada.

Mixing as we did with visiting people, important in the daily newspaper field, industrialists, public relations men, even statesmen and politicians. This time more pronounced than ever was their sincere tribute paid on all sides to the place the weekly press has in the Dominion's economy—in a personalized and concrete sense. And there was also a humble acknowledgement that the backbone of this Canada of ours is securely fastened with an unbreakable zipper made up of the men and women living and working and rearing in the highways and byways. You know who I mean; who they mean. So take a bow.

The Royal York Hotel in Toronto was a fitting locale for our warvention. From a window high up in this magnificent edifice one could see the beauty of a peaceful Ontario and in the same eyeful a glimpse of Canada's war effort. Hurrying uniforms on the sidewalk below, long trains pulling through the railway yard, loaded solidly with grim looking instruments of retribution tagged for the Axis. A stone's throw away from that on Lake Ontario, trim sailboats scudding past huge freighters carrying grain, foods, coal and physical armaments of a nation geared to a serious war.

Editors from all over Canada were gathered. Men, who as Walter P. Zeller, well known business man characterized in a speech "I firmly believe that upon you will rest in large measure, the final attitude of a host of Canadians who ponder the post-war Canada in which they will live." Representative of all you people, they were there from British Columbia and Yukon to Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island from the grain fields of the prairies and the orchards and fisheries of the Maritimes. And it was easy to detect in the eyes of outside visiting personalities, big names of Canada, a suspicious nostalgia for the life of a country editor and rural people as a whole.

I sat in a room and watched a big name Torontonian listen with awe to the experiences of Father J. E. McGraine of Lac La Biche, 175 miles north of Edmonton—on the fringe of civilization— who ministers to Indians and halfbreeds, lives in and guides a Hospital, runs a weekly newspaper, teaches cadets signalling and loves it all. His sparkling blue eyes and healthy face glow with life. Just a country editor and a great Canadian.

At one breakfast I talked with Editor McLeod of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia. A former bus line organizer, he had been a medical practitioner in New York State. Yet two years ago took over a weekly and loves it because he never was so near to Canadian people before. There was white haired Editor Udall of Boissevain, Manitoba, over forty years recording births, deaths and happiness of his farmer readers. "Wouldn't be anything else," he told me.

Mingling with the crowd well known Editor Barrett of Carling, Newfoundland who now watches the "men who go down to the sea in ships" heading to battle U-boat marauders; and there was a hands-across-the-border touch with fellows like Editor Pete Dragon of Albion, New York, visiting the warvention. "Gosh, there's no difference between us folks," he said to me. "That's our job now to make the whole world feel the same."

The weekly editors heard some thoughtful stuff at their gatherings. Talked over ways and means to help prepare public opinion and thought for the post war period. Theirs is a responsibility so vast as to nearly frighten one. Theirs is a job of tremendous implications, and this was emphasized by Publisher George McCullagh of the Globe and Mail when he spoke in introducing at a banquet that outsized but awe inspiring figure of a man Donald Gordon, Chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Mr. Gordon gave the editors a significant thought, but one they are aware of and probably should more lend their pens to. He said the world war front looks promising but our home war front is "far from happy" that wartime controls are losing the active public support they received under the stimulus of possible defeat. Here is one of his punch lines: "Many people fed up with restrictions and controls are tending to let selfishness rule their judgment, forgetting that in so doing they not only weaken the drive needed for the knockout blow to our enemies, but risk also the benefits achieved by their forbearance and co-operation up to the present time."

The editors met a now prominent figure, Hon. George Drew, Premier of Ontario. In a speech to them Mr. Drew made, to me, a very significant statement in view of the momentous Conference at Quebec. "The best way (to answer isolationists) is to prove by our own conduct within the British Empire that nations separated by wide stretches of water can work in successful partnership either in war or peace."

They gave us spiritual food for thought too. Rev. Thos. B. McDormond at an 8:30 a.m. breakfast, spoke on "Christian Education Advance Movement." We were guests at a luncheon by the Boy Scouts Association. [illegible] Executive Commissioner John A. Stiles gave one of the most inspiring addresses, asking for further support by the press to the Scout movement, to keep boosting, helping the Scout leaders in the towns and villages. Everyone was thrilled because he spoke of Canada's greatest asset, our kids—the future farmers, business men, cabinet ministers of this nation among nations of the future—when the war drums are stilled.

The editors got variety in interesting personages—jolly sincere Mayor Conway of Toronto, presenting the traditional keys of the city after the lads had already pocketed them; Eliot Warburton of the British War Information Office, an Anthony Eden in disguise. Prominent publisher Smith from Australia; John Bracken in person and among others such good friends of the weekly press as John Martin, Ron. Evans, George Johnston, Frank Prendergast and Cecil Lamont.

Something never neglected at the gatherings were toasts to His Majesty, the King and then "The President of the United States." The convention sent along an enthusiastic telegram of good wishes, expression of solid support to Winston Churchill and President Roosevelt at Quebec.

It was a big convention—one of the best attended. Shouldn't do it in wartime? Oh, yes. What these weekly editors got was renewed faith in our country, our allies, the United Nations and our cause. A better vision of what their job is for Canada and the world. All to be transmitted to you folks out there. It was worth a lot.

And besides, the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National, hard pressed as facilities are, thought it important enough to make it possible for editors from all over Canada to come to this important warvention, an appreciated gesture.

Independents Organise

At a recent meeting of the Independent Association of Alberta, officers were elected to carry on until the next Prov. Convention is held. J. Percy Page, M.L.A. Edmonton, was made Chairman with James Walker, M.L.A. Raymond, as Vice-Chairman and Mayor Andrew Davison, M.L.A. Calgary, as Secretary-Treasurer.

The Province was divided in two for the Executive Committee, with Southern Alberta representatives as follows: Roy Edmanson, Calgary; Ernest Bennion, Picture Butte; Matthew H. Waldron, Okotoks; A. Davison, M.L.A. Calgary; E. J. Chambers, K.C. Calgary; J. J. Bowlen, M.L.A. Calgary and James Walker, M.L.A. Raymond.

The Northern Alberta Division of the Executive consists of the following: W. K. Porter, Edmonton; George MacLachlan, M.L.A. Clyde; H. J. Macdonald, M.L.A. Edmonton; James Bentley, Horse Hills; Percy Herring, Edmonton; E. J. Martin, M.L.A. Fairview; W. N. Chant, Camrose.

Arrangements were made to set up a Council of 114 members consisting of two from each of the Provincial constituencies and ten from each of the Cities of Edmonton and Calgary which have five member representatives. In addition to which will be the Independent Members of the House and all defeated Independent candidates as Ex-officio members. The Executive is also setting up working committees on program, publicity, finance and organization. It is planned that the Provincial Convention will be held some time in November.

SHOE HEELS TOP CEILING

Ottawa, August 23— Only the heel of a shoe . . . but it cost a Montreal Manufacturer $200 when he was convicted of selling wooden heels for women's shoes above the established ceiling prices.

Court sentences against 56 persons were reported by the Enforcement Administration, Wartime Prices and Trade Board this week. Convictions were obtained against 49 persons who violated orders under the department of Munitions and Supply.

Beef, poultry and eggs, fuelwood ice, mattresses, used refrigerators and knitting wool, soft drinks, and truck transportation were subjects of other charges. Infraction of rationing regulations brought five retailers and one consumer into court. Fines up to $100 were imposed on eleven landlords.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

THE FUTURE OF WHEAT ACREAGE

As the war draws to a close there will be more and more discussion about the acreage that Canada should maintain in wheat, compared with the acreage similarly maintained in wheat by other wheat exporting countries. It might be well, therefore to examine the situation in all these [illegible]

I find that since the year 1939, the start of this war, Canada has reduced her wheat acreage by 35 per cent; Australia by 33 per cent; the United States by 15 per cent only, and that the Argentine has asked her wheat growers to expand their acreage this year.

It seems then that Canada has reduced her wheat acreage by a larger percentage than any other wheat exporting country, and this in spite of the fact that the farmers of our prairie depend more upon wheat as a means of making a living than do the farmers of the other countries mentioned above, for the farmers in these other countries have other important products besides wheat which they can readily sell on world markets after the war.

It is to be hoped, therefore, that when the time comes for expanding wheat acreage that the considerable reduction Canada has made during these war years will not be lost sight of.

30 NEW LOCOMOTIVES FOR NATIONAL SYSTEM

Montreal, August 23—R. C. Vaughan, Chairman and President of the Canadian National Railways, has taken over locomotive 6225 as the first of thirty on order for the National System and required for war time traffic. The others will follow as quickly as they can be delivered by the Montreal Locomotive Works and as each one is received by the railway it will immediately go into service.

These new engines are up to date examples of the Northern type developed by Canadian National engineers and especially adapted to System requirements. They are dual purpose locomotives being available both for freight and passenger service.

A war time substitution is that the bells of these new locomotives are of steel plate made at the Montreal shops of the Canadian National Railways. Previously engine bells were cast of bronze but war priorities made that metal scarce.

The thirty new locomotives follow closely the principles of the original 6200's with modifications suggested after service which has proven the soundness of the design. The new lot have the sand boxes and the steam dome combined to suggest streamlining. The total weight of engine and tender in working order is 677,800 pounds. The overall length is 94 feet 9 3-8 inches.

CAN A PIG SWIM?

There seems to be an old superstition prevalent that "if a pig swims he will cut his throat." Well, a pig can swim and if he cuts his throat he does so by taking his swimming stroke seriously! The two front paws in working rapidly lapping up, over and down (in one movement) the claws ofttime scratch his neck—in fact, frequently cut deeply— depending on his manicure of course. And thus, another superstition goes Boom —Debunke!

J. B. Hurst, of Rose Prairie, Alta. member of the Dawson Creek Co-operative Association Ltd., in town for a few days, told an interesting experience in pig raising in the far north.

Mr. Hurst compliments Frank Wolfe, "the man who does the job, and a good one too" . . . how he raised 50 pigs from 5 sows bred, until they were 80 or 90 pounds, "and they were little rascals too" . . . all the feed it took was 180 bushels of barley, oats and wheat (fed whole, not ground). They were fed twice a day right on the dot. When the little fellows were old enough to scamper around, it appears that "fields looked greener far away, so they swam and they swam, right across the dam of the Beaton River (called North Pine); there they would rustle and dig up roots to their hearts' content. On the dot of 5 o'clock back they came. "Fwim (oink) fwim (oink)," said the little piggie. "Fwim (oink) if you can," and they fwam (oink), and they fwam (oink) back home across the dam. —Co-Op News.

CANADA PLANS TRAIN FEWER ARMY OFFICERS

OTTAWA. — Defence Minister Ralston announced Wednesday a reduction in the number of army officers to be trained in Canada.

Colonel Ralston said there would be concentration at Brockville, Ont. of officer training centres and officer selection boards and centres which now are operating at Gordon Head, B.C. Three Rivers, Que. and Chilliwack, B.C.

"The army now is well supplied with officers," said Col. Ralston. "It has passed the expansion stage."

The defence minister said officer requirements for defence in Canada have "substantially decreased."

Officer requirements from now on will be principally to replace casualties and wastage, with consequent curtailment in officer training facilities, he said.

Col. Ralston's statement said that in future a greater proportion of officers will come from candidates with overseas service, some of whom will be trained in England and some in Canada.

The Gordon Head, Chilliwack and Three Rivers centres will be closed on Sept. 30.

The school of army instruction at St. Jerome, Que., will continue but with reduced enrolments.

Still Time To Make Your Contribution To The Chinese Relief Fund

The announcement has been made that the period for the Chinese Relief Fund Campaign has been advanced to September sixth. This will give opportunity to those who have been away on holidays or for other reasons have not been able to contribute to do so before the fund is closed

Since July 1937, China has known no peace. Fifty million Chinese refugees from their homes in the face of Japanese invasion are living where they can, how best they can. Their homes are gone and practically all their possessions, but they have kept their courage and their will to support their fighting forces.

The objective of the current campaign is $1,000,000. The money will be spent on the advice and under the direction of a committee of Canadians in China headed by Canada's first Minister to that country, Major-General Victor Odlum. And a fine little lady in whom Canadians have full confidence is chief advisor to that committee—Madame Chiang [illegible]

Bakeshops Take To Plain Cooking

Ottawa — Tarts and other delectable tidbits of the bakeshops will be shortly banned from the counter by a recent order of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, simplifying fancy bakery products. The move is designed to meet increased demand with no increase in production facilities or labour employed.

"After September 15, when the new order becomes effective the public will get less of the expensively produced, fancy goods and considerably more of the plain bread and cake products which require a lower labour output but have a high nutritive value", say Board officials. "It takes five times as long to process a bag of flour into hot dog or hamburger rolls as into bread.

Heating Experts Advocate Insulation

The man of the hour is Mr. Fixit. He is the fellow who, heeding the warnings of the Department of Munitions and Supply, putters about while the weather is warm and insulates his house for next winter. Realizing how difficult it is to secure labour for insulation, he is doing the job himself.

Reliable heating experts estimate that 40 per cent fuel saving can be accomplished through the application of insulation methods to a house not so protected. Mr. Fixit is going all-out to co-operate in the government's coal saving plan.

He adds weather stripping and storm windows and doors. These two combined can mean a saving of 25 to 30 per cent in fuel consumption. Weather stripping may prove difficult to purchase, although new types are being produced by manufacturers to help replace the metal types. If the worst comes to the worst, he will pack his windows with cotton batting or paper to keep out the cold winds.

He caulks cracks around the door and window frames, using a plastic caulking material if available, to close any cracks due to wood shrinkage.

He has already checked the furnace equipment and made certain that it is in the best working order.

Indian Chiefs Awed By Aviation Wonders

Winnipeg, August 20—. "Lots of white men say there is no God," observed Chief Henry Fidler, head of the Indian reserve at Island Lake, visiting Winnipeg's airport today, "yet they use the gifts He gave them to make all these wonders!" He was on his first trip to Winnipeg and he was thrilled by the electric lights, the street cars and the big buildings. The greatest wonder of all, though, was the Trans-Canada Air Lines hangar and the aircraft he saw coming in from the East.

Chief Fidler expressed his astonishment in Cree, for he speaks no English, but Chief Prince of Hodgson, great-grandson of the famous Peguis, interpreted for him. With them was Chief Thomas Fidler, a cousin, of Favorable Lake, Ontario

The three Indian chiefs, who attracted a great deal of attention at the airport with their blue uniforms, embellished with gold braid and brass buttons and red stripes down their trousers, were taken to the airport by Ray Snyder, Commissioner for the Red Cross, as a treat for the work they have done for the Red Cross. Largely through their efforts the Indians of Manitoba and Ontario have made generous contributions to the Red Cross in money and furs. D. R. MacLaren, superintendent of passenger service for Trans-Canada, extended the chiefs an informal welcome in Cree.

Buy Only Needs Says Ration Book

Why rationing? The answer, with a tactful reminder that because you have coupons doesn't mean you must use them, is contained in this statement in the new ration book: "In wartime, goods are rationed because they are in short supply, or to prevent short supply caused by the selfish or unnecessary overbuying of some at the expense of others' essential needs. The utmost conservation of supplies is necessary. You should regard this ration book as a permit to buy rationed goods if you need them—not otherwise. It does not entitle you to purchase rationed commodities for the use of someone else unless he resides in your household."

Ton Of Blood Plasma Carried By T.C.A. Planes

Winnipeg, August 30— On two flights recently, Trans-Canada Air Lines carried nearly a ton of blood plasma across Canada. The shipments went under a high priority and since there was not sufficient space in the compartments, were carried in the cabins of the aircraft. Each shipment—one amounting to 900 pounds and the other 945 pounds — took up the space of six seats.

Solution

Sam Horne, who operates a fruit stand in Knoxville's famous old Market House, grew tired of prospective customers squeezing his cantaloupes and perishables to determine if they were sufficiently ripe. Too much rot followed such tactics.

So he placed a box of Irish potatoes on his pile of peaches with this sign: "Squeeze the Potatoes." Now a lot of people see the sign, squeeze the potatoes, but fail to get the point.

Junior Club Progress During The War

It is interesting to note that in spite of certain handicaps during these war years the membership of the Alberta Junior Farm and Home Clubs continues to be well maintained and compares favorably with that of the past several years. Mr. S. H. Gandier Director of Junior Activities advises that there are at present more stock and crop clubs in active operation than in 1939, the year before the war began. In 1939, the stock and crop clubs numbered 152 with a membership of 2084. This year there are 169 stock and crop clubs with a total membership of 2290. The present list of stock clubs shows 35 in the beef calf project; 15 in swine; 9 dairy clubs and 8 in poultry. In the crop projects, there are 20 oat clubs, 22 wheat, 39 feed barley, 10 malting barley, 7 forage crop, 3 potato and 1 flax. In addition to the above, 7 girls garden clubs are operating in the [illegible] and Olds districts and approximately 40 Home Economic clubs for girls are also on the active list. The Junior Farm and Home Clubs are under the direction of the Extension Branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture.

ARMY NOTES

Fresh vegetable salads are an almost daily event for troops stationed at Mewata Armouries in Calgary. The source of supply is a large, well-kept plot in the hutment area, the chief gardener being Corporal J. Thompson. The fourth seeding of radishes are now coming along well. Lettuce of both leaf and head varieties, is growing in abundance. Pea vines are over five feet tall and the men have had several "side-orders" in the menu, of new peas. It's Corp. Thompson, too, who cares for numerous flower plots in the barrack area, one of the most colorful of its kind in Canada.

Hints For The Housewife

Some of the products of the Victory Garden that might otherwise go to waste may be used to advantage in making pickles and relishes. Tasty pickles and relishes add zest to any meal, but, since they are of little nutritive value should be used in moderation.

The following suggestions are offered by Miss Vera Richards of the Extension Service:

1. Green or slightly under-ripe products give firmer, crisper, pickles. Do not let cucumbers stand more than 24 hours after picking or they may be hollow when pickled.
2. Vinegar for most pickles should be diluted to taste in proportion of 2 parts vinegar, 1 part water if vinegar is 4.4 per cent acetic acid. Do not boil vinegar longer than necessary as boiling weakens it. Strong vinegar will bleach and soften the pickle.
3. Brown sugar is preferred to white and common cooking or dairy salt to fine table salt for pickles.
4. Soft water is best for pickles. If water contains lime add 1 tablespoon vinegar to each quart when soaking.
5. Two quarts of pickles require 1 quart pickling solution.
6. Brine of one cup salt to 9 cups water is used for preliminary soaking to make vegetables crisp and firm.
7. Use an enamel saucepan and wooden spoon.

Grain Pests

Storing of grain in warm climates involves considerable risk, mostly from insect pests. Shortly after the attack on Pearl Harbor a six-months supply of cereals was sent for the civilian population of the Hawaiian Islands. The bulk of this was stored in a huge new warehouse of a million cubic feet capacity. Inside of a few months it was noticed that much of the grain was infested with flour moth larvae. To save the grain a huge fumigation job was undertaken which turned out to be successful.

Farmers Are Saved Higher Lumber Cost

Ottawa, August 30 — Farmers erecting new farm buildings, or making repairs to their farm buildings will be spared the increased costs of lumber, recently authorized by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board to meet higher production costs. The farmer will be billed for the new price by his dealer, who will then collect all but ten percent of the bill, the ten percent being repaid the dealer as subsidy from the Government.

The arrangement applies to rough and dressed soft wood to laths, shingles and posts, not to hard lumber for sash, doors and general millwork, nor to build nor make additions to houses.

Soldier Help On Farms

Farmers will welcome the recent announcement by the Director of National Selective Service to the effect that the straight time clause for payment of soldiers assigned to farms under the "Farm Duty" Plan now being removed.

Under the new arrangement soldiers detailed to farms under the "Farm Duty" Plan will be paid only for the days on which they actually work. On days when soldiers are unable to work because of unfavourable weather, the Department of National Defence will pay their regular soldiers' wages, including allowances.

Farmers, however, will still be required to provide board and lodging irrespective of weather.

The new regulations apply to soldiers already assigned to farms under the "Farm Duty" Plan, as well as to those who go out henceforth.

WARNING
COAL WILL BE SCARCE NEXT WINTER !!!

Prepare your home now for adequate warmth with smaller fuel consumption

TO SAVE COAL CHECK THESE POINTS

✓ HOW TO GET MORE HEAT

Pipes and furnaces must be clean, and grates in good order. If one or two rooms are hard to heat, you are wasting fuel. A minor adjustment can probably remedy this. Have a competent man check your heating system, and make necessary repairs. Insulate your furnace and pipes when necessary.

✓ HOW TO AVOID HEAT LOSSES

Storm windows and doors must fit snugly and be weatherstripped. Lack of storm windows can cause as much as 30% heat loss. Caulking should be done around windows, doors and in cracks in brick work (some hardware stores have caulking guns for rent). Broken glass should be replaced, and loose panes puttied. Small expenditures on such work will save much fuel.

✓ HOW TO SAVE STILL MORE

You can save fuel and money by having your home properly insulated. It is a proven fact that in many homes lack of adequate insulation (including storm windows) results in unnecessary consumption of fuel—up to as much as 50%. Watch for later instructions on how to fire your furnace properly.

HAVE YOUR HOMES INSPECTED FOR HEATING AND INSULATION DEFECTS

Get advice now! Skilled workmen and supplies are scarce. If you delay in getting your home ready for winter you may not be able to get the services you need.

BURNING WHEAT—

IT IS TO BE TAKEN for granted that the Argentine authorities know what they are doing and why they are doing it. But it is surprising that amid all the talking and writing of starvation conditions in so many countries, permission should be given by the Department of Agriculture in Buenos Aires to burn two million tons of wheat as fuel. The official explanation to the outside world is that it is old wheat and burning it for fuel offers the only solution to the fuel problem.

The Argentinian seasons are the opposite to ours and they are now passing through their winter or emerging into their spring. While their climate is not nearly so severe as ours it is evidently cold enough to require artificial heat. The burning of wheat together with other depletions have caused stocks of this cereal to be reduced from 11,000,000 tons to less than 4,000,000 tons. At the same time Great Britain and the United States, while not exactly encouraging the growing and storing of wheat have recognized that at the end of the war vast quantities of this cereal will be required for the feeding of ravished Europe. The Argentinian authorities are aware of this also and claim that even though their stocks of wheat will be greatly depleted by burning, a normal harvest in January and February will again bring wheat stocks up to normal and allow them to send large amounts of wheat to Europe if required. Argentinian wheat growers never expect much loss of crop from climatic causes such as we do here. To cease burning grain Argentina would have to be supplied with large quantities of liquid oil from abroad, something which apparently is not being done.

We suppose that technically and theoretically the Argentinian authorities are doing the right thing, yet one cannot help but wonder why it should be so. When we remember the half formed bodies of Chinese children, the Greeks and many other people suffering from mal-nutrition, it does not seem quite right to burn the very product which would give them sustenance. We know that there are dozens of reasons and scores of hazards as to why wheat for food cannot be delivered to these people, yet there is an inherent feeling that to burn good wheat is wrong. Perhaps if we lived in the Argentine we would view it differently, or perhaps it is merely another proof that despite the cleverness of men in some respects, mankind is but stumbling along the road of progress, not marching along it.

FLOWERS—

THE PAST SUMMER has not been a particularly warm one, yet for many kinds of flowers it must have been ideal as while there is a profusion of flowers almost every year, this year has produced more than usual. Except perhaps as applied to commercial florists, "there is no money in flowers" yet there is much satisfaction and a very great deal of beauty. In fact even amid the stress of earning a living on the farm, a plot set aside for pure cultural pleasure is profitable in pure satisfaction, renewed energy and sustained hope. There are many splendid gardens around the town and country, each one of them being not only a source of pleasure to those who planted and cared for them, but also a source of pleasure to those people who pass by or walk through them.

HAIL—

STORIES OF HAIL DAMAGE are never pleasant to either write or read about and certainly to the people directly concerned they may, according to the severity of the damage, be tragic. The storm which struck the Ross Creek area on Sunday night could easily be classed as one of exceptional severity, as hail fell viciously for thirty minutes or more. While like all hail storms, the damage that was done varied, the crops on some farms were completely flattened, nothing at all being left of what was a few minutes before a most promising crop. Insured or uninsured, a crop stricken by hail is a sorry sight and general expressions of regret goes out to those who suffered [illegible]

Fall Care Of Alfalfa

The cutting or grazing of Alfalfa in the early fall is not advisable and should be avoided. Cutting or close grazing at this time encourages production of new shoots at the expense of food reserves [illegible] down in the roots, thus weakening the plants and rendering the crop more susceptible to winter killing. An accumulation of food reserves in the roots will not only assist the plants throughout the winter but will ensure vigorous new growth in the spring.

Should hay or fall pasturage be very badly needed, least injury to Alfalfa will result if cutting or pasturage is delayed until cold weather renders the plants dormant. Further growth will then be retarded and the food reserves in the roots retained. Even with this precaution care must be taken to allow sufficient cover to hold the snow during the winter.

Since close grazing encourages new growth and depletes root reserves, such a practice is excellent in the case of an old crop that it is intended to plow the following spring. Heavy grazing throughout September will render easier the destruction of the stand.

Particular care should be taken with 1943 plantings of Alfalfa to allow the crop to enter the winter in a vigorous condition. The Alfalfa crop during the first year is much more easily damaged than established fields, and beyond such clipping as may be necessary during the summer to retard weed growth, it is inadvisable to either cut or graze the crop until the following year.

Defying Gravity

A pilot who had bailed out in North Africa was coming down when he was amazed to see another man with his parachute going up.

"Hi, there!" he shouted. "What's happening to you?"

"It's all right, old man," came the reply. "Mine's a tent. It's windy down below." —Exchange.

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

Written specially for the weekly newspapers of Canada

By JIM GREENBLAT

As this is written Ottawa is being clipped, manicured and waved and decorated for President Roosevelt's visit. There is intense interest on the part of usually blase officials and certainly the multitude of civil servants, temporary war-jobbers and the thousands of others who make this capital. Churchill, Eden, Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, Giraud and now the very popular F.D.R himself. It will be an historic occasion, one of the ever increasing evidences of U.S.—Canadian friendship and inter-nation co-ordination. The vast concourse of beautifully kept lawn in front of the Peace Tower, where Mr. Roosevelt will speak from, will it is estimated, accomodate 20,000 people. The S R O. sign will surely be out early. His talk, going over the air waves is at high noon which is always heralded here by the boom of a cannon.

We hear a lot about manpower, but what about Canadian womanpower? Well, there are 4,240,000 women over 14 years of age in Canada. Here are some interesting figures about them. As of January 30, 1943, of this number there were 1,152,000 in industry and 255,000 directly or indirectly in war industry. Farm women numbered 830,000; women students 300,000. There were more than 31,367 in the armed services (and that figure must be considerably increased by this time). 300,000 are considered unemployable.

Canada's vegetable oil industry is one of those revolutionized, in a sense, by the necessities of this global war. This industry is, of course, agricultural. Take flaxseed of which 53 per cent of that used was imported in 1939. In 1942 however, all of the 3,288,125 bushels used were of domestic origin. Our acreage objective for 1943 is 2,492,000 or an astounding increase over the previous year of 67 per cent. All these changing phases having to do with our agricultural and industrial economy will be part of the post-war problem.

Is it all right to lend your ration book to your farmer friend who uses a great deal of tea, while you use very little? The Prices Board says no, and Thelma Craig of the information branch answered me this way: "Rationing is for the equal sharing of certain commodities which are in short supply. It does not mean that Granny, just because she likes the extra pot of tea, should be able to have double the ration of the woman next door, nor does it provide for the swapping of tea and sugar by two neighbours who live across the road from each other." Fact of the matter is the whole rationing system is set up on the basis that the majority will conserve their use of rationed articles to actual and immediate needs.

Harkening back to the Order-in-Council which made it an offence to waste coal or heat, owing to the serious fuel situation facing Canada, it is interesting to know that our normal peacetime coal needs are about 30 million tons. This year, geared to such a high war tempo, provision must be made for about 47 million tons. Canadians can be selfish as individuals and sneak excessive heat, more than necessary, or they can play ball for the good of all in Canada. It's really co-operation for national conservation instead of coercion that is wanted.

Talking with a newspaperman back from Washington the other day he told of trying out a meat shop right close to the main drag which advertises horse meat—choice stuff from "young wild western horses". He bought a roast and thought it quite tasty. Cost less than half the price of beef. He was afraid, however, that in time they would be ringing in "18-year old farm horses" or something.

The Quebec conference enhances Canada's status in the eyes of the world. In this connection I find that in 1937 our capital city could boast only two legations, four consulates and one High Commissioner's office. Today there are representatives of 22 nations always in close touch with the Canadian government. The housing shortage in Ottawa creates problems, too, for numerous commercial and military attaches and their staffs. A very international flavor is imbibed when one comes across the flags of United Nations in front of various homes and buildings scattered around the city.

Dr. W. E. Swales, Science Service of the Department of Agriculture, showed how the medicine, a two-inch tablet is plopped into the throat of the animal, using a tongue depressor. An expert can do 60 lambs an hour. One reason for the importance of the drug at this time is that parasites destroy the animals intestines which are so valuable for the making of surgical sutures needed on the battlefield.

When you hear of abandoned farms, you think of former drought areas of western Canada. Therefore it might jolt far easterners and far westerners to know that an official release just out shows that in Eastern Canada there are between 12,000 and 13,000 farms, covering about a million and a half acres, abandoned lying idle for some time. Surveys show, paralleling the western causes, much the same, they were abandoned because land was originally submarginal for agricultural purposes; some because of unsound farm practices, etc.

It is amazing the number of people who come in a continual flow, from various parts of Canada and the United States, and visit the Peace Tower. To reach the top and get that wonderful panorama view from the balcony right under the big clock, one has to climb a couple of short series of stairs and ascend by two different elevators—one slow, the other faster. The attendants everywhere are, I find on every visit, most courteous. The Memorial Chamber is worth a visit to Ottawa alone. On the descent one is always given a good view of the famous carillon bells.

Naval Service Headquarters is pepped up about the special "Wren Recruiting Day" planned by the W.R.C.N.S. in connection with the anniversary of one year of service with the navy, scheduled for August 29. Over 4000 of them are now in navy blue with 5500 being the number aimed at by March, 1944. New recruits will shortly find themselves in the newly revised natty uniform. Wrens are to be drafted to the United Kingdom and Newfoundland, and what better hope of adventure is there for girls interested. The other day I watched a second flagpole being erected atop the Navy Building. It strikes the blue and red field with a large yellow anchor. That's the Naval Board flag, flying beside the usual naval ensign.

They say the cost of living in Ottawa is really high, but how does it compare with things out your way? Here are a few average prices listed by the Ottawa Citizen the day of this writing: sirloin steak 40.3 lb.; round steak, 38.6 lb.; prime rib rolled roast 42.2 lb.; ham, boiled 67.5 lb.; and medium bacon 48.1 lb.; grade "A" eggs 44.3 dozen; creamery butter 38.5; Canadian cheese 33.4 lb.; oranges 40.6 dozen; United States anthracite stove coal at $16.75 ton; vegetable shortening 19.1 lb. I do know restaurant eating piece by piece, is high—but if one shops around off the main by-ways it is possible to dine reasonably even if not in fancy surroundings.

Germans Admit U-Boat Warfare Very, Very Hard

Rear Admiral Luetzow, German naval expert, broadcasting from Berlin last month said, "The battle the German U-Boats have to wage has become very, very hard and the enemy at the present has the upper hand." The navy could never have had the "upper hand" if Canadian housewives hadn't saved the fats and bones from their kitchens.

Neither the bitter cold of Russian steppes, the heat of Sicily, nor the jungles of the Southern Pacific have deterred United Nations' fighting men from their path of duty. Canadians on the home front cannot be satisfied with any half-hearted effort in saving fats and bones. Fats and Bones help to produce glycerine for the war industries which are backing the attack of Canada's fighting men.

When the weather is warm, it is more difficult to keep fats from becoming rancid and so losing much of their glycerine content. Salvage fats should be kept in the ice box until a pound has been saved.

No amount of dripping fat is too small to save. And remember every pound of grease saved in the kitchen helps to grease the skids for the defeat of the Axis. National Salvage says "Keep up the good work and save fat—don't chew it."

Nothing Cheap About SeaBees; Build Bridges Of Mahogany

Guadalcanal, Aug 23—A potential multi-million-dollar lumbering industry is visioned by the resourceful United States Navy SeaBees who are cutting thousands of board feet of the finest mahogany, rosewood, and [illegible] from the jungles for mess halls, bridges, camp chairs and floors [illegible] on Guadalcanal.

Tales of the forest here would make the mythical Paul Bunyan blush. There are huge stacks of newly cut mahogany logs, many of them 60 to 70 feet in length and a yard or more in diameter without a knot.

Visiting a sawmill and logging camp in the jungles on the famed Lunga River, Art Burgess, Associated Press correspondent, sat down in a mess hall 20 by 40 feet, constructed of fine-grained light mahogany, worth, in the states about $10,000 as estimated by Chief Machinist Mate Bryce W. Smith of Knoxville, Tenn., in charge of the sawmill.

He sat at a rosewood table, in a mahogany chair. The floor was of solid teakwood.

Scattered about the various camps are chairs and ordinary shelves of beautiful rosewood, teak and mahogany. None was varnished or painted.

Later the correspondent crossed a 330-foot solid mahogany bridge. The lumber in this was close-grained and without a knot. He visited a wharf 800 by 60 feet, also of solid mahogany.

Back in the forests are miles and miles of standing timber, mostly mahogany. One log just felled was 112 feet in length, [illegible] inches in diameter at the bottom and 17 at the top, with only two knots at the top where the limbs had been cut off.

The men have counted more than 30 logs of from 80 to 100 feet in length four feet in diameter at the bottom and about three at the top.

The biggest problem facing the naval construction battalion—known as the SeaBees or "CB's"—is digging out shell fragments imbedded in many of the felled logs. The SeaBees can clear a sawmill site in the jungles but if they ruin or wear out their saws they wait a long time for replacements.

In one log they found 14 and a half pounds of iron and lead bullets.

Canyons are filled with mahogany and the mountains have never been touched.

The logs are so heavy, he was told, "that they won't float down the river so we have to bring them out by truck. Right now we will just cut and saw them around us."

The SeaBees set up the sawmill and started producing in three days. Now the daily production for 37 men is [illegible] board feet. —Christian Science Monitor.

Premier's Succession Duties Paid

The following statement regarding succession duties on the estate of the late Premier William Aberhart was issued by Premier Ernest C. Manning in Edmonton on Friday, August 27th, 1943:

"A certain section of the public and the public press have voiced disapproval of a recent government order-in-council remitting succession duties on the estate of the late Premier William Aberhart.

"The government acted [illegible] that such action would be considered right and proper in that Mr. Aberhart's death occurred while serving the high office of Premier and, particularly, in view of the fact that circumstances prevented a state funeral being held, the costs of which properly would have been borne by the province.

WILL OF PEOPLE

"However, it is the expressed determination of the government at all times to administer public affairs of the people of the Province in accordance with their expressed will.

"Accordingly, in view of the disapproval that has been voiced, the government has cancelled the remission order, and the succession duties on Mr. Aberhart's estate have been paid in full."

The order-in-council remitting duties on Mr. Aberhart's estate was passed in the week of August 16. In part it said: "Whereas William Aberhart was premier of Alberta for seven and a half years, during which time he performed valuable services and since his death occurred while fulfilling his arduous duties as head of the government the attorney general recommends that the succession duties of $2,748 be remitted under provisions of The Treasury Act."

Necrotic Enteritis Of Swine

This disease is causing heavy losses among the swine population of Alberta, not only by mortality, but also economically through permanently stunted pigs. Like most swine diseases in this province, this one would be prevented by proper feeding and a reasonable amount of sanitation, states Dr. R. Walton, Animal Pathologist.

Necrotic Enteritis is a filth borne disease usually occurring in herds confined to dirty unsanitary hog lots. Many conditions contribute to this disease, but the most important are faulty feeding and poor sanitation. Improper feeding lowers the resistance of the hog so that germs picked up from the soil can easily gain entrance to the body and produce the disease. The disease usually attacks young pigs up to the age of four months. The outstanding symptoms are profuse diarrhoea, unthriftiness, emaciation, and finally death. Post mortem examination will disclose that the walls of the large intestines are greatly thickened, with a grey of cheesy necrotic tissue on the inside.

Treatment is not too satisfactory since the pigs are stunted and do not make economical gains. When the disease does appear, the healthy pigs, if possible, should be removed to clean sanitary quarters. The local Veterinarian should be consulted as he is better able to deal with the conditions in his district and can prescribe accordingly.

Dissolve half pound of lye in cold water. Add this to 25 gallons of water and soak four bushels of oats in this solution for 12 hours. Feed nothing but these soaked oats for 7 to 8 days. Allow plenty of clean water at all times during the treatment.

Prevention consists of providing the pigs with good clean sanitary quarters. Slough bottoms are to be avoided as much as possible. Feed a good nutritious diet with as much variety as possible, supplementing with proteins and vitamins where necessary.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. G. L. Strange

DISTRIBUTION OF SEEDS

The "Crop Testing Plan", during this past season, purchased from the seed growers in the prairie provinces and distributed to farmers at cost without any profit to the Companies supporting the "Crop Testing Plan" the large quantity of 34,000 bushels of Registered and Certified seed, the bulk of it sealed by the Government in individual sacks. The average sales at each elevator point were considerably higher than the sales of the year 1942, which all speak well for the increased interest farmers are taking in improving their crops by purchasing and using better quality seed.

There was particular interest in good oat seed, and for the first time in the 12 years the "Crop Testing Plan" has been distributing seed, the sales of seed oats were larger than the sales of seed wheat. The sales of barley, too, were larger than they have been for many years. Farmers are evidently beginning to realize the truth, that has so often been expressed by officials of the Government, and by the Canadian Seed Grower's Association, that in these days farmers can hardly afford not to use each year at least a small quantity of the best Registered or Certified seed obtainable.

Ration Superintendent Praises All Volunteers

Edmonton, August 30— "Volunteers handling distribution of Ration book 3 have struck a high mark in efficiency," states C. G. McKee, regional superintendent of rationing, Wartime Prices and Trade Board. "After two days about 50 percent of the new ration books were in the hands of the public. Local Ration Boards deserve the very highest praise for their splendid work in organizing distributing centres and enlisting volunteers to record new books and attend to the routine of distribution," he said.

SEEDTIME and HARVEST

By Dr. K. W. Neatby
Director, Agricultural Department
North-West Line Elevators Association

The Willing Horse

The elevator agent's job is buying, storing and shipping grain. He must also keep the elevator and its equipment clean and in good running order. For a large part of the year that is a full-time task requiring knowledge, skill and experience.

We hear and read a lot about the contributions made by this group and that group to the war effort. Of course, the men in uniform overseas, and their wives and families undertake the greatest, if not the only, real sacrifice. Farmers, we think, are bearing a full share of the burden. One has only to visit Ottawa to appreciate the strain under which government employees are working. All this is acknowledged in the newspapers and elsewhere; but what writer has taken up his pen on behalf of the country elevator agent?

Most of our readers know that country elevator concerns assist in war loan and Red Cross drives, have organized and carried out a magnificent scrap metal campaign, form an essential link in 1943 farm labour scheme, serve as distributors of pure seed at considerable expense, handle demonstration plots of field crops, offer various services such as germination tests, and so on.

Yes. This and more; but how many realize that the bulk of the burden falls on the shoulders of the elevator agent? As usual, the busy man finds time to help. The very essence of democracy is voluntary effort. These men are democrats.

End Of War By Christmas Is Seen By British Airmen

Boston, Mass., Aug. 26— Faint echoes of the 1917 phrase—"out of the trenches by Christmas"—seemed to flit around the Atlantic Monthly's office on Arlington Street as Edward Weeks, the magazine's editor just returned from a six-week tour of England and Scotland, reported a strong feeling in England that the present war will be over by Christmas.

This time, however, it's the bomber and fighter plane boys who think so, Mr. Weeks declared.

"They'll give you any odds you like. Their feeling is Berlin won't stand another Hamburg. Hence, they can't see Hitler lasting through the winter. He is facing destruction, privation and starvation. Hitler's only alternative they say, is a quick peace with Russia and, with Russia winning right now, that's impossible."

Mr. Weeks, who was a guest of the British Ministry of Information stated that the ground forces are not so sanguine as the air force regarding the end of the war. The land fighters, Mr. Weeks found, thought that even if all his principal cities were leveled by the Allied air power, Hitler could still carry on with the supplies and ammunition he now has.

German morale is still good, as the English soldiers found German prisoners in Sicily pretty cocky, Mr. Weeks said. Many of the prisoners, he said, still honestly believe that America is getting a taste of the bombing that Hamburg and Cologne have been subjected to.

In Lisbon, in fact, Mr. Weeks said he saw a German propaganda magazine printed in English which showed pictures of New York in ruins from German air raids and other atrocity photographs were included.

The water boys—the British Navy, Mr. Weeks said, didn't think that Germany would be starved out this winter but one thing they are sure of—they're going to be in at the finish with Japan. Hong Kong and Singapore were their own Pearl Harbors and they resent any suggestion that they aren't going to be in the Pacific war to the end.

Permitted to travel throughout England and Scotland without official escort, Mr. Weeks found British agriculture more mechanized than ours—with the help of Lend Lease. But the British have learned how to cultivate more intensively through the use of Committees set up to teach the more efficient use of farm machinery.

He praised the food control in Britain which he said was done without discrimination, was fairly uniform throughout the land and was complete with regard to all commodities.

A five shilling meal in a country inn has the same courses as a meal of the same price at the Savoy in London, he said, with the exception that the London meal has more of the trimmings—flowers, music, service, etc. Even Simpson's has its traditional roast beef he stated but one has to be there at 12:30 when it is served if one wants it.

Mr. Weeks recounted with great amusement that everyone in England seemed to be keeping a poultry flock. When he went to visit a friend in a college town he found within the collegiate setting a small flock of hens kept by his host. The English are allowed, however, to keep only a flock sufficient to supply their own needs.

Labor trouble, Mr. Weeks related seemed to be at a minimum through the Labour Management Committees set up by law that operated each plant. So good is the labor control that 4,000 workers were moved from war production above ground back to the essential job of mining coal. Many appealed but lost their appeals and went gracefully to work mining.

Women, he found, are an increasing labor factor in British industry. They are working in and operating just about every possible thing that can be imagined, Mr. Weeks said. —Christian Science Monitor.

How Could She?

A commercial traveller was on the crowded platform of a railway station during a raid. A bomb was heard whistling near. All the passengers flattened themselves on the platform, or rather, all except one.

When the traveller picked himself up and dusted himself down, he noticed a young woman standing holding a bun in one hand and a cup of railway tea in the other.

He reproved her.

"You didn't do what you're advised to do."

"Well," she answered indignantly, "how could I?" —Tit-Bits.

Memorial Service at Ministik

Ministik, Looma Vista, South Cooking Lake and Hastings Lake United Church congregations met together in Ministik Memorial Hall on Sunday afternoon, August 29th, when members of the Veteran's Volunteer Reserve attended service in a body in honor of those who died in the last war and in this. Representatives of Lindbrook, Looma, Franklin and Fultonvale locals numbering 40 were present.

Veteran Griffen of South Cooking Lake read the names on the Memorial Tablets as well as those on the Honor Roll after which wreaths were laid by Captain Peck for Looma, Alex Ross for Franklin and Charles Morden for Lindbrook. Two minutes silence was observed in memory of those who paid the supreme sacrifice.

Norman Moeller, B.A. student Minister, conducted the service and preached a sermon appropriate for the occasion. A quartet composed of Mrs. Andrew Ferguson, soprano, Miss Lorna Hennessy, alto, Claude E. Leach, tenor and N. Moeller, bass, sang two selections: "Dwelling in Beulah Land" and the Negro Spiritual "Steal Away", while the choir was heard in "Ye Gates Lift Up Your Heads On High." Mrs. Jack Roddick presided at the piano.

COMMUNION SERVICE

The annual communion service for the district was held Sept. 5th at 3 p.m. and was conducted by Rev. Thomas Hart, M.A., B.D., D.Th. superintendent of Home Missions for Alberta. Dr. Hart was heard in a very forceful sermon stressing the point that Christians must completely surrender themselves to Christ and not be content to keep him on a pedestal. During this service, Glen Gordon, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ferguson was baptised and Mrs. D. A. Kyle of Hastings Lake was received for full Communion in the United Church, by profession of faith.

The Ministik mixed quartet again offered two selections, "Remember Me O Mighty One," and "Turn Back O Man, Forswear Thy Foolish Ways."

Alberta's 1942 Wheat Crop Third Largest

Ever since last autumn it has been considered that the 1942 wheat crop was the largest ever produced in Canada and the largest produced in the prairie provinces. However, the latest figures from the bureau of statistics cut 36 million bushels from the estimated production of 592 million. This leaves the 1942 crop at 556 millions compared with the production in 1928 of 566 millions. The 1928 crop thus remains the largest wheat crop Canada has ever produced.

Alberta's wheat production last year was estimated at 178 million bushels on January 1st. The bureau of statistics has lopped off 7.6 million bushels from that estimate, leaving the figure at 170.4 million bushels. Thus Alberta's wheat production in 1942 was not a record. The highest production was in 1927 when 171 1-2 million bushels were produced. The second largest was in 1928 when the total reached 171 million bushels. The 1942 production of 170 1-2 million is the third largest crop Alberta has raised. —Alberta Wheat Pool Budget.

All Hate Departed

By Jack Amtrop in Bulletins from Britain

There wasn't much to do in those days. Just routine.

I was sitting at my desk in the Guard Room when they brought him in. Four or five R.P.'s were lolling about doing nothing and a fatigue man was washing the floor.

"Prisoner, Corp," said one of the escort. "Plane crashed last night and he was found wandering about early this morning. Give us a signature for him and he's all yours."

To hell with it, I thought. Just as I was summoning the energy to go to the NAAFI.

"O.K." I signed. "Hey, L. Cpl. Harrington. Hey you! Stop ogling those French girls and come over here. I want you to go and fetch the adjutant and tell him to come at the double."

"Okeydokey Caporal! One adjutant wanted by the orderly corporal in double time. Coming up."

The prisoner was standing in front of my desk, motionless. I looked him up and down with interest.

Flying Officer, about twenty-one or so; very fair, rather slim. Very annoyed.

"Sit down," I said.

His boyish face flushed. "I am officer," he spat at me. "Why do you not stand up when I speak to you? I shall report you to your superiors."

I stood up. "There. Is that better? Won't you sit down now. How about some tea or coffee."

He sat down carefully. "No. Send for your officers immediately, Corporal. I will wait."

I couldn't repress a smile. He'd wait!

Instantly he was on his feet again. "Stand up!"

I sat still. "Now, now," I said. "Why don't you sit down and have some coffee and a cigarette? You must need them both. Come on, now."

He listened in silence and when I had finished, calmly leaned across the table and punched me in the mouth. My lips began to bleed immediately and I bit my tongue.

I sat quite still trying hard to control the lightness in my head which I knew would grow into a red film of anger if I let it.

My R.P.'s had crowded round him. "You can all take your morning break. Private Ellis you bring two mugs of tea and twenty Woods across for me and the field marshal here."

When they had gone, full of eagerness to get to the NAAFI with their story, I said to him, "Now, will you sit down or would you like to remain standing so that you can take a smack at me if the mood wills you?"

He sat down. I wiped the blood from my lips.

"It's a lovely morning, isn't it?" I said.

He stared at me. "Yes, it is a lovely morning."

"This is a nice part of the country, but of course you won't be staying long. You'll be going to England. I hope you have a nice crossing."

"Thank you. I will see that you are paid for this tea."

"In that case I'll have your mug back. Either I pay for it or you don't get any."

"Do as you are told. I am an officer."

"You are a prisoner, which is just a little different. Where are you from?"

"Hamburg. And you?"

"London. But tell me, have you always lived in Hamburg? Do you know it well?"

Hamburg. My heart beat faster and there was something trembling on the tip of my tongue.

"I was born there and educated there."

"Moorreihe, Hamburg 26, you know it then? You know Professor Schmidt and—and his daughter?"

His face set again, back to that damnable German officer expression.

"I did. They are dead. Killed by your murdering R.A.F. Like many other innocent people. The professor taught me when I was a young boy."

A barrier had come between us.

And there was a lightness coming into my head again; the red mist was mounting.

"How well did you know her?"

"Not very well. Not so well as her friend Magda von Diegel. She too was killed."

I knew them both, very well. When they were in England on a student exchange."

His features relaxed and he was an ordinary young man again.

"I remember." He was excited now. "Your school sent two girls over and mine sent two to yours. How strange it is to meet you like this. You must know then, Evelyn Boucher and Jean Bains."

"Of course. They were the two who went to Hamburg."

I pushed the cigarettes over to him and we both smoked for a few minutes in silence.

"Evelyn was killed in a raid on London. Jean is serving in the A.T.S., the British women's service. I was brought up with both of them. But tell me about the professor's daughter."

"There is nothing to tell. Why are you so interested?"

The barrier was coming up again.

"Why are you interested in Evelyn and Jean?"

A guilty look flitted across his face.

"They were nothing to me, but I was naturally interested in them, despite the fact that they are my enemies."

"The professor's daughter and Magda and all of the other young people I met in Hamburg, then, are my enemies?"

"Of course."

"You fool. You poor stupid fool. They aren't my enemies. They are my friends—part of everything I believe in—they are no more enemies of mine than you are. Hitler is my enemy and the swine who stand behind Hitler."

He was on his feet again.

"If you raise your hand again, I shall smack you right in your silly Stucka face. I shall knock hell out of you."

"I shall report you to your superiors. I do not wish to speak to you again." He seemed to be swaying on his feet as he spoke. Then suddenly he collapsed across the table.

I hauled him onto his chair and took his tunic off. There was a dark stain of blood on his left shoulder, so I cut off his sleeve. There was a dirty wound in the outer part of his arm, near to the shoulder.

There was nothing much I could do, except get on the phone to the Medical Center.

I rang them and also the adjutant. Neither was available.

He came round almost as soon as I had finished telephoning.

"Take it easy now. You went right out. Why didn't you tell me you had got one in the arm. I could have got it seen to right away, you stupid young devil. How does it feel?"

He was very pale and very young; he reminded me of a schoolboy carried off the rugger field, hurt but rather proud about it.

"I shall be quite all right. It is nothing."

"Here, have a cigarette. I'll light it for you. Your left arm must be useless."

I watched him as he smoked. He became conscious of my scrutiny and flushed.

"Why do you stare at me?"

"I was thinking."

"Ah so? And what were you thinking?"

"About those student exchanges. About those girls. I suppose it can't be only about five years ago. Five years and it seems so long ago. I used to talk to the professor's daughter a lot. We used to spend all of our holidays together, roaming around London and we used to talk all the time. In those days we believed in young people; we thought that we were sort of crusaders—you know the sort of bunk—hands across the seas—youth to youth in every country. What kids we were. We even started a friendship movement; you know the idea—kids in one country to kids in another and gradually enlarging the circle of correspondents, sending lists of addresses in their letters."

His face flushed and his eyes came alive.

"I remember; and we used to send postcards and magazines and books to each other. I was the secretary of the Hamburg branch. I and Magda between us. I was sixteen then."

We looked at each other and I had a feeling that I had known, even from boyhood, that this meeting would happen, sometime in some country.

Our eyes held, until his began to die again.

"Is your arm hurting? The M.O. and the adjutant should have been here ages ago. They must have gone up to Div. H.Q. or something. I sent someone for the adjutant ages ago."

I phoned the sick bay, but no one knew where the M.O. was; I tried the mess and got choked off by the colonel. Finally I found him at Div. H.Q. and he said he would be right over as soon as the meeting was finished.

It was getting cold in the guard room so I slipped my greatcoat around his shoulders.

"That better?"

"Thank you." He did not meet my eyes. Then: "How old are you, Corporal?"

"Twenty-one. How old are you?"

"The same."

We sat in silence for a while.

He broke it. "If I had been in your position," he said, "I should have refused to fight for the capitalists of Britain. I should have preferred to have died rather than to go to war with a country which only wanted peace."

"You should say that" I shouted. "Why you cheeky young devil. Germany has been making plans to smash everything that was worth while in the world for years. Your prancing Hitler and his cut-throats had every move planned in advance."

"Remember that you are talking to an officer, Corporal. Be careful of what you say or I shall report you to your superiors."

"I'm getting tired of hearing you say that." I was at white heat with anger. "The fact that you are an officer in the German forces is nothing to be proud of; what are you apart from butchers of women and kids?"

He made no reply and we sat in silence until the M.O. finally appeared; he made a hurried inspection of the arm and seemed worried.

"We'll have to get you straight into hospital," he said.

The inspection must have been painful for the prisoner seemed on the point of fainting. I helped him up and almost had to lift him out to the ambulance. He felt so thin and cold that my hate for him suddenly evaporated. I opened the back door of the ambulance.

"Good bye," I said. "It might have all been different if we had only been more sensible when we were younger; perhaps we could have done something then."

He stood there for a second or two, clutching the door rail with his right arm.

"It might have been possible," he said coldly.

Then mockingly he forced his injured arm up into the salute; I could feel the pain of it in the pit of my stomach.

"Heil Hitler!" he shouted.

I shoved him in and slammed the door on him.

The next day I sent him some books and my private store of cigarettes. They wouldn't let me into the hospital; it was unheard of. In any case, they said, they were operating on him; gangrene had set in.

For five days I haunted that hospital, waiting for news. I didn't understand myself or my thoughts.

And on the sixth I went sick to avoid burial party duty and because I knew that if I helped to bury him that some part of some intangible thing that belonged to him and me and millions like us would go into the grave and under the earth with him.

And I didn't want that to happen. I watched the little ceremony from the hillside and I prayed to God never to let that happen.

School Of Agriculture Opens October 12th

The Provincial School of Agriculture and Home Economics at Olds will commence its thirty-first regular fall and winter term on Tuesday, October 12th.

The courses include not only studies in Agriculture and in Household Economics for young men and women of our rural districts, but also subjects of general educational value such as literature and composition, public speaking, social studies, etc. The boys spend a large share of their time at practical work in the laboratories and shops, considerable attention being given to mechanics such as farm motors and the repair of farm machinery. In the Home Economics course for girls much time is devoted to practical projects in sewing, cooking and household administration.

Since this is the only School of Agriculture now operating in the Province, the classes are filled to capacity every term and those wishing to attend this year are advised to make application in good time before the opening, especially if they desire accomodation in the school residence. Though the school operates under the direction of the Department of Agriculture at Edmonton, all applications should be sent directly to the School at Olds. The term continues from October 12th to April 5th with a brief holiday at Christmas.

Planting Fall Rye

The best time to plant fall rye to obtain the highest yield is from September 1st to September 15th. If grasshoppers are numerous the seeding should be delayed until about October 1st. However, this late seeding is likely to reduce the yield by from 15 to 20 per cent. This is the experience of the Dominion experimental station at Swift Current, Saskatchewan. That station recommends dakold fall rye as the most suitable variety to plant. —Alberta Wheat Pool Budget.

FOOD FOR RUSSIA

During the past year lend lease goods to the amount of $2,400 million have gone to Soviet Russia from the United States. More than one-quarter of the tonnage of goods exported to that country has been food to maintain the fighting strength of the Russian army.

U.S. Praise For Canada's Egg Powder

There's more to food than proteins, fats, minerals and vitamins—there's flavor. No matter how essential a food product may be, there's not much fun eating it unless it tastes good. The people of Britain get both healthful food and tasty food in the dried egg powder sent to them from Canada.

To find out how Canada is making egg powder with the flavour of fresh eggs, a group of United States scientists recently visited Ottawa. They talked with other scientists of the Dominion Department of Agriculture and National Research Council about the latest methods of converting eggs to powder and one of the visitors stated "Canada is consistently turning out a better product than we are."

He credited improved scientific manufacturing methods for the high quality of Canadian egg powder, but said its superiority originally began with superior grading of the raw product, the egg itself. He explained that in making a uniform product, Canadian egg powder manufacturers have a uniform product to start with.

A top quality egg grades A in Sydney, Nova Scotia, as it does in Victoria, British Columbia. Grade A eggs are worth a premium anywhere in the Dominion. They make better egg powder. They make more money for the poultrymen, too.

It all comes back to the farmer. When his hens lay top quality eggs, the farmer enables the manufacturer to produce a top quality, finished product. By giving proper feed and care to his flock, the farmer is making possible enormous shipments to Britain of dried egg powder, the equivalent of nearly 60 million dozen fresh eggs in the last year and a half.

Short Courses In Repair Of Farm Machinery

The Dominion-Provincial Youth Training programme for 1943-44 again makes provision for short courses of three weeks in the repair of motors and farm machinery such as were conducted at a number of country points last winter for men on the farm. Last winter's courses proved to be very popular and they provided a great deal of useful instruction for keeping farm motors and implements in good running order. This is important under conditions that prevail at present with respect to limited stocks of new farm machinery and repair parts. Continuation of these practical shop courses next winter will depend to a large extent upon whether or not qualified instructors will be available to undertake the work. If circumstances permit, this training will again be made available to country districts commencing on or about November 1st. Further announcement will be made at a later date.

Red Deer Conference

Hon. N. E. Tanner, Chairman of the Alberta Post-War Reconstruction Committee, will be principal speaker at a regional Post-War conference which is being called by the Red Deer Board of Trade for September 9th.

The Red Deer organization has issued invitations to municipal, village and town councils, chambers of commerce and trade boards over a wide area, and officials anticipate that a representative attendance will result from their efforts.

Other speakers invited to address the meeting are Alfred Speakman, M.L.A., who is provincial member for Red Deer, and Hon. Alfred J. Hooke, Provincial Secretary, who represents Rocky Mountain House. Both Mr. Speakman and Mr. Hooke are members of the Provincial Post-War Committee, and each is chairman of a sub-committee. Mr. Speakman is concerned with Agriculture and Land Settlement and Mr. Hooke with Finance.

Members of the committee report growing interest in Post-War matters throughout the local areas of the Province and anticipate that eventually there will be represented in local committees every organized group and local government body.

A new half-hour streamlined version of "Comrades in Arms" the weekly report to the nation by Canada's Navy, Army and Air Force, is now being heard over the CBC's national hook-up Sunday afternoons at 5:30 p.m. EDT. The show will continue to provide an up-to-the-minute picture of the three fighting services and plans are underway to bring actuality broadcasts from the theatres of battle.

Soldiers For The Soil

Applications for "nearly all" of the soldiers available to help on Alberta farms have been received. This was the statement by Mr. R. M. Putnam in a recent broadcast as secretary of the Dominion-Provincial Farm Labour Committee for Alberta. Mr. Putnam explained however, that some of the men apportioned to Saskatchewan and Manitoba may come to Alberta if our two sister provinces do not make use of the soldiers under the Farm Duty Plan.

Soldiers may also obtain leave to return to farms operated by members of their immediate family, Mr. Putnam explained, in which case the soldier himself applies to his commanding officer.

It was pointed out also, that the objectionable feature of the plan, by which the farmer had to pay the daily rate whether it rained or not, has been changed. Soldiers will only be paid $4.00 per day for the days they work.

Likely To Fill Bacon Quota

Canada is likely to fill its British bacon quota during the current year in the opinion of Dr. Barton, deputy minister of agriculture. The quota provides for the shipment of 675 million pounds during the year ending next November. In the month of July, hog marketings increased over last year's figures as follows:

	per cent increase over 1942
Saskatchewan	33
Manitoba	29
Alberta	22
Quebec	10
Maritime Provinces	7
Ontario	3

A MODEL MUNICIPALITY—

THE PRESS REPORT appearing in the dailies last week to the effect that a new enlarged municipal district comprised of former municipal districts circled around Camrose would be a model municipal district, will be read with interest.

The new district, the boundaries of which are now in course of formation, will not be launched upon its administrative course until the beginning of next year at which time a number of other new large municipal units will be put in effect.

There are now quite a number of enlarged municipal districts throughout the province, probably twenty or more, and it is not quite clear why one any more than the other should be singled out as a model municipality. Does this mean that Camrose municipality will receive more attention and more help from the Department as regards the process of enlargement and operation afterwards, than the others? or does it mean that due to its topography and productive capabilities it will be sufficiently wealthy to make the details of municipal government such as assessment, taxation, public works, relief, hospitalization and old age pensions, all plain sailing?

The success of a municipality is governed by a number of factors. The two most important perhaps are the kind of people and the district's ability to produce. A diligent, industrious and thrifty people plus a productive district, if reasonably well governed, can hardly fail to be a success. On the contrary a district which has a low productive rating is quite likely to be more difficult as regards local government. This was fairly well proven in the old M.D. of Cornhill. In the depression years and the years immediately following there were numerous applications for relief but the majority came from districts where the productive capacity was not high. In a district where there were a number of good farms fairly well managed, applications for relief were rare.

A model municipal district would have to do with assessment, mill rate, taxation, public works, etc. As regards assessment and mill rate, these are simply means of calculating the amount required. In order to levy a given sum, the higher the assessment the lower the mill rate needs to be and vice versa. As regards taxes it might as well be admitted that in the view of those who have to pay them, taxes are almost invariably too high and a fair, just and equitable municipal tax still has to be invented. In the discharge of its duties the model municipality will have to assess, levy and collect pretty much the same as any other enlarged municipal district. In the matter of public works the district chosen as a model would have a distinct advantage due to topography. It is much more economical to build roads through well settled highly productive, gently rolling country than through hilly and rough areas. In the first instance roads cost less and the people are better able to pay for them; in the second instance they cost more and are harder to build. At one municipal annual meeting a ratepayer amid a road discussion, exclaimed something like this: "I can understand the plight of those who have bad roads, but I have been a resident of my district for many years and I have no road at all. I cannot get my children to school." With better topography to aid it, solutions to situations like the above would not have to be found in the model district. Then there is maintenance. This has during the past twenty years become of increasing importance. When municipal road traffic was confined to buggies, wagons and light passenger cars, dirt roads stood up with an occasional drag, but today with almost every farmer owning a truck and these as well as huge cross country trucks travelling over them, dirt roads play out quickly and to be kept in good shape need constant repair.

A model municipal district like a model of any other human endeavor, is a very fine thing. It sets a mark for other districts to shoot at and by so doing improves the whole plan. But it should be clearly understood that by choosing the choicest set up to star as a model M.D., the government is admittedly choosing one with natural and perhaps administrative qualities the others do not possess.

MILK WEED—

ONE OF THE STRANGE things about commerce either effected or uneffected by war is the sudden demand for things previously considered useless. One of the latest products to spring into prominence is Milk Weed. Previously considered a pest it is now being sought after both in Eastern Canada and the United States and for different reasons.

In Eastern Canada a call has gone out to collect this weed for the sticky liquid it contains which will be utilized in the manufacture of synthetic rubber. Eastern Canadian farmers it is said actually planted quantities of milk weed and are selling it to the government.

In the United States industry is calling for milk weed but for a different reason. There they emphasize its ability to produce a substance to take the place of kapok. Kapok comes from the East Indies and is used as an insulating material in aeroplanes and many other places where a light porous substance is required. Like kapok, the fibre of the milk weed contains myriads of tiny air cells which tend to produce lightness and excellent insulating qualities.

This area is not without its weed growth but apparently milk weed is not among our prolific weeds. The Mercury made one or two enquiries of individuals and looked up one or two hand books on weeds and drew a blank as regards definite information regarding it growing here.

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

Written specially for the weekly newspapers of Canada

By JIM GREENBLAT

It would make excess reading for me to enlarge at length on the things weekly readers have already heard or read of President Roosevelt's visit to Ottawa. A few personal impressions might be more appropriate even at this date. After a close-up view during his address under the Peace Tower I am willing to "string along with Roosevelt" as I am with Churchill. He is the typical Happy Warrior; he simply radiates greatness, leadership, inspires confidence. You can see his face for hours afterwards. Here is a man in whom one feels one can trust our destiny, that of our children.

You should have seen his face when making that statement about being "everlastingly angry" at those who think the Four Freedoms of the Atlantic Charter are unattainable. And his broad shoulders seemed to reach up into his tanned, healthy face and jutting jaw line when he said, "We are going to get rid of these outlaws this time."

You felt ready to kick off the national sidewalk any selfish political individuals or interests when he declared the good old days were not that in every sense and he rather believed "we can achieve new and better days." After seeing him I believe the saying that men make history, not history makes men. The imprint of his visit to the capital will be profoundly embedded in the sands of the things to come.

The great crowd on Parliament Hill was a sight to be remembered. The picture, the reaction was best summed up by that famous internationally known writer, Emil Ludwig, who was present. "What impressed me most was the gaiety without hysteria, the friendliness, the serenity and the hearty welcome without noise. The picture was like a folk festival—completely peaceful as if there could be no war in the world."

I thought it a fine gesture that at the luncheon at Government House invited to meet Mr. Roosevelt were Gordon Graydon, Opposition Leader in the House, Mr. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader and J. H. Blackmore, Social Credit leader, among others prominent in our political life.

Because statistics show increased butter production in Canada there are some who complain about the ration allowance. Quite appropriately this week one of the local papers dealt editorially with this matter pointing out "overseas needs" is the answer. One item, for instance, the food parcels going to our prisoners of war—100,000 of them weekly—each includes a pound of butter, pound of dried whole milk, quarter pound of cheese. That's only a part of the overseas requirements from Canada.

In the office of J.W.G. Clark, director in chief of information for the armed services, the other day I was shown something which your boys in the forces at home and overseas will really enjoy—a series of paintings depicting scenes in various parts of Canada. These were done in oils voluntarily through a committee of Canadian artists and then reproduced in silk screen, framed 30 by 40 inches, with the cost being borne by well-known Canadian business and industrial firms. There are 26 subjects ranging from a fishing scene in the Maritimes to a winter panorama on the Prairies, and there will be 300 reproductions of each, 7800 in all. Every "men's" mess (not officers) will get a set or portion to suit space available. A swell idea, and while it will create nostalgia on the part of the boys, will they ever enjoy the homespun scenes. The artistry in each is superb.

The modern age of transportation. Looking out of my window in the New Supreme Court Building at the Peace Tower I see in one glance a big transport plane overhead; on the Ottawa River below a tug pulling a big boom of logs to the pulp mill on the Hull, Quebec, side; a speedboat and a rowboat; on the bridge crossing to Hull can be seen at one and the same time a passenger train, a street car, a load of hay, cars and trucks passing to and fro as well as boys on bicycles.

Announcement here of the new Joint War Aid Committee, United States-Canada, is important. Its decisions will probably have much to do in directing the course of action of Canadian and American cabinet directing bodies in the disposition among United Nations of vast quantities of war supplies, running into many billions of dollars. If any of the United Nations asks for tanks, planes, guns or wheat, the question of where that supply is to come from is of course, most important. It is a possibility that the committee might be expanded and continued into the post-war era when hungry nations of Europe will seek sustenance from the two greatest food storehouses of the world—Canada and the U.S.A.

The 6th Compulsory Employment Transfer Order issued by National Selective Service embraces men who have reached their 16th birthday, and have not passed their 41st. Ex-service men must register but are not compelled to accept other jobs. After Sept. 8 employers in the named list of occupations who retain men in the categories without N.S.S. permit are breaking the law. Among the exempted occupations in the wholesale line are included farm products, food products; fuel; ice; gas; oil; grease; lumber; building materials, machinery and allied equipment. Employers would do well to see that they familiarize themselves with the order which goes into detail.

Farmers of Eastern Canada are again urged to buy oats from the west now and take advantage of existing transportation facilities and the subsidy which is on for buying feed grains for storage. There may have been a little difficulty lately in getting western barley because offerings to date have not always been equal to the demand. What is desired is a continuous flow of feed grains to eastern Canada. Talking of barley the 1943 carry-over is an all time record, placed at 60,253,707 bushels compared with 10,908,001 in 1942.

Young Soldier's Prayer

When I am newly dead, promise me, God,
You'll let me come to earth in some dim form
And stand again in the old fields of home
To watch the splendor of a prairie storm
Blowing across the twisted fields of grain,
And feel the wind whipping my face again.

When I am newly dead, let me return
In some strange aspect neither seen nor known,
And let me move among my human kind,
And see my sweetheart as she grieves alone.
We were so shy, and words were hard to find
To tell each other what was in each mind.

When I am newly dead, let me come down
To where the water kissed the pebbled shore
Of our old pasture creek, and let me swim
Naked and clean, and let me feel once more
The swift exultant rapture of high flight
Clearing the starry darkness of the night.

And oh, dear God, I pray you, give to me
The things of earth I did not live to see.

Baking With Vitamin B White Flour (Canada Approved)

In experiments conducted to test the baking quality of Vitamin B White Flour, it has been found that this flour can be used satisfactorily to replace the ordinary all-purpose flour. For best results, however, Miss Vera Richards suggests as follows:

(1) In making bread best results are obtained when the rising period is short. Either use a larger proportion of yeast so as to give a short rising period or, if a small amount of yeast is used, the "sponge method" should be followed, i.e. part of the flour is not added until the last or second rising. When the ordinary "dough method" is used allowing the dough to rise for several hours or overnight, the volume and shape of the loaf is poor. This longer rising accounts for many not having success with dry yeast when using the new Vitamin B Flour. Also, allow the sponge or dough just sufficient time to rise each time. Allowing the dough to rise for a considerable length of time, punching it down at intervals does not result in a good loaf.

(2) Buns and rolls made by the usual methods are good but results obtained when the dough is held in a refrigerator for a few days are not so good. Allow the dough to come to room temperature before putting in a warmer place to rise. The refrigerator rolls tends to lose their shape when baked.

(3) If the dough seems a little sticky at times, a milk dough is more desirable than potato water, the dough being easier to handle and higher in nutritive value.

(4) If adding wheat germ to doughs using yeast, a loaf with better volume results if the full amount of wheat germ is added to the sponge.

(5) Do not confuse the term "improvers" as used on some bags, with Vitamin B Flour. "Improvers" do not indicate any improved or added food value but rather a mineral salt added to the flour to give a larger loaf.

Green Vegetables In Winter Time

Soybeans planted in a flower pot or earthen jar will provide green vegetables in the winter time. Four or five days after planting sprouts will appear which are both tasty and nutritious. The federal department of agriculture says that Canadian trappers with their cabins on the verge of the Arctic may use soybeans to produce a more varied diet in the winter time.

For generations the Chinese have garnished their plain dishes with sprouts of the soybean. Since the popularity of the soybean has spread all around the world in recent years, many other people may follow the example of the Chinese and plant soybeans in the house in the winter time to provide fresh vegetables as an addition to their menus.

WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. G. L. Strange

THE FUTURE OF WHEAT

Many farmers seem to be worried about the future of prairie wheat.

It seems to me there is nothing to fear, provided the terms of the Atlantic Charter are fulfilled at the coming World Peace Treaty, particularly that term which requires that the people of all countries shall have easy access to the foodstuffs and raw materials of the world.

In looking into historical records, I find that there never has been a single year in the 6,000 years of recorded history when all the people of the world had anything like sufficient food to eat, for even in those years when surpluses of wheat appeared in Canada and in other places, there always were millions of people in some countries who were hungry, and so badly needed these food surpluses. The remedy obviously is to free international trade from those strangling tariffs, custom duties, quotas and other obstructions which have, during the past 20 years so hindered the exchange of the farmers' foodstuffs, particularly wheat, for the goods and products that hungry people in the world have and are willing to offer in exchange for the wheat they need.

If these existing obstructions to international trade can be removed, then I for one feel convinced the future for the sales of all the wheat we can grow on our prairies is bright indeed.

The North-West Line Elevators Association is comprised of the owners and operators of 3,400 country grain elevators located throughout the prairie provinces and terminal elevators at the Head of the Great Lakes and on the Pacific Coast with a total storage capacity of approximately 274,000,000 bushels. The Association was organized in 1899 "for the purpose of formulating rules to govern transactions between its members in the handling and shipping of grain, with the object of reducing expenses of handling the crop of the country to a minimum." Since the formation of the Association charges for handling grain have been reduced to a point where Canada is recognized as having the most efficient and economical grain handling system in the world. The Association has extended its activities to act as a service organization for prairie farmers and operates its own agricultural department for the benefit of the farming community.

Harvest Moves

Further details about the movement of harvest equipment were revealed by Mr. Putnam in the same broadcast. Transportation charges will be paid by the Provincial Department of Agriculture he said, to owners or operators of equipment "in Southern Alberta who move their machinery north into other districts." Equipment must not be moved less than 50 miles Mr Putnam pointed out and moves over this distance must be authorized by the Department so as to qualify for the subsidy

The broadcast was closed with an appeal to town and city people to assist with harvesting Assistance is urgently needed conclude Mr Putnam, and those who can spare the time will not only be rendering "a great service to the farmers and the nation but they will also enjoy some healthful outdoor work and will receive reasonably good pay in return"

The Future For Prairie Wheat

Many people seem to have formed the opinion that Great Britain and other European countries after this war will decide to grow more of their own wheat, and that in consequence wheat acreage in the wheat exporting countries, the Canadian prairies the United States the Argentine and Australia, will have to remain either at the present relatively low figure or perhaps even have to suffer some further curtailment. There are several reasons for believing that this need not at all occur, and in fact ought not to occur. One important reason to support this belief is revealed in a statement made recently by a Member of Parliament in Southern Ireland—Eire—and which was quoted in a recent issue of the well known periodical MILLING published in Liverpool, England The statement by Mr J M Dillon Member of Parliament for Eire is as follows:

"The 'Grow More Wheat' policy in Eire before the war," said Mr J M Dillon (Independent) recently in the Dail, "was a disaster for our people then and was a disaster for our people now. The shortages that we were experiencing at present were in some measure attributable to that policy Nobody but a fool would run this country in times of peace on a basis that is expedient in times of war. I say, I repeat, that before this war and after it, it is suicidal folly to use the land of this country for growing inferior wheat at an exorbitant price when we can purchase far superior wheat and import it at an economic price No sane man contends that we can produce wheat in competition with Canada, Australia or the Plate It is perfectly true that if we choose to pay an excessive price, we can make it pay for the man who grows it here but in open competition with the rest of the world we can produce agricultural produce superior to that grown in any other country in the world, sell it in the markets of the world, and from the profits of the sale, get 150 per cent more wealth from the land than by growing our own wheat."

This illustrates the sound commonsense view of the world's wheat problem and we can be sure that if a prominent Member of Parliament of such a nationalistic country as Eire whose motto has been "Self-Sufficiency" takes this point of view, that countries which depend even more than Eire upon world trade such as Britain and other countries are bound eventually to adopt the same type of thought.

It has been drawn to our attention by eminent authorities on nutrition, such as Sir John Orr and others, that a large part of the people in Europe are suffering now, and in the future will continue to suffer from malnutrition brought about because of the consumption of insufficient livestock products such as milk eggs, cheese and meats, that supply the precious vitamins.

These particular products are expensive to buy, to ship and to import, compared with wheat. It seems certain then that if the minds of European people can be relieved from fear of war, they will be content to devote their land to the production of grasses, pastures, clovers and those coarse grains which can best produce these livestock products, so precious for the health of their people and so relatively cheap for them to produce, which their land, moreover, is fitted for and which their farmers so well understand and that they will be quite content as Mr Dillon states, to import wheat which can be grown so much more efficiently and of higher quality in countries like Canada.

There is another reason for hope for our prairie wheat growers. It is that the population of the world is increasing at the rate of 1 per cent per annum which means 20 million additional mouths each year to be fed. This will bring about increasing demands year by year for more food of all kinds, including wheat.

And there is still another reason, which is that the people of the world never in their long history have ever had sufficient bread made from wheat. If therefore, the terms of the Atlantic Charter can be implemented at the coming peace table—and there is a feeling growing daily throughout the world that this at least must be done—particularly that clause which requires that the people of all countries shall have easy access to the surplus foodstuffs and raw materials of the world, then it seems safe to prophecy that there will be a world demand for all the wheat we can produce in Western Canada, not only on the present greatly restricted acreage, but also on a considerably expanded acreage when this war is over. —Searle Grain Co. Ltd.

Care Of Trees On The Prairies

After 40 years of experience in the growing of trees on the prairies Norman M. Ross, former superintendent of the forest nursery station at Indian Head, Saskatchewan, said that in his opinion grass growing in shelter belts has killed more trees than drouth itself

Mr Ross suggests the best shelter belts are caragana set 1' apart as a protective hedge on the outside and after that three rows of deciduous trees, poplar, maple, ash and elm set 4' apart in rows spaced 4', then a row of evergreens can be set on the inside of the shelter 8' distant from the nearest row and 4' apart.

The poplar and Manitoba maple trees are faster growing than the ash and elm but in time they will die out, leaving room for the longer living ash and elm

Clean cultivation should be maintained at all times between the rows and for a distance of 16' outside the shelter belt This provides a reservoir from which the trees can obtain moisture and plant food.

General Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, commander of the Eighth Army, said of the Canadians at Sicily: "I am very pleased indeed to have Canadians under my command They have done well In fact, they were terrific on the beaches and in the attack on the island."

The World's Need For Food

As day by day passes, additional evidence comes to hand of the great need there will be for food in this world as soon as peace comes.

The U.S.A. Department of Agriculture estimates that the 1943 world wheat production, excluding Soviet Russia and China, will be about 12 per cent below the 1942 production, and we know of course that the production in Russia will be much below normal requirements, for Russia has already had to import wheat; and from China we have news that a famine now rages over a large area in that distressed country.

We all know too, from the extensive publicity that has been put out, that countless numbers of Greek people were doomed to die from starvation unless large shipments of food were sent to them. Canada donated wheat, and the United States sent much food, but in spite of these shipments extremely large quantities will still be needed after the war, if death and suffering on a large scale is to be avoided.

A correspondent in the 'New York Herald Tribune' draws attention to the serious unrest of the people of Europe after the last war which was a result—he claims—of nutritional disturbances brought about by years of poor feeding during the last war All the people of Europe will be more or less in this same condition when this war finishes and so will need building up with more food.

The 'London Economist' in its issue of July 24th publishes an analysis by their correspondent in Denmark of the food situation in that country. This correspondent states that the reduction of pigs and other animals, and of eggs, is now only half of what it was in 1940 and that this reduction has been caused mainly by the lack of the great pre-war importations by Denmark of cereals and oil seeds for animal feeding This correspondent offers his opinion that this reveals that overseas importations in Agriculture cannot be replaced either by mere additional work or by feed substitutes

All this, and other evidence which we have recorded from time to time in these columns, indicates there will be a heavy demand for food stuffs for human beings when this war is over And so, we might well enquire, where will these foodstuffs, so badly needed to save lives, come from? Certainly there is no surplus available in the world of livestock products, for already the mere fact that the people are heavily rationed in both the United States and Canada, indicates there will be surplus available of these products to fill additional demands by the people of Europe. The only possible source of supply therefore will be wheat, fed directly to human beings in the form of bread which ever has been mankind's finest and most sustaining food

When these enormous after-war requirements are looked at in this light it certainly seems as though the wheat surpluses of Canada, the United States, Australia and the Argentine will be none too great to fill the demands of human beings for food.

It must never be forgotten that an acre of land producing wheat for direct human consumption in the form of bread will feed and satisfy and keep alive about four times as many people as will that acre of land when devoted to the production of coarse grains to be fed to livestock and where the people finally consume the livestock.

This important matter, we suggest is worth the attention of Governments, and all who are interested in after-war human relief. —Searle Grain Co., Ltd.

Salvation Army To Collect Here

Adjutant Jackson of Edmonton made an official visit to Tofield on Tuesday and arranged for a local committee to undertake collection on behalf of the Salvation Army which is holding its home front drive now.

W. C. Swift will be chairman and J. E. Stinson, secretary treasurer and these will be assisted by a committee composed of W. Bellamy, A. J. H. McCauley and J.W. Morton.

Morale is a lot of little things . . . mail from home when you're a thousand miles away . . . the memory of a pleasant leave for a serviceman . . . the knowledge that "home" will always be there, when his job is done . . . and a thousand other things.

For the boys at the Front, morale means that folks back home are bending every effort to make his job easier for him; to send him what he needs to keep out the cold and to cheer him up. Morale means the knowledge that his family is safe and happy.

What about the father of a motherless child, who hears the call to arms? He is torn between his devotion to his child, and his loyalty to his country. What about the veteran of the last war who is still young enough for active service now? He is loathe to leave his aging Mother and Dad because they depend on him to provide the necessities of life What about the woman war worker whose husband has made the supreme sacrifice to keep his country free? She wants to do a job of work, but has no place for her children to stay.

These are but a few of the needy who find their answer in The Salvation Army. The Army mothers the motherless child, giving her a home and friendly, loving care; the Army provides haven for the aging father and mother of a warrior son, whose reply to his country's need has been whole-hearted and instantaneous because of the help he has received; The Army gives back to the widowed mother the right to do her share in the country's war effort, by opening its doors to her children; by looking after their spiritual and physical growth while she reaches top production figures on the assembly line.

The soldier, who bids farewell to his new wife at the station, knows that even though he won't be on hand for the important event, his child will be born in the pleasant surroundings and secure atmosphere of a Salvation Army Hospital.

Morale is a lot of little things that in the end add up to life itself.

Ryley Officially Approved As M.D. Beaver Centre

A letter received by the M.D. of Beaver from the Minister of Municipal Affairs placed official approval of the Minister as to Ryley being the official centre of M.D. of Beaver. Ratepayers will recall that early this year council voted in favor of this and it only needed the Minister's approval to make the decision legal.

The meeting at which the above mentioned letter was read was held on Friday, September 10th at the district's office in Ryley. There were present at the meeting: Reeve Ovens, Councillors Anderson, Globelhause, Logan, Lucas, Moen and Swabey.

In addition to the above mentioned letter communications were received from:

ROAD GRANT MONEY NOT ALL SPENT

Mr. Ritchie of the Department of Public Works. He requested information as to the amount of government grant money spent on roads. A check up among the councillors revealed the information that shortage of labor, and adverse weather conditions had prevented the councillors from spending all their road work appropriations. The question was raised as to whether government road grant money could be transferred from one division to the other. The information requested will be forwarded to Mr. Ritchie together with the request that government road grants be transferable from one division to the other.

CLOSE VEGREVILLE OFFICE

Letter from Mr. Ritchie of the Dept. of Municipal Affairs questioning the wisdom of paying rent on the office at Vegreville in order to store the safes. He suggested the removal of the safes to Ryley and the office at Vegreville permanently closed. It was decided that Councillor Moen arrange for the two safes to be brought to Ryley and for their storage at Ryley. Later in the day Councillor Moen announced that he had made the above arrangements.

M.D. NORMA & M.D. BEAVER SETTLE ACCOUNTS

Letter from Mr. Ritchie of the Department of Municipal Affairs regarding adjustment of assets and liabilities as between the M.D. of Norma, M.D. of Sterling and M.D. of Beaver. As administrator Mr. Ritchie made certain recommendations which were approved by formal resolution.

SPILSTED SCHOOL ROAD NOT FORGOTTEN

Letter from Dept. of Municipal Affairs regarding the condition of the Spilsted school road. This letter had been replied to by the secretary who informed the Department that attention would be given this road as soon as weather and labor conditions permitted.

DOES NOT APPLY

Letter from Dept. of Municipal Affairs regarding district's elegibility for assistance under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act. The conditions prevailed in the M.D. are such that the provisions of the Act do not apply. The question was asked as to whether the provisions of the Act applies to hail damage. Reference to the Act showed that it did not

A number of hospital accounts were looked over and most of them approved.

HOSPITAL ACCOUNTS

Letter from University hospital seeking information regarding collection of accounts of former districts.

UNAUTHORIZED WORK

Letter from Lymburn, Reid and Cobbledick regarding 1942 road work account of Wm. Zook. The letter asked for payment. The matter was discussed and payment refused on the grounds that the work for which the money was claimed was done without any authorization.

SCHOOL BUS ROAD REQUESTED

Mr. McLean of the Holden School Division interviewed council regarding the shortage of teachers and explained that by putting one additional teacher at Bruce they could take care of the requirements of four rural school districts. It would be necessary to operate a bus and to do this safely considerable road work would have to be done In general discussion it was pointed out that even with work done on the road it would still be a dirt road and difficult to travel over in wet weather. Again the problem of labor shortage cropped up and the matter was left in abeyance for the immediate present.

BUYS 80 ACRES PASTURE LAND

Mr. A. Gosling of North Cooking Lake offered $100.00 cash for a piece of pasture land of about 80 acres in his area. The offer was accepted and the by-law covering the sale was given its first and second reading.

Adjournment for lunch.

O.A.P. APPLICATIONS

A number of applications for old age pensions were presented for recommendation. Most of them received recommendation, others were left for the Board to make its own enquiries as council did not know the parties concerned.

TAX EXEMPTION FOR SOLDIERS GRANTED

On the motion of Reeve Ovens Mr Orton was granted exemption of taxes allowed enlisted men on one quarter section. Application was made for exemption on a half section

On the motion of Councillor Lucas Conrad Melby was granted tax exemption on one quarter section.

MISS PYLE RESIGNS—MRS. O'BRIEN ENGAGED

Letter from Miss Pyle, stenographer, was read resigning her position with the M D On the motion of Reeve Ovens the resignation of Miss Pyle was accepted with regret.

The secretary announced that he had communicated with Mrs. Lillian O'Brien regarding accepting a position with the M D The office was badly understaffed and necessary work was beginning to pile up. Mrs. O'Brien had worked in this office previously and he believed her to be competent. Mrs. O'Brien had written that she would require $125 00 per month. Considerable discussion took place the concensus of opinion being that $125 00 per month was a high salary to pay a stenographer. It was however, pointed out that Mrs O'Brien was better than average for the work to be done by reason of her previous experience.

On the motion of Reeve Ovens the secretary was empowered to offer Mrs. O'Brien the salary asked for immediate acceptance.

COUNCILLOR SWABEY TO INVESTIGATE LAND DEAL

It was decided that Councillor Swabey investigate the land which Mr. McCauley's client was interested in.

The first one opened was from Mr. Fred Lyons who offered $2100.00; the second was from Mr. I Lillo who offered $2800.00 Both tenders were cash. The land was sold to Mr. I. Lillo and first and second reading of by-law covering the sale was given.

WEED INSPECTOR'S REPORT

Mr. A. Fimeth submitted a report covering his work as weed inspector.

WILL SELL KINGMAN PROPERTY

Letter from Mr. D. M. Thompson regarding Kingman property. Mr. Thompson desired a statement of taxes. In discussion it was brought out that the property in question originally belonged to Mr Thompson, it was then sold to Mr. Uraha who later enlists and is entitled to exemption for 1939-1940-1941. Mr. Thompson then gets it back. Mr. Thompson asks for rent for Municipal District Machine which was housed there. Secretary was instructed to inform Mr. Thompson that rent could not be allowed as he was not the owner during the time the machine was in there. Also that there is an offer of $200.00 for the building and that M.D. will sell and remit to him balance over taxes.

ASSESSMENT REPORT

Mr. Norman Campbell of Holden, assessor, reported on some assessments he had made and on the motion of Councillor Lucas these assessments were approved

SIX CHAIRS SOLD

Mr Campbell offered $15 00 for six chairs. Council thought $18.00 was a fair figure and Mr. Campbell offered to pay this amount. On the motion of Councillor Moen the chairs were sold for $18.00

COMMITTEE FORMED

Mr Emanuel Quast interviewed Council regarding the purchase of 28-49-13 He offered $1000 00 for it. Council were of the opinion it was worth more During discussion Mr Quast raised his bid to $2000 00 It was decided that Reeve Ovens and Councillor Globelhaus be a committee to investigate the land and have power to accept Mr Quast's offer if found acceptable.

SALVATION ARMY GRANT

A representative of the Salvation Army interviewed Council regarding their annual grant. The officer gave an outline of the work that the Salvation Army was doing and said he was pleased to meet the council of

NEW ALBERTA QUOTA $37,000,000

Alberta's quota in the Fifth Victory Loan will be $37,000,000 but Provincial officials have set a goal of $40,000,000 it was announced recently by F. E. Osborne, of Calgary chairman of the National War Finance Committee for Alberta. Mr. Osborne's statement follows:

"The announcement by the Minister of Finance, Hon J L Ilsley, of the amount and date of the Fifth Victory Loan serves to emphasize to civilians on the home front the positive part they are called upon to play in our country's accelerated war program.

The $1,200,000,000 asked for by the Minister as the minimum amount required means that Albertans are being asked to subscribe $37,000,000 or $4,000,000 more than the objective of the Fourth Victory Loan, but $2,000,000 less than we invested in that Loan I doubt if we, as a Province, will be satisfied with an achievement of less than $40,000,000 which should become our unofficial objective.

The official slogan will be "Speed the Victory" and investors (please notice that word, for subscriptions are definitely not a gift) will surely be doing just that, since the volume of replacements of personnel and material is contingent upon the money which we, as loyal citizens of Canada, place at the disposal of our National Government.

I have never approached a campaign with greater confidence of success on account of the splendid results obtained in this Province in all previous Victory Loan campaigns. Canvassers and subscribers alike have done magnificently in the past and I am sure will do so again under present heartening circumstances.

I.O.D.E. Efforts Much Appreciated

The following letter received by Mrs. W C Swift bears ample testimony to the appreciation and gratitude of the recipients upon receiving tangible proof of the Order's efforts.

20 Lockeridge Road,

Yelverton, Devon.
20th August

Dear Mrs Swift,

I rather expect you wonder who or what the recipients are like who receive the gifts packed for this country. We have had this past week a toilet bag, packed with useful articles, on this bag is a slip "Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, Canada" inside was a slip of paper with your name and address. In a recent raid on Plymouth we lost our home, destroyed by a (censored) My wife and son, ten and a half years, had barely left their beds when this object crashed through the roof and in a matter of seconds what was our home became a raging inferno, a beautiful home and clothes gone; my wife and son wearing only their night attire, were obliged to go to a neighbour's house, I myself being on duty (National Fire Service) reported back to my station in the early hours of the morning to be told my house was on fire. All my wearing apparel I could claim was the uniform I was wearing. We have a fine body of women operating for hardship cases such as we had become in a twinkling of an eye They are known as the W V S (Women's Voluntary Service). It was after my wife and son had been fixed up with clothes that this bag which had been packed by you was handed to my wife and it was agreed that we should take this opportunity of thanking you as one of many who appreciate the good work done by our friends across the sea. The address on this letter is where my wife and boy are evacuated until such times, if we are spared to make another home after the war. In closing please accept our thanks and good wishes for the work you are doing.

Yours sincerely,
R. and K Uncles.

Oscar Was No Ordinary Bull

By John Gould in The Christian Science Monitor

The other night, my city-bred bean pickers were sitting by the fireplace conducting a commando raid on a pan of Yellow Transparents, and we got to talking about farm bookkeeping. One thing led to another, and I told them about Oscar, the bull who telephoned to Cleveland. The story touched them deeply and they urged me to prepare it for my next dispatch.

It came about this way. I was explaining how we arrive at some of our costs, and how farm accounts tumble over each other until the best of us are puzzled. For instance, the cost of maintaining a bull must be levied proportionately against the producing members of the dairy herd—yet figuring the maintenance expense of the old boy is far from easy. Take the telephone, I said, the amount of the bill must be prorated and the bull must stand his share.

"Ha ha" laughed Madeline. "Who ever heard of a bull using a telephone?"

So I told them about Oscar. Oscar was by no means an ordinary bull, but had several unusual escapades to his credit. Some of them were undoubtedly apocryphal, but mostly they were like the time he charged the Guiding Star Ladies' Club and ate 127 cream cheese and olive sandwiches. The time he telephoned Aunt Hulda in Cleveland stands out as his finest accomplishment.

Aunt Hulda Banter, then living in Cleveland, was about to observe her eighty-eighth birthday anniversary and her only child, Mrs. Matthew Nute (our neighbor), was minded to telephone her congratulations. Mrs. Nute had finished churning and was wiping her hands prior to putting in the call. In those days the so-called Farmers' Line served the community and was connected in some remote way and remoter place with the Bell system. Everyone for miles around was on the same line, and it was always a task to get the Listening Toms to hang up, to reach the operator, and to convince her that an out-of-town call was not beyond the realm of possibility. Mrs. Nute had made up her mind.

She took down the receiver, stood on her tiptoes, and yelled into the mouthpiece, "Git off'n the line, now, I'm going to call long distance!" Satisfied at the clicks she heard, she then cranked central and distinctly repeated her mother's name in Cleveland. The line buzzed and Mrs. Nute heard the operators relay the number. She mused on what she would say to her mother, and with half-closed eyes stared vacantly at the wallpaper and weighed this phrase against that.

Oscar, the Nute bull, had already torn down his stanchion, put the hired man up on the scafflings, tipped over the cart and pulled up half the cabbages in the kitchen garden. While Mrs. Nute was patiently waiting her connection, Oscar was moving destructively toward the house. At this precise moment he bounded to the kitchen and shoved one foot through the cane bottom of the Boston rocker. This commotion and Oscar's immediate displeasure brought Mrs. Nute from her reverie and sent her headlong through the sitting room to round up a posse.

Oscar limped, rocker and all, to the telephone. He smelled at the dangling receiver and ran his tongue into the mouthpiece. He did not know, of course, that the operators had skillfully performed their services, that Aunt Hulda was excitedly holding her 'phone to her ear, and that the Cleveland operator was intoning sweetly, "Here is your party. Go ahead, please!"

Oscar did not know that. But he might just as well. He laid back his ears, humped up his back, sucked in a torrent of wind, rolled his eyes and blatted so the house shook. He then kicked the rocking chair into the pantry, knocked down the fernery, swished his tail into a pan of buttermilk and went back to the kitchen garden where he was ultimately retrieved.

To this day, Aunt Hulda believes she was struck by lightning.

Easy To Grow Rhubarb In Cellar In Winter

Fresh, pink, juicy, home-forced rhubarb can be had during the winter months until almost the time when the outdoor crop is available in May, says T. F. Ritchie, Division of Horticulture, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Healthy two or three year old crowns or roots sawn from good stock crowns by divisions are the best, but in some cases older material is quite good.

The crowns or roots should be dug or ploughed out in the late autumn and left on the surface of the ground to freeze. The freezing, coupled with a short rest period, is essential to satisfactory forcing. Roots freshly dug and not frozen do not force well, due to the natural characteristics of the plant. While on the surface of the ground a light covering of strawy litter should be spread over them to prevent drying out.

Any frost-proof dark cellar or shed where the temperature can be maintained at 60 degrees will give good results. Heat can be supplied by stoves or any other convenient system. At a temperature of 50 degrees the growth will be very slow but the colour of the product very deep red, while at a temperature above 65 degrees the colour will be pale with weak slender growth.

As it requires about one month from the time the roots are brought in until the first pulling is made, it is necessary to bring in a fresh lot at intervals of two weeks to maintain a continuous supply of forced rhubarb. The usual practice is to make only four pullings from each lot, after which they are put out of doors to freeze under a light covering of strawy litter. These plants can be planted out again in good soil to recuperate.

Because the fleshy roots have all the necessary plant food stored up in them, it is only necessary to place them close together on the forcing cellar floor and spread a light covering of sand, soil or cinders over them as a moisture retaining media. From time to time water should be sprinkled as required to maintain an even moisture supply. The varieties useful for forcing include Ruby, Sutton, and Victoria.

Preparing Roosters For Market

(Experimental Farms News)

High quality market poultry can be produced more economically and brings higher prices than a mediocre product. The producer has nothing to lose and everything to gain by giving his market stock the advantages which they require to develop into "A grade", says H. S. Gutteridge, Poultry Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Except in the case of capons which, if well fed and managed, should be sufficiently fat and soft fleshed when killed directly off range, all market poultry should be crate or pen fattened. Crate fattening is the more efficient method. Under conditions where suitable accomodation for crate fattening is not available or where for other reasons crate fattening is not practical, pen fattening is a good substitute. While it is possible to produce birds sufficiently fat to enter the higher market grades by pen fattening it is not possible to produce the quality of texture and softness of flesh so characteristic of crate fattened birds by this method.

The choice of fattening feeds is of great importance. Unlike growth and production, where very exacting requirements for minerals and vitamins must be met all or most of the necessary ingredients of a fattening mash are available on most farms. The selection of the most suitable of these feeds, taking into consideration their cost and availability is a matter for the judgment of the individual operator based on sound information as to the comparative merits of different feeds. Almost equally important with use of the proper feeds is feeding management which exacts more of the operator's attention in the fattening process than is the case with other poultry feeding operation. Management of the birds other than feeding must also be given some attention if success is to be achieved.

All of the above mentioned matters, as well as many other factors important to successful preparation of poultry for market, are considered in detail in a publication entitled "Fattening Poultry For Market" which is available without charge from the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. The prospective producer of market poultry will find it profitable to make himself acquainted with the subject of fattening poultry for market through the medium of this publication and to give the production of quality dressed poultry the attention which it deserves.

Mail Christmas Parcels Overseas By November 1

Christmas boxes will have a much longer distance to travel, entailing more handling and reshipment to reach many members of Canada's Fighting Services this year. To enable all the Dominion's men and women overseas to receive their gifts from home in time for Christmas Day, the Postmaster General, Hon. William P. Mulock, K.C., M.P., calls on the public to Mail Early for Christmas Overseas—not later than November 1.

The date is 16 days earlier than last year's closing time, but with many of our men serving in the Mediterranean areas, etc. the "deadline" has been advanced to meet the rapidly changing conditions.

The public are cautioned to lose no time but to Mail Early for Christmas Overseas—now and during October—the earlier the better to ensure the timely arrival of the anxiously awaited gift. The more distant our Forces may be from Canada, the earlier their Christmas mail should be sent.

Citizens are requested not to delay until the last minute to post their gift parcels but to MAIL EARLY and so prevent congestion by giving the Post Office opportunity to give their mails prompt handling and to arrange for adequate cargo space, which because of the shipment of war supplies is necessarily limited. Thousands of Christmas parcels (last Christmas season more than 8 1-2 million pounds) and other mails reaching the Post Office on or after the closing date would delay delivery by accentuating the difficulty of speedy handling and make it impossible for sufficient cargo space to be found aboard the last steamships departing with the Christmas mails to ensure all parcels and letters reaching their destinations in time. A giftless Christmas Day would dawn for many men and women in uniform overseas, turning the holiday into a day of disappointment instead of cheer, for which even the later arrival of their parcels could not compensate. Citizens can prevent this from happening by Mailing Early—well before November 1. It is also suggested that to help facilitate the provision of shipping space for the overseas Christmas mails to the Canadian Forces that each sender should voluntarily cut down as far as possible on the weight and size of each Christmas package, notwithstanding the fact that the maximum weight of a parcel at reduced rate is not at 11 pounds. They will thus enable the Post Office to forward the maximum number of parcels in the space available aboard each ship, and so make deliveries in time for all. There is the most vital need of full co-operation by the public, for this year the Post Office expects an all-time record in the overseas volume of military mails will be established and is already preparing in every way possible to handle and expedite the influx. Greater care than ever before is necessary on the part of mailers, in the preparation of their overseas parcels in order to avoid delay.

Address all mails in ink, fully, clearly and without misleading abbreviations. Be sure to place return address on cover—also include a slip in the parcel bearing sender's address as well as address of parcel. Prepay all mail correctly.

Parcels should be packed compactly enough to resist the pressure of other mails in the sack and the handling in transit—each article in the parcel firmly secured. Use strong corrugated containers, NOT light cardboard boxes, wrap in several layers of thick wrapping paper and tie securely with strong cord. Do not use fancy Christmas tissue paper for wrapper or coloured ribbons to tie. Parcels may be sewn in strong cotton or similar fabric.

Jams, syrups and any other substance likely to leak and spread, if sent at all, must be enclosed in sealed containers (not glass bottles), surrounded with absorbent material in corrugated cardboard and securely wrapped and tied. A completed Customs Declaration form should be affixed to every parcel. Apples, grapes, etc. or any article likely to spoil or become damaged, or to injure Postal personnel, or the mails are not acceptable. The mailing of Matches, Safety matches and Lighter Fluid or any other inflammable substance is strictly prohibited by law.

Citizens by refraining from writing to our Forces overseas that gifts are being sent, until actually mailed, can save much disappointment. Do not disappoint our men by mailing their gifts too late for Christmas delivery.

COMMUNICATION

[To The Editor]

There seems to be a certain amount of self-congratulation among the financial interests in Canada because the so-called control of prices imposed by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has resulted in less of a rise in prices than has been the case in the United States and Britain.

I would like to point out that the correctness of the cost of living index figures issued by the government have been challenged by many organizations and the official figures show discrepancies with actual experience. But apart from this I think it can be shown that even if the cost of living has been held down in Canada below that of Britain and the United States it is not an accomplishment of which any government department should be proud; but rather one of which they should be vastly ashamed because it was done by discriminating in a bare-faced manner against one section of the population. If it is not discrimination then it is incompetence because the records show that the burden of the price ceiling has borne inequitably on the farming class.

If it is unavoidable to have wheat selling for less than the cost of production and to export millions of bushels of it on that basis to our allies, then in all fairness the cost should be borne equally by all the people of Canada and not by one section only, the farmers.

This wheat is really in category "A" of our war production and it is only because it has been so plentifully produced and no anxiety is felt about the supply, that its importance is ignored in Canada. In the United States the farmers are getting about $1.50 while in Britain they receive $1 [illegible]

I say it is a poor way to show appreciation for a job well done to let the Canadian producers of wheat now bear all the burden of low prices which is forcing them into bankruptcy, with considerable risk of losing their homes while the rest of the community is enjoying a fair measure of prosperity.

If the Dominion Government only had the moral courage equal to that recently demonstrated by the government of the Province of Alberta and even at this late date made the changes which the people are demanding we would be all for it: but there is no evidence of a let-up to a policy which is crushing the life out of Agriculture.

If Mr. Gordon is impervious to all information coming from the farmers perhaps there is some hope (even though it be but little) that he will give heed to the figures issued by his Banking Brethren which show that the farmers comparative position is getting worse. The following is from the February letter of the Canadian Bank of Commerce:

"Our index of farm revenue rose to 98.8 (1926-100), the highest level since 1930, compared with the 83.6 for the preceding twelve months . . . Farm costs, however, rose from 89.5 to 98.5 owing chiefly to higher wages, with the result that farm purchasing power (revenue divided by costs) fell from 93.4 to 90.1 . . ."

It is clear that while our American rural brethren were calling for "parity", plus 10 per cent, prior to the application of the over-all price ceiling, Canadian farmers are not yet within shouting distance of "parity."

Yours truly,
H. E. NICHOLS.
Secretary: Alberta Farmers' Union.

WORLD OF WHEAT

More and more farmers are beginning to realize that the most precious asset they have for producing a good yield of any crop on our prairies is the accumulated moisture in the soil. Rains which occur after harvest and until freeze-up, usually from August 1st until November 1st, are of great value for making next year's crop.

There are two agencies tending to use up this moisture before the next crop can have the benefit of it. One is WEEDS and the other is PLOWING. If, therefore, land which is to be cropped next year is fairly free from weeds, farmers would do well not to plough in the fall; indeed in my own opinion from what I have learned from my study of crops, I do not hesitate to suggest that fall plowing should only be done if the growth of weeds is extremely bad for each time the land is turned over by a plough we can be sure that much precious moisture is evaporated into the air. If the land, however, contains a moderate quantity only of weed plants then a shallow cultivation—not plowing—as early in the fall as possible will usually induce many weed seeds to germinate, and so many of the young weed plants will be killed by the winter frosts.

Prevent Damage To Trees In Winter

(Experimental Farms News)

There are some general precautions which tree planters should keep in mind to prevent damage to trees in winter.

Complaints about damage to trees by rabbits are constant. Of the trees distributed from the Dominion Forest Nursery Station, says John Walker, Superintendent at the Indian Head Station, for farm planting, young Green Ash and White Elm as well as young Scots Pine are usually the most severely attacked.

Rabbits can be discouraged from touching these trees if the branches are given a thin coating of Mica Axle Grease, which can be readily applied to the trees just as winter sets in by allowing the branches to slip through the hand on which a greased glove is worn. Only a thin layer of grease is required to act as a repellant.

A few shells for rifles and shotguns should be conserved to keep the number of rabbits at a minimum in winter. Well trained dogs can also do much to prevent rabbit damage to trees in winter. A rabbit-proof chicken-wire fence from five to six feet high is the safest method of protecting trees against damage by rabbits where the number of trees to be protected will permit this method to be employed.

To reduce and prevent damage to trees by mice, planters should arrange to set out, in suitable containers poisoned baits access to which can only be obtained by mice. One method is to place grain (wheat) treated with Gophercide or other recognized poison on a shallow tray from six to twelve inches square, and place over this container a larger shallow box, inverted. On the sides of this box near the ground slits or holes large enough to permit mice to enter should be made.

This method of controlling mice might be increased by covering the poisoned bait "Cache" with a pile of straw. Mice apparently prefer to feed in complete darkness.

A tunnel type of container for poisoned grain may also be used with success to eradicate mice.

Damage to dormant trees in winter by mechanical means such as rubbing by grain boxes or sleighs, or continual bruising by livestock may easily destroy one or two seasons' growth. Fences around shelterbelts should be repaired to prevent unnecessary damage to trees by these preventable causes.

If there is likely to be much free water near trees during the spring run-off furrows or trenches should be made, before the season ends, to carry it away, as few trees succeed well in soil that is waterlogged.

Should there be surplus water in the farm dug-out at the end of the season shelterbelt trees will benefit from a good flooding of the ground near them just before freezing weather sets in. This will prevent an undue amount of drying out during the long winter period of freezing temperatures.

Maximum Prices Of Potatoes Set

Edmonton, September 13—Under the new Wartime Prices and Trade Board order establishing maximum prices of potatoes, the following prices are now in effect in Alberta as the highest possible ceiling, although officials expect that in most areas potatoes will sell well under the established prices.

Maximum delivered price of grower or shipper for other than netted gems in 100 lb. containers is $2.25 for Canada No. 1 large; $1.95 for Canada No. 1; and $1.65 for Canada No. 2.

The established price differential for netted gems in the province is 20 cents increase per 100 lbs. and 15c increase per 75 lbs.

Wholesaler selling to retailers may add a markup of 15c per 75 lb. container and 20c per 100 lb. container, this markup may not exceed more than 15 per cent of the selling price.

Retailers' markup in sales to consumers are set at 40c per 100 lbs; 30c per 75 lbs; 25c per 50 lbs; 15c per 25 lbs; 12c per 15 lbs; and 8c per 10 lbs. or 8/10c for less than a 10 lb. container.

Grower or shipper selling direct to the consumer may add this markup to the price at which he may sell to a retailer.

ON THE MARCH

Five new co-operatives were organized during the month of August, it was announced this week by W. D. King, Deputy Minister of Trade & Industry. This brings to 213 the total number of co-operatives in Alberta.

Including farm supplies, live stock, marketing, dairy products, poultry and egg marketing, forage crop seeds, the movement embraces all types of activity in Alberta. The co-operative ideal has spread to consumer and producer organizations supplying members with their every day needs. Other organizations operate power lines, water systems and, of course, community halls on a co-operative basis.

Total turnover of co-operatives in 1942 was nearly 80 million dollars. This is indeed big business. It's one of the reasons they say co-operation in Alberta is on the march.

PLANNED ROAD WORK UNFINISHED—

IT ISN'T VERY OFTEN that a public man has money to spend and can't spend it. Yet this is the situation to date with some of the councillors of M.D. of Beaver. Like most unusual circumstances, there is of course an explanation, and when it is said that the councillors have money to spend and can't spend it, a statement is made with strings tied to it.

For some years past Municipalities have been given a money grant from the government with which to build roads. The system is that on roads approved by the Dept. of Public Works, the government will provide a certain sum of money providing the Municipality will provide an equal sum. This system was followed out this year and each municipal division in M.D. of Beaver was allotted a portion of the grant to which they added an equal amount from their municipal appropriation. However all divisions were unable to spend all the money available, as weather conditions, shortage of labor and difficulty in procuring repairs for machinery, slowed up the work to this extent. Generally it is the other way around, Councillors can spend more money than they can obtain but this year at least is different.

A FLOOR AS WELL AS A CEILING—

THE WARTIME PRICES and Trade Board are steadily increasing their activity to cover almost every line of endeavor. Maximum prices have been placed on so many articles as to make separate mention of them unnecessary. To all practical purposes buying and selling is controlled and if there are at present some things that are not covered by orders from the Board, present indications are that it will only be a question of time before they will be. The reason of course, is well enough known, wartime conditions favor inflation and inflation has always been followed by a disastrous economic aftermath. Bearing this in mind the work of the Board is to be commended even if at times it does curb some person's ambition to get rich quickly.

There is, however, the other side. By an elaborate organization and a complex system of controls, it is not possible to obtain more than the maximum price for thousands of articles ranging all the way from heavy machinery to potatoes. But what the farming industry would like to see brought about is an organization just as efficient, designed to prevent farm prices going below a certain level. Just now as regards most things the farmer raises and grows prices are fair, but it is not so many years since prices were so low as to be disastrous. With the ending of the war, which we hope is not too far distant, there will be tremendous amounts of foodstuffs required in Europe and Asia, but after these demands have been met and agricultural production once again reorganized on those continents, there will likely be a problem of adjustment here to be done. With all the knowledge obtained when arranging for price ceilings, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board or some similar organization should be in an excellent position to arrange price floors.

FIFTH VICTORY LOAN COMING UP—

THE MONTH OF OCTOBER will again find a war finance organization from coast to coast strenuously working to make a success of Canada's Fifth Victory Loan. In this area which is known as the Tofield—Daysland—Edgerton triangle, organization will be along the same lines as formerly. Mr. Sutherland of Edmonton is the organizer for this area and enjoyed the distinction of going over the top with the largest percentage of quota for rural areas in northern Alberta during the last loan drive with 142.6 per cent. The Tofield committee under the direction of Geo. B. Brace and A. J. H. McCauley, reached a percentage of 154.8.

There are many reasons why individuals should make all forms of war effort their personal problem, national, academic and personal, but despite its unusualness, an individual reason is rarely better expressed than in the following letter from a person who evidently knew what she wanted to do and why she was doing it.

Dear Sir:

I have recived your letter of July 23 and thanking you for same all doe I am not looking for any prays or publicity of this kind as we are only duing our bitt to win freedom and justice in this World and to keep the same up in our Canada as it is one of the best country in the World wright now and we are the most lucky people to be in it butt if this publicity helps to sell war stemps or Bonds here is additional information for it, in first place this credit is not mine for bying this depth charge here how it is I have two sons overseas in Airforce they are boothe married and the yonger son Tonys Wife is 20 years old and got Baby boy 1 1-2 years old and since her husband is overseas she made up her mind to take up some work to help, so she got job on N.A.R. as cook on axtra gang and giving me the mony to do what I think best with her mony so I bout her bond and this depth charge and she have give me some mony since so today I bout two more depth charges for her as I now and she now this will help her husband and all others of Canadian Boys and Alies to come home that much sooner. And this job of hers cooking for axtra gang with baby to look after so it will not fall of the Box Car or if it is on the ground to wach so it dont get in the way of speeder or .. train and cook same time is not easy job butt she does it to help win this war. My wish is if these depth charges could be dilivered to my nephieu.

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

Written weekly for the weekly newspapers of Canada

By JIM GREENBLAT

With the tag end of summer vacations, the Prime Minister on the move between Quebec, Washington and Ottawa, these have been dog days for news in Ottawa, although it's business as usual with government and departmental and bureaux activities continue apace. There was even a little flurry of excitement over the Prices Board decision to cut out the hot dog "roll"; it was even press-rumoured that public indignation was causing the Board to reconsider its decision, but that was promptly denied by the Board—one of the few times it has come out publicly to bother denying vague rumours.

Among the vast, sprawling temporary buildings which the war has brought to Ottawa one finds that Munitions & Supply occupies a considerable part with thousands busily engaged in this important activity. M & S as it is known here sounds humdrum, unimportant, but it has a tremendous job. Take just the purchase of food for the armed forces alone—one item. I am told that for the first five months of 1943 this department negotiated the purchase of 22,000 tons of meat; 41,000 tons vegetables; 16,000 tons bread; 3200 tons butter; 7,250,000 dozen eggs; 800 tons of coffee and tea; 4000 tons evaporated milk. See how it's growing compare the 22,000 tons of meat for 5 months as against the total of 22,500 for all of the year 1941.

Picked up here and there: Canadian soldiers at Kiska wore the bucket-type United States army helmets . . . The new National Coal Conservation Committee has representing the small consumer, a woman, Mrs. W. E. West, Director of Women's Voluntary Services, whose job it will be to pass on to Canadian women findings of the committee on such things as how best to prepare the home for cold weather, furnace firing to get best results, etc. . . . In war industry women are now performing 70 per cent of the operations in manufacture of machine guns, comprise more than 80 per cent of those employed in instrument factories, are over 27 per cent of the 86,000 aircraft workers . . . 15,000 tons of wheat to go out to Greece every month as a gift of the Canadian people.

Mr. Churchill's reference to Russia in his recent Canadian radio talk prompts me to gather a few items of interest. Of the billion dollar gift to Britain last year, supplies to the value of 61 million dollars were transferred to Russia. Canada has also sent Russia more than 1400 Canadian tanks, 2000 Universal Carriers, naval guns, Bren guns, anti-tank weapons, small arms, machine tools, clothing, etc. to a tremendous figure; also a ten million dollar credit for wheat and flour, and the people contributed millions to the Red Cross fund for Russian Relief and the Canadian Aid to Russia Fund. Our friendship for Soviet Russia has been translated into deeds.

Fall Fairs will have a new kind of exhibit this year, a wartime feature as educative as colorful, they tell me at the Wartime Prices & Trade Board information office here. Arranged by the Consumers branch, the display will be dominated by a color chart showing comparative prices in this war and World War I. An enlarged Gulliver poster portrays the part women are playing in price control. Rationing and conservation will be described pictorially in a table display. Wherever a Prices Board booth there will be an officer of the Consumer branch from that community prepared to answer questions.

House members on the War Expenditures Committee will be back in Ottawa to start work on September 13th. The spade work is done by sub-committees and in the past two years has already turned in some searching reports on many phases of the war effort. I talked with the Chairman recently, Hughes Cleaver (Liberal, Halton) and he feels the committee has a tremendously important function, and he likes the way members of all political affiliations get together around the committee table and dig into a job. He is a devotee of canoeing, lots of sunshine and his tanned, brick red face shows he's stored up lots of energy for the work ahead. There are 23 members of Parliament on the Committee.

The Bureau of Statistics here states Canada ended its 1942-43 crop year with a carry-over of 601,500,000 bushels of wheat—121 million bushels greater than the previous record carry-over up to July 31, 1941. You know an unusual feature this past crop year was the fact that almost a third was carried over on the farms. An outstanding development was the use of wheat for animal feed and by distilleries for industrial alcohol. It is interesting to know that in the past crop year, too, the people of Canada only consumed about half as much wheat as went into animal feed and alcohol production. It was estimated that nearly 3 million bushels of wheat were used for alcohol for production, making 14 million gallons.

Russell Smart, real property administrator here, has warned that if the pressure continues on areas where there is a shortage of housing it may be necessary to consider regulations restricting movement of families to these areas. Of course you all know "deficiency housing areas" exist in such places as Halifax, Ottawa, Toronto, Vancouver, Victoria. This is an appeal which could be well heeded all over Canada, much as it is regretted that families have to be separated due to war exigencies. In Ottawa for instance, the housing registry has 1850 applications for units and only 25 vacancies. Of the new applications it was shown that 300 are from heads of families in the armed forces and 227 in civilian occupations. The tales one hears of "house chasing" in Ottawa (as well as in other centres) are really tragic. I have seen ads. in the local papers where they offer as high as $100 reward for information leading to getting accomodation. The moral: stay at home if you possibly can.

It may not be soup and fish news but Jack Johnson, the great colored pugilist of former days and once champion of the world, visiting Ottawa has been addressing service clubs quite neatly and making personal appearances helping to sell War Bonds, as his contribution to the war effort. Just goes to show everyone can do something.

Statistics seem to grow on trees in Ottawa, but they usually show some extensive phase of our widespread economy. Here's something interests rural people. There are 22 projects or phases of farm work under study on the 161 Illustration Stations and 45 District Experimental Stations throughout the Dominion in 1942, and during that year 148 field days were held when nearby farmers visited the stations with a total attendance of about 20,000 persons, or an average of 131 per meeting. Neighbouring farmers are, of course welcome to visit the stations at any time and observe how the projects suitable to their own districts are progressing. Up at my home Station in Swift Current, Sask. it is nothing unusual to have 2000 people at the annual field day.

Director of National Selective Service Arthur MacNamara says that sooner or later an order will be issued requiring employers to satisfy themselves that all male employees in age and marital classes designated under Mobilization regulations have papers to show that they have been rejected or discharged from the Forces, or otherwise that they have complied with the Regulations. Which seems to put it up to the employers.

An experimental farm tip for those interested . . . where cull apples can be secured at low cost conversion of the fruit into ensilage is an economical method of supplying succulent foods for the production of milk and beef. At the present time with an acute labor shortage many farmers find it difficult to grow either roots or corn, the two chief sources of succulence for winter use. To prevent leakage of juices they should have an absorbent such as alfalfa or grass hay.

Roundworms In Swine

Roundworms are the chief parasitic menace of swine in Alberta states Dr. E. Watson, Animal Pathologist. Each year numbers of pigs are lost today as the result of the digestive damage to vital tissues produced by this worm. This constitutes an enormous economic loss to the farmer as runty pigs are unthrifty and fail to make economical gains.

When it is considered that one female worm may lay as many as 200,000 eggs per day one can readily see how rapidly this infection can spread once it is introduced.

These eggs are passed out with the droppings of the pig and develop to an infective stage in 10 days or longer, depending on the temperature. The eggs are covered with a thick tough shell which protects them from drying, freezing and chemicals. Infective eggs are picked up by pigs in feed or water or from the contaminated skin of the mother by the suckling pigs.

The eggs hatch in the intestine releasing an immature worm or larvae which burrows into the wall of the gut, enters the blood stream and is carried to the liver. From the liver they are swept by the blood through the heart to the lungs. Here the larvae are arrested due to the smallness of the blood vessels in the lungs, but they break through the delicate lung tissue to gain entrance to the air spaces. From 7 to 23 days after infection the young worms migrate up the windpipe and are swallowed. On reaching the intestines they grow to maturity, mate and the females commence to lay eggs.

During their migration the young worms can do much damage, especially in the lungs. When the young worms break through the lung tissues small holes are produced from which blood escapes. This irritates the lungs and causes the pigs to cough. These areas leave an excellent avenue for infection to gain entrance, with the result that pneumonia and pleurisy may be produced. Hence the difficult breathing in suckling pigs known as "thumps".

Occasionally the larvae go astray in their wanderings and are found in other organs such as the kidneys. Quite frequently the adult worms crawl up the bile duct to the gall bladder and even into the liver itself, thus stopping the flow of necessary digestive juice.

The adult worms in the intestine feed on its contents and chew at its lining. This leaves little ulcers to serve as a point where infection can enter. They may become so numerous as to form an obstruction in the intestine. For removing these worms, Phenothiazine is the drug of choice as it can be mixed with the feed. Mass dosing should not be practiced. Treat the pigs in groups of not more than four or five, so that greedy pigs will not receive more than the prescribed dose. An overdose will produce severe reactions. The dose is as follows:

One tablespoon for two pigs weighing from 25 to 50 lbs.

Four tablespoons for five pigs weighing from 50 to 100 lbs.

Four tablespoons for three pigs weighing from 100 to 200 lbs.

This is mixed in a thick grain slop and the pigs to be treated are starved for one meal. The treated pigs are confined for 4 or 5 days after dosing, so the manure can be gathered up and destroyed.

This or no other drug has any effect on the larvae when they are migrating through the body, so that prevention is better than cure.

For prevention the plan known as the MacLean County System is an excellent one:

From one to two months before farrowing the sow is treated for worms:

The farrowing pen is prepared by removing all dirt and litter, then scrub with boiling water and lye using a stiff broom. Boiling water must be used as nothing else will destroy the worm eggs. The sow is washed with warm water and soap so as to remove any adhering worm eggs, especially along the belly. Then she is placed in the clean farrowing pen. Within 10 days after farrowing the sow and her litter are removed to a clean pasture which has been sown to a suitable pasture crop. At weaning time the sow is removed and the pigs left until they are old enough to go into the fattening pen.

This system is not only effective in controlling parasites but will also reduce losses from Necrotic Enteritis, scours, and other diseases of swine.

Eastern Harvest Labour

Arrangements have now been completed for eastern harvesters to be shipped to Alberta to assist with the harvest. Only experienced farmers and farm workers will be permitted to come west and they will be arriving about September 15th, although a few men have already reached the province and have been distributed to Alberta farms.

The eastern harvesters are being directed to certain distributing points in the province from which they will be sent out to the districts where they are most urgently needed. Farmers who require harvesters are being asked to notify their local representative or District Agriculturist of their needs, and they should make application immediately.

The eastern harvesters are being sent to Alberta by the Dominion Department of Labor and they will be distributed throughout the province under the Dominion-Provincial Farm Labor Agreement. All arrangements for the distribution of the harvesters have been worked out by the Department of Agriculture in co-operation with National Selective Service.

Prepare Now For Next Year's Hotbed

(Experimental Farms News)

In preparing for a satisfactory hotbed it is necessary first to select a suitable site in a well sheltered place, and on the south side of a building if possible. Its site must be where the maximum amount of light will be received. The hotbed should be located where the land is high and well drained says R. H. Anderson, Dominion Experimental Farm, Melfort, Sask.

A hotbed may be made either above or below ground. The one above ground tends to lose its effectiveness too quickly and is more difficult to operate. One below ground is usually preferable. To make the latter an excavation to accomodate the manure is made. The soil should be taken out to a depth of from eighteen inches to two feet and about three feet wider and three feet longer than the frame to be used. This allows room for banking which is an important part of the construction of a hotbed as it lessens the loss of heat from the bed to the soil. Much labour will be saved by doing the necessary excavation for the frame in the autumn. A good garden soil mixed with a little well rotted cow manure makes a satisfactory soil for hotbeds.

An effort should be made to make the necessary preparations for the hotbed in the autumn. Earlier vegetables and a longer season of production are possible when plants of some of the shorter season vegetables are started under cover. A hotbed is of considerable value in increasing the interest and value of the garden.

Wheat Varieties, Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow

Red Fife should be remembered with respect, since it was largely responsible for establishing our reputation for high quality wheat. It shattered badly and was so late that fall frost was an annual peril. Its doom was sealed by the stem rust epidemic of 1916 when it was already on the way out.

Marquis did not shatter, was early enough to escape many frosts which would have ruined Red Fife, and it certainly suffered less from stem rust. Plant breeding had made great strides; but stem rust was still causing enormous losses. Earlier varieties, notably Ruby, Reward and Garnet were distributed and served a useful purpose in some areas. Kota and Ceres had a measure of resistance to stem rust, but it remained for Thatcher to do to Marquis what the latter had done to Red Fife.

Now, in Manitoba, Regent and Renown are displacing Thatcher by virtue of their resistance to leaf rust.

These improvements have been achieved by a small body of underpaid agricultural scientists at a cost of, probably, much less than one four-engined bomber per year!

The most important hurdles now confronting the wheat breeder are wheat stem saw-fly and drought. I have no hesitation in asserting that these two problems are more difficult than were late ripening and stem rust. Indeed, the drought hazard can never be removed, though it will be reduced. Enormous quantities of breeding material must be handled and many different crosses investigated. If wheat growers are wise, they will see that this item is prominent in post-war government budgets.

Wild Rose Hips For Oranges

Schoolchildren and housewives are urged to gather quantities of wild rose berries, for it is very likely that this winter will find us looking for other sources of Vitamin C to take the place of citrus fruits. The red berries of the wild rose bush are a very rich source of this vitamin. Three average rose hips have as much Vitamin C as a good sized orange and will give you a sufficient Vitamin C for the day. The importance of rose hips as a source of Vitamin C is the unusual stability of the vitamin in the hips as compared to the rapidity with which it is lost from other foods. Rose hip jelly stored for nine months still retained its Vitamin C content without loss. Very, very little, if any, Vitamin C remains in most other foods after the same period of storage. There is no appreciable destruction of Vitamin C in rose hips if boiled for periods up to 30 minutes.

Mrs. Vera Richards, who supplied the above information, advises that the best time to pick the rose berries is when they are ripe and vivid red. If picked after the first frost they have a better flavour. The seeds and hairs inside the hip should be removed. This may be done by cutting the hips in half and digging out the seeds with the point of a small paring knife—or cut in half, dry, put in a bottle and shake—seeds will fall out.

Rose hips may be made into jam, jelly, meat sauce, soup, etc. or a syrup may be made from the hips by soaking them in water, pouring through a fine sieve and sealing in sterilized jars or bottles. This juice is rich in Vitamin C (water-soluble) and may be used to add to soups, sauces, puddings, etc.

More Credit Unions

Healthy growth in the Credit Union Movement in Alberta is shown by figures supplied this week by Mr F. J. Fitzpatrick, Supervisor of Co-operatives and Credit Unions for the Province. The new Savings and Credit Unions organized at Boyle a few days ago was No. 122 on the list since 1938 and the fourty-eighth in 1943.

Remarkable sidelight on Alberta Credit Unions is that interest is spreading most rapidly in rural areas. So far, this year of the total Unions organized, 34 were at country points as compared with only 14 in urban centres.

Smoky Lake Savings and Credit Unions figures especially in this week's report. For it is the first such organization in which all its members are of Ukranian descent.

Bees For Next Year's Honey Crop

W. G. Le Maistre, Provincial Apiarist warns that package bees will be difficult to obtain in Alberta next spring. The supply is limited and there is an unprecedented demand. In order to maintain honey production it is essential that we winter as many colonies as possible. Now is the time to prepare hives for winter. Beekeepers intending to winter their colonies and who have not left sufficient honey on their hives, may obtain sugar to feed them by filling in an application form which is obtainable from the Apiculture Branch, Department of Agriculture, Edmonton. WEDDING

WARNER—BAILEY

Tofield United Church was the scene of the marriage of Irene, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bailey, and John Warner Jr., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Warner on Tuesday. Rev. D. K. Allan performed the ceremony before a choir loft decorated with gladioli and sweet peas in pastel shades.

Guest pews were marked with tiny clusters of sweet peas and the ushers were Mr. Daniel Dodds and Mr. Frank Johnsrud.

The wedding music was played by Miss Margaret Dodds, cousin of the groom.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride wore a slipper length gown of white sheer, styled with lace yolk and three quarter length sleeves. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses. Her wedding veil of court length embroidered silk net was held in place by a pearl studded sweetheart coronet.

The bridesmaid, Miss Joyce Bailey, sister of the bride, was dressed in rose sheer and carried a sheaf of white gladioli. Mr. Ralph Cossey attended the groom.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Warner will be at home on their farm in Tofield.

Christian Education Week

An interdenominational movement of great National significance is "Christian Education Week." The Protestant Churches of Canada have united in a programme to stimulate a larger public interest in Worship, family, and religious instruction, social and community welfare. The programme which runs concurrently in the United States and Canada, is rich in splendid objectives and merits public interest and co-operation.

The peoples of the two Nations on this continent are descendants of ancestors of humble piety and rectitude. They were men and women who matched the viscissitudes of life with unshaken faith in Almighty God. They stood amidst the storms that beat against them, in sublime trust and courage. We shall do well in our troublesome time to let the faith of our fathers find expression in us. "Christian Education Week" affords an opportunity to co-operate with our Christian leaders to promote the welfare of our families and several communities.

May I heartily commend to the citizens of Alberta the programme of our Church leaders for the week September 26th to October 3rd. Your sympathetic interest and help will be fruitful of personal satisfaction, and greatly appreciated in your community.

JOHN CAMPBELL BOWEN,
Lieutenant Governor.

HORSE HAS NEW ROLE IN WAR

Ottawa, September 20 — Not as the fearless mount of cavalry units does the horse have a part in modern warfare, but a call goes out to farmers across the country to collect the hair from horses' manes and tails to build shock pads for army tanks, cushions for army vehicles and mattresses for sailors. Tail hairs are used for brushes to clean guns and the wings of bombers, fighter and transport planes, and for a host of special machine brushes used in war plants.

Hair from live horses is best, and the easiest method for farmers is to have two bags handy when they groom their teams. Put mane hairs in one and tail hairs in the other, ready for sale either to a collector or local dealer.

Reaches Century Mark

The following story will be of interest to many of this district as Mr. Whillans is a brother of the late Robt. Whillans of Tofield and uncle to Mrs. Geo. Cookson and C. Whillans of Tofield. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Cookson journeyed to Calgary to visit the venerable gentleman on the occasion of his 100th birthday.

John A. Whillans, 312 13th Ave E., believed to have enlisted more years ago than any other person in Canada, hit the century mark Wednesday, and didn't take an airplane ride to celebrate, after all.

A year ago, when he became 99, he thought he might do that little thing, as a special treat to himself. But Mr. Whillans, white thatched, white moustached, with a twinkle in his blue eyes feels that men, as well as women, have the prerogative of changing their minds.

A year has gone by since he toyed with the idea of the plane ride. That is quite a time, for a man in his 100th year.

Mr. Whillans just decided, "Those planes make too much noise. I think I'll stay on my front porch and listen to them and watch them, instead of getting closer to the noise."

And besides, "When a fellow gets to be my age, he's ready to sit around and rest a bit."

A fellow may be willing in spirit, but the flesh is weak.

How does it feel, to have lived 100 years?

"Wonderful," says the man who has done it; who was born in 1843—a date which, to most of us, is just something in a history book.

Unlike others who have lived to the great age, he gives no particular reasons for his longevity.

He says, "The Almighty is just very good to me." He feels that way about the future too, "That is in the hands of the Almighty."

Mr. Whillans has lead a healthful life, which may have something to do with it. He has never taken a drink but has smoked. He has worked hard and eaten well. He has yet to see his first moving picture; and that time will never come for he hasn't the slightest intention of visiting the movies.

He wouldn't come right out and say that good old Scottish porridge had anything to do with the long life. But he wouldn't trade his morning porridge for all the precious beefsteaks in Alberta. He rises each morning at 6.15 if you please, to eat that porridge.

He takes a nap in the morning and another in the afternoon, then goes to bed early.

Last year, Mr. Whillans tended the flowers and vegetables in the garden. But this year, he has been content to sit on the front verandah, chat with a few friends who drop in and take little walks. Twelve years ago, he broke his hip and that makes it harder for him to get around.

"I'll have to sit down and watch the others work now," he says.

He is keenly interested in the war news, being an old soldier, and having relatives in the armed forces.

Now and then he reads the newspapers. But members of the family have to be on their toes with war news. For, when his eyes become tired he questions the family closely as to the progress of the Allies.

He declared, "If I were younger, I'd be in this fight and show those Germans and Japs a thing or two."

Born at Ottawa, then known as Bytown, of Scottish parents, Mr. Whillans joined the Ottawa Garrison Artillery as a gunner, at the age of 15. That means it has been 85 years since he joined up, and it is on this basis that his family, which has made inquiries, believes his record, since enlisting, is longest in Canada.

As a young man, he fought in the Fenian raid of 1866, and he has a medal from that campaign.

Engaged in the contracting business in eastern Canada, he was "burned out" twice. That was enough, so he came west in 1883. In Calgary, he constructed some of the early buildings—the Samis block, now the Victoria Apartments; the McTavish block, the school at Stavely, and the Rule block are among those still standing.

The centenarian was known as a fine, reliable business man. His contract for the Samis block, said the building was to be constructed in 30 days, "but we had it up in 21."

He retired in 1914.

Mr. Whillans is a religious man. Although he is unable to attend church services now, he reads his Bible twice a day. That is one of his first activities in the morning and the last at night.

He was prepared to make Wednesday a quiet day, believing that few friends would know it was his 100th birthday. But on the contrary, it was an unusually active day for him.

His friends remembered, and many of them came to help him celebrate that rare occasion—a 100th birthday.

"I certainly didn't think so many would remember," he declared.

In addition, he was all but snowed under with letters and cards of congratulation, and with many gifts from those wishing him a happy birthday, and many happy returns.

Included in Mr. Whillans' family are his wife; a son, William H., a daughter Ella May; three grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Thanksgiving Market

With Thanksgiving about three weeks away the early hatched chicken and turkeys and the fowl should be prepared for market now, advises C. W. Traves, Poultry Commissioner. Just about the right amount of time is left to have them in good shape if they are confined to small pens or in crates and are put on a fattening mash.

Well finished birds bring top prices on the market.

Do not hold the early hatched cockerels until they become "Stags". [illegible] Cull the pullet flock and [illegible] for market the early hatched pullets that do not show signs of being good, healthy producers. All early hatched turkeys that are not outstanding prospective breeders should be finished as well. Cull the laying flock and fatten all culls. Do not waste feed, labour, and housing space on stock that should be marketed at a good profit on the Thanksgiving market. Do not wait for the heavy Christmas marketing, but get in on the early market.

Many farmers will find it to their mutual advantage to organize a community kill October 6th or 7th. In these days of labour shortage co-operative effort is [illegible]. Ask for Leaflet Number 61, "[illegible] the Farm for Marketing".

Get Green Sods Ready For Pigs

Iron is an absolute necessity for the prevention of anaemia in young pigs. In their natural habitat and during certain seasons in Canada, young pigs eat small amounts of soil and grass or green leafy plants which contain sufficient iron for their needs. Throughout the cold months, however, when animals must be raised in pens, this source of iron is not available and the reserves of iron in the bodies of the young pigs are used up by the time they are about three weeks old. Even when the mother sow is fed large doses of iron, there is not sufficient of that mineral in her milk to satisfy the requirements of nursing pigs and they fall victims to anaemia.

An excellent and natural way to supply iron to the young pigs in the pen is to cut sods from uncontaminated ground in the fall and build up a supply for the winter. Now is the time to make the necessary arrangements. In this way each nursing pig may be supplied with one square foot of sod, which should be sprinkled lightly with a solution of one tablespoonful of sulphate of iron (copperas) in one quart of water. The sow should be kept away from the sods by building a creep.

Another method of supplying iron every day to the young pigs is to place on the tongue of each pig an amount of reduced iron or powdered iron sulphate that will cover lightly (not heaped up) a ten cent piece. A less tedious method, and is perhaps not as reliable or available on account of sugar rationing, is to prepare a solution of one teaspoonful of sulphate of iron, one small crystal of sulphate of copper, and one cup of sugar in a quart of water, for application to the sow's teats once or twice daily.

A profession of faith

WE have faith in Canada
We have faith in her past ✱ faith that the courage of the pioneers and the spirit which achieved Confederation and linked a continent with the shining steel of railways have laid strong foundations for national greatness and unity.
WE have faith in her present ✱ in the part she is playing to save the world from tyranny...in her young men and women who serve on land and sea and in the air...in her workers who labour for more than wages...in every man and woman and child striving for Victory.
WE have faith in her future ✱ believing that she is destined to exert an ever-increasing influence in world affairs, and in the shaping of tomorrow, when many will turn to her with new hope.
WE have faith in more than the statistics of Canada's bank clearings and her car-loadings, the vastness of her untapped resources, or even the glorious war record of a people numbering less than twelve millions.
OUR faith is a faith in a land we love, whose soul speaks to us from every free acre of Canadian soil... in the splendour of the Rockies at sunset, the blue mystery of a Laurentian dawn, the quiet of an Ontario woodlot, the far call of prairie horizons, the sound of surf on the Atlantic shore and the wash of the Pacific tides. It speaks to us from churchyards where Canadian dead lie beneath the tribute of English blossoms ...from the poppied fields of France and Flanders...from the winged and seafaring and mechanized epics of a new war.
OUR faith is a faith in her people... people, noted and obscure, with whom we daily rub shoulders...and by whose united effort, sacrifice and creative vigour the greater Canada of tomorrow will be built.
WE have faith in Canada

A WAR OF SURPRISES—

WHEN THE HISTORY of this war is leisurely written it cannot help but be noticed that among many new and remarkable features, the element of surprise will not be the least. Surprise is the stock in trade of the sailor, soldier or airman when contacting the enemy, but it is not combative surprise we were thinking about so much, as it was the public being surprised at the month by month development of the war. If we exclude the declarations of war itself, the first surprise was the sinking of the Athenia, a vessel which had left port before war was declared and which was proceeding on her course with all lights showing. After the "sink without warning" episodes of the 1914-18 conflict peoples of the world had hoped that in any possible future conflict women and children and non combatants in general would be spared the horror of a sea torpedoeing. In the way of further surprises there was the romp of the German armies to the east through Poland, the collapse of the Maginot line, the quick fall of France, the Dunkirk evacuation, the winning by the R.A.F. of the battle of Britain although greatly outnumbered and outpowered by the German air force; the attack upon Russia by Germany after a treaty involving the exchange of commodities (the treaty itself was a surprise.)

It is possible to go on still further and ask whoever thought that Italy would attack France in the manner that she did, or that the Germans would fail in their attempt to reach Moscow; or that the British would lose Hong Kong and above all Singapore; or that the United States would lose the Phillipines or that their battle fleet would be badly smashed up at Pearl Harbor, Honolulu? One could go on and mention many more incidents that are to-day recorded history but which prior to their happening seemed even in war time, very unprobable. Few people indeed gave the Russians much chance of beating the Germans at their own game of massed army fighting; and there were few people who believed the United Nations could handle the U-boat menace as well as they have. The amphibious north African landing of thousands and thousands of troops and equipment was a surprise par excellence and was a move putting the whole European fortress of the Axis in danger.

The lesson, if there is a lesson, to be learned from the above is that pre-conceived beliefs of coming events having been wrong so often before are likely to be wrong again. The successes of the United Nations of the past few months have had a tendency to cause many people to believe that there is not the same necessity for wartime tension and energy as was needed during the battle of France, the battle of Britain and the battle of the Atlantic. This belief which for the want of a better name can be called complacency, if allowed to develop into lack of effort is likely to prove costly to the United Nations' cause. It is true that one support of the Axis trio has been knocked away, but it is also true that it was the weakest one. In spite of all Mussolini's bombastic utterances, even the Germans looked upon Italy as being by far the least important of the three, Germany, Japan and Italy. The truth is despite recent successes on land, sea and in the air, both Germany and Japan are still very powerful foes, so powerful in fact that should the United Nations relax their efforts it would be possible for the Axis to regain the initiative. This is the kind of surprise the forces of freedom do not wish to have sprung upon them.

AN OPEN FALL?

THOSE WHO WERE caught unthreshed when the first heavy snow fell last year, are sincerely hoping that the same thing may not happen again. The seasons come and go and to attempt to predict the weather is the most idle of imaginings. But residents of this area do know from actual experience that the months of October, November and December can be as different one year from the other as it is possible for the weather in the same season to be. As far as a central Alberta winter goes, one can be quite sure there will be plenty of cold weather, but whether October-like days filled with sunshine will carry on into November and even December is anyone's guess. That they have done so in the past is proof enough that they will do so again, but just what year nature will give us a true Indian summer, no one knows. All of us are hoping that this may be the year.

Alberta Folk-Lore

A call for pictures and stories of the early days, for dramatic happenings and old manuscripts about Alberta comes from the Department of Extension, University of Alberta.

It all began last May when the Rockefeller Foundation made a grant to be used for collecting and preserving Alberta Folk-Lore. Professor Robert E. Gard was engaged for the task and is now in Edmonton.

Professor Gard comes to Alberta from New York where he has been working over the past three years on a similar project. When he returns to Cornell University in 1944, the work started under the project will be carried on under direction of Mr. Sydney Risk.

Material gathered in this work will be compiled into manuscript form which may become the first volume in an Alberta Folk-Lore series. In the meantime it will be used as the basis of a series of radio broadcasts and plays, and will be made available to all who are interested in it.

So come on, old timers, teachers, newspapers and community organizations. You can help in this work of preserving Alberta's story. If you know a dramatic incident in the settlement of the Province, or if you know someone who knows, send your information to the Department of Extension, University of Alberta. And thanks.

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

Written specially for the weekly newspapers of Canada

By JIM GREENBLAT

At 12:20 p.m. on Sept. 8, in the Prime Minister's office in the East Block your representative was among those gathered at one of the most momentous press conferences since the outbreak of war. The text of statements to be broadcast ten minutes later by General Eisenhower to the world, telling of Italy's exit from the war to be followed by Mr. King's radio statement to the Canadian people were distributed. Then the P.M. made the announcement to the little gathering, mainly members of the press gallery. From that office, redolent of Canadian political history and haunted by shadows of Macdonald, Laurier and others—went the gladsome tidings to you out on farms, ranches, fishing smacks.

The news came little more than a day after Finance Minister Ilsley's announcement of Canada's Fifth Victory Loan opening October 18th with a minimum cash objective of $1,200,000,000. Thrilled with the dismemberment of the Axis, realistic newsmen present at the conference, nevertheless commented they hoped Canadians wouldn't let the news lull them into any false sense of security insofar as the war is concerned, and affect their contribution to the objective's attainment. They as well as the government are convinced that a severe and costly struggle still lies ahead. The remaining enemy is still powerful. The appeal goes out to readers of weekly papers, who by and large make up the much sought after "smaller subscribers" to assure ultimate victory by supporting the Fifth War Loan.

The other night late I passed the National Research Council Building. Lights were glowing in windows. Geared to much hush-hush war research this outfit gets little publicity these days but those who know say a very tremendously important job is being done within those grey walls, and much of it by young men and women who grew up in rural areas. Only some of the results attained are given out about things which will affect our post-war living. For instance, in connection with Irish moss (seaweed) a processing procedure has been developed producing odorless, tasteless, light colored preparation giving a strong jelly in canning. Several million pounds of Irish moss is harvested on the east coast annually. In drying pork they found ways of getting an excellent product retaining 75 per cent of the natural B1 vitamin content after cooking and drying. Astounding things they have evolved in aircraft production, leather substitutes, plastics, too.

Ration book distribution is about over completely. It was the largest single printing order ever placed in Canada. Proper precautions had to be taken in connection with proper dyes, designs, on account of possible counterfeiting, etc. . . . each month an average of 5000 Canadians lose their ration books . . . 48 million coupons are handled each week by merchants, wholesalers and banks.

The new ration allowance for jams, jellies, etc., and new regulations pertaining, are really important concessions to the rural people of Canada, who for the most part do their own preserving. As country stores were rarely well stocked with these commodities—of recent years—there was a cry of "inequality" and probably with justification. The new order means, in effect, sugar for the folks out their for their fall apple sauce and more particularly sugar with which to sweeten preserves which they put up earlier without sugar.

Have seen a reproduction of the new sticker which in future will go on all shipments of goods from Canada to the United Nations. It is in gold, blue and red, centered by a maple leaf and the word "Canada" in English, also in Chinese and Russian. Very attractive. In connection with the new Canadian Mutual Aid Board, it is understood that Canada's allies will furnish Canada with supplies or services in return if they can, or may assure the return after the war of any supplies or equipment which may appear to have post-war use. Meanwhile, there will be no piling up of huge war debts by the sale of supplies to the United Nations for payment after the war or the institution of indefinite and uncertain post-war obligations.

Notes for you and you: In studying the consistency of soils, agricultural scientists note whether a soil is crumbly, friable, mellow, soft, firm, tough, hard, compact, cemented, plastic or porous. The friability of soil, its capacity to be easily crumbled into small pieces, has often a great influence on the productivity of soil.

One keeps marvelling at the figures which keep coming out about Canada's part in producing for the war. An example: in the year 1940 we produced three types of small arms to the value of four and a half million dollars. Do you know that for the first four months of 1943 we were producing twenty types valued at $22,000,000 and there were 30,000 working in the arsenals and plants, half of them women.

Not gone and not forgotten! Dr. J. H. Keith, National Secretary of the League of Nations, speaking to a service club in Ottawa the other day said in part: "the League of Nations is not dead; it is carrying on its work in a way which will be useful and beneficial to the future of the world." He said that in the Atlantic Charter we have the promises of idealism to be worked out in years to come—that the League stands for just that.

Army Public Relations gives a story out giving us an idea how troops in Canada are looked after to keep them from getting too bored in off hours. Such organizations as the Canadian Legion, Y.M.C.A., Salvation Army and Knights of Columbus do a grand job in this direction. During the first week in August, for instance, 69,804 books were in circulation, 65,277 magazines and 10,948 papers were distributed; 1,464 motion pictures were shown in camps, with an attendance of over 280,000 men. In July they had more than 400 dances for the lads, with an attendance of 150,000. There are about 175 civilian concert parties on the go and more than 4,000 individuals giving one or two nights a week to assist them—which all goes to show that even if the boys are 'a-wearyin' for you' they do and see things.

After standing bare for three years, the flag pole which juts out from the former Italian Consulates offices in Ottawa carried a fluttering Union Jack on the afternoon the news came of the capitulation. The superintendent of the building hurriedly did the trick to celebrate. The Italian colony here were jubilant, even a bonfire in the middle of the street resulted from one jamboree.

The Canadian cost-of-living index was up 118.2 to 119.2 in July, the sixth consecutive month with a rise, which is not viewed with satisfaction in official circles. This affects cost-of living bonuses for workers in most industries and if continued bonuses would have to be increased effective November 15, if October's index had a rise of this nature. The bonus is adjusted quarterly, based on the index. Increased cost of living does not run parallel with the best tenets of price control.

Bureau of Statistics estimates on Canadian fruit crops have been revised since July, showing apples upward but an 8 per cent drop from 1942; plums some down; peaches will show a decrease of 70 per cent over the previous year; grapes will be well above the five-year average.

Recruiting for the Canadian Army would present no problems at all if all young men were as eager to join as a 19-year-old Saskatchewan lad, Delbert James Polson, the eldest of a family of 12. He rode 28 miles by bicycle from the town of Zehner to Regina, presented himself to recruiting officials and became a soldier in the same day.

NEWS LETTER FROM EDMONTON

STOOK SWEEPS

One hundred and fifty long wooden boxes, each containing over three hundred pounds of rods and metal were shipped last week from the Standard Iron Works, Edmonton, to points in Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and British Columbia.

Labelled "Stook Sweep Kit No. 2" they are on their way to the harvest fields of Western Canada where they will help relieve the man power shortage. The Stook Sweep was developed by the Department of Agriculture and the Provincial Marketing Board is said to do away with at least four bundle teams.

Kit No. 2 is an all-metal sweep fitting on the front of a tractor. Driven down the row of stooks, the bundles are picked up, transported to the threshing machine and dropped, while the tractor spins away for another load.

As you know the labour problem is really acute; few threshing rigs can muster a full crew. But with increasing numbers the problem is less alarming . . . because of Stook Sweeps.

P.F.A. ACT

Reports covering 142 Alberta townships where the crop is estimated to be less than five bushels to the acre are being sent to Federal authorities by Provincial officials it was learned in Edmonton recently. These notifications are made under the provisions of the Prairie Farmer Assistance Act, so that delay in making bonus payments under the act will be reduced to a minimum.

Townships reporting crop failure are said to be mainly in the south eastern part of the Province.

Assistance under the Act is granted on two conditions. First, if the average yield in 90 townships falls below five bushels per acre, due to causes other than hail, Crop Failure Year may be proclaimed. Farmers are then paid $2.50 per acre.

The second type of assistance is given when the yield in 90 townships is less than 12 bushels per acre and the average price of wheat during August, September and October is less than 80 cents. Farmers are then eligible for a variable bonus up to $2.00 per acre.

POST-WAR PROBLEMS

The regional conference of the Post War Reconstruction committee which met in Red Deer recently is "a great forward step and will serve as an example to be followed by other regional divisions." This was the recently expressed opinion of Hon. N. E. Tanner, Chairman of the Provincial Committee.

Outlining the work of the Post-War Reconstruction Committee, Mr. Tanner added that sub-committees were studying their terms of reference and were receiving briefs from various sections and organizations in Alberta. He emphasized the importance of the Post War Reconstruction and urged the organization of local committees be carried forward without delay. From the submissions of these local committees, Mr. Tanner stated, the character of the work of reconstruction will be determined.

TREASURY BROADCAST

Changes just now effective in the Interim Program were designed to remove obstacles which have prevented many persons from using the branches, Hon. Solon E. Low declared in a recent broadcast. He said every treasury branch will operate as a local office for various government departments and will handle fire and life insurance, issue licenses and permits and conduct an information service.

Administration of estates were to be offered to the people of Alberta, Mr. Low stated. Hitherto the people have been dependent upon private trust companies and similar institutions for this service. This he said, was an important feature of the expansion of treasury branch services.

Most important changes in Alberta's Interim Programme were in regard to the Consumer bonus and the basis upon which it was paid, the Provincial Treasurer continued. The 5 per cent bonus on Alberta trade-marked goods has been eliminated, but there is a bonus of 2 per cent on all goods purchased from a retailer with vouchers. The maximum bonus for any one account is two dollars per month. Mr. Low also explained that deposits of transfer vouchers could in future be withdrawn in cash.

SPECIAL AREAS CHAIRMAN

Appointment of Morgan Baldwin as chairman of the Special Areas Board has just been announced by Hon. N. E. Tanner, Minister of Lands and Mines. Mr. Baldwin takes over the position from Mr. A. C. McCully who resigned a short time ago. Mr. Baldwin has been a resident of the district administered by the Special Areas Board for some time. He has been active on the Municipal council and was president of the school division. The office of Special Areas Board will remain in Hanna.

PROVIDE SUPPLY SYNTHETIC RUBBER

Synthetic rubber imported from the U.S. will be available to Alberta and other car owners in Canada for essential purposes, according to a recent announcement by dominion government officials.

While these stocks are being obtained there is no relaxing of regulations concerning the supplying of rubber, it was stated. The synthetic rubber will be made available for essential purposes of which federal officials must be satisfied.

Federal authorities have stated that the synthetic material is softer than the rubber formerly in use consequently it must be used with great[illegible], and that the speed of the car should not exceed 35 miles per [illegible]

While this rubber is being made available, officials of the Alberta Motor Association point out that motorists should continue to exercise every care in driving to effect the greatest measure of tire conservation in the present war emergency.

Avoiding of many needless trips and adoption of group riding plans all will serve to save tires and aid in the national conservation campaign.

THE PREMIER'S ADDRESS

Labor relations were discussed in a recent broadcast by Premier Ernest Manning. Dealing with projects of minimum wage acts and other legislature designed to promote good relations between employers and employees in Alberta, the Premier stated that the Labor Welfare Act passed at the last session of the Legislature is the first of its kind in Canada. This act, he said, provides for such things as ample washroom and rest facilities, protective clothing around machines and first aid equipment in Alberta factories.

Premier Manning explained the work of the Industrial Relations Board. He pointed out that since 1937, there has never been "a serious strike in any industry whose labour relations has come under the purview of the board."

Since January 1937, more than $157,000 in back wages has been collected for some 8000 men and women, the Premier said.

Premier Manning concluded by saying that the Government and the Board of Industrial Relations "will continue to appreciate suggestions regarding labor problems in the Province." It is only by this means he pointed out, that "we can learn the wishes of the people in regard to these matters."

MINE SWEEPING DANGEROUS TASK

The news spotlight this week focused on Canada's eastern seaboard and the Royal Canadian Navy, whose ships swept away without loss of life or convoyed shipping the first mines laid off our shores.

In her attempt to ring Halifax harbour with an arc of mines Germany has brought the war to our very doorstep, for the submarine that laid the high explosive charges was within sight of Canadian soil when she did so. In fact, she must have taken her bearings from our land marks, a dangerous but by no means impossible operation—both Germany and England have been doing it to each other since war began.

All Canada can be proud of the cockleshell ships of her navy's mine sweeping fleet who discharged their duty—to keep the sea lanes free—by sweeping a safe channel for ships within one day, who kept that channel clear, and swept from the ocean floor all the deadly high explosive the Hun had sown to sink our convoys.

She can be proud of the Canadians, men from almost every community of Canada, who took part in that job—officers and ratings who now know the sickly emptiness of a man's stomach as the ship's hull rings like a gong from the sledge-hammer wallop of a mine touched off nearby, who remember the tingling of bruised feet afterwards.

They are men like A. B. H. W. Gollmer of Lumsden, Sask.; Ldg. Stoker J. H. Ralston of Red Deer, Alta; Stoker Graydon Kinnard of Shellbrook, Sask.; Stoker Kitch Thompson of Prince Albert; Lieut. Rameau Gravel of Gravelburg, Sask. — these and many others represented the prairie towns.

It was men like these who saw five mines geyser up one morning before breakfast . . . who cleaned up messes of batter or whatever happened to be cooking when an exploding mine whacked the ship's bottom . . . who watched the blades on an electric fan crinkle up and rattle around from the force of the blow . . . who fixed boiler leaks and were tarred from sleep in their bunks during their off watches.

Their job is as tough as it was exciting and dangerous. The day begins at 4 a.m., and as the men prepare for sea the repair and maintenance crews who have been working all night go ashore. The day's orders come aboard and the sweepers cast off before daylight.

They slip out through the mouth of Halifax harbour, gather speed and dash past Neverfail buoy as the sun gleams behind a brilliant bank of clouds.

At the "declared dangerous" area the ships slow to put the sweeps over. A crane lifts the float, which holds the sweep wire from falling to the bottom of the sea, and drops it over the side. It looks like a domesticated but bad-humored shark, with a marker flag flopping on its upper side.

Next the multiplane otter goes overboard. It is like a piece of Venetian blind, frozen at a 45 degree angle, and its purpose is to exert a downward and outward pressure on the sweep wire.

Then the men go to the brakes on the huge drums, and play out cable after cable of hardened steel wire, serrated to cut the mooring of an anchored mine as it rasps along. As the ship gathers speed the float marker moves far out to the side, indicating the channel we are sweeping.

"It is just like plowing," a rating explains. "I was born and brought up on a farm. You sweep a field; you plow up, turn around and plow down, plow back again. The other ships are a couple of extra teams, and take their speed from you."

That is the job of the sweepers—they plow up and plow down, and move with exacting care so the merchant ships may move in a safe channel, so sweeps will not foul, so their speeds will tally.

Every man is wearing his life jacket—his "Mae West"—as the ships move into the minefield. And as they move into the field the men go, still with jackets on, to breakfast . . . with a weather eye on the nearest hatch and an ear cocked for a rumbling, grumbling, insistent, powerful noise such as precedes the thunderclap in the sky of the tremor of an earthquake . . . the noise that gives first warning of the sea giant that will erupt thousands of tons of water.

They eat their eggs and bacon nonchalantly, concealing the tension and the readiness in the waiting that is known to front-line men only, who understand.

FIFTH VICTORY LOAN

1. Canada is in the best position ever to meet its Victory Loan objective.

2. There is absolutely no grounds for the false impression that the war is as good as won.

3. Complacency and over-optimism are our most dangerous enemies today.

4. Inflation is threatening but can be checked if the largest possible number of Canadians invest in Victory Bonds.

5. A large portion of one's income tax and other payroll deductions is returnable with interest.

These were the themes around which much discussion took place during the two-day conference of Unit representatives held in Calgary September 13 and 14. These were the arguments brought forth by National War Finance officials in their outlines of the various circumstances under which Canadians will be facing the forthcoming Victory Loan campaign.

It was pointed out that the average Canadian today is receiving $15 worth of spending power to every $10 worth of goods available. This leaves the remaining $5 for investing in savings.

55 per cent of Canada's earning population earn less than $3,000 annually, and this group receives 60 per cent of the National income. Therein lies the bulk of prospects for the forthcoming Victory Loan campaign.

In 1939 Canada's gross National income was 4 1-3 billion dollars, in 1942 6 3-4 billion, and this year the gross income is expected to be 7 1-2 billion. Deducting all forms of income tax, Canadians face the Fifth Victory Loan with a net annual income of more than 6 1-2 billion dollars. In other words, Canada's net income this year is approximately as large as her gross income last year.

Statistics showed that a large percentage of Canadians with reasonable incomes have not purchased a single Bond in the last four campaigns. Another large number of persons who have increased their incomes have not increased their Bond purchases. And a third group of persons have not tapped their savings, but have merely been purchasing from their earnings. It was pointed out that if these three potential sources were to supplement the regular purchases, the $1,200,000,000 National objective would be met within a few days.

The complaint prevalent in many industrial areas that the payroll deductions are heavy was quashed with the argument that the large portion of the deductions is in the form of savings and will be returned with interest. For example, the wage earner who is deducted $32 monthly finds this amount probably broken up as follows: Income tax $20; Victory Bond $8; War Savings $4; with half of the Income Tax deduction being Compulsory Savings. It is then evident that only $10 of the $32 is not in the form of savings. It was felt that this argument should be used as a constant reminder to those who fail to see it in that light.

Canadian citizens who have had experience with inflation in Europe following World War 1 know today what inflation in Canada would mean. One such citizen pointed out that he received a newspaper from Poland in the early twenties with the rolled surface covered almost entirely with Polish postage stamps. This was the equivalent of a 1c stamp in Canada. He used this example as an indication of what would happen to the price of our essential commodities if inflation resulted.

It was pointed out that inflation can best be combatted by increasing with each Victory Loan the number of Bond holders across Canada. The more citizens have a financial interest in the country the less chances there are of the Government in power, now or in the future, passing any form of legislation which might create inflation throughout the land.

The sudden turn of events in Italy since the Italian armistice is sufficient evidence to anyone that there is absolutely no room for complacency and optimism. The conquest of Sicily was made against enemy forces only fractional of the strength of the forces now being opposed on the Italian mainland and of forces the Allies will have to face on many fronts before this war is won.

The last contingent of Belgians trained in Canada at Joliette, Que., have arrived in England fully trained to fight for the freedom of their country. Baron Silvercruys, Belgian Minister to Canada, saluted his fellow countrymen before they sailed. "You are about to join your predecessors of Joliette, those who are called, in our Army, 'the Canadians'," he said. "You will give them news from the country which was to them a second motherland and which will always remain in the Belgian hearts as a sister nation."

Dog-eared science and math text books are being dug out of musty attic hiding places across the country these days as Canadian soldiers keep pace with the Army's stepped-up educational program. Newest development in the education-for-the-troops plan is the appointment of educational officers in all military district headquarters. The new conception of military schooling is already bearing fruit. Off parade study has produced promotions for many education-hungry Canucks while others are now scholastically equipped to attend officers' training courses.

England's famed General Montgomery is a "man-to-man" leader who believes and practices physical fitness, according to a Canadian officer, now back in Calgary, who served under "Monty" in England. He's Captain J. C. Armstrong of Toronto, and he tells a typical story of the general.

"We were out on manoeuvres one cold, damp afternoon," he recalls, "and Montgomery watched us as we went through a drainage ditch. We were up to our necks in cold, muddy water and he was definitely impressed. In fact, 'Monty', wearing high, polished boots, came into the ditch himself—boots and all—just to see how cold and muddy it really was."

A squadron observer was called in by his commanding officer after an air raid and asked if he had been nervous during the attack.

"No, sir," was the reply. "I was cool as a cucumber."

Some idea of what the combined Canadian-American landing on Kiska means in a geographical sense came from Ottawa Army headquarters which announced: "The Canadians are more than half way to Tokyo. When they landed on the rocky, fog-saturated shores of Kiska they were 2500 air miles from Victoria, B.C. or less than 2,000 miles from the Nipponese capital. They are just 800 air line miles from the nearest of the Japanese Chishima (or Kurile) Islands and an equal distance from the Japanese air and naval base of Horomushiro-to at the southern end of the Kamchatka Peninsula. The idea that they are 'somewhere in the far north' is erroneous. Actually, Kiska is far to the west and is approximately on the same parallel of latitude as Saskatoon—or Berlin."

New Car Licences To Be Secured

Usual refunds will be paid by the province on motor car plates that are turned in by Jan. 10, next, according to information which officials of the Alberta Motor Association have received from provincial officials.

The refund is 20 per cent of the annual license fee and each year is taken advantage of by motorists who decide to lay up their cars for the winter.

This year, it is anticipated that some earlier applications may be due to car owners having exhausted their gasoline ration coupons. In some years, the refunds have amounted to more that $45,000.

On the other hand, it is anticipated that there will be more new licences issued for the current period, as a 40 per cent reduction in the annual fee becomes effective on Oct. 1. On Jan. 1, the reduction will be 75 per cent.

DOMINION TESTS DEVELOP NEW SOURCES OF RUBBER

An experimental processing mill in Ottawa is expected to produce about five tons of milkweed gum during 1943, for use in the manufacture of synthetic rubber.

The milkweed grows over a wide portion of eastern Canada and the harvesting of these wild stands has been carried out by school children and farmers under the direction of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

About ten years ago Russian scientists imported the milkweed and placed it among their three best rubber producing plants. The chief difficulty to be overcome in the use of this plant as a source of rubber was the problem of extraction. Recently, a simple mechanical method for extracting the rubber content from the milk weed has been evolved. Other possibilities beside the rubber content include the use of the silky floss of the plant as a substitute for kapok to be used for the filling of life preservers and other such articles.

Russia obtains a supply of natural rubber from the Russian dandelion known by the unpronounceable name of Kok-Saghyz. This plant was first found in 1931 in eastern Russia, near the border of China. Even with its comparatively low yield of six to 12 per cent raw rubber, the cultivation of the plant is practicable, because its growth appears to be dependable and it produces good seed. In the spring of 1942, eight Dominion Experimental stations planted a quarter acre each of this seed. The results of their planting have now been assembled.

An average crop of 5,160 pounds of roots, from which the rubber was extracted, was secured from each acre. This compared favourably with the production in Russia and in the United States. The amount of rubber extracted varied from two to seven per cent by weight. Some seed was also secured from the planting and more extensive acreage is to be developed. Should these plantings prove satisfactory, it is hoped soon to have enough seed for commercial production.

JAPANESE FLIERS "HEARTILY" ASK "DECISIVE" BATTLE— AND GET IT

CHICAGO, Sept. 14—The Japanese flier who dropped leaflets onto an American fighter squadron in China, asking to meet the American airmen in "a decisive air battle" didn't live long after his mission, according to a letter from Lieut. David Neil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Neil, of suburban River Forest.

The Americans accepted the challenge, and as Lieutenant Neil's letter read—"P.S. We got the guy that dropped the leaflets too."

Lieutenant Neil, who is with the Army Air Forces in China, told the strange story in a letter his parents received yesterday. The leaflet, which the Japanese showered on the Americans, said:

"To officers and men of the U. S. Air Forces:

"We express our respects to you men who have taken great pains to come to the interior of China.

"We of the Fighter Command of the Imperial Japanese Air Forces take pride in the fact that we are the strongest and best in the world.

"Consequently we express our desire as sportsmen to hold a decisive air battle with you in a fair and honorable manner.

"We then can best prove to you the spirit and ability of our Air Force.

"With hearty wishes for a decisive battle.

"The Fighter Command of the Imperial Japanese Air Forces."

It was a decisive battle, said Lieutenant Neil's letter. The entire Japanese squadron was wiped out.

Lieutenant Neil, a graduate of Oak Park High School and The Principal, St. Louis, where he played football, has been in the Army for two years, in China for one year.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT THE FARMER'S CONTRIBUTION

Once again our prairie farmers, with their good partner Nature, have produced an abundance of food for Canada and the United Nations.

It is true that Nature, by means of her vast and mysterious forces contained in the soil, the air, the rain and the sunshine, and all combined in her giant laboratory, is mainly responsible for the crops, but without the aid and guidance of the farmer our prairie lands, rich as they may be, would not produce one pound of food; for the farmer has to prepare the land, to cultivate it and to sow it, and further has to assist in combatting those enemies which are continually tending to destroy crops, i.e. weeds, cutworms, wireworms grasshoppers, sawflies, bacterial and fungous diseases and so forth. But all this preparation and fighting crop enemies requires a great deal of labor. It is therefore remarkable, it seems to me, that in spite of a lack of manpower on the farms, our farming families have been able once again to make such outstanding contribution with their products to the war effort of the United Nations.

I suggest that the Government could well bear in mind this important contribution of our prairie farmers, accomplished under great difficulty, when they are considering an increase in the Board price of wheat.

Conservation Of Woolens

Now that Fall is here and Winter on its way woolens are finding their place in our wardrobes. With the armed forces requiring large quantities of the available wool we must give what we have or are able to get, the best possible care we can.

All woolens need frequent washing to keep them fresh and new looking. Sweaters especially need extra care. Before washing them take measurements or better still, trace an outline of the sweater on heavy paper or a turkish towel. Work up a lukewarm suds with a mild soap flakes and test with the wrist to be sure the temperature is right. Lukewarm water feels neither hot nor cold, just neutral. Wash quickly by squeezing the suds through the fibre with the hands.

Do not rub or twist as this mats the woolens. For badly soiled garments use a second suds. Rinse woolens twice in clear lukewarm water and squeeze out as much water as possible with the hands.

Lay the garment flat on a large towel. Roll it up and knead gently to remove excess moisture. This hastens drying and helps to prevent stains and shrinking. Unroll it immediately and lay the garment flat on a paper or towel to dry, easing it back to fit the original outline or measurement. Separate any contrasting colors with a towel. Dry the garment flat in an airy place but not in sunlight or near direct heat.

New garments should not be pressed into shape. Pin or tack them onto a cardboard, stretching them to the desired size and shape. Keep the [illegible] smooth and even. Over them place a towel wrung out of warm water. Leave in air to dry. When the towel is dry the garment can be removed from position. It will look well pressed without any danger of damaging the wool. This is a good method to use for all sweaters, socks, etc. made for them in the armed services.

For further information write to The Women's Branch, Extension Service, Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

No Argument

"Chief," remonstrated the go-getter," why don't you get a job in a factory

"Why?" grunted the chief.

"Well, you could earn a lot of money. Maybe thirty or forty dollars a week."

"Why?" insisted the chief.

"Oh, if you worked hard and saved your money, you'd soon have a bank account. Wouldn't you like that?"

"Why?" again asked the chief.

"For goodness sake!" shouted the exasperated go-getter. "With a big bank account you could retire, and then you wouldn't have to work any more."

"Not working now," pointed out the chief.—Tit-Bits.

Royal Tact

Albert, heroic King of the Belgians during World War I, was noted for his keen sense of humor and for his unfailing tactfulness. An example of both may be seen in an incident which took place. When a tribal chieftain from the Belgian Congo was being entertained at the palace.

"Tell me the music you like best," Albert asked the chief as they listened to the royal orchestra after dinner.

In a few minutes the orchestra paused while the stringed instruments were being tuned.

"That's it," said the chief.

And for the remainder of the evening they listened to the orchestra tuning up.—Your Life.

Wants Folklore

Do you know any tall stories about the good old days in Alberta? The Alberta Folklore and Local History Project at the University of Alberta, under the direction of Professor Robert Gard, wants to get in touch with Alberta people who can supply information about early days of the Province.

Financed by The Rockefeller Foundation, this project will collect and preserve stories relating to the background and romance of Alberta.

Such information might include tall tales (taller the better); stories about the Indians; stories about the waterways and river transportation; stories about religion and religious characters such as Father Lacombe; tales about ghosts and haunted houses; stories about the naming of Alberta towns; railway stories, ranching and homestead stories; animal stories; tales about frontier characters like Peter Pond; stories of various national groups in the Province and their customs.

The Project is interested in the history of various communities in Alberta and wishes to make contact with the historians of the Province. It is hoped that many local history groups will be started to aid in the preservation of Alberta history and lore, or that this work will be undertaken by some of the groups already organized.

Story tellers and historians are urged to write to Professor Robert Gard, Department of Extension, University of Alberta, Edmonton.

Her next broadcast of romantic melodies will be heard over the CBC national network on Saturday, October 9 at 6.15 p.m. C.D.T. Pat joined up some time ago with the trouping comrades of the entertainment front. She has sung for soldiers, sailors and airmen, and has also played hostess for the C.B.C. feature "Swing For the Services."

Farm Problems

Farm policies in Alberta were discussed in a recent radio broadcast by Hon. D. B. MacMillan, Minister of Agriculture. Stating that probably 90 per cent of the food on our tables comes from Alberta farms, Mr. MacMillan said that agriculture "find itself prepared to increase and improve production" for the war. He added that in an effort to improve the quality of live stock in the Province, the government has placed 1,497 purebred bulls and 1,144 purebred boars in every section of Alberta. The Minister reminded his hearers that in 1942, Alberta farmers led all provinces in Canada in the marketing of hogs with a total of 2,182,342 animals. He said that indications for 1943 were that this record would be exceeded.

Dealing with the poultry industry Mr. MacMillan placed its value in 1942 at fifteen million dollars and predicted an increase of three million during the current year. Three and one-half million chicks were sold by Alberta poultrymen in the 1943 season.

Farm Cash Income Higher

Cash income from the sale of farm products in Canada for the first six months of 1943 is estimated preliminarily at $538.3 million, compared with $429.7 million in corresponding period of 1942, and $366.8 million in 1941. The 1943 increase was common to all provinces except Ontario, and was most marked in the Prairie Provinces where substantial sales of wheat and other grains were made from the large 1942 crop. The greatest increase in 1943 was in Saskatchewan which was the only province recording a decline in the first six months of 1942 as compared with 1941. Increases in farm cash income occurred in all Maritime Provinces, Quebec, and British Columbia, although the change in Nova Scotia was of a minor nature.

Income from the sale of wheat increased substantially from the relatively low figure of 1942, but the greatest percentage increase occurred in the receipts from marketings of oats and barley. For Canada as a whole, receipts from the sale of oats amounted to $27 million in the first half of 1943, compared with only $6.3 million in the corresponding period of 1942. The sale of barley increased from $4.2 million for the six months of 1942 to $19.6 million in 1943. Other substantial increases were recorded in income from the sale of hogs and dairy products, the income from the sale of hogs totalling $106.2 millions for the six months, and $110.3 million from dairy products.

World Of Foodstuffs

Based on conditions on September 1st the U.S.A. wheat crop is officially estimated at 834,057,000 bushels, as compared with 981,227,000 bushels harvested last year — The United Kingdom has completed negotiations with Canada for the provision of 1,000,000 tons of Canadian flour — Mexico predicts a wheat crop of 300,000 tons, which is 40 per cent below last year's production

The Canadian farm cash income is officially estimated to have increased 25 per cent in the first six months of 1943, as compared with the same period last year — Rumania may have a large surplus of 700,000 to 800,000 tons of fine quality wheat from this year's harvest — The Argentine's first estimate of wheat acreage shows a slight increase over last year's final estimate.

Bonuses Are Being Paid On Barley Oats And Flaxseed

Trade Minister MacKinnon announced Friday that at time of delivery prairie farmers will receive payments of 10 cents a bushel on oats and 15 cents a bushel on barley in addition to market prices to give the farmer "full benefit" on export to the United States.

Failure of coarse grain crop in eastern Canada is expected to lead to the movement of 120,000,000 bushels of feed grain from the west.

Mr. MacKinnon also announced that the fixed price to farmers for flaxseed has been raised 25 cents per bushel to $2.50, basis No. 1 C.W. flaxseed in store Fort William.

(No. 1 C.W. is the top statutory grade for flax.)

The arrangements cover oats, barley and flaxseed marketed during the crop year 1943-4, which began August 1.

The additional payments on oats and barley," said Mr. MacKinnon, represent a "guaranteed initial advance" against equalization fees being collected by the Canadian Wheat board on exports of those grains to the U.S.

No change has been made in ceiling prices on oats and barley, which remain at 51 1-2 cents for oats and 64 1-2 cents for barley, basis Fort William.

The increase of 25 cents in the price of flaxseed, bringing the fixed and overall price to the farmer to $2.50 per bushel, also represents an adjustment by reason of expected profits on export sales to the U.S.

Crushers and other domestic users of flaxseed will continue to be protected by ceiling prices on their purchases

The surplus, if any, in the equalization funds in excess of 10 cents on oats and 15 cents on barley will be distributed to farmers after July 31, 1944.

The agricultural department announced that effective immediately, the "dockage tolerance" of one per cent authorized last Aug. 1, has been increased to three percent.

This avoids the delay at the head of the lakes when the grains must be inspected, unloaded and recleaned if the percentage of dockage (presence in the grain of weed seeds or other matter) is higher than one percent.

Increase of the dockage tolerance to three percent was described as "an emergency measure" which is concurred in by the governments of the five eastern provinces.

Carloads of coarse grain shipped from coutry points in western Canada will be inspected at Winnipeg to avoid delay at the lakehead terminals.

If the dockage is no more than three percent the grains will be eligible to participate in the freight assistance plan and other subsidy provisions.

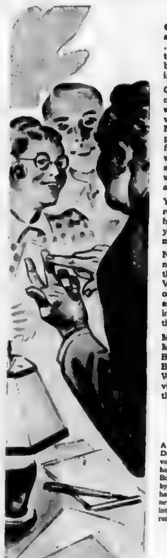
$750,000 Gain Already For Alberta Farmers

Calgary farm leaders and representatives of the grain trades joined Friday in expressing satisfaction over the decision to provide for increased payments on oats, barley and flaxseed.

As the increase concerns grain marketed during the 1943-44 crop year which began Aug. 1, it is estimated that from Aug. 1 to date, Alberta farmers' income will be increased by about $750,000.

From August 1 to September 13, Alberta farmers marketed 4,185,000 bushels of oats, which at the 10 cents increase will give [illegible] revenue of $418,000; 1,372,000 bushels of barley, which, at 15 cents per bushel, means $205,800 in extra revenue, and 394,000 bushels of flaxseed at 20 cents per bushel, another $80,000.—Edmonton Journal.

LET'S BE DOING
...while we're planning



● Everybody is thinking a great deal about the future these days . . . planning . . . getting ready for the period to follow the war. All realize that the war may bring surprises—but the tide is turning in our favour.

Chemists and engineers, producing things needed for war, are making discoveries which will mean comforts and conveniences for all of us when peace comes. New methods of making things, new processes, new materials, now being filed away in blue prints and formulae, will bring us many new and useful articles. Many things not available now will be replaced by better models and designs.

You may have plans for a new home, remodelling your present home, new home furnishings. If you are a farmer you will need new and improved equipment and machinery.

Now, while you are thinking and planning, you can do something to insure that your plans can be carried out. Victory Bonds—which can be bought on convenient instalments, with money as you get it—provide a means of keeping your savings intact, earmarked for things you want.

Most Canadians are saving money. Most of us are buying Victory Bonds and when we buy Victory Bonds we are helping to win the war. We are helping to speed the day of victory and we are doing something that will benefit ourselves.

WHAT IS A VICTORY BOND?

A VICTORY BOND is the promise of the Dominion of Canada to repay in cash the face value of the Bond on the date of maturity with half-yearly interest until that time. A Victory Bond is the safest investment in Canada backed by the entire resources of the Dominion. Canada has been issuing bonds for 75 years, and has never failed to pay every dollar of principal and interest when due. A Victory Bond is an asset readily marketable at any time.

THE WAR DOES US A FAVOR—

(By John Gould in Christian Science Monitor.)

LONG AGO, the farms around here had a good crop of children, and the elders figured a school would be a good thing. There were those who wanted it away up on the Ridge, toward Webster Corner, because they had a lot of children up there. There were those who wanted it down a ways, near Hinkley's because they had a lot of children down there.

And there was Great-Grandfather, who wanted it neither away up or away down, but at four corners because that would be half-way between for everyone else, and best for his own. They tell the story of Great-Grandfather's roader, a lanky mare with the wind in her heels, who took the high road to Auburn at a steady gait and delivered the right people at the county offices at the right time; and how the location was already chosen when the up-hillers and down-hillers arrived. The school was built at four corners.

It was just another one-roomed little red schoolhouse, except that it has always been yellow, and one after another four generations have sat in its seats, written at its blackboards, and recited "Spartacus to the Gladiators" at Friday declamation periods.

A community like ours varies but doesn't change. The Ridge School has suited us, has been our university, and from old to young we believe heartily it is the finest educational institution in the world. We might not agree on reasons, but we could all find reasons.

Some of us remember the time a skunk got under the floor; some recall "I could or would or should, you could or would or should, he could or would or should" with sobs in our throats; some mind how the blackberries leaned out of Small's pasture on the first day and we were late and mouthstained; some think of a freckled boy or tow-head girl and wonder; down-hillers remember sliding all the way home, while up-hillers slid to school; and there are those of us who remember, and still feel, a sting in the seat of the pants and can hear plainly the squeak of the chalk as we wrote, "The way of transgressors is hard." We got education; we learned to cipher, to read, to spell each other down; we bounded States and memorized their products; we sang to a pitchpipe, recited the interjections, repeated the Presidents. We had fights in the school yard and got sent home. We missed classes but caught trout. And on last day we stood up, eyes on the pine knots of the floor, and repeated dismally, "The golden beams of the rising sun had gilded the lofty domes of Carthage. . . ."

There were initials in the old desks—initials of fathers and sons and grandsons. In the entry was a shelf for lunch boxes. There were apples for teacher. The biggest boy took care of the flag. And under the steps was always some bereft hound waiting for the sums to be ended. Sometimes there were several dogs, and we'd have a dandy dog fight right in the middle of spelling.

Ours was a teacher who knew each child intimately, and who knew human nature and life. She knew how to reconcile the huge inconsistencies of books with the bedrock facts of rural childhood. She knew how fix a bloody nose, and how to get burdocks out of golden ringlets. She could listen interminably to "Five-times-five-is-twenty-five, six-times-five-is-thirty . . ." and still make the learning process a joyous adventure that people here on the Ridge associate selfishly with their own locality.

One day there came a new superintendent who believed in centralized schools. He bought a bus and because the Ridge had a poor crop of youngsters he closed the school. Our children went to the village, where they had a piano and manual training and running water, where higher paid teachers rotated through the rooms, and learning was precise and wonderful.

The blackberries still lean out of Small's pasture, but the bus went so fast no one could see them. The Ridge School had shutters on the windows, the hard packed yard grew to bushes, and the highway commissioner kept a pile of gravel against the steps. The theory of the educational process never had much expounding in these parts, and the oldtimers amongst us thought the dark ages had descended again. Children were learning to read before they could repeat their alphabets; they were coming home with broom holders and raffia work; they were taking orchestra and "barskitball"—but they never heard of Spartacus, they couldn't say once-nine-is-nine, and things had come to a pretty p[illegible]

But here we are in 1943. The blackberries long since turned ripe over Small's wall, and the crop of children is bountiful. The bus has worn out and a new one is unavailable. The School Committee felt it advisable to adjust educational theory to current economics and re-open the Ridge School. A man came around with a scythe and mowed the bushes. A truck drew off the gravel. The shutters were unbolted.

We're all most happy about it. Maybe plenty of smart people have improved their minds in centralized schools, and probably the process of education—however defined—can give a good account of itself in other places. But our Ridge School is quite some school, it's been there a long long time, and there's something about it. For one thing, a lad can walk along with his dog and pick blackberries.

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

Written specially for the weekly newspapers of Canada

This column, which goes out to far and hindermost reaches of Canada, feels it cannot overemphasize the appeal to the "small investor" to think of the contribution he or she is going to, or should, make to the forthcoming Fifth Victory Loan. Everywhere, in all the towns and villages—they tell me at headquarters here—great preparations are being made by local committees to top local objectives. You know the fellows—your banker, your baker, your school teacher, your farm community leader, your ordinary guy working behind the counter, will be appealing to you to "Speed Victory." The hundreds of releases which go through this office from army, navy and airforce, telling in piecemeal of the epic deeds, the sacrifices of your boys over there impels me to keep this subject "hot" before you and to try and convey the idea of the tremendous urgency of sending your spare dollars to strengthen muscles of our war effort.

◦◦◦◦◦◦

Our producers in Canada will be a fundamental of any post-war economics, national and international. The coal miner, the farmer, the fisherman, the fruit grower, have a job ahead. This was pointed out at Ottawa in speeches before clubs made this week by a distinguished visitor, William Mabane, M.P., parliamentary secretary to the British Minister of Food, Lord Woolton. He emphasized that our task to produce food stuffs will be one of the greatest in history, because Europe right now is in a "state of nutritional exhaustion." He was sure our post war problem would not be surpluses, but maybe shortages in such things as we produce in this country; meats, dairy products, fats and oils. Another interesting point he made—and I must boil these down to space—that out of every $10 worth of food bought in Britain $9.50 is controlled. Price stabilization is fundamental to the British system of food control.

◦◦◦◦◦◦

A former weekly newspaper man, now associate editor of publications for the Boy Scouts Association of Canada, Bert Mortlock, came to this office the other day and mentioned a little thing he'd like a "plug" on nationally. That's "Apple Day" carried out by the Scouts in communities across the country at various dates next month. A hundred thousand strong, the Boy Scouts seek to raise money for summer camp equipment, a hundred and one other activities. It's not a little thing, but a big one. These are the boys whom we'll depend on to "Carry On, Canada" when the still visionary days of peace come; our future citizens, workers, business men, statesmen. Sure, the folks aren't going to turn the Scouts down on Apple Day in any community.

◦◦◦◦◦◦

Items you may have missed: Total of all grains marketed during the 1942-43 crop year was 486,823,292 bushels, an increase of 192,968,720 over the previous crop year. . . . Christmas trees supply will be short owing to the transportation and manpower exigencies. Even the type of twine used for binding them is in short supply. Maybe folks will have to improvise as in other things. . . . Don't start construction of a dwelling or other project without a license, warns Munitions Minister Howe. Because of the scarcity of materials a policy of drastic curtailment is now in effect. . . . Present personnel of the Canadian Navy, including some 3,700 Wrens, is about 70,000 officers and men; it was less than 2,000 when war began. . . . a full blooded Micmac Indian, Clarence Glode of Digby County, was working on the new Tribal destroyer "Micmac" as a rivet heater. . . . the boat was launched Sept. 18 at Halifax. . . besides politicians Ottawa is beginning to be famous for former world boxing champions; the second to appear here in as many weeks as a referee is Jack Sharkey. . . . Answering an urgent appeal nearly 800 Ottawa women, including some grandmothers registered here one night in the registration of half-day help for the Civil Service. . . . the R.C.A.F., has expanded from a personnel of 4,000 before the war to 200,000 now.

◦◦◦◦◦◦

One of the greatest of all discoveries in bacteria killing drugs, pencillin, a miracle for war wounds, and which will also be invaluable in peacetime, is to be produced in Toronto and Montreal in Dominion government financed plants, employing 250 men and women. The initial contract is for 26 billion units largest single order for medical supplies placed by Munitions department. The plants will be in operation by February, 1944 and by mid-April a weekly average production of 500 million units is expected. Pencillin has certain qualities superior to sulfa drugs. It is produced through growth of a mould, similar to that you'll find on cheese. When you hear of billions of units, don't think there will be enough right away to serve all humanity, I am told that in difficult cases it takes between two and three million units of pencillin, so figure it out that way.

◦◦◦◦◦◦

As one keeps coming across facts and figures on Canada's part in the United Nations war effort one has to look past the word "government" to that of "people" to realize the gigantic collective job being done. Just imagine the men and women hours in the terse statement that more than 26 per cent of the motorized equipment used throughout the entire Middle East was of Canadian make; also 50 per cent of the load carrying vehicles used by General Montgomery's 8th Army in North Africa. Its hard to realize that our 1943 production of scientific instruments for war purposes totalled 260 million dollars. We have 1,110,000 workers engaged in munitions work turning out 55 millions dollars worth a week. Since the war started the Dominion has expended on war construction and production 6 1-2 billion dollars. Why, Canada has built two of the largest blast furnaces in the British Empire, this summer turning out pig iron at the rate of two and a half million tons a year.

◦◦◦◦◦◦

Getting less publicity that the Navy, Army or Air Force, but nevertheless worthy of the highest praise and respect of the people are Canada's Merchant Seamen. They are a numerous lot too, judging by the fact that 40,500 are certified to date in the central registry in Ottawa. Casualties from merchant ships of Canadian registry alone: 960 missing and presumed dead; 147 captured by the enemy and now prisoners of war.

◦◦◦◦◦◦

There are three or four fundamentals in the recently announced plan for the reorganization of the operational formation of the Canadian Army in Canada. There will be no let-up or modification in the Overseas programme. All men fit for combat service are retained in the army. Many of those who are medically unfit or overage for combat duty will be transferred to highly important but less active duties in the various units which are necessary for the support and training and servicing and supplying of operational forces. Those in still lower medical categories or otherwise unsuitable for service in less active roles will be discharged and made available for essential war work in civilian capacities. "Disbanding" the 7th, 8th and part of the 6th Divisions does not mean that Canada will be without defences for her two coasts. Far from it. The places of the Division will be taken by hard-hitting, more compact brigade groups. There will be fewer men doing the coastal defence job, but owing to the elimination of the medically unfit, the smaller units should be, man for man, more efficient. It is also important to keep in mind that the reduction in size of the operational units is the result of the improved stragetic situation. The possibility of an enemy invasion of this continent — which was very real for a while when the Japs were occupying Kiska, for example, — is now once again regarded as remote.

Interesting note to farmers: A ton of timothy hay contains about 18 lbs. of nitrogen, 6 1-2 pounds of phosphoric acid, and around 30 pounds of potash. This is rather more than would be returned to the land by a ton of ordinary green farmyard manure. If no fertilizers were applied continous crops of timothy would rapidly deplete the soil, the same is true in a general way of other grasses, the Department of Agriculture states.

Where does the national coffer get its filling? Part of it is from excise and income tax. During the month of August just past for income, the "take" was $201,815,066 as compared with $160,292,837 in the same month last year, which is about a 20 per cent increase. Of this amount income tax alone accounted for $121,460,570 and this is an "up" of over 25 millions.

When it comes to saving coal—Patriotism and common sense go hand in hand

FARSIGHTED householders are seeing the urgent need of preparing their homes now against this winter's coal shortage. They are acting now!

HEATING SYSTEMS MUST BE EFFICIENT; HOMES SHOULD BE ADEQUATELY INSULATED.

Here are some jobs you should be doing NOW!

1 Have your entire heating system inspected. Order necessary repairs.

2 Have your furnace thoroughly cleaned by a competent man. Insulate furnace and pipes where necessary.

3 Be sure that you have sufficient storm windows and that all windows and doors fit tightly. Have cracks in walls repaired. Weatherstrip wherever it is necessary. Consider seriously the insulation of ceiling and walls.

Many homes waste as much as 60% of their fuel through inefficient heating equipment, inadequate insulation and other heat losses. Winter is just around the corner. Prepare NOW!

Determined, systematic saving by every citizen is part of the national price of VICTORY.

Patriotism now demands not only the saving of money but many other things—gasoline and tires, for example. Use of the motor car must be limited to necessary tasks—necessary to the war effort. NEW SCHEDULE
PRESERVES RATIONING
EFFECTIVE SEPTEMBER 30, 1943

Preserves rationing gives the consumer a number of choices both of products and sizes of containers. Because of the wide range of container sizes and the variation in buying habits across the country it was necessary to put the system into operation and then make adjustments on the basis of experience.

Now that preserves rationing has been in effect for several weeks, it is possible to make some increases in coupon values. The new schedule is announced below and is effective September 30th.

The new doubled ration allowances for molasses, extracted and comb honey will enable consumers in areas where consumption of these products is heavy, to buy more and still leave enough for districts where the total demand is light.

The increased ration allowances for corn, cane and blended table syrups and maple syrup are adjusted to bring coupon values more closely into line with the great variety of container sizes now in use.

ONE "D" COUPON IS GOOD FOR Not More Than

Jams, Jellies, Marmalades, Maple Butter, Apple Butter or Honey Butter	6 FLUID OZ.
or
Comb Honey (in Squares)	One Standard Section
or
Cut Comb Honey	1 LB. NET
or
Extracted Honey or Maple Syrup	12 FLUID OZ. (1 LB. NET)
or

Coupons D-4 and D-5
NOW BECOME VALID SEPTEMBER 30th

The validity date of these coupons has been moved forward from the original October 14th to September 30th.

This has been done to accommodate purchasers of some items which at this season of the year are normally bought in large units.

Coupons D-6 and D-7 will become valid on November 11th and the original schedule will be continued from then on, with two coupons becoming valid every four weeks.

Soil Preparation For The Wartime Garden

Early October is the best time to prepare for next year's wartime garden. The first step towards full success in growing fine vegetables is the generous fertilizing with barnyard manure and timely ploughing of the garden, says W. R. Leslie, Superintendent, Dominion Experimental Station, Morden, Man.

The average prairie farm may well devote an acre and a half to the vegetable garden. Only one-half should be planted next April and May. The other half should be summerfallowed, or planted to corn or potatoes, set in widely spaced rows, such as 6 to 10 feet apart, so that a substantial part of the soil moisture will remain stored up for the following season.

If there are alkali salts in the earth, it helps to have the garden area three times as large as required for the year's vegetable supply. Have one-third sown to sweet clover. Another third of the garden area should be summerfallowed to store up a surplus of moisture for 1945.

The area to produce vegetables in 1944 should be covered with rotted barnyard manure at the rate of 20 to 25 tons of manure per acre, or one half ton to 1,000 square feet, or 1 pound to each square foot. Fifty pounds of super-phosphate with each ton of manure will be helpful. The depth to plough should be at least 6 inches, and occasionally may be as much as 12 inches. Leave the surface rough to catch snow, to hold rains and to allow the frost to make the land friable.

Vegetable gardens in the Chinook Belt of southern Alberta are an exception to this common practice. The weather conditions prevailing there demand very different soil treatment. Their sandy or light soils are not ploughed until early spring. This is to avoid soil-drifting and loss of moisture.

As soon as ploughed and worked down next spring, the garden should be seeded promptly, to assure sufficient soil moisture to germinate the seeds. However, heavy clay land in the chinook belt is ploughed in autumn and worked down fine immediately. If not tilled finely, the lumps may be too hard to break down next spring.

Usually gardens are set in the shelter of a tree windbreak and soil-drifting should not be a vital problem. If there is danger of soil blowing, the surface should be covered with seedless hay, straw or other litter, held in place by corn, sunflower stalks, brush, or by twisted wire. The trash cover should be burned off or otherwise removed in April, immediately before seed sowing. Barnyard manure should be applied only to the summerfallow part of the dry-land garden in southern Alberta. It leaves the soil too porous when applied on the half of the garden to be seeded to vegetable crops.

Provision to trap and impound snow over the garden during winter should be done thoroughly. A soaking of snow water stores up moisture reserves. A slat fence, slab or willow fence, may be erected to augment the shelterbelt in holding the valuable snowfall.

The keys to garden success are: a rich deep soil containing a goodly supply of humus, such as comes from barnyard manure; a fine tilth in the soil in the seed zone, so that moist soil particles be in close contact with the seeds; and finally, a moderately firm condition of the top soil.

Save Apiary Equipment

(Experimental Farm News)

Now that the honey crop is removed, the beekeeper will be well repaid by paying careful attention to the protection of his equipment, says C. A. Jamieson, Bee Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Extractors should be washed both inside and out with hot water to remove all traces of honey. All storage tanks and everything that comes in contact with honey should be cleaned in the same manner. There used to be an idea that extractors and tanks should be left smeared with a film of honey until used again; but this proved erroneous because of an acid in the honey which acts upon the iron that becomes exposed when the zinc plating is broken. Storage in a dry atmosphere after thorough washing and drying keeps the metal surfaces in better condition.

This is the time of the year that the wax moth is most dangerous. Many eggs are laid in the cracks of the supers while still on the hives. Fortunately the bees will look after any larvae that enter their hive, but when the supers are removed it is the beekeepers responsibility to destroy this pest.

Paradichlorobenzene, commonly called "P.D.B.", is a safe and effective fumigant for this purpose. Supers may be stacked 5-6 high on an inverted lid with all cracks between supers covered with gummed paper. Place about six tablespoons of the fumigant in a dish or on a piece of paper on the top super and cover tightly. The gas is heavier than air and will penetrate to the bottom of the pile. The treatment should be repeated two or three weeks later

Norwegians Hear How Nazis Carried Out Reign Of Terror

London---The terrible story of the recent Nazi "blood bath' in Norway when 34 Norwegian patriots were slaughtered and hundreds thrown into prison, has just reached the Norwegian government in London.

Everything had been carefully plotted by the Germans beforehand and the executions were carried out with such cold-blooded ferocity that when one of the 10 hostages selected in Trondheim for death could not be found another leading citizen, a Capt. Berg, was seized and shot instead. The men had to listen to the announcement by radio of their own deaths.

Trondheim citizens realized there was deviltry afoot when one morning the newspapers failed to appear. A little later the police began to put up placards announcing a state of emergency "owing to the sabotage of food supplies." No evidence of such sabotage has ever been made public. In fact, this story was quickly forgotten in later announcements.

Terboven in Charge

At noon, Terboven, the German dictator, and Rediess, the German gestapo chief, drove through the town, followed by police on motor cycles with mounted machine guns. At the same time trains were arriving from Oslo packed with gestapo men, SS troops, and Norwegian state police. After a conference with his aides, Terboven announced publicly that the people of Trondheim would "soon know" that the Germans were serious in their intentions."

It was announced further news would be given at 7.30 p.m. by loud speakers which had been hastily set up in the streets.

At 7.30 however, the loudspeakers were silent and, as an eight o'clock curfew had been established, only a few persons heard the an- [redacted] the execution of 10 of Trondheim's leading citizens, which was reported shortly after 8:00 o'clock. Not even their relatives were told. They learned of the fate of their husbands, their fathers, their sons, through the next morning's newspapers!

But grimmer still, the condemned men heard of their own deaths over the radio. They were not actually shot until the following morning.

The Nazis apparently considered this an ingenious torture, and when subsequently 24 more Norwegians were executed, they, too, were shot on the day following the announcement of their deaths, given over the radio.

Faced Death Calmly

All faced death calmly and their courage impressed even their murderers. The next morning the dead men's homes were robbed.

At Falstat concentration camp, where the captives were, Russian prisoners-of-war had been ordered to dig graves in the courtyard where everyone could see them working. No one knew who was to be killed, and the tension was almost unbearable. Then a batch of 15 men, who came from the little parish of Orane, were called out at eight o'clock in the morning and ordered to stand at attention. They were kept standing thus for 11 1-2 hours, until 7.30 in the evening. Then they were called in to listen to the announcement of their deaths. The following day they were taken to the edge of the common grave which the Russians had been forced to dig. Here they were stripped naked and shot dead. The final group of nine endured a similar protracted ordeal.

In the city of Trondheim itself, the terror reigned unabated. Home after home was searched, hundreds of people were arrested, and they were not allowed to take any clothes or even toilet requisites with them; their relatives were made to believe that the arrested persons were to be killed.

Jews Especially Tortured

Jews especially were subject to ill-treatment, children of 12 and old men of 70 being dragged out of their beds. All the while, the beams of searchlights swept the streets.

Shops were confiscated from certain traders, and handed over to the personal friends of the local Quisling dictator, Rogstad. On the last day of the state of emergency," the entire town of Trondheim was ransacked for food, clothing and documents. Not only in Trondheim itself, but also in the surrounding countryside and neighboring towns the Nazis played havoc. At the town of Steinkjer, they even brought tanks along, which careened wildly through the streets and ran people down.

All this while, the author of these crimes, the German reichskommissar in Norway, Josef Terboven, was living in regal splendor in a luxury railway train just outside Trondheim together with his staff. On the evening after the first day of Trondheim's martyrdom, Terboven celebrated his murderous work by holding a lively drinking party.

New Federal Order Will Augment Tires

Some relief to the motor car problem is expected to be given by the federal order removing restrictions on retreading of passenger automobile tires. More cars are expected to be put in shape for operation on the highways, which also may mean an increased number of car registrations in the present license year.

It is claimed that there are hundreds of passenger car owners who have been waiting for the federal order to become effective so that the tire could be retreaded. Thus, tires will be given a longer life and another step taken along the line of conservation.

Information received by the Alberta Motor Association indicates that no great difficulty is anticipated by retreading service shops in obtaining necessary material for retreading passenger car tires. While securing of supplies was difficult last year, it has not been so this year.

The new ruling also will prove of great benefit to war workers who make use of this transportation to a great extent in each community where such plants have been established.

In some quarters it has been suggested that the general situation will be substantially eased when synthetic rubber is made available, possibly later on this year, from the new plant under construction at Sarnia, Ontario.

They turned down A. C. Murray at the recruiting centre in Calgary. He wrote from Michel, B.C., volunteering his services and making an apology for his rheumatism which forces him to use a cane. Recruiting officials replied with a regretful "no." They thought seventy-four was too old.

In Regina, Air Force and Army bands had a combined operation. More than a year ago the Army presented a handsome leopard skin to the bass drummer of the band of No. 2 I.T.S., R.C.A.F. Last week the Air Force reciprocated with the gift to the band of No. 12 District Depot of a mace for the drum major. To mark the occasion both bands got together and played as one.

When it comes to active service membership in Canada's fighting forces the Leighton family of Calgary comes close to the top of the list. Now Mona, daughter of Staff Sergeant Syd Leighton, has enlisted in the Canadian Women's Army to become the sixth member of her family on active service.

A heavy tin of canned heat—a Jap souvenir from Kiska—has been brought back to Elmira, Ontario, by Sgt. Floyd Schmidt, member of the Canadian forces which landed on Kiska.

Hardened for their role in coming assaults against Europe by weeks of gruelling training at Stratford, Ontario, the First Canadian Railway Operating Group is now reported overseas. Prime function of the unit when it goes into action will be the speedy transport of Canadian troops to and from the battle zones. Experienced railwaymen, with army training that makes them specialists in troop transport, the members are prepared to cope with all the problems of their important work.

Members of the C.W.A.C. stationed at MacDonald College won high praise for their assistance in evacuating patients when fire broke out in the military hospital at Ste. Anne de Bellevue. The entire course of officer cadets, young women from all parts of Canada who had just arrived to take their qualifying course, volunteered as a "fatigue squad" and spent an entire day with scrub-brushes and mops cleaning out damaged wards.

Western Canada has seen its first demonstration of the much-discussed twin Bren mounting. It was fired at Currie barracks. The mounting, an anti-aircraft weapon, is being used extensively Overseas. It permits an ordinary gun crew to fire two Bren machine guns at once with a high degree of accuracy.

SEEDTIME and HARVEST

By
Dr. K. W. Neatby
Director, Agricultural Department
North-West Line Elevators Association

Germination Tests

Frost damage to cereal grains has again been serious in some districts. This means loss to the farmer through reduced yields and lower grades. Many farmers will almost certainly find it necessary to buy new seed, especially of oats and barley.

It is never wise to assume that seed will germinate giving a high percentage of vigorous seedlings.

It is always wise to make a germination test, or to have one made.

Three courses of action are open to the farmer. They are:

1. Official government test for which a nominal charge is made. Send samples to Plant Products Division (Seed Branch), Winnipeg, Saskatoon or Calgary.

2. Make a home germination test. A printed card, giving full instructions, may be obtained from the Agricultural Department, The North-West Line Elevators Association, Winnipeg.

3. Take a sample of about three ounces to the nearest line elevator associated with this Department. The agent will forward it to us for testing. We test only wheat, oats, barley, rye and flax. Other seeds must be sent to Plant Products Division laboratories.

Last year, we tested over 11,000 samples. Of these, only 3,000 came in before Christmas. As a result, we were taxed beyond our capacity in March, and many farmers had to wait three or four weeks for results. Please help us to avoid congestion in the spring by delivering samples to the local elevator agent early.

This subject is discussed more fully in a printed leaflet. Get one from your nearest line elevator agent.

Mixed Farming Expanded In Alberta

Alberta farmers' cash income for the first six months of 1943 totalled $71,742,000. The largest single item in this income was $31 million realized from the sale of hogs. Wheat sales came next with a total of $19 million. The sales of field crops totalled $29 million as against $68 million realized from the sale of livestock and dairy and poultry products.

These statistics demonstrate the extent to which Alberta farmers have diversified their agriculture. More than twice the money was realized from the products of what is known as mixed farming than from the grain sales. It should be appreciated however, that the livestock industry is based on the ability of Alberta farms to produce grain to be used as feed. It should also be understood that the expansion of mixed farming is accounted for largely by the expanded markets for meat, dairy and poultry products.

Subsidies to Milk Producers

According to a recent government announcement, subsidies will be paid to dairy producers as follows, beginning October 1st, 1943, and continuing until April 30, 1944:

1. Fifty-five cents per hundred pounds to producer-distributors of fluid milk and of such milk bought by distributors for fluid milk consumption as the agricultural food board may direct.

2. Thirty cents per hundred pounds of milk used for concentration purposes as the agricultural food board may direct;

3. Thirty cents per hundred pounds of milk used in the manufacture of cheddar cheese.

4. Eight cents per pound of butter fat until December 31st, 1943, and ten cents a pound butter fat from January 1st, 1944 to April 30, 1944.

The purpose of these subsidies is to aid farmers in meeting higher costs and thus encourage the maintenance of milk production in Canada.

Farm Supply Youth to City

Statistics gathered in the United States indicate that the populations in the large urban centres are maintained because of an influx of young people from the farms. The towns and cities are not maintaining the population numbers from natural increase. The farming areas thus not only supply the towns and cities with food but with farm boys and girls.

The situation in Canada is much the same as that in the United States. Dean F. M. Clement of the University of British Columbia says that Vancouver is not even maintaining her population from the natural increase. The increase in population that city has enjoyed has come mainly from the farms of Western Canada.

There are several reasons why farm boys and girls go to the city—shorter hours of work, higher pay, picture shows, general social and economic conveniences, business opportunities and a chance to become the leader in the professions and in industry.

Ironized Sods For Pigs

(Experimental Farms News)

A good way to supply iron to young pigs is by way of ironized sods, says C. H. Anderson, Dominion Experimental Station, Beaverlodge, Alberta.

At the Station all young pigs are fed reduced iron shortly after birth but whenever possible sods are also provided the sow and young ones in the pens. Soil contains more or less iron and the young pigs in rooting around in the dirt generally eat sufficient quantities to make good the shortage of iron in their systems. As an additional insurance, however, the sods should be treated with ferrous sulphate. This is probably good practice because all soils are not equally high in iron content. A common practice is to dissolve one tablespoonful of ferrous sulphate in one quart of water, and this amount of the solution is sprinkled on each sod with a sprinkling can. Sods should be approximately one foot square in size.

By using ironized sods, the small pigs are encouraged to shift for themselves and at the same time they are assured of an ample supply of the iron which is so essential for good health. When sods are stored for winter use it is a good plan to sprinkle them layer by layer with a solution of ferrous sulphate in the proportions above specified. A pig can get too much iron in one dose but many pigs do not get iron enough.

There will be another serious shortage of coal, of wood and of all fuel this winter, both in town and country.

Farmers and other rural people would help the national interest if they would share any fuel as it becomes available.

Do not store too much, do not use too much, then all will have at least some fuel.

QUANTITY OF MONEY and volume of credit are matters of high national monetary policy.

Canada's Chartered Banks exist to perform two main services:

1. They receive the savings and other funds of the public, who thus build up bank balances in the form of savings and current accounts.

2. They advance money to communities, enterprises and persons to serve their legitimate needs.

Along with these main functions the banks, through more than 3,000 branches and sub-agencies, render a large number of other important services related to local and national needs—services which have greatly increased as a result of the war.

But the quantity of money in existence in the country at any given time, and the volume of credit, are matters of high national monetary policy. The nation's own central bank, the Bank of Canada, determines them. The Bank of Canada makes extensive use of the Chartered Banks' facilities in giving effect to these policies.

The Chartered Banks' responsibility, clearly established and regulated by the Bank Act, is in the realm of commercial banking—that is, to receive deposits and to serve the needs of trade and industry.

WHEAT TRADING SUSPENDED—

TWICE IN WESTERN history war conditions have ruptured the system of wheat trading which long experience and repeated Royal Commissions have proved to be best for the farmer. On each occasion the special circumstances of a war-time economy made the move necessary. Trading was suspended for three years last time—from 1917 to 1920—and it may be expected that the present halt in normal conditions will be long too. But in 1920, open trading was resumed once more, and it will be the course of wisdom for the government to regard the present suspension as something temporary also—the addition of one more war-time control accepted only of necessity and for as short a time as possible.

A government board, no matter how wise or prudent it may be, is no adequate substitute for the maintenance of competition in buying and selling and in the search for markets which has always marked the open trading system; and it is only with reluctance that we acquiesce in the government's decision that the exigencies of war demand the suspension of normal trading methods. We do not question the inevitability of the action now taken. There is no element of normality in the world wheat trade today. Buyers and sellers are limited in number and strictly restricted by war conditions. Only a small area was left in which beneficial processes of the open market could operate; and even this area, in the light of the developments now taking place, was one in which damage rather than benefit would occur to the economy of the country as a whole.

In 1917 the step was taken in order to prevent a run-away market developing in a world which urgently wanted far more wheat than there was in existence. Fundamentally this is the reason for the move today in spite of the existence of what seems to be enormous quantities of wheat in storage. But the market has been reflecting a demand so strong and so continued that the government, wisely committed as it is to a policy of war time economic stabilization, has been forced to take control of the situation in the general interests of the nation. Far better to do it now than to wait until the run-away situation had actually developed with all the indirect and baneful results that would have upon the general scheme of stabilization.

Voices will doubtless be raised to say that the farmers are being done out of their rightful due, that they have gone through a long cycle of low prices and that, just as the general world situation was turning in their favor, the government stepped in to deprive them of its benefits. There will be agitators a-plenty to denounce the policy now adopted, and every attempt will be made to get political capital out of it, regardless of either facts or consequences.

But realists will recognize that what the Government has done is largely to increase the return to farmers growing wheat, and that the stabilization policy will be to that degree endangered. They will recognize too that besides increasing the immediate price paid to the farmers, participation certificates are being issued which will in due course put more money in their pockets, and of course again increase the inflationary pressure. The new initial price paid for wheat brings it far up towards "parity", that will o' the wisp of agrarians; and as most farm prices are at parity or above it, the new policy should not cause any dissatisfaction in the west, though it remains to be seen what repercussions will be felt in other parts of the country. Any drastic revision of price, under our ceiling policy, is immediately felt economically and politically from coast to coast.

Another factor has also to be remembered. When open trading was suspended in the last war, the western economy was a wheat economy. We were, to all intents and purposes, a one crop country. That is not true today. The Canadian prairies are now, broadly speaking, an immense mixed farming area, and the importance of wheat in many regions has greatly decreased. Farmers in very many cases have been making their money out of hogs and livestock and dairy products and course grains, with wheat on the side. Even so a crop of 250 or 300 million bushels on which an initial price of $1.25 is being paid, represents an exceedingly large sum of money.

The Government thus undertakes the entire responsibility for the marketing of Canada's most historic crop and the final accounting of its stewardship is not likely to be known for a long time. Ever since the days of the depression, when the Government first went into the wheat business and blundered along the road to experience, the present situation has been a possibility looming on the horizon. We are fortunate, now that we are into it, in having a fund of knowledge accumulated over the years and public servants administering the Wheat Board who are faithful and competent. But no one will minimize the dangers to be met. We have entered an era when the appeal for electoral support is being joined to promises of the most extravagant and impossible kind, and it is visionary to suppose that a public wheat policy will not be subjected to extraordinary pressures. The columns of Hansard already bear vivid testimony to what will happen.—Winnipeg Free Press.

RATIONING NOTES

FARM EMPLOYERS NEED RATION BOOKS

Farm employers remaining two weeks or longer at any place where they accept occupation are reminded by ration officials that they must turn their ration books over to the householder in order to receive rationed commodities during the time they obtain meals at that home.

The ruling whereby farmers' wives may obtain supplementary rations through application to Local Ration Boards applies only for transient labour such as harvesters, employed for a few days at a time says Mr. McKee.

TRUCK RIDES TO PICNICS BANNED

Although picnic jaunts in trucks, or travel to and from a place of recreation or pleasure, such as going to a ball game, are termed "wasteful and unnecessary by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, and therefore out in wartime, it is alright to use a truck for church or religious ceremonies, or in emergency the Board declares.

The rule forbidding the driver to take passengers in the truck with him unless they were helpers to load or unload, is revoked. But the truck must be on essential business if passengers are along. It is also alright to pick up members of the armed services on the road.

LOCAL RATION BOARDS PRAISED

Praising the work of 600 Local Ration Boards in Canada, their personnel and volunteer workers who distributed over 11,000,000 ration books in four days in the Dominion, Chairman Donald Gordon, Wartime Price and Trade Board wrote each board chairman stating, "It was a splendid job of community organization and you are to be congratulated on it. I know that you are indebted greatly— as we all are — to the volunteers who assisted in this work. Their help, too, was gladly given as a national service —— let me thank you on behalf of the whole Board for undertaking such a tremendous job and making a splendid success of it."

HONEY RATION IS INCREASED

Molasses and honey rations have been doubled, maple syrup rations are increased from 10 to 12 ounces, and cane, corn or blended table syrup rations increased from 12 to 14 ounces through a revision of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board order rationing sweetspreads.

The ration of preserved fruits, and jam is unchanged, and the alternative purchase of half pound of sugar or maple sugar with D coupon is unchanged.

To enable consumers ordinarily buying honey, corn syrup and maple syrup packed in large containers to make their purchases, valid date of coupons D4 and D5 was advanced to September 30 from October 14. However coupons D6 and D7 will not be valid until November 11 in accordance with the present schedule, and subsequently two coupons will become valid every four weeks.

NOW VALID

D coupons 1,2,3,4, and 5
Sugar coupons 15 and 16
Tea or coffee coupons 16 and 17
Butter coupons 28,29 30 and 31 (expire October 31st.)
Meat coupons, pairs 17, 18 and 19 (expire October 31)

OCTOBER 7th

OCTOBER 14th

Sugar coupons 17 and 18
Tea or coffee coupons 18 and 19
Butter coupons 32 and 33 (expire October 31)
Meat coupons pair 21 (expire October 31)

DEFINITION OF FARMER OFFERED

So far as Wartime Prices and Trade Board regulations governing the slaughtering of beef, pork, veal, lamb and mutton are concerned, a farmer is defined as "A person who derives the major portion of his livelihood from agricultural pursuits carried on by him on the farm."

HONEY PRODUCERS PLEASE REGISTER

Farmers and others who produce one ton of honey or less each year are required to register at the nearest local ration board. Those who produce more than a ton of honey a year should register at the nearest branch of the ration administration, Edmonton, Calgary, Grande Prairie or Lethbridge, officials of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announce.

Small producers will be required to report monthly sales to the local ration board office, enclosing D coupons and other valid documents collected with each sale.

Larger producers who register with ration offices will be required to open ration coupon bank accounts and to file monthly reports.

Producers may supply retailers until September 30 without collecting coupons. Those who supply wholesalers are given until October 30 to forego the coupon transaction in order to build up buffer stocks, officials state.

A DAY WILL COME..

. . . "— a day will come, when I'll walk up the hill back of our place, and see the colour of the wheat showing on the South quarter. I'll find the buckskin pony, and rub his ears, and ride him down to the lake. I'll want to check up on those Angus calves you've been telling me about."

"The farms round here are tiny, compared to ours, but I saw one that looked like the old Macgregor place on Highway No. 3. I'll want to drive over to the Macgregor's like we used to do for the Saturday dance in the barn."

"Hope Dad will have the tractor by then. We'll need it if we're going to put the pasture into flax. Think we'll have to paint the house, and put in electricity for Mom. Its fun thinking about it anyway — although it all seems so far away just now."

"Time to grab forty winks, and I still have to write Margaret. We didn't get much sleep in the last (censored) days coming here and we've had a hot time since we arrived. But it's a thrill to be in it with Montgomery's men.

Be seeing you —— "

WHAT IS A VICTORY BOND?

A VICTORY BOND is the promise of the Dominion of Canada to repay in cash the face value of the Bond on the date of maturity with half-yearly interest until that time. A Victory Bond is the safest investment in Canada backed by the entire resources of the Dominion. Canada has been issuing bonds for 75 years, and has never failed to pay every dollar of principal and interest when due. A Victory Bond is an asset readily marketable at any time.

Yes, a day will come . . . when he'll be back, ready to take his place in a Canada he helped make safe for all of us. To speed that day is in our power. We at home . . . in factories, in offices, on farms . . . work long hours to hurry it along. We go without, and lend our savings to provide what he needs to win quickly. This is the least that anyone can do. And when that day comes—you'll want to welcome him—and to help him make his hopes come true.

To speed Victory, plan to buy as many Victory Bonds as you can.

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

Written specially for the weekly newspapers of Canada

Taking a week's holiday from this news letter turned out to be a bus man's holiday and I wound up in Regina, Sask., Queen city of the Plains, taking in the annual convention of the Saskatchewan Division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

After two days and two nights on the train, Ottawa and its hive of war activity seems a remote place. Out here on the long stretches of flat prairie, with the manpower available, the farmers are garnering a crop which, while it isn't so much compared to last year's record bumper, will contribute greatly to feeding the United Nations.

For miles and miles on end one sees threshing rigs going full blast and numberless straw stacks—golden yellow mounds that tell a story of nature's gift in fruition.

On the train which rumbles ceaselessly on, is found part of the public opinion of Canada, and for anyone interested in the dissemination of information here is a fountain of interesting hours to be spent. It is on a train too, I think, that some of the mechanics of public opinion is moulded and considerable inter-sectional goodwill is cemented. But rumours are also spread, and misinformation is spilled around promiscuously. And it is also where political hash is potted.

More people are travelling than ever before; and more people are learning more about Canada than they ever did before. Good will comes of it. I was talking to a western agriculturist who had been down in Quebec taking a looksee. He had probably hated to persuade himself, but he admitted frankly that the Quebec farmer "was doing a good job" that he was in most cases, and in his own way, really farming better than the westerner had given him credit for. I only mention this because it shows what travel and intermingling can do for a people.

You run into interesting things on a train alright. I talked with a diplomat's wife who was just three weeks away from Stockholm with her two small children and a Norwegian nurse. A high priority got her out of Sweden by plane. Some of her observations I think will record here something that I haven't seen suggested anywhere in the press of Canada or the United States. She had spoken to newspaper people in Stockholm, to people from Germany who had been in Sweden on business, to refugees just escaped from occupied Norway, and she said the feeling is growing that Germany will soon quietly move out of Norway and be rid of what's turning out to be a decided pain in the neck to her economically, militarily, and otherwise. This is the "something" that I haven't seen even suggested before.

She said conditions in Norway are terrible, worse than what you read about. There is an average of about forty Norwegians getting out every day to Sweden and she has had the opportunity of getting first hand information. She confirmed the reports that no German troops have moved through Sweden for some time, ever since the Swedish government promulgated that edict.

People recently from Germany had told her that the city of Hamburg, for instance, was really totally obliterated. Fires so terrible raged there after the big raids that they didn't even try to stop them, and cement flowed down the streets like lava. Berlin has taken a terrible pasting and is in a bad way, but her information was that the morale of the German people is not yet shaken to the extent where there is liable to be an early collapse.

Packing Industry Labor Situation

An announcement by Mr. O. S. Longman, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, calls attention to the serious labour situation confronting the packing industry in Alberta, and particularly in Edmonton.

"Approximately eight hundred men are wanted in Edmonton and possibly one hundred in Calgary", said Mr. Longman. "Not only are the packing plants confronted with a shortage of labour, but present staffs are dangerously short of skilled help capable of training and directing the high percentage of unskilled workers which must be employed.

The serious loss and wastage

The serious loss and wastage which may occur to farmers, packers and consumers, if a bottleneck is allowed to develop in the meat packing industry is obvious to all. I am advised that the problem confronting Edmonton packers is the most serious of any packing centre in Canada, and having regard for the increased livestock production in Alberta, the province is vitally concerned in a solution of this problem.

In order to avoid this situation developing, farmers are urged, in their own interests, to direct insofar as possible, farm help to packing plants immediately harvesting is concluded. It would also appear desirable that men skilled in meat processing, who are at present engaged in other industries, including agriculture or who may be in the armed forces, be recalled to help meet the situation. Harvest is nearing completion in some districts of Alberta and in most areas it will be well advanced in another two or three weeks. Wherever possible men who are experienced in the meat packing industry might be substituted in the harvest fields by other workers and allowed to relieve the situation in the meat packing industry.

We do not want to have in the stockyards and abattoirs a repetition of what has occurred in the grain industry. I refer to 4000 cars of grain now at the Head of the Lakes waiting to be unloaded due to lack of labour.

A parallel situation of what exists in the packing plants, exists to a lesser degree in creameries, canneries and other processing plants.

A fairly satisfactory job has been done on the production lines, and it would be most regrettable if it were to be offset by a failure to effectively process agricultural products. It is highly important that the processing and delivery to the consumers and to the armed forces be completed without delay, loss or wastage."

CHEMISTRY IS HOPE

When chemists operate the department of agriculture I see a bright future for the families who are combining a small subsistence farm with some trade or profession. Each year it will be easier and cheaper for them to raise what they need to feed their families. Only as large cities get smaller and more of these little cooperative sustenance farms increase in number will America be better, safer and happier.

Our standard of living will be raised by the scientists in laboratories rather than by the politicians in Congress. What has been accomplished in connection with hybrid corn, can be repeated and extended with sugar beets, soybeans, potatoes and tomatoes. The combining of careful breeding and scientific soil mineralization has boundless possibilities. Added to the above are the possibilities of the changing of products from one kind to another by rearrangement of the atoms. The field of fermentation also offers huge opportunities. It is very possible that, within a few years, a family may, with little effort, raise its own food and far better food than can now be bought.

Trading in Wheat Futures Suspended

Trading in wheat on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange is suspended, and producers are to be given an initial payment on their wheat of $1.25 a bushel, basis No. 1 Northern in store at Fort William. Participation Certificates will be issued. ($1.25 is almost exactly the 1913-14 wheat "parity" price).

"This action has been taken" states the Government "because of the unusual war circumstances surrounding the marketing of Canadian wheat and because transportation difficulties have interfered with the normal functioning of the Winnipeg market."

If our farmers today are receiving more than the official Wheat Board price of 90 cents, it is only owing to the fact that the Winnipeg "futures" market has been functioning, and has registered a gradually rising price from 90 cents up to $1.23¼.

As Mr. Broomhall, one of the world's greatest authorities on wheat marketing, recently said "Canadian farmers will recognize that they are receiving a better wartime price for their wheat mainly because the "futures" market is functioning."

I for one am quite certain that as soon as the war is over the suspension of wheat trading will be lifted, so that the "futures" market can continue in the future as it has done in the past to register wheat prices, and to assist in the sale of Canadian wheat on the many markets of the world.

M. D. Of Beaver Will Buy Victory Bonds

GIVE SPECIAL ATTENTION TO FORAGE CROP SEED DISTRIBUTION

The M.D. of Beaver in Council assembled at Ryley on Friday, October 8th decided to purchase $10,000 worth of Victory bonds in the forthcoming campaign and to give special attention to forage crop seed distribution.

There were present at the meeting Reeve Ovens, Councillors Anderson, Giebelhaus, Lucas and Moen.

The minutes of the last meeting were approved and on the motion of Councillor Anderson adopted.

URGE COLLECTION OF ARREARS

A letter from the Department of Municipal Affairs dealt with the collection of taxes. It stated that tax collecting was now an all year job and urged that special effort be put forward to collect arrears.

FORAGE CROP SEED DISTRIBUTION TO BE CONTINUED

Letter from Field Crops Commissioner giving suggestions regarding the sowing of grass seed. Council expressed itself in favor of Forage Crop Seed Distribution. Councillor Moen moved that we continue on with the forage crop seed plan and inform people through annual statement. Seed to be sold at cost and orders to be in by March 1st; 20 per cent due to be paid when ordering. Carried.

On the motion of Councillor Anderson a full discussion of the Forage Crop Seed plan will be held at the next meeting.

SECTION 25-49-13 UNDER DISCUSSION

Mr. Lennox interviewed Council regarding the sale of section 25-49-13. This is the section that Mr. Quast at the last meeting offered to buy. At that time a committee composed of Reeve Ovens and Councillor Giebelhaus was appointed to view the property and to make what arrangement they believed to be in the best interests of the M.D. The committee reported that they had done this and valued the land at $2500.00, which Mr. Quast had agreed to pay. However, other developments had come up and Mr. Lennox was present to place his wishes before Council.

Mr. Lennox said he was the original owner and had spent quite a large sum of money improving the place. Some years ago he sold it and the purchaser allowed the taxes to get into arrears and Council took title to it. In 1939 it was rented to Mr. Arndt and he, Mr. Lennox, thought the District's share of the crop would pay up the back taxes. There is 220 acres broken. $150.00 had been paid this year on taxes and receipt says this is share of 1942 crop, consisting of 180 bushels of wheat. Arrears of taxes amount to $1084.00. There was some wheat belonging to the M.D. on the farm which was valued anywhere from $300.00 to $700.00. After considerable discussion it was, on motion of Councillor Giebelhaus decided to let Mr. Lennox have all the M.D.'s share of grain left of 1942 and 1943 crops for $600.00 to be applied on taxes.

It was also understood that Mr. Lennox was to act as the M.D. agent as regards the collection of rent, the ultimate object being the return of the farm to Mr. Lennox when all arrears of taxes had been paid.

ASSESSED FOR CHURCH

Mr. Stambaugh interviewed Council regarding some Bruce property bought at a tax sale, which was adjacent to a church. He also purchased a lot next to the town well. Later he gave the lot near the well and another suitable for roadway to council for right of way. He also on another occasion bought some lots and had them registered for church purposes, in three names. There were no taxes levied through the years. Now he finds himself assessed for the lots and the church as well. What he now desired was that some lots owned by him and used by the church as a garden be exempted from taxation. On the motion of Reeve Ovens, who understood this rather intricate property deal better than anyone else, Mr. Stambaugh was granted exemption on the lots used by the church for garden purposes.

URGE PURCHASE OF VICTORY BONDS

Mr. Stambaugh then went on to stress the importance of the District purchasing Victory bonds in the forthcoming campaign. He said he had been here since 1905 and had never seen so much money from agriculture and so little opportunity to spend it. Revenue was up 25 per cent and goods were down 25 per cent. He suggested that the Council purchase bonds with their bank balance and borrow against the bonds if necessary. Council promised to take the question up later in the day.

WILL SEARCH ALL TITLES

With the coming year a new form of tax roll will come into effect.

Tofield Victory Loan Quota $85,000

Canada's Fifth Victory Loan Campaign will be launched on Monday next, October 18th, when it is hoped to exceed the sum of $1,200,000,000 which has been set as the goal for the loan for the whole Dominion.

With the war news more favorable to the United Nations, there may be a tendency on the part of many to hold back, and take it for granted that "all is well anyway", but such is far from being the case.

Events in the war theatres may be somewhat encouraging, but this is certainly no time to slacken the efforts being made on behalf of our gallant fighters to keep them supplied with all necessary supplies for a finally successful conclusion of the great struggle.

There is one sure way to "Speed the Victory", and that is by each and everyone contributing to the effort to their very utmost. Therefore—Be prepared to go the limit when YOU are called upon to lend for the "Fifth Victory Loan"!

M. D. Of Beaver Will Buy Victory Bonds

There will be one sheet for each parcel of land and there will not need to be a new roll opened up every year as formerly. The office staff had discussed the advisability of getting a land titles office search of each parcel of land as this would give the name of the registered owner and all pertinent information regarding the parcel. Accordingly the office had written the Land Titles Office regarding the cost and had received a reply saying that the charges for the first fifty would be 25c a parcel and 10c per parcel for the balance.

On the motion of Reeve Ovens it was decided to procure a search title of all parcels within the municipality.

TO DRILL FOR OIL"

Letter from Imperial Oil regarding S.W. 20-47-13. Secretary explained that Mr. Foras is buying this quarter from the district but sale was subject to approval of Minister of Municipal Affairs. The Imperial Oil Company desired a signed statement from the M.D. and from Mr. Foras that they be permitted to drill for oil on this property. Mr. Foras and the M.D. had given this statement to the Imperial Oil Company and Council approved of the action of the Reeve and Secretary in doing so.

It was suggested that those councillors with the shortest terms be delegates, and this on the motion of Councillor Moen was agreed to. The delegates this year will be Reeve Ovens, Councillors Giebelhaus and Swabey. Councillor Anderson will be an alternate in the event either of the above are unable to go.

The amount of expense money was discussed and on the motion of Councillor Lucas, delegates will be allowed $50.00 each.

HAIL INSURANCE PROBLEM

Letter from Hail Insurance Board regarding some hail insurance put on by a renter some years ago. The renter of the land had no authority to put on insurance and the then secretary of the M.D. should not have accepted it from him. It was the $38.00 cannot be charged Rybeneeev former secretary's error and the amount due, $38.00, cannot be charged against the land. Council decided to assume the obligation.

TAX SALE DECEMBER 1st

On the motion of Councillor Moen the tax sale will be held on December 1st at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the District's office at Ryley.

TO BUY VICTORY BONDS

Reeve Ovens suggested that Council decide what amount of bonds of the 5th Victory Loan they desired to purchase. Quite a serious discussion took place, council feeling that Canada's war effort should be supported, yet recognizing their duty to ratepayers with taxes to pay. Reeve Ovens announced that he was willing to put his division's surplus road money into bonds amounting to $2000.00. Councillor Moen thought that $5000.00 was all the M.D. should invest. Councillor Anderson felt that when young men were asked to sacrifice their lives council should purchase all the bonds they could. Councillors Giebelhaus and Lucas felt that some bonds should be purchased but that council should not go too heavy.

Moved by Councillor Giebelhaus that the District purchase bonds to the value of $10,000.00, $8,000.00 to come from general funds and $2,000.00 from road surplus of division 1.— Carried.

A bylaw covering the above was given its first and second reading.

Meeting then adjourned.

TOFIELD BAPTIST CHURCH NEWS

Services have been held all summer in the little Municipal Office building, while the church is being completed. Sunday school begins at 10.30 and the morning worship service at 11:30. There is a class for the adults in the R.D.W. course with bible chart study taught by the pastor. Any boy or girl who does not attend Sunday School elsewhere is certainly welcome here.

The Sunday School together with the teachers gathered at the home of Mrs. Barber of Ministik for a rally day on Saturday, October 2nd. There were 38 out. The afternoon was spent in races and games and concluded with a weiner roast down by the shore of Cooking Lake. Prizes were awarded to the winners of the races. We are so thankful to Mrs. Barber who is one of our teachers for asking us out for we had a wonderful time.

October 3rd was promotion day in our Sunday school. The new graded lessons were begun. Each child was given a beautifully colored diploma suitable for framing as they were promoted to their new classes. It was very touching indeed to see mothers bring their little ones to be dedicated to the Lord. Each child was given a lovely Cradle Roll Certificate.

The regular Wednesday evening prayer meeting was held in the new living quarters of Rev. and Mrs. Peterson when their home was dedicated to the Lord.

Rev. and Mrs. Peterson moved into the parsonage at the back of the church last Wednesday, the same evening a prayer meeting and dedication service was held, and a nice crowd was present.

On Friday evening the pastor and Mrs. Peterson were pleasantly surprised when a group of about 36 people met for what is commonly known as a "house warming."

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Rogers took charge and a very pleasant evening was spent in games and a short program of gospel choruses and readings. Rev. and Mrs. Peterson were presented with a gift of household articles and groceries, also a sum of money. Both Mr. and Mrs. Peterson expressed their appreciation and thanks. A delicious lunch served by the ladies brought a delightful evening to a close. Everyone wished the Peterson's God's Blessing.

LOSSES WITH MALTING BARLEY

By H. G. L. Strange

There is a nice premium to be obtained by farmers for barley that is eligible for the malting grades. Samples of barleys submitted by farmers to Elevator Companies for these grades are examined carefully by the Malting Companies who pay the premiums.

Some lots are accepted, but many other lots unfortunately are turned down because of admixtures of varieties of barleys which are not suitable for malting.

Oftentimes, too, it is found that otherwise good malting barleys have to be turned down because of too close threshing which again unfits the barley for making good malt.

For a number of years I endeavored to grow barley for the maltsters. I had some success and many disappointments. Some things I found at had to be done. One is to use particular care with each operation, starting with the use of good registered seed, sown on clean summerfallow if possible; then to watch each step of the management of the crop so that no other varieties of barley would be present in the grain, to watch too that the kernel is not damaged in threshing. Stooks, I found, should be capped to avoid discoloration of the berry; and the cap sheaves threshed separately for feed grain. The purchase of some good Registered seed of a malting variety is, however, the first step of all.

IMPORTANT HINTS ON MAILING CHRISTMAS PARCELS FOR OVERSEAS

It's time to be getting the Christmas parcel ready for the boys and girls in the Armed forces of Canada overseas. The Post Office Department has announced that this year the closing date for overseas parcels for delivery to Canadians in Britain and on other parts of the far-flung battle line by Christmas is November 1st. This is 10 days earlier than last year. The reason for advancing the dead line is because the range of delivery this year is more extensive than at any other time since the start of the war. The Post Office officials say that it will be helpful to speeding up and assuring prompt delivery if the mailing of parcels is done even earlier than November 1st. This year they expect to have to handle much more than the 8 1-2 million pounds of Christmas parcels in 1942, because there are thousands more Canadian boys and girls overseas than there were a year ago.

It appears that the spirit of Christmas absorbs the Post Office people, for in an official appeal to mail Christmas parcels early for overseas, they express a poignant concern about what a giftless Christmas would mean for the boys and girls who are wearing the badge of Canada on the active war fronts.

The weight limit for overseas parcels for the armed forces is 11 pounds, but if it can be kept under, so much the better. No inflammable items, such as matches or lighting fluids must be enclosed. Last year several hundred bags of Christmas parcels for Canadians overseas were lost by fire at an Eastern Canadian port, caused by the ignition of inflammable material which had been enclosed. The result was immeasurable disappointment to thousands of boys and girls in Britain and elsewhere, and to parents and other relatives and friends who had packed the parcels with such loving hope and care.

Fresh fruits, such as oranges and any other perishable products should not be enclosed. Preserves, jam, pickles or other delicacies in glass bottles or jars are barred.

The contents of overseas parcels should be put in a strong corrugated cardboard or fibre board box, the box wrapped in layers of strong paper and securely tied. Fancy tissue paper should never be used. The name and address should be plainly written in ink.

Observing the Post Office instructions will help to assure delivery of the Christmas parcels, and their arrival overseas will help the boys and girls "over there" to have a happier Christmas.

THE M.D. COUNCIL AND VICTORY BONDS—

A SERIOUS VEIN was struck at the council meeting of Municipal District of Beaver held last Friday when the subject of purchasing Victory Bonds came up for attention and discussion. Mr. Stambaugh of Bruce had interviewed Council during the morning session on personal business and took the opportunity of saying something in support of the coming Victory Loan Campaign. Mr. Stambaugh is an excellent Victory Bond salesman. In the middle of his talk he turned to the secretary and asked how much money there was in the bank, and upon the secretary replying "about $35,000 municipal," Mr. Stambaugh went on to suggest that Council purchase bonds to this amount and borrow on them for current needs. It is doubtful if Mr. Stambaugh meant this to be taken seriously or whether the suggestion was made in order to show that buying bonds for any amount, and when necessary borrowing against them, was quite feasible.

The matter of Council purchasing Victory Bonds came up in the afternoon and it was then that the question of a public tax gathering body buying bonds was aired. Reeve Ovens led the discussion and said that he believed council should purchase as many as they could. In this he was supported by Councillor Anderson; Councillors Giebelhaus and Lucas were of the opinion some bonds should be bought, while Councillor Moen felt that if the council purchased $5000.00 they were doing their share. On this decision Councillor Moen remained steadfast. He pointed out that the taxes in his division had increased municipal 3 mills and school 3 or 4 mills, and while the purchase of Victory Bonds constituted an investment and not an expenditure, the money must of necessity come out of taxation. Other members of the Council pointed out that our system of finance made it imperative that periodical Victory loans be over subscribed so that there should be no cessation or delay in sending every possible aid to those in the armed forces. The result of the discussion was that Council agreed to purchase $10,000 worth of Victory Bonds, $8000.00 to be from general funds and $2000.00 from division one road appropriation funds.

The question of public tax collecting bodies purchasing Victory Bonds is a debateable one. Councillors are elected primarily to conduct the affairs of the municipality; to arrange for the collection of taxes and the expenditure of the money for the improvement of the district. There are men, patriotic men, who believe it is not the function of the municipal council to buy Victory bonds, that this is outside their sphere of action. There are other men who feel that councils should go the limit in the support of war finance. Particularly as applied to councils it would seem that a middle of the road policy is advisable. As a public body it should set an example to all individuals in the matter of war finance by purchasing some bonds, yet keep in mind that it is trust money that is being invested and that taxes are many and varied.

However there is another angle to the investment of municipal funds which will bear investigation. In the past the general policy of most municipalities have been to prepare in the early months of the year a budget of expenditures for the forth coming year. Then to take care of these expenditures a certain mill rate is set. Some years are good, and sufficient money comes in to meet current expenditures but other years are not so good and collections do not reach the required amount. This system is simply spending money before it is received, and no guarantee that it will, within that year, be received. A better system would be to have one years normal expenditure in reserve so that the yearly budget of expenditures could be based on what money the municipality actually had and not on what it expected to collect.

To accumulate this amount of money in one year would increase taxation tremendously, but it could be accumulated over a period of years, a few thousand dollars at a time, until the required amount had been reached. The advantages of having this amount on hand are obvious. If a particularly bad year came along and tax receipts were light, there would be a reserve to fall back on and if necessary, the mill rate could be lowered the following year to offset the effect of necessary penalties.

Current war finance fits into a plan of this kind like a hand into a glove. Urged again and again to buy Victory bonds, councils could build up their reserves and at the same time perform a valuable patriotic service.

NOT SO HARD BOILED—

There are occasions when one hears public officials spoken of as callous to the welfare of the individual. Councillors for instance are often pictured as having little regard for the ratepayer except as a source of taxation and a voting medium. Therefore it is pleasing to note and record incidents that show councillors as not at all hard boiled, but rather willing to stretch a point so that a ratepayer does not suffer heavy loss. A ratepayer had sold a section of land upon which there were improvements, including a dwelling house. The buyer did not make good and the land was finally sold for taxes. This was during the bad years and the original owner had no means to protect it. The M.D. took title and leased the land on a crop share basis. Even so, taxes were not paid up in full. Comes along a man who wishes to buy the land and from a relatively small offer, raises his bid until it meets with the approval of council. Then comes along the original owner who would like to get the section of land back. There was [redacted] wheat on the land belonging to the M.D. which the original owner agreed to take for $500.00, the money being applied on taxes. Further proceeds from rent will also be applied on taxes, and when taxes are paid in full, the original owner will have a good opportunity of getting the land back. This despite the fact that Council are in a position to sell it at more than double the amount the taxes will bring.

GROUND FIRES AT MINISTIK

Councillor Swabey dropped into the Mercury Office on Saturday, looking pretty tired. For several days past he, with a number of others had been busy fighting a ground fire, which, after such a spell of fine dry weather, was easy to start and quick to get away. The threshers had come that morning and so, no matter which way the weather went, Mr. Swabey was aided. If it rained it helped to stop the fires; if it remained fine, threshing proceeded. The weather changed on Sunday and we hope put out the fires. It is now fine again and we hope threshing goes on uninterupted.

Shower For Bride Elect

On Wednesday, October 6th, a pleasant afternoon was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Cookson, when friends and neighbors met to shower their daughter, Helen, with hearty good wishes and gifts, on the occasion of her approaching marriage, to Mr. Arthur Lampill of Bentley, Alberta.

A very large and lovely 3 tier wedding cake, in white with decorations of pink and silver, and topped with pink and white flowers, was presented to the bride elect, who, on lifting the top layers off, found a wonderful array of useful and beautiful presents.

A dainty booklet recorded the names of those present, together with plenty of advice to those contemplating matrimony.

Before dispersing several snapshots were taken and if good wishes are any harbinger of happiness, the young couple will certainly live happily ever after.

Born.—To Mr. and Mrs. Emil Tiedeman on October 15th, at the Misericordia hospital, a daughter. Congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Bethel and family returned to Edmonton last week, after spending about 10 days visiting friends and relatives. Hubert assisted with threshing while here

The Misses Betty Bryden and Leslia Wood visited at John Wood's on Sunday.

Lakeshore boys and girls who are attending schools outside the district this year are: Walter Eaton, Billy Kozak, Miriam Seale, Herbert Warner, "Dumpey" Phillips, Evelyn Wood and Kathleen Wood at Tofield High; Leroy Eaton at MacKenzie

Miss M. Craig is once more in charge of Lakeshore school, to the great delight of the pupils.

Margery Murray and Lorene Wood left for their respective schools last week, Margery to the same district where she was last spring and Lorene to a district some eight miles out of Viking.

Round up at the east side of the Cooking Lake Reserve was a rather wet muddy affair on Monday, but quite a number were on hand to get their stock. Some cattle and horses still remain in the reserve to be checked out later. The wet weather that stopped threshing operations Thanksgiving week-end, prevented many from having fields cleared off for pasture purposes.

We would like to make a correction in Mrs. Bratke's name. We spelled it wrongly two weeks ago. Sorry!

As it will be necessary to hold a War Workers' meeting before Nov. 15th, will all members please have their accounts (parcels and postage) ready to hand in, and as wet weather is apparently going to hold up threshing for awhile, be prepared for a short notice of a meeting in case members who can be reached decide to meet before threshing starts again rather than wait till it is completed. Parcel accounts can be in the following brief form:

Donation to Lakeshore W. W. Fund:
Contents of parcel for overseas shipment to Bill Brown ..$1.37
Postage .... .60
$1.97

FARMERS AND FARM WORKERS

If Your Farm Work has Slackened for the Winter, You Are Needed Elsewhere in Essential Employment

Highly essential work—very important in Canada's war effort and for the welfare of the Nation—is threatened with shortages of workers. One of the few sources of men available for other high priority jobs is those men on the farm who will not be needed at home during the Fall and Winter. Heavy needs must be met in many lines—producing vitally essential forest products; in base metal and coal mining, in food processing, in railway track maintenance. If you live on a farm and are not needed at home during the Fall and Winter, you are urged to answer this national appeal.

Farmers engaged in essential work during the off season will be allowed to return home when needed. Also, those on postponement under Mobilization Regulations will continue on postponement while in approved essential work during the slack season on the farm.

Please answer this vital call NOW.

As wages paid to hired farm help goes up, an interesting recap of the Canadian situation comes to us. When the employer provided board for the hired man the average wage for help by the day was $3.51 in 1943 and $2.50 the year before. "No Board" in 1943 brought $4.74 as against $3.15 the year before. Wages for day help were highest in Ontario, but all provinces showed an "up." By the month average with board was $61.26 at August 15th, 1943 as against $46.82 same date last year Current rate of wages for farm help more than double that paid in 1940.

When the federal minister of agriculture asked farmers to refrain from marketing unfinished cattle during the fall months this year, it was because the expected hog output for the next few months would probably overtax slaughtering facilities. Besides they claim it an uneconomic practice when there is food available in the country. Hog marketing will set new records this fall, while it is known that in the first 8 months of '43, beef carcasses dressed an average of 10 pounds heavier than in 1942. This idea makes sense, doesn't it?

A few agricultural notes: Feeding tests at Brandon, Manitoba, show that millet mixed with other grain rations is ideal for market hogs feeding. It almost equals barley pound for pound in a mixture . . . . research brings out some uncommon stuff; for instance it is reported there were 68,400 fibres per square inch on the skin of a highly bred Merino sheep, even tho' only 8 1-2 per cent of the skin area is occupied by wool fibres . . . . better breeding, proper care and feeding of the animals, means more fibres.

Designed to iron out some of the contentions as between landlord and tenant are some new rental regulations recently issued. A change has been made which sets 6 months instead of a year as the notice which must be given the tenant of the house when the landlord wants the accommodation, providing he purchased the property since last December 10th . . . local rental appraisers are being set up to help deal with applications and knotty points.

They're sure stretching this rubber research but will surely get results . . . . . the department wants to get more milk weed for experimental purposes and will pay three cents a pound dry weight, with green and frozen stuff accepted too. It should be sent to H. A. Senn, National Research Council, John St. Laboratory, Ottawa. C'm on kids.

There's a lot more cackling going on everywhere in the country as meat rationing enhanced the importance of poultry. Latest move by the Prices Board gives producers a better price, an increase of 2 cents a pound on dressed poultry. The mark-up of retailer is cut from 9 cents a pound to 20 per cent of selling price, not to exceed seven cents. A producer selling dressed poultry direct to consumer can add to the zone ceiling price the mark-up which is allowed a retailer.

A quick glance at the order giving "priority to empty coal bins" requires coal supplies dealers to give priority in coal deliveries to consumers who have less than one-quarter of their annual fuel requirements on hand. This is limited to the one quarter and applies only to consumers who use less than fifty tons a year.

Maybe you don't know how the cost of living bonus is arrived at: 25 cents for each point rise in the cost of living for all adult male employees and for all other employees employed at basic wage rates of $25 or more a week: one per cent of their basic weekly wage rates for male employees under 21 and women workers employed at [redacted]

Some 254 members of the Canadian Army have been decorated for gallantry in the field or mentioned in those dispatches since the war began. Of these 52 were for the campaign in Italy, in an item from the Army public relations. They won 192 decorations at Dieppe, including a Victoria Cross to Lt.-Col. Merritt.

Parity at Last!

(By H. G. L. Strange)

Thirteen years ago the Searle Grain Company designed the Searle Index in order to keep account of the cost of the many things that prairie farmers have to buy for a living and production. (1913-14 is used as a base.)

It was felt that at the very least the products of our prairie farmers would have to have a purchasing power at least equal to 1913-14 if farmers were to operate with even a small profit. At long last this 1913-14 parity price has arrived, not only for wheat, but for oats, barley, lambs and steers. Hogs are still somewhat under parity price.

It is not pretended that these present prices give our farmers any considerable profit. It means merely that our prairie farmers are about as well off today as they were in 1913-14. The hourly wages of industrial labor on the other hand average 47 per cent higher than their 1913-14 parity. It is to be hoped, therefore, that the Government, now that they have set somewhat of a ceiling on agricultural prices, will be courageous enough likewise to maintain ceilings on the hourly wages of industrial workers, so that the cost of the things farmers have to buy will not increase further. The Searle Index, however, will continue to show such increases if they should occur.

To Increase Farm Machinery In 1944

Production of new farm machinery in Canada will be increased in 1944 to 80 per cent of the 1940 production, Herbert H. Bloom, Administrator of Farm Machinery and Construction Machinery and Municipal Service Equipment, Wartime Prices and Trade Board stated here.

Because of the importance of the domestic food program, and the need to back up the food program for our allies and liberated countries, farm machinery is given a high priority in Canada. Mr. [redacted] commented.

Under rationing, new farm machinery is granted through applications made to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, and in Alberta about 22,000 applications were approved, the administrator stated.

Mr. Bloom pointed out that through price control Canada is the only country in the world where a farmer can buy new machinery at the prices fixed by the Board in the basic period. In countries where there is no price control farmers are having to pay as much as 40 or 50 per cent more for their new machinery, he said.

YES, WE'LL DO IT!

If thoughts of our peaceful Alberta countryside and the contrast of devastation in war-torn, faraway lands does not impress you:

If the freedom available to us arouses no emotion in your breast;

If you do not thrill to the mighty war effort of dauntless Britain, massive Russia, dynamic United States, fiery Australia, gallant New Zealand, South Africa, India and our own great Canada;

Well, then, buy a war bond for the sake of our own Alberta boys who are on the battle line!

They have gone from the far Peace River lands, from the mountains and rolling foothills, the park lands and short grass plains.

They've gone from Pouce Coupe and Bon Accord, Three Hills and Seven Persons, Veteran and Loyalist, Blackfoot and Peigan, Fort Saskatchewan and Athabaska, Iron Springs and Grassy Lake, Milk River and Battle River, Silver Heights and Golden Meadow, Whiskey Gap and Rockey Mountain House, Hanna and Hilda, High River and High Prairie, Tofield and Taber, Drumheller and Bassano, Red Deer and Elk Point, Cardston and Carmangay, Stettler and Strathmore, Elnora and Rosalind, Chinook and Condor, Azure and Paradise Valley.

They've gone from Orion and Hespero, Vermilion and Purple Springs, Claresholm and Hazeldine, Innisfail and Innisfree, Empress and Throne, Smoky Lake and Lac La Biche, Rosebud and Little Gem, Viking and Valhalla, Banff and Brooks, Spirit River and Ghost River, Pincher Creek and Manyberries, Peacock and Owlseye, Warspite and Makepence, Westlock and Bowfort, Bentley and Big Valley, from Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge, and Medicine Hat, we cannot name them all.

Thousands of farms, every hamlet, town and city have sent their young men. In the air, on the sea and on the land fronts these boys from our own Alberta are fighting bravely with the bravest. They are our boys—our farm boys, town boys, city boys.

Guess we'd better buy plenty of war bonds for the sake of our boys!

A VICTORY LOAN EDITORIAL—

By John Kieran in "The New York Sun, September 20th, 1943

IT MAY SEEM strange that we have to keep reminding ourselves to buy War Bonds, but that's the way we are built. We know it's a necessity. On that point Oliver Wendell Holmes, about a century ago, quoted in "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table" the "epicurean paradox" uttered by his friend the historian John Lothrop Motley, to wit:

"Give us the luxuries of life and we will dispense with its necessaries."

That was all in fun. But this is no time for fooling. We—not some of us, but all of us—must keep buying war bonds and we must do it now. We can't put off until tomorrow what we should do today. There certainly will be no tomorrow for us—no tomorrow in which we could live—unless we win this war and win it decisively. And the only way in which we can win is to pour our money, through War Bonds, into guns, planes, ships, ammunition and food and equipment for the men in our fighting forces.

It is doubtful that there is a family or a single citizen of this country without a relative, a close friend or a former near neigbor in the Army, the Navy, the Marines or the Coast Guard. These men —and women, too—are giving everything. Many of them face great hardships—not tomorrow, but now, this very minute. Some have been killed, wounded or captured. More will be killed, wounded or captured. The faster we buy war bonds, the sooner we shall achieve victory and halt the horrible wastage of war. We can't afford to send out these fighting forces and then abandon them. If they lose, we are lost.

Let's take a selfish view of the whole matter. Do you own a house? Have you some books you cherish? Do you smoke a pipe and lean to a favorite brand of tobacco? Until the gas ran short, were you accustomed to driving a car? Do you like good food? Do you own a few cows or some chickens? Do you have a garden? Do you care about your own life?

Well, there are millions of men and women who had these things and have them no longer. Their houses were destroyed. Their cows and chickens were stolen. Their cars were taken away. Their books were scattered and their luxuries were looted. Untold thousands of them lost their lives after they were robbed of all their possessions. Old men, old women and small children perished miserably of exposure and starvation. Devastated regions—and prison camps—are filled with desolate survivors.

You don't want that—or any part of that—to happen here. You want to keep your home, your books, your cows, your chickens, your car or whatever possessions you may have. You want to save your life and the lives of everyone in your family. So do we all. Even if we ignore Right and Wrong and Duty and Honor and stick to the selfish view, the solution is just the same: Buy War Bonds. It is not only the easiest way but the only way in which to protect our selfish interests.

It's a mistake to speak or write of "making sacrifices" to buy war bonds. It's no sacrifice. At the moment, it's the best investment in the world. It's nice to have a few shares of stock in corporations with long records for the paying of dividends. It's good to have a savings bank account, too. Real estate has its value.

But the worth of all these things in any country rests upon the safety of that country. The earlier War Bonds that you bought and those that you buy now are what underlie all other material values in this country. If these bonds are no good then your money is no good—and your life won't be worth much either.

We know all these things, but occasionally we forget them and it's necessary to keep reminding ourselves. If it sometimes seems that the shouting about it is a little annoying, a little loud, remember that not the loudest shout can wake the dead who went out with our fighting forces. When we buy bonds we are saving lives. When we buy bonds we are getting insurance against slaughter or slavery. When we buy bonds we are registering our determination that the United States of America shalll remain free and "government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the [redacted]rth."

When Autumn's In the Air

When the goldenrod is yellow,
An' the river's runnin' low,
When the geese are flyin' south'ard,
An' the hay is in the mow;
When the Injun days are drowsy,
An' the painted hills are bare—
Och sure! The world is lovely
When autumn's in the air!

When the leaves are sailin' down'ard,
An' the restless breezes run,
When squirrels are storin' up the nuts
An' scamperin' in the sun;
When the coyotes yip the loudest,
An' the frosty nights are rare—
Och sure! The world is lovely
When autumn's in the air!

High Humidity Safeguards Health, Saves Coal

A favorite summer complaint is "It's not the heat, but the humidity." In the winter, however, they become words of wisdom. By maintaining high humidity in the home, householders will be more comfortable even though temperatures are lower. On top of that, they will save many a shovelful of coal.

Even if it were not necessary to save every bit of fuel possible, health alone would indicate plenty of moisture in the air. In winter the air is dry and thirsty. It must obtain moisture from somewhere, and that somewhere is often from an individual's body and nasal passages. Doctors agree that there would be fewer colds and nose infections if humidity were higher in Canadian homes.

There are several simple things that will help to maintain higher humidity. Here are a few of them:

Keep the pan in the hot air furnace, if there is one, well filled with water. If this is not sufficient, place cans of water just inside the registers, not where they'll show, but where they will do their work effectively.

After taking a bath, leave the hot water standing in the tub until it is cold. At the same time leave the bathroom door open so that the moisture can penetrate into the other rooms.

Potted plants make good humidifiers, if they're kept well-watered. Their porous pots literally ooze moisture.

A pan of water underneath the radiator is a good substitute for the regular humidifying pans that fit on the back of the radiator. A good idea is to place one end of a small piece of absorbent cloth in the water letting the other end hang over the side.

Homes heated by stoves need have no humidifying problems. Just keep a kettle of water standing on the back of the stove.

MINISTIK JUNIOR U.F.A. MEETING

A regular meeting of the Ministik Junior U.F.A. was held on October 9th at the Ministik Hall. There were nine members and one visitor present.

Acting president Muriel Barnes called the meeting to order and it was opened with the song "Good Luck".

Minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. Correspondence from Central office was read by the secretary.

A motion was passed to hold a dance at the Hall near the end of the month. No exact date could be set until the orchestra had been consulted.

As Lorna Hennesy has left to attend High school at Leduc it was necessary to elect a new secretary-treasurer. Jean Oliver was elected to fill this post.

The Roll Call was answered with "Your Favorite Modern Song."

United Church Calendar

Remember Sunday 24th October is our 49th anniversary as a church in Tofield and district.

During all these years our church has given continuous service. We have grown up with the community and in every way have met the spiritual needs of the people.

When they rejoiced, we rejoiced with them. When the going was difficult and hard, the church stood by to help and comfort. In the hour of trial and sorrow, we failed not but brought the consolation of the Gospel and its glorious hope to the distressed and wounded in spirit.

Forty-nine years of devoted and self sacrificing service are something to rejoice about. Come and rejoice with us on Sunday, October 24th. Our guest speaker for the occasion is to be the Rev. J. R. Gesson, M.A., B.D. of Holden.

Services:
Tofield, 11:00 a.m.
Lakeshore, 3:00 p.m.
Tofield, 7:30 p.m.

The Junior Choir will assist in the music.

The Church has been faithful to its trust all through the years, let us show our appreciation of the blessings it has brought to ourselves, our homes and our community by being present at these services.

"What shall I render unto the Lord for all his benefits towards me."

The annual anniversary supper is to be held on Saturday, October 30.

Don't Feed New Wheat To Poultry

The Poultry Branch and the Provincial Veterinary Laboratory are again receiving specimens of poultry with complaints regarding sickness in the flocks due to the fact that newly threshed wheat is being fed. Practically all newly threshed wheat, especially wheat that has been combined contains a considerable portion of immature kernels. These kernels when fed to poultry are likely to bring about a condition of Enteritis which may result in a heavy mortality.

C. W. Traves, Poultry Commissioner recommends that wheat be allowed to age at least one month after threshing before being fed to poultry.

Agriculture In Peacetime

Two years after the last war ended, agricultural prices in Canada slumped severely. Then followed a period of eight years during which prices rose to profitable levels. This was followed by a disastrous and prolonged slump.

With this in mind, Canadian farmers are wondering what is going to happen when the present war ends. On the whole, most authorities are optimistic. They believe that for a number of years at least the demand abroad for relief and rehabilitation will require even more food than is being produced in North America at the present time.

Furthermore, it is believed that an industrial boom will develop when peace comes and the domestic demand for food will be maintained on a high level. Full domestic employment means large consumption of food. This is particularly true of such food as meat, fruits and vegetables and dairy products.

There is evidence to show that the United Nations plan to take a leading part in the reorganization of European agriculture. Nationalistic policies which force the uneconomic production of such crops as wheat will not be permitted. This will mean that Europe will be in a position to obtain cheaper food products from overseas and will direct their agricultural activities to special crops which they are peculiarly adapted to grow.

If the terms of the Atlantic Charter are to be carried out there should be a market for all the food products of the world and no slump in the prices of farm production should develop. If, on the other hand, marketing methods will revert to the old competitive speculative system, prospects are not bright for better times for the farmer.

EDITORIAL

To residents of Tofield, Ryley, Hay Lakes, New Sarepta:

"To every Canadian from Military Overseas. In Italy Canada's soldiers realize only constantly increasing pressure will bring final enemy collapse, are not sparing themselves to achieve that end. Urge all Canadians back this effort by purchasing an extra Victory Bond during next three days to Help Speed the Victory."

MAJOR GENERAL SIMMONDS.

The message from Major General Simmonds most urgent. Problem in Tofield, Ryley, Hay Lakes, New Sarepta Units however reaches further. Many citizens have not yet made their original purchase. Salesmen may not now be able to reach you. Do not wait for him. Call at your bank or loan headquarters or the home of your nearest salesmen to-day. Remember our sons in the armed forces do not stop fighting when the going is tough. That is when they put the last ounce of effort to the wheel of warfare. Do not let your unit down. EVERY BOND COUNTS.

Bond Sales Climbing

Showing results of persistent work done, often under adverse conditions, by the Victory Loan Salesmen, the total of sales is gradually climbing. With less than three days to go to the end of the campaign, the Tofield unit, up to the close of business on Thursday night had reached the $86,080.00 mark with 220 applications. This is about 66 per cent of the quota. This compares with $74,300.00 on the 10th day of the last campaign.

Nationally, up to close of business Tuesday night the cumulative total was $979,222,500. Sales to the general public are still lagging and citizens are urged to buy a bond if they have not done so, or if they have, to buy another.

Hallowe'en Enjoyed

Hallowe'en was celebrated at Tofield this year by youngsters selling tickets for the "Milk for Britain" Fund. During the evening the boys and girls in costume collected these tickets at the different houses and then congregated at the Variety Theatre where treats were given out by the Misses Isabel and Edith Robinson, John Merton and Blake Clutterham. A large bonfire added to the enjoyment of the party.

The Tofield Boy Scouts did valuable work in policing the town and were instrumental in keeping damage down to a minimum

Ration Trade Ban is Lifted

Mrs. Jones can now borrow extra rations from Mrs. Smith, in a pinch, since the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has lifted the ban on exchange of rationed commodities across the back fence.

"There was no intention at any time to restrict neighborly practices such as loans and exchanges of rationed commodities in small quantities, and no steps were taken to restrict these. But under terms of the ration order when loans, gifts or such exchange were prohibited it was considered necessary in order to minimize deliberate abuses," a Board spokesman pointed out.

Wheat—$1.25 Per Bushel

Nowadays one hears many speeches. Sometimes it seems that the less the speaker knows, the more freely he speaks! Indeed, this is particularly true of addresses by amateur economists. I do not profess any knowledge of economics, but am determined to write about it anyway, if only to afford the many faithful readers of these articles the fun of pouncing at my blunders!

The new guaranteed minimum wheat prices will be good news to all westerners, and let no one claim that they will bring undue profits to the farmer. Surely the increase is long overdue; but new problems are on the horizon.

Wheat is being used for fuel in Argentina, and being fed to livestock on an unprecedented scale in North America. Up to now, our wartime agriculture has been aimed at less wheat and more livestock. The higher price of Canadian wheat, coupled with the fact that the United States Administration has asked for an increase of 14,000,000 acres in 1944, suggests that the world carry-over is not considered too great.

Will wheat look so attractive in 1944 that prairie farmers will feel less like feeding cattle and hogs, and milking cows? Surely there is little prospect of increased farm labour supplies. Are we to conclude that livestock products will be relatively less important in 1944?

We suggest, in all humility, that definite and timely government guidance will be more important than ever. Also, that local "Win the War" committees, important in 1943, will be indispensable in 1944

Originally from Ontario, Guide Nixon has ranched in the Upper Columbia Valley, B.C., for almost forty years; has been a game warden in that area and in the Kootenay River and Leanchoil districts.

In addition, he was one of the founders and charter members of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, an organization now world-famous, and one which has brought great happiness to hundreds of lovers of the Great Outdoors.

FARMERS AND FARM WORKERS

If Your Farm Work has Slackened for the Winter, You Are Needed Elsewhere in Essential Employment

Highly essential work—very important in Canada's war effort and for the welfare of the Nation—is threatened with shortages of workers. One of the few sources of men available for other high priority jobs is those men on the farm who will not be needed at home during the Fall and Winter. Heavy needs must be met in many lines—producing vitally essential forest products; in base metal and coal mining, in food processing, in railway track maintenance. If you live on a farm and are not needed at home during the Fall and Winter, you are urged to answer this national appeal.

Farmers engaged in essential work during the off season will be allowed to return home when needed. Also, those on postponement under Mobilization Regulations will continue on postponement while in approved essential work during the slack season on the farm.

Please answer this vital call NOW.

WORLD FACING FOOD SHORTAGE BRITAIN WARNED

(By Peter Lyne in the Christian Science Monitor

London, October 25th.—A warning civilization is running into a world food shortage has come from Britain's Food Minister, Lord Woolton, over the week end.

The British people, even with their tight wartime rations, don't realize the situation, Lord Woolton told a Woman's Land Army rally at Dumfries, Scotland. Lord Woolton was exhorting Britain's 80,000 women who have become farm workers in the wartime emergency to keep up their strenuous efforts.

The Food Minister told the British they were too prone to think they could rely on plenty of food coming from all corners of the earth when shipping once again was available. But this war, he said, has spread all over the world, taking countless people away from food production, so that there has been a gradual shrinking in the world supply of food.

Lord Woolton admitted that the British people are living on a miserable ration of 25 cents' worth of meat weekly. Hitherto that has been because of a shipping shortage. But in 12 months' time that ration will be difficult to maintain, he added, not because of ships but because world meat supplies will not be available unless world livestock production is increased.

And from another part of the globe there comes today news which confirms that strenuous efforts are needed to maintain even existing standards of feeding.

Australia's Minister of Agriculture and Commerce, W. J. Scully, is reported from Sydney as telling Australian farmers that record meat shipments from Australia to Britain would be necessary next year if Britain's already meager meat ration were not to be still further reduced.

In tribute to efforts of British Agriculture in stepping up wartime food production Lord Woolton made this striking statement:

When I became Minister of Food in 1940 our ships carried twice as much food as they do to-day. Yet in spite of that we get all we need, although not all we want, and we are extraordinary well in health. The Director of Education of Liverpool pointed out that children in school are heavier and taller."

But do ordinary people here realize the significance of the world food situation as a whole? Frenchmen who escape from the continent these days remark an abundance of food in Britain, while visitors from Britain to the United States are struck by the abundance in the United States.

Several letters in Sunday newspapers this week asked: "Why can't we have some fruits of victory?" Writers of these letters had seen in movie news reels how British troops in Italy are "showering tins of corned beef and milk powder" on Italian civilians. It is claimed this food is much needed at home.

A letter writer, Peter Smith, in the Sunday Express, asks: "Can't we celebrate each step to victory by a better ration?" There follows a plea for oranges, lemons, and grapes which is understandable coming from a nation which for the greater part of a year is virtually without fresh fruit.

British children get one threepenny bar of chocolate a week or its equivalent in other sorts of candy. This nation is now being told there is no chance of an increase because of every five tons of chocolate produced, four tons go to the fighting forces or other priorities including the building up of emergency supplies for feeding liberated Europe. But there are still some protests that British children should get a bigger candy ration.

It seems the world food situation, both now and in prospect, needs to be repeatedly and fully explained. Meanwhile Britain's wartime achievement in stepping up the food production since the war by about 40 per cent, provides evidence of what can be done these days with determination and modern farming methods to bring the oft-promised plenty within grasp of all mankind.

FRANK SCHMALE STRUCK BY HIT AND RUN DRIVER

Frank M. Schmale, 10606 115 St., Edmonton, was in the Misericordia hospital Wednesday morning, suffering from a compound fracture of the right leg above the ankle, received as a result of being struck by a "hit-and-run driver" near 106 street on 104 avenue, about 12:15 a.m. on Wednesday.

The injured man was taken to hospital by Hays' ambulance.

Schmale said he had just left the Canadian National Freight shed, walked along the platform to the ramp at the west end, and started to cross 104 avenue, when he was struck.

He saw no headlights, and heard no noise from an engine.

SELECTION OF TURKEY BREEDERS

(Experimental Farms News)

One of the most important factors in any line of poultry endeavor is the question of breeding birds. Without good breeding success is difficult if not impossible. Experienced poultrymen never fail to retain their best birds as breeders.

The selection of breeding turkeys is not difficult and anyone who has raised a flock of turkeys during the summer months has noticed differences in many birds on the range, states the poultry division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Some birds grow well from the start and make good birds in the fall while others, perhaps the same age and fed in exactly the same way fail to develop properly or have minor defects. Economic development then should be one of the leading factors in the selection of breeders and the birds which are well matured at fattening time should be considered as potential breeders.

Type is important in the selection of breeding turkeys. Birds which are not well balanced should be rejected regardless of their size or development. The very large birds may be awkward in their movement and on examination found to be over developed in some character and underdeveloped in others. A good example of a serious defect in a breeding male is a bird that is overdeveloped in breast and walks with a swaying motion. Such birds usually lack development in length of body and have legs which are placed too far back on the bird. The body carriage is parallel with the ground and usually such males give poor fertility.

The other extreme is the tall bird with long legs, long neck and lacking body development at market age. Such birds are not economical producers and should be avoided.

A well balanced turkey walks with a slightly upright carriage and a free, easy movement. It has a fairly broad back and a breast bone of good length carried well back on the body, and running almost parallel with the back. The breast should be full and round with no tendency to bagginess. The neck should be of medium length and the head of good width. Quality of bone is important and large bone is not necessarily an indication of quality. Fine-boned birds should be avoided as they usually produce off-spring which grow slowly.

The male to head the turkey flock should be unrelated to the female. This is important in turkey raising. By the regular changing of the breeding males, poult mortality can be kept to the minimum and because of increased vigor in the poults more economical production of turkey meat can be secured.

About ten to twelve females can be successfully mated to one male and it is wise to keep an extra male or two lest something should happen to one of the breeding males. Do not make the turkey matings too large and increase the possibility of poor fertility.

BEEKEEPERS' WINTER PROGRAMME

(Experimental Farms News)

Now that bees are placed in their winter quarters and require little or no attention for the next five months, the beekeeper should have plenty of time to put his equipment in shape and make plans for the 1944 season.

As the cost of apiary equipment has increased considerably during the past few years, conservation of all available supplies is an important consideration, says C. A. Jamieson, Bee Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Drawn comb is the beekeepers most valuable asset and unless properly stored may be severely damaged by mice or wax moth. Sort all combs carefully discarding those that are broken or deformed and store the good ones in supers. Stack these supers with an inverted hive cover beneath and another one on top of each pile to keep out the mice. If larvae of the wax moth are present fumigate the combs with Paradichlorobenzine using two tablespoons to every five supers.

Extractors, uncapping knives, storage tanks and other metal equipment are becoming difficult to replace, and should be cleaned and repaired if necessary. If any additional equipment is required for the next year's operation, order it early so that it may be assembled and ready for use before the rush of work next spring.

It is a good plan to order package bees now so as to avoid delay and possibly disappointment next spring. The demand for packages was exceptionally heavy this past year, and many late orders could not be filled.

Wax has many important war uses and there is no better time to salvage it than during the winter

Victory Loan Pennant Flying

Once again the pennant signifying that the local and district Victory Loan quota had been reached is flying from the flag staff on Main Street.

With quite a little to accomplish in the last few days, the local and district salesmen went to work with a will and by the time the deadline was reached had put the district safely over the top.

The quota in the 5th Victory Loan for the Tofield area was $85,000 00 and total subscriptions amounted to $88,960 00 with 292 applications. In the last loan the total amount realized was $89,900.00 with 337 applications

It is interesting to note how the loans have gradually increased as the following figures depicting the results here shows:

1st Loan, $30,250.00.
2nd Loan, $44,000.00.
3rd Loan, $42,950.00.
4th Loan, $89,900.00.
5th Loan, $88,960.

The committee and salesmen are to be congratulated on the result of their efforts.

Alfalfa, Soil, Climate
(Experimental Farms News)

Where the climatic conditions are favorable alfalfa thrives on soils varying in texture from coarse sand and gravel to heavy compact clays, although the best soil is a deep porous loam. It will not do well on poorly drained land or on soils that are notably acid, states John M. Armstrong, Division of Forage Plants, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. These limitations can be overcome to a certain extent by choosing the better drained fields on the farm and by reducing soil acidity with applications of lime. Although in common with other legumes alfalfa can obtain its nitrogen supply from the air by the action of nitrogen-fixing bacteria in the root nodules, it does require an ample supply of mineral nutrients such as lime phosphorus, potassium and sulphur in order to produce high yields.

With the winter-hardy varieties now available alfalfa maybe grown in practically every mixed-farming area in Canada. The long branching tap root of the plant affords it considerable resistance to drought. It is true that in extremely dry areas while it may survive its productivity is reduced. Nevertheless, it has been demonstrated that in these areas where the run off water can be conserved by dams and used for irrigation, the growing of alfalfa provides the best possible insurance against a feed shortage.

A frequent difficulty in growing alfalfa in the Maritime Provinces and to some extent in Ontario and Quebec is the injury to stands through the formation of ice sheets on the fields in winter. This form of injury is apparently due to smothering and is distinct from injury caused by low temperatures and inadequate snow cover. Varieties differ in their resistance to the latter type of injury but all appear to be equally susceptible to injury from ice sheets.

NATIONAL EMERGENCY
Don't waste COAL
Make every shovelfull count!
CANADIAN PACIFIC

PART of the Canadian Pacific Railway's campaign for rigid conservation of coal during this heating season is a special booklet of instructions, the front cover of which is illustrated above and which all those principally engaged in the handling of [illegible] Supply [illegible] appeal on [illegible] 70,000 employees of the company and the subject will be kept alive by a continuing series. All phases of the campaign, announced by W. M. Neal, the vice-president, are expected to save 800,000 tons of coal throughout the system itself, with the home savings by Canadian Pacific people expected to add considerably even to that impressive figure. The company saving will be 10 per cent. on the approximate 8,000,000 tons of coal required annually — a remarkable saving, when considered in the light of the Canadian Pacific's own conservation campaign to increase operating efficiency, which has been intensively pursued for 10 years.

Sawfly Resistant Wheats

In a recent issue, we stated "... it remains to combine sawfly resistance with the many other qualities we demand in hard red spring wheat. This is almost certain to be a more difficult task than was the defeat of stem rust." A few days later we learned, in conversation with Mr. L. B. Thomson, Superintendent, Dominion Experimental Station, Swift Current, that there was reason to expect the distribution of sawfly resistant varieties within a few years. So we wrote to Mr A. W. Platt, by whom the breeding work has been done, asking for a summary of his experimental work. The following paragraphs are derived, chiefly, from the report kindly prepared by Mr Platt.

Several years ago, Mr H. J. Kemp obtained some bread wheats from New Zealand which had solid stems. These wheats, while resistant to sawfly, had poor baking quality, were susceptible to stem rust, leaf rust and stinking smut, and shattered freely. They were crossed with Renown, Thatcher, and Apex in the hope of securing hybrids which would possess sawfly resistance plus the desirable characteristics of our rust resistant varieties.

The second and third generation hybrid populations contained every conceivable combination of desirable and undesirable characteristics. They were exposed to stem rust, at [illegible] smut, sawfly and drought at several stations in the prairie provinces. Data have also been assembled on yield, strength of straw, milling and baking, etc. The vast majority of hybrid strains fell by the wayside; but a few performed well enough to be considered for increase and distribution. Final judgment must await further tests.

Merchant Marine Carries On

Upwards of Sixty thousand Canadian sailors, and other thousands of the Merchant Marine, through foul and fair weather, through the terrible dangers of the sea and lurking U-boat, keep the life lines of the United Nations open, and carry the munitions and food to the armies that will bring Victory for democracy.

These men give unselfishly of their services to the Nation so that the way of life that we have enjoyed—that way of life which our forefathers bequeathed to us—is maintained. They suffer tremendous hardship, face perils that would daunt the hardiest spirit, and yet at the call of duty they go down to the sea in ships, many of them never to return.

November 21 to 27 is Navy week, and we are celebrating the deeds accomplished by the Canadian Navy. We are paying tribute to the sacrifice which they have made and continue daily to make so that freedom may reign throughout the earth.

And you are asked to help the men of Canada's Navy. The men who go daily on the great waters in the little, uncomfortable ships, daring ships that have faced high hazard and have met desperate ends and have done their job with a courage and devotion of which even Nelson would be proud.

Week by week little ships, destroyers, corvettes and mine sweepers, are slipping down the ways that lead to battle on great waters. Always there have been men waiting to man these ships. In place of the 2000 men of the Canadian Navy at the outbreak of war there are now upwards of 60,000 men in the Navy.

These men of the sea man the ships that are the greatest weapon against U-boats. The thrilling stories of the many victories of Canadian Corvettes over German undersea craft has thrilled us all. Let us all thrill the men of our Navy by subscribing as liberally as possible to the Navy League of Canada's Christmas Fund.

The Navy League of Canada, charged with the responsibility of supplying comforts to the men of the Navy and the Merchant Marine, is taking a leading part in a campaign being carried out in connection with Navy Week to appeal to the people of Canada to donate as liberally as possible so that comforts can be sent to every man in the Merchant Marine and the Navy this Christmas.

An objective of 150,000 ditty bags has been set by the Navy League. These bags will contain woolen articles, toilet articles, candies, razor blades, and many other articles that are indispensable to the comfort of these heroes of the sea.

You can help by sending a donation to the secretary of the League at Edmonton, or by making your donation through the chartered bank in your district.

LAKESHORE

Outfits are trying to complete threshing operations, and if the fair weather will hold all week most farmers will be through for this crop year.

R. C. Phillips has not been feeling well recently and on Sunday morning Dr McPherson of Ryley was called to attend him. Mr. Phillips has improved somewhat since Sunday but is still not up to par.

Gordon Wiedman of Lavoy visited his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Eaton last week.

The L.W.W. Club met at Mrs. W. H. Anderson's last Thursday and three ditty bags were packed and sent to the Salvation Army. The group decided to re-register for another year's work.

AVOIDABLE LOSSES

Grain Inspection Branch figures for the period August 1 to October 15, reveal a serious situation which involves heavy losses to the farmers concerned. We refer to increases in 'smutty' and 'rejected' wheat.

Smutty Wheat

With rare exceptions, which need not concern us here, all smutty wheat results from stinking smut (bunt). In Hard Red Spring wheat and Durum, this disease can be completely controlled by seed treatment. On October 14, the Wheat Board Price List provided for a discount of 10c per bushel for smut in grades No. 1 Hard to No. 4 Northern. Since August 1, 101 cars have graded smutty; a frequency five times as great as last year. The loss to the farmer is nearly $900.00 per car.

Rejected Wheat

'Rejected' gradings have increased at an alarming rate this season, though most of the wheat so graded was probably grown in 1942, when harvest conditions were unfavorable. Aside from ragweed, most rejections are due to excess moisture resulting in heating and sprouting. The discount for grades No. 1 Hard to No. 4 Northern is 11c per bushel—a serious loss. Since August 1, 329 cars have graded rejected; they are three times as common as last year. This loss cannot be eliminated, but it can be greatly reduced.

INFORMATION

For Western Farmers Selling Feed Grains to Eastern Farmers

WHEAT · OATS · BARLEY

1. Wheat, up to 14 bu. per authorized acre and one car of oats and/or barley over the quota may be shipped.

2. Every seller must apply to the Canadian Wheat Board, Winnipeg, for a permit to ship each carload before loading for shipment.

3. Cars shipped will be inspected at Winnipeg for grade and dockage. On the basis of sample inspection, certificates will be issued by the Board of Grain Commissioners, for cars held "too full" for regular inspection. The Inspection Certificate establishes the grade and dockage.

4. Dockage up to 3% is allowed. Dockage above 1% cannot be charged for, and payment will not be made for the difference in weight between 1% and the actual dockage.

5. Elevator scale tickets or railway weights must accompany the bill of lading. Freight charges are to be paid by the farmer in Eastern Canada.

PRICE INFORMATION

On oats and barley the price per bushel to be charged the eastern farmer is the ceiling price (or the cash price if it is lower), basis in store at Fort William or Port Arthur.

GOVERNMENT SUBSIDIES AVAILABLE

As announced by the Dominion Government, the subsidy of 10c per bushel on oats and 15c per bushel on barley applies on oats and barley sold by any western farmer to a farmer or feed dealer east of Fort William-Port Arthur. Special application must be made to the Canadian Wheat Board, Winnipeg, in order to secure payment. Special forms for this purpose will be provided by the Canadian Wheat Board on request. These subsidies will also be paid on community sales between farmer and farmer in western Canada, provided the farmer delivers the grain over an elevator scale and meets other requirements of the Wheat Board.

SACRIFICE—

TO-DAY, THURSDAY, November 11th, we observe Remembrance Day, a day set apart so that the memory of those who fell in the Great War of 1914-1918 might be duly honored. There may come a time when generations still unborn, having been given life and having grown up, the observance of this day may become of historical interest only. But to us here and now, and especially to those past fifty, the day means much, for there are very few of us but who can recall the memory of at least one relative or close friend who gave his or her life in the cause of human freedom. Therefore, if no more is done than to observe the brief two minutes silence it will be observed with a deep sense of reverence with personal memories and personal pride.

War is a terrible, devastating, hateful thing, yet out of this horrible thing called war there comes a human quality—sacrifice—exhibited in a manner rarely otherwise seen. Out of the millions of men and women who enlist for service there are many who do so for sheer adventure and who would prefer regimental life to civilian existence. But to the great majority, wartime service is a call to duty answered and a personal sacrifice made. It was so a quarter of a century ago, it is so to-day. Sometimes, after reading Remembrance Day literature, "In Flanders' Fields," and other gems, we wonder who should do the grieving, those who fell or those who were left. Certainly those who died for the cause they believed just, reached the apex of the Christian creed, for sacrifice is the bed rock foundation of this.

National Immunization Week

A special effort to immunize large numbers of children against diphtheria, smallpox, whooping cough and scarlet fever will be made in this community during National Immunization Week, November 14-20, Dr. Wm. D. Cutsungavich, Medical Officer of Health for the Holden Health Unit, announced to-day.

"War conditions involving much travel and movement of population have increased the dangers of the spread of communicable diseases in all parts of Canada, Dr. Cutsungavich explained. Due to the war too, busy men and women have been prone to overlook the importance of safeguarding children against the home front enemies of disease. There has been increased incidence of preventable diseases in Canada since the beginning of the war. Many children who recover from these diseases, suffer severely from the complications which may affect their health throughout life. The tragic toll of death and illness is entirely preventable.

"Diphtheria is one of the greatest scourges of childhood down through the ages, but fortunately it has become one of the diseases that can be definitely, but simply prevented. There has been an absence of diphtheria cases in those communities which have availed themselves of protection.

"Whooping cough too is not recognized as another dangerous disease, responsible for many infant and preschool deaths.

"Those who neglect to protect their children may regret their neglect later. Remember WAR BRING EPIDEMICS.

"The Holden Health Unit is offering protection against diphtheria, smallpox, whooping cough and scarlet fever.

Local clinics where children may be taken for free preventive treatments will be conducted as follows:

TRAINMEN ARE SYMPATHETIC AS BOY TRAVELS TO CLINIC

Vancouver, November 8.—Eight-year-old Melvin Gilliland and his mother, Mrs. Norman Gilliland of Vancouver travelled by a Canadian National train to Philadelphia, where the little chap was to undergo a delicate operation at the Temple University Bronchoscopic Clinic in an effort to remove a metal staple lodged in his left lung for more than a year. Children and grown-ups throughout British Columbia gave pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters and dollars to make it possible for Melvin to make the journey, following three unsuccessful attempts to remove the staple. Trainmen took a personal interest in the little fellow's welfare and exerted themselves for more than the usual good care of their travellers.

RAIL CHIEF LENDS AID FOR CHRISTMAS PARCELS

Montreal, November 8th.—Assembly line methods have been adopted in packing parcels to bring Christmas cheer to men of the Canadian National Railways now overseas, all of whom are being remembered by the Canadian National Railways Employees' War Services Associations. Recently, R. C. Vaughan, chairman and president of the Railways, accompanied by Mrs. Vaughn, visited the local club rooms where parcels were being prepared for one group of the 14,000 System men in the Canadian Army. They saw the cartons move along a line each worker adding three articles, so that all boxes contained the same materials, and were packed in an efficient identical manner.

FARMER MUST RECEIVE HELP SAYS ARCHIBALD

Agricultural reconstruction must start with the farmer himself and he must have facilities whereby he can improve his business, Dr. E. S Archibald, director of Dominion experimental farms, said in an address given at the annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Quebec last week.

"This obviously involves cheaper credit comparable at least to that which is available in industry," he said.

Farmers would prefer fair prices for their products without subsidies, bonuses, subventions and the like, he said.

"In my opinion 75 per cent of the urban consumers of food stuffs, if questioned at the present time, would claim that the farmers of Canada were not only highly prosperous but, thinking in terms of retail prices, may still brand the farmers as extortionists and robbers.

"It is true that leading business men realize that the producers of our foodstuffs are paying income taxes in such small numbers not of their own choice, but for the simple reason that the earning power in labor income on the average farm in Canada, even with the free labor of wife and children thrown in, is little less than that which industry and governments pay to a grade 1 stenographer.

THE CHARTERED BANKS of Canada keep abreast of the Dominion's expanding needs.

Six times since 1870 the Bank Act under which the Chartered Banks operate has been revised by parliament—six times in that period the activities of the banks have been carefully scrutinized by the people's representatives.

Every ten years the Bank Act has been thus revised. Each one of the six decennial revisions has contributed much to the evolution of the banking system to meet the expanding needs of a developing Dominion.

In 1934 the sixth revision of the Bank Act was made. Fifty members of the House of Commons made up the committee, which examined witnesses—among them bank officers, government officials and reformers — and studied exhibits filed by various individuals and organizations. Findings were submitted to the House, and later that year the Bank Act was revised in many important particulars.

Through democratic enquiry and decision, the Canadian banking system has grown and been adjusted to meet the needs of the people, providing a depository for savings and a sound basis for Canada's free economic development.

The Course To Follow

GRAIN CONGESTION is very severe at the present time. The small initial wheat delivery quota amply demonstrates the truth of this statement.

In face of such conditions it is difficult for farmers to direct their limited quotas to the elevators of their choice, which in most cases is the Pool Elevators. The Pool Elevator system acknowledges that the problem is a complicated one. To tell the farmers to deliver all their grain to Pool elevators when space is so limited is simply not common sense.

But the Wheat Pool does suggest that where farmers have any selection in the matter the Pool elevators should get the preference. Furthermore, if you are compelled by unavoidable circumstances to deliver your grain elsewhere, do not forget that you should return to Pool elevators whenever the situation clears up and the congestion is relieved.

Arrangements are being made for a "Tag Day" in aid of the "Camp Libraries Campaign." This is to be held on Saturday November 20th and members will be on hand to receive donations of ten cents or more from public spirited citizens in connection with the November drive for literature for camp libraries throughout the Dominion. During the past four years half a million books were distributed to 600,000 men in the services. In addition to the nearly half million books we are authorized to provide for the services this year, a request from the navy to supply its newly opened base libraries with 25,000 books has been received. We are asked to continue this very important work of providing recreational reading for our young men and women in uniform.

Our Chapters have adopted eleven ships and libraries. Appeals "for something to read" from all the northern posts and Air Stations to offset the loneliness and lack of entertainment at these isolated outposts have been constantly coming in. The supply of suitable used books has run out. Demands this year were so many that many requisitions from Air Force Schools at Brandon, High River, Vulcan, Claresholm, etc., had to be turned over to the National Office.

Much Interest In Bee Meeting

The Bee meeting which was held in the Variety Theatre, Tuesday afternoon of November 16th, was an entertaining and instructive occasion. Slides were shown showing the various stages in the development and life of bees, their housing and care, to obtain best results in procuring honey. The Provincial Apiarist, Mr. LeMaistre, gave explanations and advice between the reels. Five reels were shown, enjoyed and appreciated as evidenced by the excellent attention of the large crowd present.

An Alberta Beekeepers convention will be held in Calgary on December 3rd, 1943.

It was stated that there are 90 beekeepers in the Tofield district. This bee meeting for Tofield was arranged through the efforts of Mr. R. H. Chandler of the Tofield Co-op Store, and a vote of thanks was given him.

There was some discussion about forming a Bee Association in this district, but it was held over for a future time when more complete arrangements could be made.

The object of such an association would be, opportunities to get together and pass on information helpful to all, also, possibly high costs could be reduced, etc. It is urged that when this meeting is called, everyone be there. Notifications may be stated through the medium of this paper, also by mail. A further benefit from such an association would be the joining in with the Alberta Association. The expenses and costs would not amount to much and the association would prove helpful.

The bee meeting was an entire success and those who were not there missed an enjoyable afternoon. Science has not yet invented anything that can manufacture honey from the nectar obtained from flowers. This special process belongs exclusively to the bee, and they are doing such good work, as nature intended they should, that all the credit should be given and kept by them, but in these days when sugar is so scarce, they are a valuable asset in production. Let's hear and learn more about bees.

REWARD

On Friday, November 5th, about three o'clock, a maroon or brown car, parked on highway, near the bridge, three miles west of Tofield. Two men in uniform or hunters' clothing killed nine wild geese in my garden and were seen to run to the car and drive east. On Saturday night Nov. 6th, at 6:40 they returned and killed three more. On Sunday night they returned and killed three more. Some of these were white ones and some Canadas. Cars were passing and I will pay a reward for information that will lead to the identification of those who shot the geese. They killed geese I have had for thirty years and many could not fly.

Edmonton to Continue Dim Out to Conserve Coal

Edmonton's dim-out regulations instituted by the city commissioners to conserve coal during the recent miners' strike will be continued until present coal supplies coming to the power plant make it reasonably safe to permit street lighting and other lighting to return to normal, Mayor John W. Fry stated Tuesday.

It was reported by City Commissioner R. J. Gibb that coal supplies to the power plant were increasing, but the stock pile was considerably below the safety quota. If supplies continue to arrive it will be possible to modify the dim out, if not entirely eliminate it.

A hundred per cent response was given to the "return to the mines" resolution by miners in the Edmonton district, according to officials of the U.M.W.A., while operators in the Edmonton field reported that full shifts are now working in all mines in the district.

Coal started streaming from the mines late on Monday afternoon, although at many of the pits there was early delivery of coal to pithead. This coal had been mined prior to the strike, and had not been hoisted to the surface.

While the strike in Alberta and British Columbia had definitely ended Monday, there were still about 400 miners in the Mountain Park and Mercoal districts who were still on strike.

Coal continues to arrive at the city power plant from the Camrose mine. Approximately 400 tons came through from the strip mine on Monday to make a total of shipments in two days of nearly 700 tons. Civic officials said Tuesday they hoped there would be a step up in coal deliveries from this source. Some coal was delivered from city mines on Monday.

REWARD OFFERED FOR GEESE KILLERS

Mr. Oulton who lives just a few miles west of town is offering a reward for information leading to the apprehension of hunters who made three separate trips to his farm and shot and killed quite a number of wild geese.

It is well known throughout the district that Mr. Oulton has kept a number of wild geese for years and his farm surroundings could hardly be taken for a goose hunt, certainly not three times in succession. Many of these geese Mr. Oulton has had with him for many years and he feels very badly that the flock should have been shot up so.

THE IMPORTANCE OF PLANTING TREES IN ALBERTA

It is the season of the year when emphasis is laid by the Forestry Division of the Department of Lands and Mines on the importance of planting trees in Alberta, and the value of shelter belts to Alberta farms as a result. Since 1932 many hundreds of thousands of trees have been sent throughout the province for this purpose by the Alberta Forest Service.

This section of the Alberta Government's forestry work is now well known. Many agricultural areas have benefitted from it, and many more will do so.

The protection from adverse winds created by a shelter belt works wonders in home life and gardens. Growth is quickly advanced as a result of such shelters, to say nothing of the beauty of protecting foliage created by the trees.

Preparation for next year's shipments is now under way and the following rules and procedure in connection with applying for trees are given.

Trees Distributed by the Forest Service

[illegible]

Trees, free of charge excepting the express charge covering shipment, are to be given by the Forest Service to farmers in the province for the following purposes:—

1. For planting within natural poplar or willow bluffs.
2. For replacements in established windbreaks or shelter belts.
3. For additions to established windbreaks or shelter belts, where the trees to be planted are set out close enough to the old plantation that they receive protection against wind, and in the case of conifers, against the sun, by the established trees.

Applications for rural schools and cemeteries will be given consideration.

Trees are not available for beautification only, nor for the establishment of new windbreaks or shelterbelts. Persons requiring trees for the former purpose should secure them from commercial nurseries, and for the latter apply to the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Tree Planting Division, Indian Head, Saskatchewan.

White Spruce, Lodgepole Pine, Green Ash, Burr Oak, Siberian Larch, Douglas Fir.

(Not more than 5). Colorado Spruce, American Elm.

(Not more than 4). Shell Bark Hickory, Shag Bark Hickory.

(Not more than 3). Contorta Pine, Scotch Pine.

In addition to the above, cuttings of laurel leaf willow, golden willow and northwest poplar will be available.

In connection with each application it must be noted that a limit has been placed on a number of the varieties available. The quantities of these species are very limited and it might be necessary to allot applicants smaller numbers, or entirely delete from some applications when a number of the first six are requested. In addition to the limitations of stock available, the number of applications sometimes renders it impossible to send out all the trees for which applications are received.

All applications must be filled in and received in the office of the Director of Forestry, Administration Building, Edmonton, before January 31st, 1944, otherwise they will not be given consideration.

NEW GUN DIRECTOR PRACTICALLY THINKS

United States Army ordnance men have unveiled the mysteries surrounding M9, the new electrical antiaircraft gun director, termed by the chief of United States Army Ordnance Department, Maj. Gen. L. H. Campbell, Jr., "as one of the greatest advances ever made in the art of gunfire control."

The electrical director, by means of built-in ballistic tables, can, in split seconds, compute direction and distance of the target, the muzzle velocity of the shell, which changes as the gun becomes older; direction and velocity of the wind, density of the air, and other variables. It selects for the guns which it governs an almost instantaneous direction and angle of fire and an automatic fuse setting.

FOOD PRODUCTION IN AUSTRALIA

Before the Pacific war is over it is likely that at least two million men of the United Nations fighting services will be based on Australia and the call on that country for food will be tremendous. This is gradually being realized by the Australian government and "The Land", a New South Wales farm paper, remarks that much more effective steps will have to be taken to provide sufficient food. Some 50,000 men, it has been suggested, will need to be released from the army and other sources to meet continually increasing food demands.

RESEARCH LABORATORY NEEDED IN THE WEST

With both the war and the development of chemurgy well advanced, apparently nothing has yet been done by the federal authorities to set up a research laboratory in Western Canada to discover new uses for western farm crops. It was indicated several years ago that the matter was being studied at Ottawa, but it is one of those projects shelved by war indefinitely.

Chemurgy has made great headway in the United States and many of the discoveries of American laboratories are available for Canadian study. The North-West Line Elevators association has been advocating for some time that the federal government should set up a western division of the National Research Council outfitted with an up-to-date laboratory and skilled technicians. The first move to attain that objective was the recent appointment of a prairie regional committee to work with the National Research Council. This should be followed up by real action.

Dealing with this subject, the Weekly Market News of Winnipeg said the other day: "What is needed is not general recommendations but specific findings on problems now confronting the West — not a committee but a laboratory. When the war has finished the need for finding new uses for Western crops and for finding new sources of wealth in the West will become more urgent. Something more than a gesture is needed now.

"The appointment of the committee is an acknowledgement by the government that something must be done. On a matter so vital to the West any action should take the form of a real attack. Appointment of a committee, if it is left at that, is not likely to be considered by Westerners as a 'real attack'".

WISHES HE HAD USED THE BANK

Vancouver, Nov. 13th.—Ernest H. Elsden, driller in a local shipyard, came off the night shift recently to find his room burglarized and all his savings, $2,750, stolen. "If I'd had the sense to put that cash in a bank, I wouldn't have lost the $2,750 to a burglar", he said.

I'd been saving that money to buy a house and all I've got left after months of work is a battered strong box. I made the mistake, you see, of keeping that money by me instead of putting it in the bank every pay day. Now I've got to start at the beginning again, but I'm going to stay at my job as a riveter until I've got the money to buy that house. No more foolish risks for me. From now on I'm letting the bank keep my cash safe. It's tough luck, when you're getting on in years, to lose the very thing you've been counting on but what I want to do is to let other people profit by my loss. Don't take any chances—let the bank take care of your money and then you'll have it safe and sure for the things you want to buy when the war's over."

HOG LIQUIDATION IN PROSPECT

Everything points to a heavy liquidation of hogs at the present time. This statement was made by Professor J. W. Grant MacEwan, head of the animal husbandry department of the University of Saskatchewan. He points out that there is a decidedly unfavorable ratio between pig prices and the prices of feed grains and that livestock prices have not advanced along with grain prices.

Professor MacEwan said that last year Western Canadian farmers made extensive use of wheat in feeding hogs but wheat prices are now out of line with economical bacon production. However, it is his opinion that barley can still be fed to hogs and a moderate margin of returns made if a farmer has healthy and good quality pigs. Nevertheless, he warns that unless the livestock feeder is given more encouragement, the production of bacon and other animal products will be seriously down in 1944.

POSTHUMOUS AWARD

One of four Mentions in Despatches awarded last week was a posthumous award to a hero of Dieppe, Captain George Donald Sherret, 30, of Hamilton, Ontario.

* * *

The citation tells us how he assisted many wounded to landing craft under heavy fire during the evacuation. When the final evacuation came he was last seen swimming, undressed to his underwear, having torn up his clothing for use as bandages, tourniquets and slings. Craft nearby were too overloaded to take him aboard.

Authorities of the three armed services are still worried about overcrowding in all cities and communities near armed forces training camps. Last week they pointed out three facts: 1, Accommodation wherever troops are stationed is at a premium; 2, Families and dependents of armed forces personnel remaining at their homes can avoid needless cost of transportation and effects and a severance of social ties, 3, Dependents often distract uniformed men in their training, face the possibility of a higher cost of living and a constant uncertainty of the duration of a man's stay at a new station.

Worried about how to get mail to that soldier serving in the Mediterranean area? The answer is to address it in the same manner as mail for members of the Canadian Army elsewhere Overseas:

Number, Rank, Name,
Details of Unit
Regiment or Branch of Service,
Canadian Army Overseas

And keep that mail going to him. It means a lot.

A list of articles worth their weight in gold to servicemen overseas has been provided by the Army Auxiliary Services organizations' supervisors with the troops abroad:

Money orders, payable in pounds sterling, head the list, followed by cigarettes, tobacco and cigarette papers, razor blades, sharpeners, combs, small scissors, chewing gum, hard candy, soap, shaving cream, toothbrushes, can openers, writing paper, envelopes and reading material.

FREE HOSPITAL SERVICE PLAN FOR MATERNITY

Calgary, Nov. 16.—Government plans for free hospitalization of all maternity cases in Alberta after April 1st, 1944, were announced by Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, provincial minister of Health, at the joint conference of the Alberta Municipal Hospitals Association here yesterday.

The details of the plan will be worked out by a joint committee of three representing the Hospital Associations and three representatives of the provincial health department.

The announcement was made by Dr. Cross during an address to the conference, which opened yesterday morning.

He had suggested the free maternity hospitalization plan to the government, said Dr. Cross, and had obtained unanimous approval of the cabinet. If the Hospital Associations approves of the proposal he said, arrangements would be made to put it into effect after April 1st and the necessary legislation would be passed at the forthcoming session of the legislature.

The convention of the Hospital Associations immediately passed a unanimous resolution of approval with the suggestion of the joint committee to work out the details.

The government had decided to take this step, pending receipt of definite information with regard to the national health insurance scheme.

Dr. Cross also announced that he has been authorized to bring legislation before the next session of the provincial house whereby the government would pay 30 cents a patient day towards the cost of caring for infirm and incurable persons who did not need active hospital treatment, but who required care.

The grant would be paid for persons of this class who were in government approved accommodation.

The Hospitals Associations passed a resolution approving this move.

Work of the provincial government health units was also touched upon by Dr. Cross. The results achieved by these units were the best possible way of giving the people all of the advantages that modern health preventative measures had to offer, said Dr. Cross.

ANYTHING CAN HAPPEN:—

THERE IS A well founded belief among many people whose business and opportunities throw them in frequent contact with world news that anything can happen in Germany. The phrase is spoken with reference to German civilian morale and carries just a little more weight to it than mere wishful thinking. There are hopes of course, that German morale has been so lowered by United Nations' successes that it has reached the breaking point and will result in an uprising against the Hitler regime which in turn would lead to an unconditional surrender by Germany. It is peculiar how the belief persists.

There is no doubt that Germany has in recent months suffered many severe reverses. Between the Russians on the Russian front, the British, Canadians and American forces in the North African, Sicilian and Italian campaigns, and the British-Canadian-American air forces, the German people have had plenty of discouraging news to make them wonder when and what the end will be. News coming out of Germany via neutral sources say that living conditions are far from pleasant but while there is plenty of sober thinking, there is very little concrete evidence to show that a complete break-down in civilian morale is likely to occur immediately. Some observers seem to think that the Germans are as fearful of the peace as they are of the war. Expectations and rumours of an early peace have in the past few weeks gained such proportions as to cause a decline in the war stocks on the New York Stock Exchange on the assumption that large interests had "inside dope" that the war would end soon and war stocks become practically worthless. There is little doubt that the "inside dope" was nothing more than mere rumour and many responsible men of the armed forces hastened to explain that as far as winning the war was concerned, the United Nations are far from being out of the woods, and in reality there is plenty of hard fighting to be done.

It is quite safe to say that there is not one among us who would not welcome the news that the world had embarked upon a course of peace and understanding in place of one of bloodshed and strife. Yet it would indeed be folly to allow our wishes to surmount our judgement, for by so doing we would be tempted to let our guard down too soon and thus be in danger of receiving a mortal blow.

It is quite true that Germany has met with recent reverses in all theatres of war, but the reverse which will likely worry the German High Command and the high officials of the Nazi party most is the continued and increased solidarity between Russia, Great Britain, the United States and China, after the recent Moscow conference. For some time Germany has been doing its best to cause a break in the relations existing between the United Nations, hoping by some means to be able to divide and conquer. That her attempts to do this have failed so signally, will come as a profound shock, not only to those in authority in Germany but to the whole German nation. But even so there is little real evidence to cause one to believe that the war is nearing a rapid close, however much we desire it. On the contrary there is much to make one believe that the end, even as far as Germany is concerned, is not yet.

The war is so vast and battles are so far distant that there is danger of allowing one's interest to centre on one theatre and fail to take full account of others. As Britishers our interests centre upon the British Isles and Europe, but a grim struggle of much importance is going on in the Pacific and while of late months the Japanese have suffered reverses we believe there is a lack of understanding among the general public as to the extent and importance of their initial gains. Neither the United States or Great Britain are likely to let the Japanese retain these gains and there is likely to be much fighting before the United Nations have regained the territory taken from them. Whether this will be fighting "island by island" or an attack on Japan proper, or a decisive major sea battle is something the general public has no knowledge of. All we know is that fabulously rich lands, formerly owned or administered by American, British, Chinese or Dutch interests have been taken by the Japanese and it is not at all likely they will be allowed to keep them.

Regardless of the fluctuations on the New York Stock Market there is really nothing to show that the war is in its closing stages. We sincerely wish there was.

Letter to a Prisoner of War

". . . I'll write to you, of course; and in the spring
I'll try to conjure flowers in my letters,
And let you hear the finches as they sing.
If it should happen that you're still in fetters
When summer comes at length, I'll send you then
The sultry sunshine, followed by cool showers—
That you may dream, remember once again
The happiness of idle summer hours.
I'll write to you about the first chill frost,
And the excitement of the sharpening weather:
The woods that glow—their verdant beauty lost—
And contrast with the endless sea of heather.
My winter letters: they will bring you snow,
The clear-cold whiteness of the frozen river,
And tell you how the skaters come and go
While playing children run, lest they should shiver.

I'll write, from January to December
To try and make these weary months go fast.
The future is uncertain; but remember—
Nothing can take away from us the past."

CRATE FED CHICKENS WORTH MORE MONEY

In the keen demand for poultry during wartime, crate fattening of chickens before marketing is apt to be overlooked. This means a monetary loss to the poultryman and less value to the consumer. The chief advantages of crate fattening are that chickens gain more weight in the same time on less feed while being fattened in crates than they do on the range; they grade higher and sell for more cents per pound than unfattened low grade birds; properly fattened chickens of Grade A Milkfed quality are the "repeat order" birds; their flesh is more tender and has a more pleasing flavour; and the fat that can be interspersed by crate fattening through the tissues and under the skin is far more useful in a culinary way than is excess fat in the abdomen.

A recipe for a typical fattening ration is made up of equal parts of finely ground oats, wheat, barley or buckwheat mixed into a fairly thin batter with sour milk. The chickens should be fed twice a day, with water or milk available for the birds to drink during the day.

All birds do not fatten in the same period of time. Some of the birds will be properly finished before the others. It is good feeding practice, say the Dominion poultry authorities, to separate the poor feeders from the heavy feeders, and give the poor feeders a few days extra in the crates.

NO MORE SMALL TRUCKS AVAILABLE

No further truck models under a two ton rating will be available for the balance of the year, H. M. McAfee, Services Officer, Truck Control, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, has been advised by the Motor Vehicle Controller.

No further applications for these types of vehicles can be considered, and permits will not be issued for the coming year during the remainder of the present year, Mr. McAfee points out.

Thus, applicants for these trucks are advised to defer making application until 1944, Mr. McAfee states.

MINISTIK UNITED CHURCH NEWS

There will be church service held in Ministik Hall on Sunday, November 21st at 3:00 p.m.

WHEN DUTY CALLS

The evening sun shone softly down
On a little white house
At the edge of town.
It shone on a mother waiting there,
Touching the silver threads of her hair
Her eyes impatiently strayed to the gate
As she thought: "The Postman must be late."
Her heart beat quick with expectant joy,
For there should be a letter from her boy
Her Bill had gone to join the Ranks—
And she smiles at some remembered pranks
Bill and his school pals used to play.
She whispers: "Oh God please hasten the day
When the horrors of war will all have passed
And peace will reign o'er the world at last

There is the postman—out she ran;
But what was this—a telegram
"I'm coming home, but not for long,
It's embarkation leave, so I'll soon be gone,
Wherever they need me over there,
Right now, dear Mother, I can't tell where."
Her eyes filled with a misty light
And the evening suddenly seemed less bright
But she'd smile when she said farewell to her son
And after that—"God's Will be Done!"

FEWER OLD-TIMERS AT BANQUET BUT FRIENDLY SPIRIT REMAINS

Scores of pioneers and old-timers of the Edmonton area gathered for the annual "round up" banquet and dance Wednesday night in the Macdonald hotel and recalled experiences of long ago in the one-time frontier district of Edmonton, now one of the most active centres in Canada. Sponsored by the Northern Alberta Pioneers' and Old-Timers' association the reunion was one of the smallest held in many years, with only 300 present as compared to the usual 600 or 700. Attendance was restricted under a decision of the association.

Swapping many a story and renewing old friendships the pioneers present were thankful that this year's fall had turned out to be a mild one. "Not that we can't take it any more," said one bearded old-timer, "we just enjoy the fine weather same as you do." And he recalled the winter hardships he had encountered when Jasper ave. was a mere trail and men still forded the Saskatchewan river on horseback to get to Fort Edmonton.

BREWING INDUSTRY OF ALBERTA

EXPECTS INDUSTRIAL GROWTH TO BRING LAND SETTLEMENT

New York—Dr. Griffith Taylor, head of the department of geography at the University of Toronto, said Wednesday that industrial expansion based on fuel and metal resources, will account for settlement and development of the remaining sparsely populated areas of the world.

Addressing the Herald Tribune forum on current problems, he said the rush to pioneer lands in this century is no longer outstanding, largely due to the drop in the birth rate in most civilized countries. Australia and Canada, he said, appear to offer the best opportunities for future settlement because of the climate and natural resources of their undeveloped areas.

Dr. Taylor said Canada eventually will support 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 people before its 2,000,000 square miles of unpopulated land are saturated. Although in much of this area the cold is intense and there is "often too much water," he said, Canada is rich in oil, ore and lumber resources, which lie adjacent to the major inter-continental air routes of the near future.

"Canada, however, is not a satisfactory country for unassisted immigrants in its present condition. Lack of drainage is a greater drawback than the short duration of soil and the drainage of these huge areas of rather swampy soil can only be carried out by vast government expenditure. The present is not the time to do this, but it will be done when the better parts of newly settled Canada are saturated." possibilities, Dr. Taylor

BURN CHINESE MONEY TO MANUFACTURE GAS

The story of how Manila's industrial and domestic gas supply was furnished for four days by burning millions of Chinese dollars was told aboard the Gripsholm by two repatriates, Clifford Billings of Buffalo, N.Y., representative of the Manila Gas Holding Company of New York City, and George Lynott of the Bronx, N.Y., representative of the American Bank Note Company.

New bills of different denominations for the Chungking National Government in China, packed in 460 metal and wood cases and totaling $260,000,000 arrived in Manila aboard the S.S. Grant while the city was under Japanese aerial bombardment. When it became evident that Japanese forces would enter Manila, it was decided to use the furnaces and retorts of the Manila Gas Company and the Philippine Government's Bureau of Science. For four days and nights the only fuel that entered the furnaces and retorts was crisp new bills printed in the United States.

ALBERTA FARMER, 72, SLUGGED AND ROBBED

The two were apparently seeking the returns from an auction sale Monday afternoon, in which Topping sold his farm implements and stock, but were unsuccessful.

PART of the Canadian Pacific Railway's campaign for rigid conservation of coal during the heating season is a special booklet of instructions, the front cover of which is illustrated above and which all those immediately responsible for handling company coal must follow. Supplementing the booklet a general appeal on home saving [illegible] has gone to the almost 70,000 employees of the company and the subject will be kept alive by a continuing intra-company educational series. All phases of the campaign, announced by W. M. Neal, the vice-president, are expected to save 300,000 tons of coal throughout the system itself, with the home savings by Canadian Pacific people expected to add considerably even to that impressive figure. The company saving will be 10 per cent. on the approximate 3,000,000 tons of coal required annually, a remarkable saving, when considered in the light of the Canadian Pacific's own conservation campaign to increase operating efficiency, which has been intensively pursued for 10 years.

FEDERAL AID FOR HIGHWAY PROGRAMS

Federal assistance for provincial road development was advocated when a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Good Roads association was held in Calgary recently.

The meeting was attended by highways or public works ministers from practically all the provinces, road engineers and other officials.

A resolution which was passed asked that the dominion government be requested to provide funds for a dominion wide post-war highway construction program extending over a period of not less than five years from the termination of the present world conflict, or at such earlier date as may be deemed advisable.

Such action in securing federal aid would tie in with demands that the Alberta Motor Association has made on the provincial government for ear marking of surplus motor funds for the development of a post-war road construction program.

Coupled with dominion aid, the funds would, or should, provide the province with an extensive road program and would play an important part in providing employment and rehabilitating men in the post-war period.

WAR STAMP FOR TIP

Montreal, November 22.—Jacques Paquette, Redcap No. 23, at the Canadian National Railways Central Station, has added another war savings stamp to his growing collection. When a lady passenger disembarked from the "Ocean Limited" and transferred to the Ottawa Express, Redcap Paquette carried her bag. At the Ottawa train the lady found herself without change, but noted the Redcap's name and number and on arriving at the Capital promptly mailed to him a War Savings Stamp, so Jacques' deferred tip is well invested.

CANADIAN DRESSED DOLLS GO TO BRITISH KIDDIES

Montreal, November 22.—Dolls and other playthings are scarce in the British Isles so that a consignment of eighty dolls, each attired in bonnet, knitted coat, appropriate dress and tiny bootees, now on the high seas will be a big prize when they reach the Royal Sailors' Rest at Portsmouth, England. This institution takes care of the families of sailors lost at sea. The dolls were dressed by the Girls' Service Group of the Canadian National Telegraphs. The big bundles shipped to Portsmouth contain also a plentiful supply of toys and children's clothing. The Girls Service Group is an affiliate of the Canadian National Railways Employees' War Services Association and since 1940 has sent a score of big bales, each one of which arrived safely.

FOR SALE:—20,000 bundles of green feed (smooth awned barley) 3c. per bundle in the field.—Apply to A. D. Banack, Tofield, 'phone 1002. 39-42p

COMMUNICATION

EDITOR'S NOTE:--The following is a letter appearing in the Vegreville Observer, whether you agree with everything the writer says or not makes little difference to him, but as writing goes, it has a new flavor, and should prove interesting reading.

REAL LIFE

Beyond the bounds of the farm the average farmer is more or less supposed to be a lank fungus-draped, lop-shouldered individual, who expresses himself in this fashion. "I ain't under any obligation to nobody for nothin'," yet owes everyone, including his wife. The average farmer has also often been limned as an angular one-rutted gent, who evolved weird dialect for the use of humorists, while his wife chopped the stove wood and the children scooted under the house at the approach of strangers; who worked semi-occasionally, fit and fiddled when the spirit moved him and made a hillside beverage that sippers thereof climbed tall trees and hopped from bough to bough.

That that yawning lout did once exist in certain back woods and nooks, is perhaps true; but gone are the days when the children were sewed up in their underclothes and ripped out in the spring. Gone, too, is the father who was compelled to tie his daughter, age sixteen, to a nearby tree in order to fit her first shoes; who loved his many hounds as his life, and lit out for the tall timber each time the district court convened. But despite the fact that that moss-growing citizen has been obliterated in the course of time, his reputation goes marching on. Reputation is, of course, a most unwise implication it got without merit and lost without deserving.

Real life is plain living according to rewards and hardships in the natural order of things. It is a one-man business, consists of the private life of the individual, and if he is short on private life, so is to that extent minus the experience and character which develop the strength and courage of personality. Real life is more apt to produce great men of whom the world never hears than great wealth of which we hear so much. Poverty is the foundation of it, for one man alone rarely gets rich. To do so, he must combine his forces with his fellowmen or go into competition with them. Here, or when he does this, he forsakes real life and goes into business which in itself is a sort of commercial illusion of reality. The stockbroker becomes broken down from an individual into a digit, or he shrinks from his original self. The same can be said of mass labor. Men lose their personality and become talking, striking, wabbling cogs in a great wheel. The first step to an artificial civilization, which in itself is based upon ideas and not the ancient realities of men, such as dirt, soil, water and the sweat of the brow. However, neither can stand alone without the support of the markets or the people.

Men are not born in litters, but one at a time, and for a purpose, and I ask you, as a wilful individualist, who has never regretted the distinction of being born that way, what does a man gain if he gain so much that can be taken away by a single fluctuation of the market or that leaves him like a greedy skeleton at last, to die without the manly courage of his original dust? And what does a man lose if he loses everything, provided he goes to his last account rich in the faith and courage as one man alone? Men does not die in litters either. The most convincing illustration of real life is the period lived by our pioneers. So far as I know, there is no record of pioneer civilization dying out. It is the effete nation which rots and dies down. The reason is that our frontiersmen rarely craved riches. Their ambition was to conquer the wilds and set up a jurisdiction of their own. As a general rule they were in revolt against monarchs soaked in greed and wealth and follies. They were hard-featured, homely, heroic men, terribly virtuous and terribly patient.

But the knowledge and ideals of this day seem to wipe out the scenes of real life. If Adam had been created a rich man and had not to earn his living by the sweat of his brow, he probably would have gone on a tourist spree or turned professor, giving himself airs like God in man's first shirt tail; then too, we would have been short the early scriptures. Much of that sort of thing is going on right now. Man appoints himself as a tin God or brass Angel and prophesies the future.

The best things come from men with clean minds and stout hearts. These early romantic men with or place remains for such living and that is upon the land. Here it is possible to keep one's faith and a clean mind by living hard. That without virtue, were not analysts. They digested life by living it. Not pottering and padding it as is done today. In the world today only one is the reason why farmers can stand so many losses and yet remain constant on their land. Thrust up against the weather-sharpened elbows of the Almighty and companioned by silence. Their virtues are plain; they cannot shine, for no more polish will stick to them. But it needs a prophet to interpret them. For it is not unusual to be silent and intellectual at the same time.

We are little fellows from start to finish, not justified in oud own pride or our egotism, least of all our envies of each other. Living is a one-man business, and peace something each attains for himself. And so we shall believe in the righteousness of God at least as much as we do in the dexterity of the Devil. Or, as the heroic knight in Tennyson's Idylls, "So whyfor were we born if not to live pure, speak true, right wrong, follow the King."

(Mr. Editor, the above is "Life as I construe it.)

ROBERT YORK

MERE MONEY

I can point you to ten thousand families in this my city to whom an extra three hundred dollars a year, in cash or its equivalent in democratically administered services of shelter, food and appliances would mean a fundamental change in their general well-being, in the whole thought and tone of their lives. The mere differences in mere money could be as potent as that.

I look over a typical Rotary, Kiwanis, or Canadian Club gathering. I note the quality of clothes, of food, of cigars, the general effect of cleanliness and good grooming . . . I am proud of most of them. Am I to imagine that they are all ruined by having from three to twenty-five thousand a year, fine homes on good streets, holidays, agreeable work, education and good care for themselves and their children? From most of them I wouldn't take away what they have for a moment. I would only suggest that there is something wrong in our society with the way the money rewards for labours performed are being distributed; that the man who delivered my coal last week should be able to give his children a better chance than he can at present possibly give them; and, yes, that the miner behind him who dug the coal should have more, not less, money amenity for himself and his children.

LAKESHORE

Born---To Mr. and Mrs. Art Redway on Friday, November 26th, a boy. Congratulations.

Last Monday, a fire, thought to have started from the stove or chimney, burned Mr. and Mrs. Emil Tiedeman's house, with everything in it. Mr. Tiedeman was a short distance away cutting wood and Mrs. Tiedeman was upstairs working when she smelled smoke. She went downstairs to find the whole lower floor filled with smoke and the kitchen ablaze. Picking up the baby she managed to find her way out through the kitchen door and then tried to get back in by breaking a window. She was unable to get in smoke was so bad. She suffered a severe cut on her [illegible] from the window glass, [illegible] later was taken to Dr. McPherson who put three stitches in the gash. Mrs. [illegible] ran with the baby to John Wood's to get help, but before anything could be done the house with all the contents was a total loss.

At the Ladies' Aid meeting held on Wednesday at Mrs. Niel Phillips' it was decided to solicit the district for funds to enable the ladies to meet their obligations to the church. This will be done instead of putting on the usual social events sponsored by the L.A. to raise money in the Fall.

The War Workers' Club has both yarn and flannelette on hand to be made up. Will anyone who wishes to work with either, please let Mrs. Warner, Mrs. Steen or Mrs. Wood know and material will be sent out.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Tucker met in their honor at T. A. Jones' a week ago Saturday. It was Mr. and Mrs. Tucker's silver wedding anniversary. The evening was spent in dancing.

The L.C.C. held a very successful Pot Luck supper in the Hall on Friday. A very fine supper was served to a fair crowd. The youngsters enjoyed themselves afterwards as much as they did at the table. We hope they will soon put on another and charge more for it as everybody had a thoroughly good time.

A skating party will be held on Baileys slough Friday night December 3rd. These parties are very popular among the young people, they always enjoy themselves at Bailey's.

Jimmy Hooper took Mr. and Mrs. Richardson to Edmonton Monday afternoon to try and procure some Christmas treats for the school, but had very poor luck.

The youngsters are having a wonderful time playing Fox and Geese in the newly fallen three inches of snow.

This year due to the late opening of school, instead of the regular Christmas concert there will be a supper in the hall on December 23, when it is hoped every parent in the district will bring enough food for his family and all can sit, eat and visit at one table. After this a short program will be put on by the school. All living in the district are cordially invited to attend.

Francis Campbell in Edmonton

Francis Campbell, formerly of the Co-op Store who went overseas with an Edmonton Regiment about two years ago was recently brought to an Edmonton Hospital for treatment. Francis developed pleurisy while in England and was invalided home. We understand he has been discharged and is expected home to Tofield any time now

What is known as the "old P B Anderson home," was the scene of a happy gathering last Sunday afternoon, as a large number of friends and neighbors walked in and took possession of the home. In this way they wished to demonstrate to the Westby family how very happy they were that Mr. Westby had returned safely, over a long and dangerous journey from Norway into Sweden, then across to England by plane and from there by boat to St. John, N B. and home.

Mr. Westby was persuaded to give an account of his experiences. This he did very ably, after which a purse of money was handed to Mr and Mrs. Westby as a small remembrance. The ladies had provided a sumptous lunch which soon disappeared mysteriously.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Kvern returned from Vancouver following a three months stay. Mr. and Mrs Kvern have bought a small farm at Preeceville, Sask., and left for their new home on Tuesday evening.

Bennie Finseth attended the C.C.F. Convention in Edmonton last week.

Local teachers, Mrs. P. Lerbekmo, Mrs. P. Bjornson, Miss Alice Broughton and Miss Muriel Finseth attended the teachers' convention at Holden on November 19th

HAND LOOM WEAVING

Eighteen months ago the Searle Grain Company started sponsoring weaving classes throughout the prairies. To date a total of 66 classes have either completed or will shortly be completed. About 600 rural women and girls have been taught to weave at these classes. As each class finishes the weavers form themselves into a weaving circle. These weaving circles then carry on the good work, and have also in view the object of teaching their neighbors and other women and girls in their district. Many of the circles are now engaged in this worthy work.

150 looms have already been purchased by the weavers and more are being purchased week by week, and all these looms are in active useful and beautiful hand-woven materials.

An estimate has been recently made that these prairie weavers have already woven the equivalent of 5,000 yards of material 48 inches wide, which fabrics have been made into bedspreads, blankets, curtains, tablecloths, towels, hangings, rugs, scarves, handbags and clothes for men, women and children.

The prairie women who have learned to weave, it seems, have become greatly interested in creating their own particular combinations of designs and colours, indicating that with all women there seems to be an instinctive desire to surround themselves in their homes with beautiful things.

RISING PRICES OF HAY CONTROLLED

Because prices for hay in the prairie provinces and B.C. have been rising rapidly in recent weeks and causing concern to dairy farmers and other livestock producers through a threat to the present price ceiling structure on fluid milk and other dairy products sold to the consuming public, a ceiling has been placed on hay grown and sold in these areas.

The new order is designed both to forestall this situation and give producers a fair return.

Basic ceiling price for baled hay loaded on cars at shipping points in Alberta is $18 a ton. If delivered to the shipping point but not loaded on cars the price will be $17 a ton.

Ceiling prices on farmer transactions are also established, for the first time for any farm commodity. They will be the basic ceiling price less the normal hauling charges from the farm for baled hay. Unbaled hay may be sold at the basic ceiling price less the normal hauling and baling charges.

BANK OF MONTREAL STATEMENT SHOW RECORD ASSETS AND DEPOSITS

Demonstrating the important extent to which it is participating in the financing of the war, the Bank of Montreal today publishes its 126th annual financial statement, showing substantial increases in its main features, with resources at the highest figure in its history. The statement, which is in its customary "easily understandable" form, shows assets of $1,313,000,000 which is $138,000,000 above the previous record of a year ago.

Profits at $3,302,834 show a slight increase over the figure for 1942 when the bank reported earnings of $3,283,015, and represent 4.30 per cent of the capital, reserve and undivided profits, compared with 4.31 per cent last year. With the heightened business activity incident to the war, this figure might have been expected to be higher, but increased taxes have practically offset the effect of enlarged gross earnings. At a figure nearly $375,000 higher than in 1942, the bank's Dominion Government tax bill for the current year amounted to $2,913,000. Of this amount $163,000 is refundable under the provisions of the Excess Profits Tax Act.

The net profits at $3,302,834 were distributed to shareholders to the extent of $2,160,000 which compares with $2,700,000 last year, and an amount of $300,000 was written off bank premises. This left a balance of $642,834 to be added to the previous balance of $1,236,687 in the profit and loss account, leaving the amount in this account at $1,879,521.

Deposits at Record

Deposits—the largest item in the balance sheet and one which best shows public confidence in the institution—have shown a marked advance in the twelve month period, notwithstanding the heavy inroads made into surplus funds by subscribers to Victory Loans. Under the deposit heading the bank shows an amount of $1,205,874,000 which is $140,000,000 above the figure for 1942, which constituted a record at that time.

"MISS CANADAS", TO SELL WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

Reports reaching National War Finance Headquarters from a large number of Northern Alberta's sixty rural units indicate that Christmas sales of War Savings Stamps will be handled primarily by "Miss Canadas."

Northern Alberta's December stamp selling campaign is being sponsored by the stationers and all other retailers selling stationery. Nearly four hundred such outlets are now provided with Christmas Greeting cards are also available at all regular stamp selling outlets.

With each purchase of one or more stamps, the purchaser is provided with a greeting card. Through this arrangement citizens are solving their small gift problems by sending greeting cards with stamps enclosed. The cards are proving popular gifts ular gifts among the younger generation and are rapidly taking the place of token gifts such as hankies, glamor pins, and others that were popular in former years.

In many rural Units throughout Northern Alberta "Miss Canadas" are taking the role of Christmas callers and are making regular weekly or bi-weekly calls from house to house, providing the Stamp purchaser with greeting cards.

Northern Alerta's Stamp selling quota for December is $48,000 with half the amount to come from sales in Edmonton, and the other half allocated among the sixty rural Units on a quota basis.

INCREASE IN ASSETS

The Alberta Wheat Pool Delegates' convention spent Wednesday afternoon in considering the auditor's report presented by K. J. Morrison, of the firm of Harvey, Morrison and Co. The Pool report showed a net surplus of assets over liabilities of $5,717,963.44, an increase of a quarter of a million dollars over the figure for the previous year.

The total amount of commercial and elevator reserves purchased by the Pool during the year was $825,613.49. Of this amount, $254,930.12 was distributed as patronage dividends and the balance of $570,683.37 retained in the possession of the organization.

COAL IS SCARCE! — Wasting fuel by overheating your home is unpatriotic. It has long been recognized that moderate temperatures are better for the health. To ensure comfort, get into warmer clothes rather than pile on more fuel.

Tests show that for every degree over 68° coal consumption is increased 3%. Keeping your home at 68° instead of 76° may save almost a quarter of your fuel.

COUNCILLORS' REMUNERATION—

THE REAL and lasting remuneration of councillors is the satisfaction of an office well filled and a task well done. At the very best as soon as a man is elected to office he becomes a target both for co-operation and criticism and quite often the criticism seems to be more potent than the co-operation. Even so, Councillors probably command more respect than they are aware of. Therefore the resolution passed by the M.D. of Beaver Council at their last meeting to be presented at the Municipal District's Convention held at Calgary, no doubt will meet with the approval of the councillors assembled there. The resolution was in effect to allow an increase in the remuneration paid councillors for meetings and road supervision.

The Municipal Act stipulates what the maximum pay shall be and while we have not a Municipal Act handy, we believe this to be $5.00 per day for meetings and $4.00 per day for supervision. Anyway in 1942 in the former Cornhill M.D. these were the figures used. Five dollars per day for meetings was the amount paid councillors in the former Cornhill M.D. for many years, but some years ago when economic conditions were not particularly bright and relief was being frequently applied for, the Cornhill Council on the motion of Mr. Holmberg, reduced it to four dollars, the personnel of the then council feeling that it should make some financial sacrifice to be in line with the then prevailing conditions. Later when economic conditions improved, the amount was again set at five dollars per day for meetings.

A short meeting is not a particularly arduous task, but frequently especially in the spring and fall, meetings carry on into late hours and to any person who has attended a number of them, the suggestion that Councillors' remuneration be increased from five to six dollars sounds reasonable enough. It should be remembered that two councillors now cover about as much territory and number of ratepayers as six did before the municipal merger and in consequence the amount of work is increased in proportion.

There is little doubt that the principle of the resolution will be accepted at the Municipal District's Convention, but before it can be brought into practice it must meet with the favor of the government and should also be endorsed by the rank and file of ratepayers. We believe that in the main ratepayers will approve of the resolution and support the increase and if this is so, the government should lose no time in putting it into effect.

MOMENTOUS NEWS—

There now seems little doubt that momentous news of some kind is about to break. Exactly what diplomatic moves have been made and when, where and why, the world, at time of writing is still guessing, with little chance of making a completely right guess. However, one thing seems fairly clear, peace suggestions as between Germany and the United Nations have been broached by somebody, but by whom and to what extent they have advanced is still unexplained. According to a recently reported speech of Hitlers made some weeks ago, for the Germans, the war must end with victory or extinction, but there is no explanation why the subject matter of the speech should have been witheld from the world until now. At present there seem to be a battle among diplomats being fought simultaneously with the battles being fought between the armed forces.

Japan's dramatic advent into the war by the bombing of Pearl Harbour has given many people the impression that Japan is the particular enemy of the United States. But while there is no doubt that the United States will more than pay back with interest what they owe the "little brown brother" on the Pearl Harbor incident, it must not be forgotten that Great Britain has a few scores to settle with the Japs also. Even before the present war between China and Japan broke out, Japan as far as Great Britain was concerned was becoming a nuisance. Remember those incidents during which the Japanese "imprisoned" people of other nationalities? Then there is the 1940 Christmas incident at Hong Kong. The brilliant light of other stupendous world events have dimmed the Hong Kong incident, but it is not in the nature of the British to forget, and while their sense of humor does not run to the sobriquet "little brown brother," the final result will be the same, the Japs are in for a real trimming. In fact the leaders of Japan, who, like the leaders of Italy, chose to wait until they believed the enemy was at their mercy before they struck, will have just cause and time to repent of their action.

It is not unlikely that this is one of the things occupying the minds of United Nations statesmen at the present time. They will insist that Germany must be beaten and the people of Germany taught the lesson that aggression is not the road to influence. But while this is true enough, like the lawyers say, "time is the escence of the contract," and the sooner the United Nations can end the war with Germany, the sooner they can turn their attention to Japan. And conversely, the longer Japan is left to consolidate her initial gains in rich equatorial territory, the longer the time and harder the task it will be to deprive the wily Jap of his ill-gotten gains. To some extent this effects Germany also, as while Japan and Germany are at war against the United Nations, they are not by any means partners, and no matter whatever the outcome of the European war may be, Germany as a great industrial nation would also stand to lose much if the Japanese, an Asiatic industrial nation were allowed to retain control of the territory wrested from the British, United States and Holland in the early stages of the Pacific war.

Halloween Joke Backfires

By John Gould in Christian Science Monitor

Long years ago, Daniel Munson lived up toward Carter's Corner and was known for miles around for his fine herd of Milking Shorthorns. They were beautiful animals, each cow individually cared for until she became a pet. Pedigrees as long as hoe handles were framed by each manger, and every cow was a potential butterfat champion. Dan had trunks full of blue ribbons they'd taken at fairs, and he made speeches at breeders' associations extolling his special strain.

But over near Peppermint Corner lived Maynard Proctor, who would tell you at the drop of a hat that Milking Shorthorns were a disgrace to the dairy industry, and any sensible man would sell them for beef and build up a herd of Ayrshires. Maynard had a splendid herd of Ayrshires, each cow curried until she shone like silk and as docile as a sleeping pussy. Maynard also had blue ribbons and made speeches, and his production records were printed in farm magazines.

Fortunately, eight miles separated these two farmers and their herds, else they might have come to blows, so keen was their rivalry. It was congenial enough at first, but later they took things too seriously. Folks around the countryside lent a hand, and sort of blew on the coal. It got so people would stop Maynard and tell him what Daniel said—whether he ever said it or not—and then they would run to Daniel and convey Maynard's response. One or two started it, and after a time the whole section was mixed up in it. It would be hard to trace the devious steps of this growing antagonism, but next to junipers our best crop is jokers, and Dan and Maynie had the attention of experts. When, one fall, they met in the stable at the fair and looked right through each other without speaking, the melon was considered ripe.

That's how it came about that I'm telling you a Halloween story. Someone proposed that they take all of Maynard's cows and put them in Daniel's barn, and all of Daniel's and put them in Maynard's. Maynard was keeping 38 head, and Daniel, 42, so on Halloween when Daniel and Maynard were sound asleep, 42 men and boys from Carter's Corner started leading a cow apiece over the road and 38 men and boys from Peppermint Corner began leading a cow apiece to meet them—each brigade followed by a prancing bull on a durable staff.

At about two-thirty in the morning, the two caravans met and passed in the road near our place. Some of the cows were cavorting a little, but mostly they paraded along happily enough. Dogs barked and people woke up. It took a time for the animals to go by and then it was quiet again. At dawn, Daniel's cows were all at Peppermint Corner, and Maynard's cows were all at Carter's corner, and the returning pranksters met and passed near our place and told each other the deed was done.

What could they do? Daniel got up and milked all Maynard's cows, and Maynard milked all of Daniel's, and after breakfast each man hitched up his horse and galloped in the direction of his suspicions. They met near our place and learned the worst. Now you see, it isn't much of a stunt for a man to walk a cow eight miles, and its easy for a crowd to walk a whole herd. But when a man has to walk 38, and another 42, it runs into time. Everyone for miles around anticipated enjoying this incident over and over again—because they thought Daniel and Maynard would be leading cows back and forth until snow flew.

But Daniel and Maynard sat in their buggies out in front of our place and talked business, and when they were done they shook hands and each went home. They'd swapped herds. And for years Daniel won trunks full of blue ribbons with his wonderful Ayrshires, and Maynard set butterfat records with his excellent Shorthorns, and they both made speeches at breeders' meetings, and they were the best of friends.

And 80 of our best jokers were never quite sure whether they had fun or not.

Familiarity

The children, George, aged four, and Ernest, age five, were being put to bed.

"We do love you, mummy," said George, hugging her.

"Why do you love me, darling?"

"Cos we like your face."

"But it isn't much of a face," said mother.

That was a bit of a poser. The boy thought a moment.

But we've got used to it he said.

The Most Unforgetable E.P.

(By STEPHEN LEACOCK)

When I was six my father settled on an Ontario farm. There we lived in isolation the like of which is almost unknown today. We were 35 miles from a railway. There were no newspapers. Nobody came and went, for there was nowhere to come and go.

Into this isolation broke my dynamic uncle, Edward Philip Leacock, my father's younger brother. E.P., as everyone called him, had just come from a year's travel around the Mediterrean. He was about 28 but, bronzed and self-confident, with a square beard like a Plantagenet king, he seemed a more than adult man. His talk was of Algiers, of the African slave market, of the Golden Horn and the Pyramids. To us who had been living in the wilderness for two years it sounded like the Arabian Nights. When we asked, "Uncle Edward, do you know the Prince of Wales?" he answered, "Quite intimately"—with no further explanation. It was an impressive trick he had.

In that year, 1878, there was a general election in Canada. E.P. was soon in it up to the neck. He picked up the history and politics of upper Canada in a day, and in a week knew everybody in the countryside. In politics E.P. was on the conservative, aristocratic side, but he was also hail-fellow-well met with the humblest. A democrat can't descend, because he's down already; when a conservative stoops, he conquers. E.P. spoke at every meeting. His strong point, however, was personal contact in barroom treats, which gave full scope to his marvelous talent for flattering make-believe.

"Why, let me see," he would say to some tattered country specimen beside him, glass in hand, "surely if your name is Framley you must be a relation of my dear old friend, General Sir Charles Framley of the Horse Artillery?"

"Mebbe," the flattered specimen would answer, "I ain't kept track very good of my folks in the old country."

"Dear me! I must tell Sir Charles that I've seen you. He'll be so pleased."

Thus in a fortnight E.P. had conferred honors and distinctions on half the township of Georgina. They lived in a recaptured atmosphere of generals, admirals, and earls. How else could they vote than conservative!

The election was a walkover. E.P. might have stayed to reap the fruits, but Ontario was too small a horizon for him. Manitoba was just then opening up, and nothing would satisfy E.P. but that he and my father should go west. So we had a sale of our farm, with refreshments for all comers, our lean cattle and broken machines fetching less than the price of the whiskey. Off to Manitoba went E.P. and my father, leaving us children behind at school.

They hit Winnipeg on the rise of the boom and E.P. rode the crest of the wave. There is a magic appeal in the rush and movement of a boom town—a Carson City of the '60's, a Winnipeg of the 80's. Life is all in the present, all here and now, no past and no outside—just a clatter of hammers and saws, rounds of drinks and rolls of money. Every man seems to be a remarkable fellow; individuality shines and character blossoms like a rose.

E.P. was in everything and knew everybody, conferring titles and honors up and down Portage Avenue. In six months he had a great fortune, on paper; took a trip east and brought back a charming wife from Toronto; built a large house beside the Red River, filled it with pictures of people he said were his ancestors, and carried on in it a roaring hospitality that never stopped.

He was president of a bank (that never opened); head of a brewery (for brewing the Red River); and secretary-treasurer of the Winnipeg, Hudson Bay and Arctic Ocean Railway that had a charter authorizing it to build a road to the Arctic Ocean (when it got ready). They had no track but they printed stationery and passes, and in return E.P. received passes over all North America.

He was elected to the Manitoba legislature; they would have made him prime minister but for the existence of the grand old man of the province, John Norquay. At that, in a short time Norquay ate out of E.P.'s hand.

To aristocracy E.P. added a touch of prestige by always being apparently about to be called away—imperially. If someone said, "Will you be in Winnipeg all winter, Mr. Leacock?" he answered, "It will depend a good deal on what happens in West Africa." Just that; West Africa beat them.

Then the Manitoba boom crashed. Simple people like my father were wiped out in a day. Not so E.P. Doubtless he was left utterly bankrupt, but it made no difference. He used credit instead of cash; he still had his imaginary bank and his railway to the Arctic Ocean. Anyone who called about a bill was told that E.P.'s movements were uncertain and would depend a good deal on what happened in Johannesburg. That held them another six months.

I used to see him when he made his periodic trips east—on passes—to impress his creditors in the west. He floated on hotel credit, loans and unpaid bills. A banker was his natural victim. E.P's method was simple. As he entered the banker's

(By STEPHEN LEACOCK)

private office he would exclaim, "I say! Do you fish? Surely that's a greenheart casting rod on the wall?" (E.P. knew the names of everything) In a few minutes the banker, flushed and pleased, was exhibiting the rod and showing trout flies. When E.P. went out he carried $100 with him. There was no security.

He dealt similarly with credit at livery stables and shops. He bought with lavish generosity, never asking a price. He never suggested payment except as an afterthought, just as he was going out. "By the way, please let me have the bill promptly, I may be going away," and in an aside to me, "Sir Henry Loch has cabled me again from West Africa." And so out. They had never seen him before or since

When ready to leave an hotel E.P. would call for his bill at the desk and break out into enthusiasm at the reasonableness of it. "Compare that," he would say in his aside to me, "with the Hotel Crillon in Paris! Remind me to mention to Sir John how admirably we've been treated; he's coming here next week." Sir John was our prime minister. The hotelkeeper hadn't known he was coming and he wasn't.

Then came the final touch. "Now let me see . . . . $76 . . . " Here E.P. fixed his eye firmly on the hotel man. "You give me $24 and then I can remember to send an even hundred." The man's hand trembled. But he gave it.

This does not mean that E.P. was dishonest. To him his bills were merely "deferred," like the British debt to the United States. He never made, never even contemplated, a crooked deal in his life. All his grand schemes were as open as sunlight, and as empty.

E.P. knew how to fashion his talk to his audience. I once introduced him to a group of my college friends, to whom academic degrees meant a great deal. Casually E.P. turned to me and said, "Oh, by the way, you'll be glad to know that I've just received my honorary degree from the Vatican —at last!" The "at last" was a knockout. A degree from the Pope, and overdue at that!

Of course it could not last. Gradually faith weakens, credit crumbles, creditors grow hard and friends turn faces away. Little by little E.P. sank down. Now a widower, he was a shuffling, half shabby figure who would have been pathetic except for his indomitable self-belief. Times grew hard with him and at length even the simple credit of the barrooms broke under him. My brother Jim told me of E.P. being put out of a Winnipeg bar by an angry bartender. E.P. had brought in four men, spread the fingers of one hand and said "Mr. Leacock, Five." The bartender broke into oaths. E.P. hooked a friend by the arm. "Come away," he said. "I'm afraid the poor fellow's crazy. But I hate to report him."

Presently free travel came to an end. The railways found out at last that there wasn't any Arctic Ocean Railway. Just once more E.P. managed to come east. I met him in Toronto—a trifle shabby but wearing a plug hat with a crape band around it. "Poor Sir John," he said, "I felt I simply must come down for his funeral." Then I remembered that the prime minister was dead, and realized that kindly sentiment had meant free transportation.

That was the last I ever saw of E.P. Finally someone paid his fare back to England. He received from some family trust an income of two pounds a week, and on that he lived, with such dignity as might be, in a remote village in Worcestershire. He told the people of the village—so I learned later—that his stay was uncertain; it would depend on what happened in China. But nothing happened in China. There he stayed for years and there he might have finished but for a strange chance, a sort of poetic justice, that gave him an evening in the sunset.

In the part of England where our family belonged there was an ancient religious brotherhood with a centuries-old monastery and dilapidated estates. E.P. descended on them, since the brothers seemed an easy mark. In the course of his pious retreat he took a look into the brothers' finances and his quick intelligence discovered an old claim against the government, large in amount and valid beyond doubt. In no time E.P. was at Westminster, representing the brothers. British officials were easier to handle than Ontario hotel keepers.

The brothers got a lot of money. In gratitude they invited E.P. to be their permanent manager. So there he was, lifted into ease and affluence. The years went easily by among gardens, orchards and fishponds as old as the Crusades.

When I was lecturing in London in 1921 he wrote to me. "Do come down; I am too old now to travel, but I will send a chauffeur with a car and two lay brothers to bring you down." Just like E. P., I thought, the "lay-brothers" touch. But I couldn't go. He ended his days at the monastery, no cable calling him to West Africa.

If there is a paradise I am sure the unbeatable quality of his spirit will get him in. He will say at the gate, "Peter? Surely you must be a relation of Lord Peter of Tichfield?" But if he fails, then, as the Spaniards say so fittingly, "May the earth lie light upon him."

Suggest That North Road Be Gravelled

A meeting of some of the ratepayers of the Municipal District of Beaver was called at McKenzie School on the evening of November 30th for the purpose of discussing the possibility of gravelling the road north of Tofield to Highway 16. It has been felt for a long time that the amount of traffic on this road is much greater than the present state of the roadbed will support.

The meeting was opened and L. Olson was named chairman with G. O. Walker as secretary. The Councillor for Division seven, Mr. Swabey was present. After considerable discussion as to the possibility of the Municipality gravelling this road being assured of the support of Mr. Swabey in this matter, it was felt by getting the active support of the government we would be able to get this road gravelled much sooner. After all a great deal of the traffic is intermunicipal.

The meeting then appointed G. O. Walker and L. Olson a committee to contact the council of the Town of Tofield and so work together for a public meeting to be held later at which we can submit our suggestions to our M.L.A. and the officials of the Department of Public Works.

Wheat Variety Survey

The official recommendations as to what varieties of wheat should be [illegible] and [illegible] they should be grown are published each winter in each of the three prairie provinces. Copies are placed in the hands of all Line Elevator agents. 1944 recommendations should be available early in February.

We decided that it would be interesting to find out if farmers followed the advice — usually good, and always worth considering — of the cereal variety recommendation committees. The recommendations are based on soil-climatic zones and any farmer can consult the zone map in his Line Elevator to find out in which zone he lives and what varieties are considered suitable. Thanks to country elevator agents, we have been able to determine the percentages of the total wheat acreage occupied by different varieties and to compare these with the official expert advice. This is what we find.

Alberta (in 1943)

The percentage of varieties not recommended varies from 3.1 in Zone 2 to 28.4 in Zone 4A. The latter zone contained 13.5% Garnet, 9.5% Marquis and 5.2% others. Only Thatcher and Red Bobs had official approval. In Zone 1, about 16.0% of the acreage was occupied by varieties not recommended, largely because Red Bobs is becoming popular even though it lacks official approval in this zone.

Saskatchewan (in 1943)

The farmers and the officials should get together! In Zone 1, 30.9 per cent of the acreage is occupied by varieties lacking official approval, and in Zone 2, the percentage is 16.6. This is largely because Marquis has been removed from the recommended list, but many farmers grow it.

Alas, no room for Manitoba. Ask your Line Elevator agent for a brightly coloured "Seedtime and Harvest" with more information!

Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

As many people as the United Church could possibly hold assembled on Sunday night to do honor to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cookson who were celebrating the 50th anniversary of their wedding on that day.

The sermon was preached by the Rev. Alex Stewart, former minister of the church and after the regular service a song period was conducted by Rev. D K. Allan, during which extracts from a number of letters of congratulation were read.

Following the song period those present preceded by Mr. and Mrs. Cookson adjourned to the basement where a reception was held.

The ladies had prepared a very effective "bride's" table, complete with wedding cake and tapers which was very effective. This with the other decorations gave a joyful air to the room.

By a hearty handshake and good wishes Mr. and Mrs. Cookson received the congratulations of all those present and after the company had become seated, Rev. D. K. Allan formerly congratulated the guests of honor and Mr. A. J. H. McCauley presented them with a beautiful mantel clock. Mrs. Rennie Wood was soloist.

In responding to the presentation Mr. Cookson feelingly thanked the people for their kindness and humorously recounted some experiences of earlier days. Mr. J. W. and Mr. Geo. Cookson sang as a duet "Sixty Years Ago," and "Dem Golden Slippers," much to the delight of those present.

The Ladies' Aid efficiently served refreshments to a crowded room.

We missed announcing the thank offering meeting. It will be remembered by the members, that instead of putting on a supper in the fall it was decided to give a free will offering instead. The secretary, Mrs. Sears would appreciate it if the money was turned in before the new year.

The election of officers was quickly over; a motion was carried that we retain the same officers President, Mrs. Appleby; Vice-President, Mrs. Marie Mitchell; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. G. W. Sears; Asst. Mrs. L. McGinitie. After the business and devotional session, refreshments were served by the hostess

The Annual Congregation and and Ladies' Aid meeting in January will be held at the Appleby home when dinner will be served before the meeting. We might mention also we are a little short on the minister's salary. Anyone wishing to contribute, kindly hand in to the secretary, Mr. W. A. Mitchell.

Quite a few families from our district attended Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cookson's golden wedding anniversary Sunday night. Most of them went in time for the church services and were pleased to meet Rev. Stewart again and to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Cookson.

A memorial Service was held in Ryley United Church on Sunday, November 28th, for Robert Vergette and William Pepper of the United Church. Sam Macahonie and John Heinik of the Catholic Faith, were also remembered by Rev. Gosson of Holden. All four boys lived in the Dodds and Ryley districts.

Trooper Robert Vergette, Canadian Army, who was killed in action in Italy on October 6th, 1943, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vergette, who reside on the farm, three and one-half miles N.E. of Dodds. Trooper Vergette was born April 26th, 1920, and was educated at Solberg and Ryley schools. He enlisted on December 14, 1939, and went overseas with the 1st Canadian Contingent on December 16th, 1939, thus being on active service continually since enlistment Whilst overseas, he served with a reconnaissance unit. Trooper Vergette came of a military inclined family. His father was a member of the British Reserve Army and was called to active service in World War I His brother, Edward, enlisted in the RCAF in the present war, and was invalided home about a year ago, and is now engaged in air craft production in Edmonton. Another brother, Bombardier Harold Vergette, RCAF. is presently stationed at Camp Shilo, Manitoba. A younger brother, Herbert, remains at home. A sister, Ruby, (Mrs. P Henka), resides at Dodds. His mother was formerly Miss Annie Lysle. In addition to his immediate family, a number of other relatives and friends here mourn his loss

Flt.-Sergt. William George Pepper, RCAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Pepper of Ryley, lost his life on his fifteenth operational flight over Germany He has a brother, Clifford, now on active service overseas with the RCAF and a brother, Donald, working in B.C., also one sister, Ethel, teacher at Bathgate school. "Willie" Pepper received his education at Ryley Public and High Schools. He was 21 years of age

Particulars concerning Sam Macahonie and John Heinik, are not at hand, but the sympathy of the district is extended to their families as well as to those of Robert Vergette and William Pepper.

Rev. Gosson spoke on the "Undying Flame," and urged those present to keep the flame of the Gospel of Christ burning brightly so as not to let the sacrifice of these young lads be in vain.

Miss Lorna Hay sang "The Broken Chord." Mrs. E. Kale presided at the organ.

Meet The Jeep

Fo Chamberlin in Scientific American

IN THE Battle of Louisiana, September 1941, invading tanks roared to the attack, but the defending forces didn't yield. Their lightning-fast jeeps towed anti-tank guns into stragetic positions, outflanked the enemy tanks and destroyed them.

The Louisiana maneuvers demonstrated the amazing abilities of Uncle Sam's newest invention, the rugged jeep, or bantam car. General George Marshall, Chief of Staff, calls it our main contribution to modern war. A War Department statement termed the jeep performance "sensational."

Our Army's youngest, smallest, toughest baby has a dozen pet names such as jeep, peep, blitzbuggy, leaping Lena, panzer-killer. The names are all affectionate, for the jeep has made good. Only a year old, it stole the show in Louisiana. Now the army plans to have 75,000 of them.

At Camp Shelby, Miss., I made firsthand acquaintance with the jeep. It is a combat car 11 feet long, 56 inches wide, 40 inches high—half the height of your auto and three feet shorter. Weighing 2200 pounds, it is rugged with power yet small enough to be flown in army transport planes. There are no doors, but safety straps keep you in as the car tears up steep slopes or around hair raising turns. Normally it carries two passengers in front, one behind. In an emergency it can carry six, the extra men riding on front fenders. There are six speeds forward and two reverse. In mud sand or snow, power can be transmitted to all four wheels.

My guide, Lieutenant Patrick Summerour, lifted up the hood.

"See that engine? Four cylinders, 60 horsepower. Plenty of zip, and easy to repair because of standard parts."

He pointed to a rear towing hook.

"You pull an anti-tank gun here. Civilians often ask why we don't fight tanks with tanks. Well, a jeep costs $900, a tank $35,000. And these tank-destroyers, towing anti-tank guns, can swarm round enemy tanks and give'em hell. It's like David and Goliath, only there are ten Davids for every Goliath."

No one man developed the jeep. In 1940, when the army was about to buy a large number of motor cycles, the American Bantam Car Company offered the basic idea. The Army allotted funds for experimentation. General Marshall himself promoted the venture. The first car was delivered in 49 days and proved itself under stiff tests. The Army added ideas. Bantam, Ford and Willys now turn them out wholesale, from standardized blueprints

Tests showed that the jeep could go places a motorcycle couldn't. A single sniper can cut down a motor cycle dispatch rider, letting orders fall into enemy hands. A jeep is a tougher proposition, for it carries armed men and machine guns. Besides, it is a clawing, climbing hellion in reaching good places to shoot from.

The jeep can also be used in reconnaissance and command work. It can serve as a radio patrol car, or to lay a smoke screen to hide the movement of heavy artillery. It can take ammunition, first aid or food to outposts, can evacuate wounded or get a gun crew out of a doomed position. It can cross bridges too weak for heavier cars, can reconnoiter rougher terrain. With a mounted 50-caliber machine gun it can help protect troop columns from airplane strafing.

The War Department has just formed at Fort Benning the first air-borne unit. Troops equipped with jeeps, motor cycles and folding bicycles are to be transported in planes, landing close on the heels of parachute troops.

I learned what it was like to ride in a jeep, across pine-studded acres at 50 miles an hour. The design gives no thought for the comfort of passengers. The seat "cushion" is merely a thin leather pad. Once Lieutenant Summerour straddled a half burried log. I visualized a shattered crankcase but was shown protective guard bars underneath. Grabbing special handles, we shoved the car easily off the log Strategists admire the jeep's "low silhouette." Only three and a third feet high, it is hard to spot in brush country, still harder to line a gun on. Any armor would cut down its speed, which is its protection.

"Let's take a tactical problem," suggested Summerour as we were driving along. "S'pose we are out scouting the enemy, and he fires on us from a hidden position—we dive for cover."

He slammed on the brakes, turned sharply left, and stopped the car behind a protective knoll "Then we locate the enemy fire," he went on, "and blast him. We're so low it's hard for him to see us."

We went on. A head of us was a huge live oak with gnarled branches close to the ground. "Duck!" he yelled. We roared under the lowest branch—the top of our car missing it by inches. We crossed a small stream, water flowing over the floor. But electric units are placed so that the 40-inch-high jeep can keep going through water 18 inches deep. We clawed our way up the 30-degree bank—twice as steep as you'll meet on the road.

Rivers are an army's worst obstacle, and raft or bridge builders offer splendid targets. Jeeps can be ferried across streams on three row-boats, on rafts of empty oil cans, or on logs wired together. Latest plan is to lay a tarpaulin on the ground, drive the bantam on it, fold up the sides, then drag it into the water. Car and tarpaulin will float with slight support.

Back in camp, Lieutenant Summerour gave me one more thrill. He drove the car up a narrow ramp to a railway loading platform, steered through the open door of a box car, and zipped down a ramp on the other side.

"Think we've got something here?" he asked, getting out of the bantam. I certainly did.

When war ends jeeps will still be useful. They would aid certain kinds of farming which needs practical Model T Ford type transportation. With a few trimmings for looks, and the spur of low gasoline consumption, they might even make good in cities.

SEEDTIME and HARVEST

By Dr. K. W. Neatby
Director, Agricultural Department
North-West Line Elevators Association

SEED SUPPLIES

Available stocks of seed oats and barley will probably disappear rapidly this winter. There is an acute shortage in eastern Canada; and in large sections of Alberta and northwestern Saskatchewan, frost damage has been serious.

We have completed germination tests on 407 samples of oats. Of these, 142 (34.9%) germinated 80% or less. 52 samples (12.8%) germinated 30% or less.

When To Get New Seed

If one's own seed is low in percentage and vigor of germination. If it is not the best variety for the particular district. If it is mixed with seed of other varieties. Or, if it has been badly damaged in threshing.

A good uniform stand can only be obtained with good seed. A poor or patchy stand is a cordial invitation to weeds.

How To Get It

Simply call at a country elevator in which the agent is an authorized distributor of seed for your own Provincial Crop Improvement Association. He has not only seed order forms; but, also information on officially recommended varieties.

The Crop Improvement Associations are sponsored by Dominion and Provincial Governments, Universities, Seed Growers' Associations and Elevator Companies.

What To Get

It is usually an extravagance to buy registered seed for the entire farm. Buy enough for a seed plot, the crop from which will sow the whole crop the following year. If it is necessary to replace all seed of one or more crops, it is usually wise to buy certified seed, which is cheaper, for the main crop, plus enough registered for a seed [illegible]

American Aristocrat

I have a liking for almost every kind of American, but there is one type which I value especially and which I have never met elsewhere in quite the same form. I refer to the pioneer. Though the day of the covered wagon is over, the pioneer still lives. I have met him in the New England hills where he is grave, sardonic, deliberate in speech; in the South where he has a ready smile and a soft caressing way of talking; in the ranges of the West where he has a gentle voice and clear friendly eyes which have not been dulled by reading print—the real cow puncher, far removed from the vulgarities of film and fiction. At his best, I think, I have found him as a newcomer in Canada where he is pushing north into districts like Peace River, pioneering in the old sense. By what signs is he known? Principally by the fact that he is wholly secure, that he possesses his soul, that he is the true philosopher. He is one of the few aristocrats left in the world. He has a right sense of the values of life, because his world embraces both nature and man. I think he is the most steadfast human being alive.—John Buchan, in Pilgrims Way (Houghton Mifflin.)

We Organize A Calf Club

Mr. Moisey, our district agriculturist consulted the members of our oats club as to the possibilities of organizing a calf club in our district.

When harvesting was done another contact was made with the teacher of the school and after a few days of thought nearly every member of the room was interested.

Mr. Moisey then called a meeting with only a few present. On November 16th he spent a short time talking to the pupils of the room, telling them of the need for a calf club, and then spent two days November 22-23 in our community travelling from one place to another, getting the parents interested. He then called an organization meeting to be held at the school on November 23rd.

The meeting started at 8:30 with Mr Olson as chairman, Mrs. Myles as secretary, and a school room full of people.

After a report from Mr. Moisey about the club, a list of the boys and girls who were interested was made. 21 boys and girls ranging from the north end of Beaver Lake to the south end, joined the club.

After many questions and answers the officers were elected. This took a great deal of time. After the officers were elected Mr. Moisey then gave information on how each member was to feed his or her calf The next meeting is to be held on December 17th

The club sounds very interesting and I hope it will be a real success and that each member of the club will benefit by it

CONGRATULATIONS:—

DECEMBER 12th, 1893 was a bitterly cold day and the old Methodist Church in Edmonton failed to respond to what efforts there may have been to warm its interior. A young couple, of English origin and not so very long in this country, accompanied by near relatives stood at the altar and exchanged marriage vows. The atmosphere was so frigid that the Minister, Rev. John Hanna, performed the ceremony attired in a fur coat. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cookson were the happy couple and on Sunday next, December 12th, will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of this event. And even though the day was cold and the church was chilly, what matters a few degrees of temperature to a love that warms and cherishes every day for fifty years.

The "Beaver Lake country" is the Cookson's own area, and while the trail was hard and long the wedding party finally arrived at Tofield and home. In these days when a trip to Edmonton and back can be made in a single evening we are apt to forget the difficulty of travel in those days. It took four days of hard travelling and breaking snow bound trails to reach Tofield and each day the temperature was well below zero. Crossing the Saskatchewan river the temperature was 54 below with a wind blowing. But with dauntless spirit and high resolve the Cookson's "made a start" and have come through 50 years of love and labor, commanding the admiration and respect of all who are privileged to know them.

During this half century of married life here, both Mr. and Mrs. Cookson have taken part in community welfare work. Mr. Cookson for many years was a member of the school board, while for nearly fifty years Mrs. Cookson has taught Sunday School and been active in church affairs. Mrs. Cookson teaches the primary class. No one can say just how many little pupils have received their first Sunday School lessons from her, but there are very many of them, and while they may be scattered far and wide over the earth's surface, each one will, every so often recall how upon his or her first day at Sunday school, the cheerful face and kindly manner, mixed with just the right degree of firmness, put them at their ease. And from these boys and girls, many of whom are now grown into manhood and womanhood, wherever they may be will come congratulations and greetings as sincere and warm as congratulations and greetings could possibly be.

From all of us on Sunday there will go to the Cooksons congratulations and best wishes for many more years of wedded happiness.

THE NORTH ROAD—

TRANSPORTATION AND the method by which it is brought about is something which never loses its interest. Ever since the day when some man first fastened a pole to each side of a horse and then placed something to be transported upon them, human endeavor has kept advancing along the line of more rapid and more comfortable and suitable transportation for both humans and goods. The scope and extent of this advance is not the subject matter of this writing and is mentioned only to show that transportation is apparently a never ending problem and one requiring adjustment to fit in with the changing times.

Quite recently a meeting of M.D. of Beaver ratepayers was held at the McKenzie School, the purpose of the meeting being an endeavor to bring about the interest and support of the M.D. of Beaver Council regarding the gravelling of what is commonly known as "the north road." This road runs from the Tofield school north to the Vegreville highway and then on to Chipman. This road has been in the local news off and on for several years. The Tofield Town Council, the Tofield Board of Trade (when it was alive) and the former Cornhill M.D. Council have all used their influence to make travel over this road more satisfactory.

Coming under the jurisdiction of the former M.D. of Cornhill the road naturally received practical attention from it and at considerable cost a high grade was constructed and as far as was possible adequate maintenance service maintained. But ordinary dirt roads everywhere no matter how well they are graded, quickly deteriate under the wear and tear of modern traffic. The slow moving wagon having given way, or nearly so, to the swiftly moving heavy truck, dirt roads just naturally suffer in consequence and the particular road in question gets more than its share of wear and tear. For in addition to the normal use farmers living in that area give it, there is considerable traffic by people living in areas south of Tofield enroute to Elk Island Park and during the fall and winter months many trucks from towns north of Tofield are hauling coal north from the Tofield Coal Mines.

The suggestion at present put forward is that the M.D. of Beaver Council in co-operation with the Provincial Government undertake to gravel this road and thus make a secondary highway out of it, in fact as well as name. We have no figures as to what it would cost to gravel this road, and from the M.D. of Beaver's point of view, cost must necessarily be a deciding factor, but if as we understand, the road after being gravelled, comes under government jurisdiction as regards maintaining, the Municipal District stands to gain considerable in being relieved of this responsibility.

There is no question that were the road gravelled it would serve many people travelling from one highway to another and would be of considerable benefit to many M.D. residents who not only live in the area through which the road passes, but also residents living south, east, and west of Tofield who desire during the summer months to take advantage of the beauties of Elk Island Park.. No doubt the M.D. of Beaver Council and the Provincial Government will give the problem due consideration and if labor, gravel and money are available "the north road" may at last be gravelled.

LINDBROOK

The flu is taking its toll in the district. Quite a number of pupils are out of school.

Ralph Richardson found himself much like the Deacon in the Deacon's Masterpiece. His horse was trotting along the road half way to his school when his horse dropped dead.

The box social held in the Beaver Lake Hall for the Westlake Christmas fund netted $33.00. This will undoubtedly make many happy children this Christmas.

Mr. Howard Stine has been at Mr. Gilbert Braaten's for the past week. We are very glad to see him home after nine weeks in the hospital and sincerely hope he may improve in health and not have to return to the hospital.

Mr. John Bailey jr., who is working at Gainer's spent the week end at home with his family.

Turkey plucking is the order of the day. Many fine birds will go on the market from this district.

Mr. J. A. Richardson had a few anxious hours on Saturday over a lost purse and valuable papers. Keen eyed honest Mr. and Mrs. McKenna fortunately picked it up along the road and quickly returned it to its owner. It is a pleasure to live in a district where the people are so honest and interested in their neighbors' troubles.

The Woodlawn school is beginning to hum under the efficient teaching of Mrs. McCowan.

The farmers are making good use of the pleasant weather to haul their grain to the Lindbrook elevator where the quota is 14 bushels on all grains.

Miss Anne Ewart returned to her home due to her mother's illness, consequently the Richardson's are sending out an SOS for a cook.
